STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, MAY 2, 1871.

 By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION, is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out. The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Committee, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such Temporal Peers and Commoners as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergymen, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas, or upward, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate to the General Committee, proper persons as Patrons and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the Names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary*.

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as in any other respect to alter the principles and practices of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report, illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognized in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognized co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:—

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachment upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment; and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidates; and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognized the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognized Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms: "You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly.....This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June, 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a licence, or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries; the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837,—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The Temporal power, including pecuniary support."

* The Three Bishops of India, and the Bishop of Australia, are the Presidents of the Corresponding Committees in their respective dioceses.

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands towards its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i. e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras to extend, as far as circumstances would admit, these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made, on behalf of the New Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia, who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society; and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognized: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June, 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church *. Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour. This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April, 1835—this point was expressly alluded to: and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minute.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!" * The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May 2, 1871, being the Seventy-second Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. GORDON CALTHROP, M.A. VICAR OF ST. AUGUSTINE, HIGHBURY.

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Rev. Edward Hoare, for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies.—[See List, p. iv.]

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE LORD BISHOP OF COLOMBO, ARCHDEACON OF LONDON, seconded by the REV. C. E. STORRS, Missionary from the Punjab,

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting thankfully acknowledges the increase of native converts in the Society's various Missions, and the progress which has been made in the organization of Native Churches; but they rest their chief hope of final success upon the sure promises of God, and upon the evident tokens that He is awakening a new spirit of inquiry after the truth in men of leading mind among Pagans and Mohammedans in the different Protestant Missions throughout the world.

On the motion of P. F. O'MALLEY, ESQ., Q.C., seconded by the REV. C. MARSON, M.A., Prebendary of Lichfield,

That this Meeting humbly acknowledges the increase of the Society's pecuniary resources vouchsafed in answer to prayer; which they regard as an encouragement to plead for still increasing means to meet the growing demand from abroad, and to diffuse yet more widely the Gospel of peace and righteousness at a time when sanguinary conflicts among nations professing Christianity tend to cast a reproach upon the Christian name.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

The Right Rev. the LORD BISHOP of RIPON, V.P., in the Chair,

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. Edward Roper, Missionary from the Yoruba Mission; James Bateman, Esq., and the Rev. W. Cadman, M.A., Vicar of Holy Trinity, Marylebone.

MATTHEW XXIV. 14.

"AND THIS GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM SHALL BE PREACHED IN ALL THE WORLD FOR A WITNESS UNTO ALL NATIONS; AND THEN SHALL THE END COME."

THERE are probably very few in this Church, who, when they have read of Stephen, "full of faith, and of the Holy Ghost," "full of faith and power," have not felt in their own souls the longing desire for the same fulness for themselves and their brethren. Stephen enjoyed it, not by virtue of the time in which he lived, or the office which he filled. The gift was not the gift of miracle required for evidence at the first foundation of Christianity, but the sacred gift of "wisdom and the spirit," pre-eminently needed for all periods in the Church's history. The office which he filled was not that of the Apostleship, with peculiar powers never to be transmitted, but the office of a Deacon in the Church of God, appointed for the ordinary, difficult, and perpetual duty of distributing alms amongst the poor. There is no reason, therefore, why the same gifts should not be bestowed on us. There is nothing in the difference of time or circumstance which should lead us to suppose that such gifts are beyond our own reach; no reason in the nature of things, or in the word of God, why we, ourselves, should not return to our several homes like Stephen, full of the Holy Ghost and power.

But this we must clearly bear in mind. If such a high, holy and sacred gift be given us, it will not be merely for our own personal religious enjoyment, or for our own personal advancement in the Divine life; but it will be given for a special work, and to fit us for special service. It will not be bestowed merely to enable us to make better progress in our own growth in grace, but to fit us for a better discharge of duty, and to qualify us for a more effective testimony to the sacred name of our most Blessed Lord and Saviour. This appears very clearly from his parting words in the Mount of Olives. In those words He gave the promise which was fulfilled in Stephen, saying, "Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you," so that, if we be full of the Holy Ghost, the effect will be that we shall likewise be full of power. And now mark the practical result. It is not retirement into a cloister for the cultivation of our own spirituality, but it is the going forth amongst the different classes of our fellow-men, as loving and faithful disciples to bear testimony to the name of the Lord Jesus. "Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you, and ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judæa, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

To the subject of this testimony let us now direct our careful study, examining in the first place its substance; in the second, its mode and extent; and in the third, the peculiar circumstances under which it must be borne in the latter days. And oh! may the God of truth and love fulfil to us this night his own rich promise:—"Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you, and ye shall be witnesses unto me!"

I. The Substance.

In the passage just quoted from the Acts of the Apostles the whole substance of the testimony is summed up in the one short word, "Me." There is no mention of any system, of any Church, or of any human organization. It is Christ himself, and Christ alone, that is the sum, and substance, of the testimony of his chosen witnesses. Any thing that takes the place of Christ himself, or comes between the sinner and Christ himself, or draws away the attention from Christ himself, must be carefully shunned as forming no part of our testimony. That testimony is summed up in the words, "Ye shall be witnessess unto ME." But it is quite impossible to preach Christ without preaching doctrine. We are often told of the great importance of proclaiming a personal Saviour, and God forbid that we should fail in doing so! But a personal Saviour must be a doctrinal Saviour, and it is quite impossible to preach Christ as a person without preaching who He is, what He has done, what He has taught, what He has promised, without, in short, preaching according to the language of this text, "the Gospel of the Kingdom." The two verses are in perfect harmony. The one describes God's people as witnesses to the person, the other to the plan; the one to the Saviour, and the other to the great salvation.

In this text the subject of the testimony is described as "the Gospel of the Kingdom."

It is a kingdom, then, that we are to preach, the kingdom of the Son of Man, the Son of God; the kingdom inaugurated at the Transfiguration; the kingdom about to be brought to light at the second coming, and finally delivered up to God, even the Father, when all enemies are subdued under his feet for ever. Now, in order to be witnesses to the kingdom, we must be witnesses to the sovereign rights of Christ Jesus the King. We must assert His authority as mediatorial king, to rule supreme wherever the foot of man shall tread, and wherever His own sun shall cast its beams. We must proclaim Him as by right the Lord of all. So again, if we be witnesses to His kingdom, we must be witnesses to its approaching manifestation. We must bear our testimony to the fact that the only reason why His supreme power is not now made manifest is, that the appointed moment is not yet come. All things are delivered unto Him of the Father, and He is now upholding all things by the word of His power. We must maintain that the confusion and rebellion existing in the world are not to be ascribed to any want of right or power in our reigning king; but simply to the fact that His time is not yet come,—the time when He will appear in all His majesty, and the triumphant shout of many voices shall be heard in Heaven, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of His Christ, and He shall reign for ever and ever." And once more, if we are to be witnesses to His kingdom, we must be witnesses to His present reign within the hearts of His chosen people. We must make it known that the kingdom, though not yet made manifest, is begun, and that He has a people already enrolled as His chosen army, and already governed by Him as their king. He has now His faithful band of loving subjects, who acknowledge all His sovereign rights, and whose one desire is to know His name and do His will. They have been chosen by Him, called by Him, saved by Him, and now their hearts desire to be ruled by Him, to be employed by Him, to labour in His service, and to live for the glory of His great and holy name. These are the persons amongst whom the Apostle classed himself when he said, "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of His dear Son." It is to this company that each convert is added. Every soul incorporated into Christ is enrolled in the kingdom. Our Missions are recruiting for the kingdom. Real conversion is submission to the king; and all who know the sacred privilege of looking up to Him in living faith, and of addressing Him by the hallowed name of Saviour, are bound to remember His royal claim on their devotion; and, when they kneel to thank Him for His mercy, to add the inquiry of obedient activity, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

But we must observe in the text that it is not merely the kingdom, but the Gospel of the kingdom, to which we are to be witnesses; and there is a great difference between the two things, for it by no means follows that the message of the kingdom is a message of glad tidings to the sinful. It is, of course, inexpressibly delightful to those who are within the kingdom; and when we look around on the present condition of the world, on the sin, the wars, the heart-burnings, the poverty, the sorrows, the thousand evils, which it is utterly beyond man's power to check or remedy,—and, above all, the deaths,—I say, when we think on all this we may well look forward with inexpressible longing of heart to the blessed hope of a reign of peace under the Prince of Peace, when sorrow, sin, death, and hell, shall be known no more, and all shall be righteousness, peace, joy, holiness, safety, and life, amongst the vast multitude of risen saints in the immediate presence of their risen Lord. So again, there is an inexpressible joy when Christ reigns within the soul. I know that the lesson of surrender is about the hardest that the human heart is ever called to learn; but, when learned, it brings with it a wonderful peace. There are none so happy as those who have yielded themselves to God, and in whose heart grace reigns through righteousness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord. But this does not make the message of the Kingdom glad tidings to those that are outside it; but, on the contrary, it has that in it which is pre-eminently calculated to be unwelcome and repellant. The summons to surrender is not glad tidings to the rebel; and the proclamation of a Kingdom, with all its accompaniments of power, authority, conviction, judgment, and punishment, can never be regarded as good news to those whose consciences tell them that they are certain to stand guilty and convicted before the judgment seat. The result is, that the message of the Kingdom could never be glad tidings to the sinner, if the message of the Cross were not standing at its threshold. There can be no joy in the reign of Christ, unless there is first joy in forgiveness through His blood. Before there can be joy in the Kingdom, there must be a translation into it; and that translation cannot take place without the blotting out of sin. You see this very clearly in the passage to which I have just referred,—"Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the Kingdom of His dear Son;" for in the verse immediately following we find the record of that great forgiveness, which must lie at the foundation of the whole transaction, "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins." Mark the connexion between His Kingdom and His blood; between His royal right and His great atonement; between His sovereignty at the right hand of the Father and his satisfaction of the law of God by His own blood-shedding on the Cross. It is this that makes the message the Gospel of the Kingdom. We are not afraid of a reign of righteousness, when the righteousness has been already satisfied in Christ Jesus. We may speak, then, of the power of the kingdom, of the coming day of most solemn judgment, of the execution of judgment and justice in the earth; and, though the message be inexpressibly solemn, it is still glad tidings of great joy even to the sinner; for we may place in the forefront of the whole the blessed proclamation of free pardon through a finished atonement, of a complete restoration and reinstatement before God, fully offered in Christ Jesus, through faith alone, to those who are dead in sin; and thus we need not be afraid of saying even to the most deeply fallen, "Now, then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, Be ye reconciled to God."

II. We may pass, then, to our 2nd point,—the mode and the extent of the testimony.

As to the mode the text appears decisive, when it says, "This Gospel must be preached."

It is not to be exhibited in a symbolic system, as it was in the days of types and shadows; but to be proclaimed in all its fulness, openly, publicly, freely, and without reserve. Typical teaching was most important to prepare the way for the open manifestation of the truth of God. But now that we have the truth itself, we do not want to return to the shadow.

Nor can the testimony be borne by the circulation of books, however excellent may be their character. I do not except from this statement even the Book, the Book of books, the Book of Life. God forbid that for one moment I should be thought to say one word to throw the least doubt on the mighty power with which God accompanies His own inspired Word! We all know far too well its value. We have learned by experience that it is sweeter than honey in the honeycomb, and that, without any help from man, it speaks to the heart as no words of man can ever hope to do. Nay, more! God forbid that I should ever say one word that might seem to be in disparagement of the sacred work of that noble institution raised up by God's kind providence with the one object of circulating God's Word without note or comment throughout the world! All Missionary institutions owe too deep a debt of gratitude to the British and Foreign Bible Society, to allow one syllable to be spoken that could ever be regarded as disrespectful of its wonderful work. But what I mean is this:—That if we do no more than simply circulate the Book, we are not bearing the testimony described in this text for the Lord Jesus. The chest of books, even though these books be Bibles, is not the witness for the Lord amongst the nations. That witness must be the preacher,—the living man with the living voice and the glowing heart, who goes forth as a herald to proclaim the Lord Jesus amongst the nations. The Gospel of the kingdom must be preached or heralded; there must be preachers therefore, or heralds, to undertake the work. It may be a costly service, and may involve the loss even of life itself, for which reason the word for "witness" has lost its original meaning, and now stands for "martyr." But the witness must have a life to lose, and, what is more, must be ready to lose it if the Lord call him to the surrender. "The living, the living, he shall praise Thee," said Hezekiah. "The living, the living, they shall bear witness for Thee," must be the present language of the Church of God.

Our earnest prayer then must be for living men; men possessed of life in both senses of the word, of all the powers of natural vitality, but, above all, of the life of God within the soul. They must be living men, and living believers, men full of energy for work, and, what is far more important, men full of faith, full of the Holy Ghost and power. These are the men we want for Missions,—these the persons to go forth as witnesses for Christ,—men who can work, who can preach, who can pray, who can endure hardship, who can even die for the love they bear to the sacred name of Jesus. But where are they to be found? and how are they to be produced? They cannot be created by system, or brought to life by education We may train the living man, but we cannot give the life. That must be the gift of God to a waiting and praying people. If young men are to be the witnesses for Christ, they must receive their power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon them; and therefore it is, that all who care for the testimony of Jesus must take heed never to forget the one source from which our ranks must be supplied. "Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth labourers into His harvest."

With reference to the extent of the testimony the text is equally clear,—"The Gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come." The object of the passage is to correct the error of the disciples who were confounding the predicted siege of Jerusalem with the second Advent. In the fifth and sixth verses our Lord gives certain signs which should precede the siege of Jerusalem, and then adds, "but the end is not yet." They were signs of the fall of Jerusalem, but not of the second coming. He then gives a series of events, concluding with this description of the last testimony, and when that is complete, "then," saith He, "shall the end come." The work of Missions, therefore, is most intimately connected with the second coming of our Lord. It will be amongst the last signs of the times, and it must reach a certain point before we shall be justified in looking out for His immediate return.

Now, what is that point? And what must be done before it can be said that we have reached it? In general terms the answer is easy, for we have only to fall back on the words of our Blessed Saviour,—"This Gospel shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations;" but it is no easy thing to determine the exact limits marked out by those words, or to define when it will be reached.

One thing, however, is perfectly clear, viz., that He speaks of the preaching, not of the result. Nothing is here said of the effect, or of the reception of the message. If, therefore, the Gospel of the Kingdom were preached as a witness amongst all nations, even though there were no converts, this prophecy might be regarded as fulfilled, and we might begin to look out for the end. But how far must it spread before it can be said to have been preached in all the world, and to all nations? To answer this question is beyond man's power. We have the same difficulty that so often occurs in the study of the prophetic Scriptures. Great facts are predicted, but their edges are left undefined. In some, like that of the duration of Rome's power, it is difficult to decide on the point of commencement; and here the difficulty is to draw a line which shall mark the close. There are countries in which we may believe that the limit has been reached, as e. g., the greater part of Europe and of North America, New Zealand, Sandwich Islands, and certain parts of India. There are, again, districts, like Palestine and Asia Minor, in which the Gospel has been preached, rejected, or perverted, and withdrawn. I see nothing in the passage to lead to the hope that these nations are a second time to enjoy the sacred privilege; and it seems a question whether decayed churches are the best sphere for modern Missions. But without looking at those nations on which the light once gleamed, how vast a field yet remains untouched by the Gospel! When we think of 360,000,000 in China, and remember the ten or twelve feeble Missions on the coast; when you add the countless tribes in the heart of Africa, the densely peopled plains of Central Asia, and all the nations that occupy South America, and think of the little band of faithful men, scattered here and there at vast intervals just on the margin, the heart is ready to sink at the thought of the contrast between the vastness of the work, and the feebleness of the efforts of the Church of Christ. But no. It must not sink, but rather rise to fresh hopes, in view of the magnificent prospect before us. We seem at present to be only on the threshold of the great Missionary enterprise. There is a noble work before us, for which at present we have done little more than collect the material; a vast extension of the testimony for the Lord Jesus, which should fill the hearts of His people, not with discouragement, but with a holy enthusiasm in His service. It is true that it appears utterly beyond the power of the Church of England, or even the Christianity of England; but let the convert Churches be aroused to a sense of their responsibility. Let them all become centres from which truth may radiate; let them have their native councils, their native clergymen, their native bishops; and let them be sending forth their native evangelists to penetrate where the European never reaches,—and where if he does reach he dies,—in their own tongue, the mother tongue both of preacher and hearer, to exalt the name of the Lord Jesus Christ; and no one can calculate to what an extent, or with what rapidity, the great work may be extended, if only God accompany it with His blessing, or how soon the day may dawn, when the last nation shall be reached, the last sermon preached, and the command given to the angels of God to go forth to reap the harvest, and "to gather His elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other."

But, whenever that shall be, this one thing is clear, that the hope of the Advent ought to be a stimulus to Missionary effort. Many of us are looking forward to that Advent as the blessed hope of the waiting Church. In the midst of all the world's great troubles, we are watching for the day when His people shall rest in His love, and His truth be established under His government, when all eyes shall be fixed on Him, and all His elect be gathered before Him. But we must remember that, according to His own words, there is a certain Missionary work to be done before that joy can be realized. I do not say that it must be done by ourselves alone; as I have just said, I firmly believe that we must depend mainly on the convert Churches for its completion; but, whoever are to be the doers, the work must be done before our great hope is realized and the risen Church stands saved before the risen Saviour. All those therefore who love His appearing should, without a moment's delay, take their active part in Missionary efforts. I know of no other way in which we can act on the Apostolic precept, "Looking for, and hastening, the coming of the day of God." That passage seems to teach that, although the time of that great event is kept by the Father in His own power, it is connected in some marvellous manner with human work, so that poor, weak, feeble man may be permitted in his own little sphere to hasten the kingdom. Our text explains one way in which it may be done, and teaches that each faithful man of God going forth in the Lord's name as a witness for Christ, and penetrating as a witness into the dark places of heathenism, there to bear testimony to his Saviour-King, is in fact preparing the way for the coming of his Lord. If, then, we would hasten the day of the Lord, we must hasten the steps of His servants going forth to proclaim His name. We must be praying that He may be pleased to call out many witnesses to His kingdom, we must be looking out for young men, and we must be cheering those who are led to volunteer for the service, by the assurance that they will never be forgotten by the Church at home, but will be faithfully remembered by thousands of the people of God, who are prepared to feel for them in their difficulties, to count it a privilege to supply the means for their maintenance, and to plead for them before our common Father, that, wherever their lot be cast, they may realize the fulfilment of His sacred promise, "I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

III.—But now we may turn in the last place to the peculiar circumstances under which this testimony must be borne in the latter days. It has been already pointed out that the fifth and sixth verses refer to those events which were to precede the fall of Jerusalem, but which must not be mistaken for signs of the end; and that the next seven verses, concluding with the text, predict events which would really be precursors of the Advent. They do not teach that all these events will be crowded together into a short period immediately preceding the end, but they clearly bring us up to the end, and thus throw a very unmistakable light on the position and character of God's witnesses during the closing period of their testimony. Now the passage predicts events of two distinct characters. In the first place, there are those which belong to the world, without reference to the Church. There is the prophecy of political convulsion,—"Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom." And there is the prediction of certain physical calamities independent of the hand of man,—"There shall be famines and pestilences, and earthquakes in divers places." Of all these it is enough to remark that there have been already quite sufficient to fulfil the prophecy. There may be more to come, or there may not, but in either case the words have been found true. These, however, are external to the Church, and do not immediately affect our Missions. But it is very different with these that follow, for they refer to the internal condition of the Church itself, to the sifting process through which we must pass before the coming of the end. Turning to the passage we find three great sifting, or testing, forces predicted,—persecution, deception, and the chilling influence of a wicked world; and we are taught, moreover, that many will be offended by the first, many deceived by the second, and that many will grow cold under the third. Now all this immediately affects our Missionary work, and will require therefore a somewhat more careful study.

(1.) The people of God must be fully prepared to meet with persecution. We know what happened first under Rome Pagan, and then under Rome Papal, and we have not the least reason to believe that the spirit of persecution is extinct. The history of Madagascar, the attacks on the out-stations of Fuh Chau, the expulsion of Christians from Abeokuta, and the fiery trials through which many of the converts are called to pass in India, are enough to prove that the flames of persecution may blaze forth at any time. The offence of the Cross is not yet ceased. There are those living and working for this Society at this present moment who have followed Christ at the loss of property, homes, children, dearly beloved wives, of all indeed that was most dear to them on earth; and we may rest in the fixed and settled conviction, that, so long as Christ is exalted as the Saviour-King, there will be in the hearts of those who resist His kingdom a determined antagonism towards those who are the witnesses for His name.

(2.) There will be many false teachers, and many deceived by their teaching.

There is something very wonderful in the present condition of the Church of the baptized, and very perplexing. I am not surprised at the perplexity felt by many young men, and I can thoroughly enter into their difficulties. For look at our position. Here we are at the close of eighteen centuries of Christian teaching; able to look back on the lives, and examples, of all the Saints of God, that during eighteen centuries have lived and died in Christ. Here we are in possession of God's own Scripture, preserved throughout that period, and during the last three centuries printed and widely spread amongst inquirers. But, notwithstanding all this, the whole fabric of professing Christendom seems honeycombed with error. There is the Greek Church, or rather the many Churches of the East, sunk into a dull, torpid, lifeless, and obstinate substitution of man-made dogmas for the truth of God. There is Rome, full of energy, placing the Virgin between the soul and the Saviour, and bidding men fall down to adore the wafer on the altar with the worship that belongs exclusively to the exalted Redeemer at the right hand of the Father. Oh! it is indeed high time that the witnesses for Christ should be awake and at work! And then amongst Protestants, or rather in Protestant Churches, there are all kinds of strange heresies broached, and, what is stranger still, very few without a certain measure of success. All have their followers, or they would collapse at once. Now, as I have just said, there is something painfully perplexing in all this, and, if our faith rested on our own calculation of probability, there would be enough to shake it almost to its foundation. But here is the inexpressible value of such a passage as this. It takes away the sting from all those difficulties. It turns them into evidences of the truth of God. It so alters their character, that now those false teachers become, unconsciously and unintentionally, witnesses for truth. They prove that the Lord's words were true, and that the Scriptures are the Scriptures of truth. Nay, more! They prove His forethought for His people. He told us from the very beginning what we were to expect, and did not leave us to find ourselves unexpectedly entangled, and surprised. So now, instead of being disturbed in our faith, we may gather assurance as to the perfect trustworthiness of His word, and the watchful fidelity of His care, and may go on our way with the most peaceful confidence, that, as He has forewarned us of our danger, by His grace He will also carry us through it, and present His own people as conquerors at His own right hand at His appearing.

(3). But this is not all. It would be a happy thing for the Church of God if there were nothing to deplore but heresy. If all those who hold the truth were filled with holy zeal in maintaining it, and holy love in their labour for the Lord, it would be easy to imagine that such a power would be called out as no opposing forces would be able to withstand. But when we find sometimes lukewarmness, and sometimes even coldness, amongst those in whose religious system there is no taint of error, then, indeed, there is reason to be disheartened. If the system is correct, but the heart cold, what hope can there be of power? If a man knows the truth of God, and can tell you of the precious blood of Christ, but yet is not moved by it, what is there to arouse him? And what can you expect but that he will be languid, lifeless, and powerless in the great conflict for Christ? Yet who can look around the Church of God without seeing reason to deplore the existence of a coldness of heart in many even of those who are correct in their theology? But again we are prepared by prophecy, for this very thing was foretold. Our Lord said 1800 years ago "Because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold." Even true believers may be chilled by surrounding evil, and they ought, on that account, to be very careful how they involve themselves in an unnecessary contact with the world. True love is not always warm love, and even the children of God, saved by the grace of God, may be so entangled by the world that they become lukewarm in their affections, and only half-hearted in their service. And this is exactly what the Lord foretold. His words prepare us for a class of persons whose theology is correct, but whose hearts are cold; who are not led away by error, but who, though they profess truth, are without fervour, without love, without zeal, without any thing approaching to holy enthusiasm for God.

But the next verse shows that in the midst of all this there will be a band of faithful men, like those who in Revelation xvii. are described as fellow-conquerors with the Lamb, "called, and chosen, and faithful." The prophecy is not one of evil only, but one of great encouragement to the Church of God, for it teaches us that, whatever happens, the Lord will be faithful to His own chosen people, and will keep them safe, enduring to the end. "He that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved." There will be those then that will endure, and endure unto the end. The Deceiver will have no power to draw them from the faith. He may come like an angel of light. He may mix with his falsehood just truth enough to conceal the lie. He may present his error decked in all the meretricious ornaments of sense. He may have his many followers, some attracted by the gratification of their taste, and some induced to believe that the falsehood is truth. But no appeal to taste, no sophistry, no numbers can wrest the man of God from the right hand of his Lord and Saviour. He in whom he lives "is able to keep him" from falling. The error does not mislead him, the abounding iniquity does not chill him. His feet are on the rock, and there he stands stedfast and unmovable. In his convictions he clings fast to the great, grand old principles of Scriptural truth, and maintains with all fidelity the unchanged Gospel of the grace of God,—maintains it so faithfully that the last testimony of the last witness for Christ shall be the selfsame Gospel as that made known by our Lord at the beginning, for He describes this message as "This Gospel of the kingdom." It is not another, it is not a counterfeit, but the unchanged message of life and peace as given by our Lord himself. So again, in his affections, through God's great mercy, he remains unchanged. There is no chill in his love, as there is no error in his faith. He may have the bitter pain of seeing friends fall off, and of losing the hearty help of those to whom he once looked as his trusted fellow-labourers and dear brethren in Christ. He may have the same pain that St. Paul had when Demas left him, and he may shed many a sad tear at the defection of a brother. But all this only drives him closer to the unchanging Saviour, and gives an inexpressible value to the privilege of praying, "Oh! Thou that changest not, abide with me." And the Lord does abide with him, holding him fast in His own right hand, never forsaking him for a moment, meeting his fears by the kind words "Fear not, for I am with thee," and warming his heart by the assurance, "They shall know that I have loved thee." Thus it is that God's people endure. Forced into a conflict for truth, even with those for whom they entertain a sincere regard; and brought into almost daily contact with that which has the most powerful tendency to chill their love, yet "preserved in Christ" they are kept faithful to the end. They know whom they have believed, and they love Him. They have experienced His fidelity, and they trust Him. They know that, whoever falls off, He never will; and with their whole heart they are ready to say Amen to the Apostolic words, "Whether we live, we live unto the Lord, or whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live, therefore, or die, we are the Lord's." God grant that our beloved Society may ever be conducted on such principles, and upheld by the support of such men! God grant that there may never be wanting a succession of those who endure, to guide its counsels at home and labour in its Missions abroad! And may it be found, when the end shall come, unchanged in its principle, unwearied in its work, a faithful, laborious, and successful witness for the Lord!

And now we are brought to the last conclusion connected with our subject, and that which bears most closely on our own immediate work, viz. this,—that the last great Missionary effort of the Church of Christ must be wholly dependent on this band of faithful men, who thus by God's grace endure unto the end. The false teachers cannot be expected to give their help as witnesses for truth, and those that are deceived by them will be sure, with them, to stand aloof. Then, again, we can expect no effective help from the lukewarm. Cold hearts never care for Missions. It is when the love of Christ constraineth us, that the soul becomes zealous for His glory. The whole work, therefore, must be thrown on those who by God's great grace endure unto the end. From them, and them alone, the Missionary ranks must be recruited, the Missionary funds raised, the Missionary spirit kindled, and the Missionary prayers poured forth before the throne of grace. It follows, therefore, that in the latter days there may possibly be a diminution in the number of our supporters; but if there be, we must expect it to be more than counterbalanced by the increased zeal and devotedness, with which those who remain deny themselves in the service of their Lord. All this is easily explained. As outward organizations disappoint them, and those on whom they once reckoned drop off little by little, they must be led more closely to sift their principles, and be thrown more entirely on Christ Himself. No wonder, then, if they feel a deeper love for Him, and a more holy readiness to bear witness to His truth! The more we sift the truth as revealed in Scripture, the more eager shall we be to make it: known and the more we are thrown on Christ, the more anxious shall we be to be faithful witnesses to His name. Thus it was that the great Missionary revival of this century was cradled amidst the storms of the French revolution. And thus it is that in this year 1871, after all the drain on Christian liberality which has been occasioned by the war, notwithstanding all the conflict of religious party which has well-nigh rent the dear old Church of England into fragments; notwithstanding the hostility of some, the defection of others, and the reproaches heaped on our Committee for some of its most important decisions, they will be able to meet us to-morrow morning with the Report, that the deficiency of 12,000*l.* of last year has been wiped clean away by the Special Fund, and that the amount contributed by Associations is the largest ever yet received by the Society. May we not regard this as an illustration of the principle that the sifting process of the latter days will only serve to establish the conviction, to deepen the love, and to quicken the zeal of those, who by God's great grace are preserved enduring unto the end? And may we not regard it as a great encouragement for the confident hope that, amidst the religious confusion of these latter days, we may look for such a freshening of Missionary devotedness, that the remaining work may be quickly completed, the last nation reached by the witnesses, the whole of God's elect gathered, and the way made ready for the blessed appearance of the Lord in His kingdom? Oh! that we, and those we love, may be found standing fast amongst those who endure unto the end! Oh! that no false teaching may taint our faith, and no iniquity chill our love! Oh! that we may be kept, and our sons kept, and our daughters kept, and our parishioners kept, stedfast in Christ Jesus; justified in Christ Jesus; chosen in Christ Jesus; preserved in Christ Jesus! And God grant that, being thus kept, we may go forth to the world full of faith, and full of the Holy Ghost and power, to be witnesses to all nations of the unspeakable blessedness of the saving name of Christ Jesus our Lord!

REPORT,

&c. &c.

THE Committee, in presenting their annual financial statement, would first revert to the position in which the Society's finances stood at this time last year. Owing to a decrease in two sources of revenue, (legacies and donations) the Income had fallen short of the Expenditure, leaving a deficit of 12,116*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.* In addition to this deficit, the Committee had before them an estimated expenditure of 154,000*l.*, making the total liability for the year 166,000*l.* So cordial, however, were the assurances of help the moment this position became known, that the Committee confidently left to the members and friends of the Society the two-fold task of clearing off the deficiency, and raising the Society's Income to an amount adequate to the Expenditure; they on their part endeavouring to keep the expenditure within the estimates. The Committee have now to announce that the year's expenditure has been 154,200*l.* 18*s.*, which, with last year's deficit of 12,116*l.* 13*s.* 11*d.*, makes the total spent 166,317*l.* 11*s.* 11*d.* Nearly the whole of this large sum has been provided by the receipts of the past year, which have been as follow:—

Making a total of 165,918*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*, the largest amount ever received by the Society in one year. The Committee humbly bless God for this result, which they cannot but regard as an answer to prayer. They are convinced also that it has not been obtained without much exertion and much self-denial on the part of the supporters of the Society generally throughout the country, for which the Committee offer them their hearty thanks. But such labours of love are their own reward.

At the same time the Committee beg that the real state of the Society's finances may be carefully borne in mind. The Committee have explained from time to time the need of a steady, reliable income, adequate, not only to maintain existing agencies, but to meet calls for gradual expansion, and for entrance on fresh fields of labour. How far has this need been supplied? After deducting the Deficiency Fund of 14,063*l.*, the income exceeds the average of five preceding years by 3,334*l.*; but this increase is mainly due to Donations. Moreover, the expenditure has been, in some degree, a reduced expenditure; and that reduction, though not large, has retarded extensions, has weakened existing Missions, and has given pain to many a faithful labourer, While, therefore, the Committee praise God for His goodness in relieving them from immediate pecuniary embarrassment, they would impress on the friends of the Society that there should be no relaxation of those steady, continuous efforts which will, under God, enable it annually to keep pace with the growing demands that come from the Foreign Mission field. In this respect, experience directs the Committee not only to the occupation of new Parishes, but also to the more systematic canvassing of all classes of the population in Parishes where Associations already exist. It cannot be doubted that an increased number of cheerful and hearty subscribers, whether among the poor or among the rich, brings with it a large increase also of intercessory supplications before the throne of grace.*

The Income and Expenditure have been as follows:—

Ordinary Income of the Year:—
Associations		£116,715 16 11
Benefactions		16,050 6 6
Legacies		12,891 19 2
Sundries		6,196 18 9
		151,855 1 4
Deficiency Fund		14,063 4 6
		5,918 5 10
Expenditure	154,200 18 0
Deficit, 1869-70	12,116 13 11
		166,317 11 11
Deficit, 1870-71		£399 6 1

* A remarkable instance among many others of successful endeavour in this direction has been described in a pamphlet lately issued by the Committee. A poor parish in a cathedral town, with a population of PATRONAGE.

The Bishops of St. Asaph, Chichester, Sierra Leone, Mauritius, and Wellington, being members of the Society, have, according to No. II. of the Fundamental Laws of the Society, become Vice-Presidents of the Society; and the Committee have also appointed to the same post the Rev. Lord Dynevor, the Very Rev. the Dean of Canterbury, and Sir John Kennaway, Bart. The Committee have to lament the loss by death of the Rev. Viscount Midleton, who was one of their Vice-Presidents, and had been for many years a valued supporter of the Society.

The following have been nominated as Honorary Governors for Life:—The Rev. Edward Auriol, M.A., Rector of St. Dunstan's-in-the-West; the Rev. Peter French, M.A., Vicar of Holy Trinity, Burton-on-Trent; the Rev. Thomas D. Bernard, M.A., Canon of Wells, and Rector of Walcot; the Rev. Edward Hoare, M.A., Honorary Canon of Canterbury and Vicar of Trinity Church, Tunbridge Wells. The Committee had also appointed as Honorary Governor for Life the Rev. Joseph Ridgeway, M.A., Vicar of Christ Church, Tunbridge Wells, who was for twenty-two years Editorial Secretary of the Society, and had in that capacity, as well as on the platform and in the pulpit, rendered important help to the great work in which the Society is engaged. They have now to record that Mr. Ridgeway was removed to his heavenly rest on the 23rd of May, and to express their deep sorrow at the loss which the Society has thus experienced.

SECRETARYSHIP.

The Rev. John Barton, M.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge, late of the Society's North India Mission, has been appointed a Clerical Secretary to the Society; and General Lake, late Financial Commissioner of the Punjab, has accepted the office of Honorary Lay Secretary.

CHURCH MISSIONARY INSTITUTION.

During the year the Rev. T. Green resigned the post, which he had filled for twelve years, of Principal of the Society's College at Islington. The Committee parted with much about 3,700, has raised for the Society a sum of not less than 206*l.*; and the efforts of these humble disciples for the heathen abroad have yielded ample spiritual fruits to their own comfort and edification. The Committee commend this pamphlet to the notice of those friends who are desirous of practical hints for following so good an example.

regret and affectionate esteem from so earnest and able a fellow-helper and counsellor. They have the satisfaction to announce that the vacancy has been filled by the Rev. Andrew H. Frost, of St. John's College, Cambridge, for fifteen years one of the Society's Missionaries in Western India. The number of Students now under preparation by the Society for Missionary work is 26. This is below the average of the ten preceding years.

In the scanty supply of Missionary candidates from young men generally throughout the country, the Committee are encouraged by the fact, that within the last three months five members of the University of Cambridge have offered themselves for the foreign work of the Society, all of them well reported of for Missionary qualifications. May Oxford and Dublin be stirred up to godly emulation!

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Thirty of the Society's Candidates were admitted to Holy Orders during the year; eight by the Bishop of London, one of whom has since been disconnected from the Society; seven by the Archbishop of Canterbury; four native Africans by Bishop Crowther; three natives of India by the Bishop of Bombay; one European and five natives by the Bishop of Calcutta; and two natives by the Bishop of Waiapu.

DECEASE OF LABOURERS.

The following labourers have been removed by death during the past year:—

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. C. H. Brierley died on the 14th of August, 1870, at Madeira, whither he had gone for the benefit of his health.

Western India Mission—Miss C. White, Superintendent of the Society's Female Schools at Bombay, died at Surat on the 9th of September, 1870.

North India Mission—The Rev. J. W. Knott died at Peshawur, after a short illness, on the 28th of June, 1870. The Rev. R. P. Greaves died at Burdwan, of epidemic fever, on the 25th of November.

NUMBER OF LABOURERS.

Nine European Clergymen and one European Female Teacher have been sent forth during the past year; four European and one Native Clergymen, and one European Female Teacher have been removed by death; and seven Clergymen and one Layman have, on account of health and other causes, ceased to be connected with the Society. The number of European labourers in full connexion with the Society is as follows:—

Abroad—
Ordained European Missionaries . . .	154
Unordained European Labourers . . .	12
European Female Teachers	6
		172
At Home—
Ordained European Missionaries . . .	48
Unordained European Teachers . . .	4
		54

Showing a decrease of one Clergyman and three Laymen. The number of ordained Native and Country-born Labourers is 127, being an increase of thirteen.

* This does not include newly-ordained Missionaries now in England.

I. Native Church.

THE Native Church has now completed the tenth year of its existence as a distinct Christian community. The Committee are not responsible for the management of its affairs; but, in common with all the members of the Society, they watch the progress of the Sierra Leone Church with the deepest interest, and heartily praise God that it has been enabled thus far to hold its ground, notwithstanding human frailty, the assaults of the great enemy, and some apparently untoward external circumstances. In this connexion, the appointment and arrival of Dr. Cheetham, the newly-consecrated Bishop of Sierra Leone, is a matter for thankfulness and congratulation.

The expenses of the Sierra Leone Native Church are met from the following sources:—(1.) Class payments, i. e., weekly contributions from Church members. (2.) Surplice Fees. (3.) Voluntary contributions raised in the colony by a Society termed the Native Pastorate Auxiliary; (4.) A grant from the Church Missionary Society; and (5.) A grant from the Colonial Treasury. The receipts from the first three of the above-mentioned sources of supply amounted last year to 767*l.* 1*s.* 5*d.* The following remarks of the Hon. John Ashwood, when presiding at the Annual Meeting of the Native Pastorate Auxiliary, are valuable as an independent testimony:—

Independent testimony of the Hon. J. Ashwood.

When I entered the colony in 1848 such a body as the Native Pastorate was not in existence. The clerical and educational work was conducted by Europeans; and when I mention the names of Beale, Frey, Haastrup, Rhodes, Young, there are those who can bear me out. But where are those men now? They have finished their labours, and received their reward. We are, however, not left without ministers. Through the exertions of those men, and the blessing of the Almighty, there have been raised up true and good men—sons of the soil—natives of Africa—men who have been trained and educated for the ministry, and who are now, I am happy to say, treading worthily in the steps of their predecessors, and silently, unobtrusively, but surely, doing the great and glorious work of the further regeneration of this colony and the neighbouring countries.

The spirit of the Native Church may be further gathered from the following sentences in the Annual Report that was read on the same occasion:—

Missionary aspirations of the Native Church.

The appointment by Sir Arthur Kennedy of the Rev. Messrs. Nicol and Maxwell, two senior Pastors, to the Gambia and Gold Coast chaplaincies, has been hailed with joyful acclamations by your friends. The Committee, while regretting their loss to the Native Church, nevertheless regard such an appointment as a new era in the history of the Church of West Africa. The Committee, however, look forward to the time when pastors, constrained by the love of Christ, will resign their charge, and, like Messrs. French and Knott, go forth to evangelize the heathen world. The Committee rejoice to state that the Native Church is bearing a moiety of the expenditure of the Missions on the Bullom, Sherbro, and the Quiah. It is to be hoped that the day is not far distant when the Native Church will defray the entire expense of these Missions. The Committee would urge on their friends the necessity of more enlarged liberal assistance. The Committee are afraid that the more opulent men in the community have not as yet arisen to the emergency of the occasion. A dozen native merchants, subscribing at the rate of five guineas each annually towards the Association, would materially augment its funds; and the Committee see nothing to hinder this.

The receipts of the local Church Missionary Auxiliary have declined, as compared with the preceding year, from 463*l.* to 436*l.* This diminution is at least partly attributable to the depreciation in the English markets of some of the products of the colony. But the Committee of the Auxiliary have addressed their countrymen on the subject in the language of earnest remonstrance.

The population of Sierra Leone numbered at the last census 41,600, of whom 36,470 were Protestant Christians.

II. Congregations still connected with the Society.

The Rev. T. Oldham, who has returned to Sierra Leone after an absence of three years, is now in charge of Trinity Church, Kissy Road. As Mr. Oldham was for about four months in charge of the same station five years ago, he is able in some degree to estimate the progress that has been made, He reports favourably of the advance in education:—

Mr. Hamilton had a large and well-appointed school built; but this proved too small for the number of pupils sent. Mr. Caiger therefore had the foundation and walls laid and built for an additional school and infant school. But so large is the number of children (constantly being added to also), that it will be needful to enlarge both buildings very considerably. And now that our schools are placed under Government, and will reap some advantage from the connexion, we expect both more pupils and a better average attendance. The children will also be better instructed, because the grant-in-aid will depend mainly on this.

So also of the attendance at church—

The attendance is very good indeed on Sundays, and many people in good and comfortable positions in society attend. There are many among the congregations intelligent, and educated as highly as they can be in the colony. A few, too, have had the advantage of a residence for some time in England. The attendance and demeanour in church are gratifying.

On the other hand, Mr. Oldham considers the scanty attendance at week-day services and at Bible classes as symptoms of a low spiritual tone among the members of the congregation generally.

The principal congregation at Pademba Road is that which meets at Christ Church: it numbers 500 worshippers. The frequent changes among European Missionaries have thrown much of the work and responsibility connected with the station on the native curate, the Rev. James Johnson. Mr. Johnson reports in the Sunday services improved attendance and increased reverence. A hard struggle has to be kept up against the many temptations to immorality arising from the habits of the people. Even among the communicants and district visitors some have been overcome. Yet there are not a few whose consistent lives and dying testimonies give proof of the Spirit accompanying the word. Mr. Johnson numbers in his congregation upwards of 660 attendants at public worship, and 360 communicants. Brookfields, an out-station in connexion with Pademba Road, is one of the few strongholds of heathenism still left in Sierra Leone; but it has also its flourishing Christian congregation, who are engaged in erecting a suitable edifice for public worship. The church is to hold 600 persons, and its estimated cost is 700*l*. Mr. Johnson hopes to raise 300*l*. in the colony, and looks to friends in England for the remainder. The general funds of the Society are scarcely available for this purpose.

Of the work at Krootown Mr. Johnson thus reports:—

At Krootown I am most happy to say there are some adults preparing for baptism. Their conduct is good: they are mostly advanced in life, and learn very slowly; but I am satisfied with their knowledge of the work of redemption, and will therefore baptize them this month in the faith of Christ. These would be the first-fruits of our many years' patient toil among the Kroo people. Among these candidates is an old Kakanda conjuror: he is really in earnest about his salvation, and particularly anxious to be baptized.

The Rev. Samuel Mousa is the Society's Native Pastor at Bananas, which is a small island just off the south-west corner of the Sierra Leone peninsula. There are at this station 200 professed Christians, of whom 100 are communicants. Some of those formerly communicants have fallen into sin, and have been suspended in consequence. There are seven adult candidates for baptism, but Mr. Mousa does not state to what class of the population they belong. The two hundred Native Christians are all, or nearly all, liberated slaves and their descendants.

III. Education.

The local Government is taking active measures to secure the provision of good elementary education for children throughout the colony. In this department, which the Society transferred to the Native Church as soon as the latter was constituted, the Committee anticipate that the Government and the Native Church will work together in cordial harmony. The higher educational establishments connected with the Native Church the Society still retains in its own hands. The theological College, known by the name of the Fourah Bay Institution, has been in abeyance for the lack of a suitable Principal. The Rev. M. Sunter has been recently sent out from England, in the hope that this important work may be gradually and ultimately resumed. The Female Institution has suffered from the same cause, though not to the same extent. Miss Thomas has been labouring ably and zealously, but single-handed, at a post where three European ladies ought to be engaged. The Committee are now sending out suitable helpers. The need was the more urgent as there is in Freetown a Romish establishment of the same kind, which is amply supplied with competent European teachers. Of the Grammar School, its Native Principal, the Rev. James Quaker, thus reports:—

Grammar School under a Native Principal.

Notwithstanding some unfavourable circumstances, such as the opening of the Government Model School under an able superintendent and a good schoolmaster, where boys, sons of parents who can well afford to pay the guinea a quarter here, are admitted almost for nothing, and withal amply supplied with cheap school-books; I am thankful to be able to state that I have no just cause for complaint. It is true that our number of pupils has fallen below the standard of one hundred by three; but this reckoning is exclusive of the pupil teachers and monitors, who are five in number. The financial receipts have suffered no defalcation. In fact, so favourable has been the financial status of the school, that we have been enabled to educate and maintain no less than ten additional pupils here to become teachers in the Native Church. The progress and attainments of the pupils in their several branches of study have been well tested by independent examiners at the last public examination, which took place here on the 11th of May last, T. H. Popplestone, Esq., the Government Inspector of Schools, occupying the chair, in the unavoidable absence of the Governor-in-Chief. Six of my promising senior pupils, supported by the Society and the school, are now ready to be transferred to the Fourah Bay Institution. On the 27th of October the distribution of prizes to the successful pupils at the last public examination took place in the school-room at 12 o'clock midday. Sir Arthur, the Governor-in-Chief, occupied the chair on the occasion, and awarded the prize-books to the pupils. On the day of the distribution we had many more ladies and gentlemen present than we could conveniently accommodate, not to mention the dense crowd of the people that thronged the entrances. They were attracted as usual by the recitations, dialogues, debate and music that precede the distribution.

IV. Evangelistic work beyond the Colony.

Bullom is a tract of country on the coast of the mainland, lying immediately to the north of the Sierra Leone peninsula. It is governed by native chiefs. The King of Yongro, which is the Society's chief station, is friendly to the Mission, though still a heathen. The Rev. H. Boston, a native clergyman, continues his zealous labours, both among the Sierra Leone immigrants and among the natives. The attendance at public worship is improving, the heathen listen with respect to the preaching of the Gospel, and there are some candidates for baptism from among the native Timneh population. The majority of the Christians (who number altogether 504) belong to the Sierra Leone population. There are 142 communicants, and during the year there have been five adult baptisms.

Extracts are subjoined from Mr. Boston's annual letter:—

The attendance given at divine service is generally good, the number varying from 110 to 180. The majority of our communicants maintain their Christian character consistently. But among the nominally Christian portion, lacking the vital influences of Christianity, several have gone back to participate in the sinful pleasures of the worldling; and what is still more painful, two of my associates in the Mission have been carried along among them, in consequence of which they are set aside from service. The third anniversary meeting of the Bullom Evangelistic Association was celebrated on the 12th of October. 10*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.* is the amount realized for the past year. This sum, added to the 17*l.* 3*s.* 10*d.* obtained in the two preceding years, makes a total of 27*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* It has been decided that the management of this little fund be left entirely to the disposal of the local Committee of the Church Missionary Society for the definite object we had in view in forming the Association, viz., to aid in the support of an evangelist that may be employed by the Church Missionary Society for this Mission.

Evangelistic efforts of Sierra Leone Christians in the Bullom country.

The Evangelistic Association just mentioned has for its object the preaching of Christ to the native heathen of the country. The work has been already attempted, and more systematic efforts are in contemplation.

Another branch of our labours is among the native heathens of other villages living in spiritual destitution, though not left altogether uncared for. As often as I could make it convenient under favourable opportunity, I endeavoured to teach them the word of God at their homes. The well-working of this Mission could be accomplished only by a regular and an extensive itinerancy. Evangelists are much needed to carry forth the word of life to the villages and hamlets of the benighted Bulloms. Without this aid the work of evangelizing the various tribes resident in this country will ever be conducted within a limited compass; but with such means the message of salvation could be sounded 100 miles beyond. It affords me no small degree of pleasure to add, that a young man of Bullom descent, whose Christian character is exemplary, has offered himself for evangelistic work among his countrymen. It is hoped that he will be recommended to the local Committee of the Church Missionary Society for a few months' preparation to fit him for his work.

The out-stations of Robanny and Kitonk have not prospered during the year. The work at Ro Benkeh, on the other hand, is hopeful.

Quiah Mission.

The Rev. C. Knödler is assisted in this field by three native catechists. Though there have been no adult baptisms, it will be seen by the following extracts from his Annual Letter that God has been graciously pleased to give him an open door, and some visible grounds of encouragement. A portion of what was for a year or two British Quiah has been re-transferred to the native chiefs. This has led to some changes in the population; but, it is hoped, will not be permanently detrimental to Missionary effort.

Our station at Ma-Kibitr has been visibly blessed by the Lord during the last year. His name be praised for it. Ma-Kibitr was some years ago a pretty large village, but it has, like many other towns in Quiah, lost many of its former inhabitants on account of the political changes which have been going on in this country. Our position here answers, however, very well as a centre for itinerating. Our little church was always well attended, even during the rainy season, though many persons had to come from a considerable distance by land and by water. We have a day-school, attended by about eighteen children, a class for adults on Fridays, and at present several candidates for baptism. Our congregation consists chiefly of Sierra Leone people, who are employed in the neighbouring factories, or come to this part of the country as farmers; but there is always a good number of Timnehs among them. We have often tried to gather the Timnehs into a separate class; but this is very difficult. They live the greater part of the year in their farms, which are scattered over the country, so that the word of God can be brought home to them only by visiting one family after another in their farm-houses. They, almost without exception, receive these visits well, and listen attentively and with approbation to the message of God which we have to deliver to them. Many have been induced to keep the Sabbath as a day of rest, and promised to pray in their houses when they were too far from a place of public worship.

Mr. Knödler has made several Missionary tours in the Timneh villages.

In several places, as Ma-Kori, Ro-Bomp, Pepel, Ro-Tumbo, and Tasso, the people earnestly begged me to send them teachers or catechists. At Ma-Krobulai the people said they preferred our religion to that of Mohammed, and would not keep the Mohammedan fast of Ramadhan this year. I supplied a Sierra Leone trader, who is living at that place, with some Timneh and English books, by the aid of which he endeavours to teach several young men the art of reading. At Ma-Yetr I was enabled, by the grace of God, to intercede for and save the lives of two men, who were condemned to be burnt to death for being suspected of practising witchcraft. At Port Lokko, the largest town in the Timneh country, I was always well received by the king and his subjects. I spent, at different times, several weeks there, and had then many opportunities to distribute the word of God, not only among Timnehs, but also among the many strangers who pass through that town on their way from the interior to the colony.

On the whole, Mr. Knödler remarks—

I have better prospects of success than I ever had before. At and near our station there are now several Timnehs, who wish to enter the Church of Christ. I believe that they are sincere, and I defer baptism only until they are more fully instructed in the truths of our holy religion. There are also signs of an awakening from the torpor of ignorance and superstition in other Timneh towns.

The attempts to train Timneh youths for Missionary work have hitherto proved unsuccessful, but they will not be relinquished. Mr. Knödler urges that a European Missionary should be again sent to South Quiah, where Mr. Beale, jun., was stationed for a few months in 1867-68.

Sherbro may, perhaps, still be regarded as under the superintendence of the Rev. M. Pearce, though Mr. Henry Johnson has been lately appointed to it by the Committee. It will be remembered that both Mr. Pearce and Mr. Johnson are African clergymen. The communicants number 60, which must indicate a Christian community of not less than 200 souls. These are almost entirely immigrants from Sierra Leone. The stations occupied by the Society are Bendu, where Mr. Pearce himself resides, Bonthe, and Victoria. Mr. Pearce writes as follows—

The population of Sierra Leone people at Bendu growing smaller and smaller every month, has placed it altogether beyond our power to speak of a well-filled church or a large congregation; but who will despise a congregation of seventy or eighty souls, when the Divine presence is promised to a congregation of two or three? The communicants, as a rule, have continued in their steadfastness. The female communicants have a social gathering once every week in the house of one of their number, when prayers are offered to God for all classes of people. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper has been regularly administered once every month.

Mr. Pearce has to maintain a constant battle by admonition and prayer and discipline against the temptations to immorality, under which even some of the communicants have succumbed. Bonthe is not in a satisfactory state. At Victoria there has been, from causes not connected with the Mission, a diminution of the nominally Christian Sierra Leone population, and a consequent falling off in the congregations and schools. Under these circumstances the native Catechist thus writes:—

The heathen in their "firkies" put forth the cry, "Come over, and help us." To them we now prayerfully and hopefully turn. The adults would not come to worship with us every Lord's-day, but would listen with marked attention and unwearied patience to our readings and exhortations whenever we call on them in their huts. Ere we reach the spot to deliver the life-giving message, they would come together in a company, some lying on mats, others squatting on the ground, and others standing against the door of their huts. It is pleasant to gaze on their faces. Their smiling and cheerful countenances fill us with a hearty and willing spirit to perform our work with joy. After we have delivered our message we are often greeted with the clapping of hands; every one drawing near to shake hands with us, saying, "Seg-geh oh bam," "Thank you, father."

Heathen listening with pleasure to the Gospel.

LAGOS.

In this thriving possession of the British Crown there has been of late years great commercial and material progress. The local authorities frankly recognize the civilizing tendency of Missionary labour. The Native Communicants connected with the Society number 531. This must imply a Christian community of not less than 2,500 souls. The Native Christians of Lagos are, some of them, persons of wealth, holding an influential position in society. Their pecuniary subscriptions for Church and Mission purposes have been commendably liberal. There have been, during the year, forty-one adult baptisms.

The Society has four Stations in Lagos itself—Faji, Bread-fruit, Ebute Ero, and Aroloya, or Palm Church; and one, Ebute Metta, on the adjacent portion of the mainland.

Faji.

This station, connected with which there are 128 communicants, is under the care of the Rev. H. Townsend. There have been within the year twelve adult baptisms. Nothing of special interest seems to have occurred during that period.

Bread-fruit Station.

The Rev. L. Nicholson has charge of this station, and superintends the out-station of Badagry. His statistics, which it is presumed refer to the collective work at the two places, give 520 Native Christians, 226 communicants, and 19 adult baptisms. The following interesting extracts are appended from Mr. Nicholson's annual letter :—

The past year, I would hopefully say, has been a year of progress. Inroads have been made on the heathenism by which we are surrounded. At the time of writing my last annual letter the number of communicants at this station was 207. Now it is 226, though there have been six deaths from among the communicants, and about double that number suspended from the privilege of coming to the Lord's table. Some of these cases of discipline were self-confessed, others were found out by the band of leaders with which I am happy to say I am surrounded, and who confer with me on the state of the Church every month. Advance has also been made in training the Native Church to habits of self support.

A material as well as a spiritual Church is in course of erection.

In March, 1870, the foundation-stone of the new church for this station was laid, and the Native Christians of the congregation have raised the sum of 1018*l.* towards this object, and they promise to do more as the occasion may arise. The day of laying the foundation-stone will be a day long remembered by all who were present. The day was very stormy and rainy, but cleared up a little at the time appointed for the ceremony. A goodly company of the native people gathered together. His Excellency the Administrator laid the stone, and gave a most appropriate address. He told the people that where the church is to be built there stood, in the days gone by, a famous fetish house, as a protection to the slave baracoons which stood hard by. Many deeds of wickedness and cruelty had been committed on the spot where the new house of God is to be built. Bishop Crowther and Rev. H. Townsend followed, with appropriate addresses. Then the collection was made. It was really a sight to see the people give: none wanted to pass the collectors: there was such stretching and reaching over one another to drop in their offerings. The sum collected on the spot was 54*l.* It did my heart good to see the people give, and I felt I had not come to Africa in vain.

Liberality of Native Christians.

At Lagos schools are eminently an evangelistic agency.

The statistics will give you an idea of our school work. School work is most important: heathen children are often thus the means of bringing their parents to hear the word of God. The Sunday school is most encouraging. The attendance often reaches in the afternoon 330, the majority of whom are adults.

Mr. Nicholson thus concludes his annual letter :—

I have now nearly completed twelve years of labour in Western Africa. I have never yet regretted I was sent here, but again and again have I had occasion to bless God for what I have been permitted to behold. I have witnessed one and another of my brethren fall victims to this trying climate. At times I have suffered much myself. All this reminds the African Missionary the time is short. It is my fervent desire to labour on in this field. I want to see Africa stretch out her hands to God. I have seen the first-fruits of this: I want to see it more. How much longer I may be spared to labour I am not careful to know; the time that remains I want to spend in the work. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." And for the future I rest in the unfailing promise, "Lo, I am with you always." To that faithful promise be all the glory for whatever may have been done through the years past!

Desires of an African Missionary

Ebute Ero.

The Rev. W. Morgan, a native African, is the pastor at this station. The Native Christians number 174, of whom 50 are communicants. There are 16 inquirers; but no adult baptism has taken place during the year. Mr. Morgan speaks of some of the Christians as zealously endeavouring to bring their friends and companions to the saving knowledge of Christ. Others, again, give him much pain by their inconsistency. In the day school there are 109 scholars, of whom all but 28 are children of heathen parents.

Aroloya, or Palm Church.

The Rev. J. A. Maser is at present at this station, endeavouring to evangelize the heathen, and having at the same time pastoral charge of two native congregations. From this latter work, so inappropriate to the Missionary, he longs to be relieved by the plans now in operation for the development of the Native Church. The Native Christians number 140, of whom 42 are communicants. There have been, during the year, two adult baptisms. Mr. Maser gives the following particulars respecting the congregation and the building in which they assemble, or used to assemble, for public worship:—

The church at Aroloya is small, its members are poor, and not regular in their attendance. There was some excuse for this, on account of the dampness of the floor during the rains, as the church is on the shore of a creek of the Lagos river. With the assistance of the poor congregation, this was no sooner mended by the laying of tiles on the floor, which cost us 16*l.*, when, on the 6th September, the whole church was burnt down to the pavement by the large fire which destroyed upwards of 1,000 dwellings in the middle of the town. Many of the members lost their own houses. The Aroloya church, being in a locality always exposed to fire, on account of the prevailing winds, we resolved to build it no more with bamboo and leaves, but to put an iron roof upon pillars of bricks, and fill up the sides with bamboos, supported by bricks. The members contributed according to their ability. The locality of the Palm church at Aroloya, on the banks of a lake formed by the Lagos river, fronted by a much frequented road, and near a busy market, affords promise that its congregation will be, at some future time, not the smallest, as it is now, but one of the largest in Lagos.

Ebute Metta.

Many of the inhabitants of this suburb are Abeokuta Christians, who left that town at the time of the outbreak, and settled in Lagos. The adult members of the congregation are 130, and of these 85 are communicants. There have been, during the year, eight adult baptisms. One sign of vitality is seen in the efforts made by some of the members of the congregation for the conversion of the heathen in their neighbourhood. Mr. Maser, who has charge of Ebute Metta, as well as of Aroloya, thus writes in his annual letter :—

The church at Ebute Metta, consisting of emigrants from Abeokuta, bears the stamp of maturity. Services and Sunday schools are regularly and well attended. Contributions are readily given. Most of the members are, during the week-days, on their distant farms between this and Oto, whence they return on the Saturday.

Some of the members of the Ebute Metta congregation go, every Lord's-day to the island of Ido to preach to the people. The chief of one of the three villages of the island is attending the Ebute Metta church, and is receiving regular instruction for baptism once a week by Mr. W. Doherty. He is much disregarded, on account of his Christian profession, by his people, and even by the children of the village. I encouraged him the other day, when he attended a Christian funeral, by saying that we Christians work all for one purpose, i. e., to lay ourselves down to die in peace, and to inherit the joys of eternity; and he must not be so much cast down on account of the apparent losses he has had through his Christian profession. Four of his children attend school at Ebute Metta. Some time ago he pointed out to me a site for a church which he hopes will one day be erected on the island. The Governor of Lagos has been there, and approved of the place. A few weeks ago the chief's own people, and the members of the Ebute Metta church, cleared the high bush which covered the place in which formerly the rites of the Oro worship were practised. He has in the mean time contributed 2*l.* 10*s.* towards the erection of this church. Besides his own village of Oto, there are two other villages in the island. He introduced me once to them, when I invited the people to partake of the Gospel privileges. This would be an interesting field for a native evangelist.

BADAGRY.

Mr. Samuel Pearse, the native catechist, continues his patient labours at this station, which is a town on the coast about fifty miles west of Lagos. The bamboo church having been blown down, has been partially repaired for present use. At the same time liberal help has been given, both by converts and heathen, for the erection of a larger mud-built church, which is to be roofed with corrugated iron. The first stone of the new structure was laid by Thomas Tickel, Esq., Civil Commissioner of Badagry, on the 7th of November. Mr. Nicholson, the European Missionary at Lagos, is Mr. Pearse's superintendent, and gives the following general view of the work :—

Badagry, where Mr. S. Pearse is faithfully labouring as catechist, is under my superintendence. It has long been a barren spot, though it is the place to which the Gospel was first brought in this country. The Popo tribe, who are the original inhabitants of Badagry, have long and steadily resisted all efforts to teach them the good and right way. But now light is beginning to dawn on the darkness of the debased Popoes of Badagry. Last year witnessed the gathering into the Church the first adult Popo. This year about four more have been gathered.

The following narrative, in Mr. Pearse's own words, will be read with painful interest :—

On the 27th of June last a marriage was solemnized here by the Rev. J. B. Wood, between Job Odunogun and his wife Afresi. Afresi had been a fetish devotee connected with a noted family among the Popoes. Her husband was the means of her conversion. The husband was baptized on the day previous to the marriage; Afresi being still only a candidate. The marriage took place on the following Monday, June 27. The church was crowded by half-naked Popoes, who could scarcely believe their own eyes. Others stood outside behind the Mission premises, and would not come in. They could not believe that such a thing could be done by a fetish devotee, and that, too, by a woman whose relatives are at the head of the fetish worship. The whole of Badagry was moved from one end to the other. But, alas! not later than the beginning of October this poor woman was taken seriously ill. How the illness came on is only known to Him who knoweth all things. I had her removed, with her husband, to a private place, known only to her father and the church members, and there we tended her to the best of our ability. Some of the members even voluntarily suspended their own business to attend her, and to watch by turns with the poor husband. The fetish people, however, had knowledge of her illness, and three successive days were devoted to a fetish dance. The fetish devotees invoked their idol, crying out in the streets, "Let nothing satisfy thee but death—miserable death." "Miserably kill all deserters." "Reclaim thy town." I never thought she so much loved prayer, or knew what to pray for. We not only saw her often in the habit of silent prayer, but we heard her praying audibly from time to time in words like these—"Almighty God, our heavenly Father, have mercy on me. I am a great sinner, my sins are many. I come to thee for refuge. Wash my soul and make me clean in Jesu's blood. Help me never to look back nor doubt thy power to save me; but help me to die in Jesu's hands. Have mercy on the people of Badagry. They are very wicked: pardon them, and deal not with them after their sins. Hear me, O Lord, my God; oh hear me for Jesus Christ's sake. Amen."

It pleased God, however, to remove her. She died in assured hope, and was buried five days before the laying of the foundation-stone of the church. Notwithstanding this and other trying events, Mr. Pearse is able to state that the work of the Lord has been steadily progressing, of which indications are given in the statistics that he has furnished.

ABEOKUTA.

The political condition of Abeokuta has through the year steadily though slowly improved. Some months ago the Native Christians, distressed at the determined obstinacy of the hostile party, set on foot a weekly prayer-meeting to ask help from God. Shortly after, Mr. Townsend, the well-known Abeokuta Missionary, took the bold step of visiting the town. The local authorities received him kindly; and his unexpected arrival was hailed with joy by the Native Christians. Mr. Townsend writes under date Abeokuta, January 12th, 1871—"I arrived on Wednesday, the 4th instant, the day of the week and the day of the month of my first arrival in 1843, twenty-eight years ago. I arrived at ten P.M., and was called upon immediately by the king. When in bed, visitors poured into my room, for they had not heard of my coming: only a select number knew. Mr. Moore, the senior native pastor of Abeokuta, came, late as it was, to satisfy himself of the truth. I cannot tell aright the joy my presence caused among the converts, our agents, and our heathen neighbours. I came empty in order to travel fast, and my only servant a small boy; but I have had servants enough and to spare: I have had a self-elected guard that sleep outside my bedroom every night, consisting of young men who were boarders here, mostly on the Coral Fund. For days I was not without visitors from morning till bed-time. The congregation on Sunday morning consisted of 843 persons. There were 190 communicants at the Lord's Supper. I should gather from what I see and hear that the public feeling has been improved since the outbreak, and that, although there is a power for evil, it is very much less than then." Ademda, the newly-appointed King or Alake, still shows himself friendly towards the Native Christians; but the opposite party holds its ground with pertinacity. Happily the contention goes on without bloodshed. It is a strife between rival influences. The Christians, and many of the heathen of Abeokuta, join in calling for Crowther. But the Bishop had deferred his visit until the European Missionaries had been invited and received; feeling as strongly the desirableness for the Native Church of European help as Mr. Townsend does the necessity of African independence. Mr. Townsend returned to Lagos on the 9th of February, but hopes to repeat his visit shortly. His report of the Abeokuta Native Christians is favourable. In the absence of the European Missionaries they have built, or rebuilt, several places of worship, have preserved and watched over out-stations, have kept up correspondence with the Christians of Ibadan, and have received accessions from the heathen. Eleven adults had been baptized during the year; and the candidates for baptism numbered one hundred. This seems to prove not only the attractive power of the Native Church, but also its jealous care not to admit unworthy members.

Vigour of Native Christianity while deprived of European Missionaries.

In connexion with Abeokuta there are now four principal stations, with outposts. Three of these—Ake (the largest), Ikija (the seat of the friendly chief Ogudipe), and Oshielle (which is some miles from the city of Abeokuta itself), are under the care of the Rev. W. Moore. The fourth, Igbore (which is near Igbein, and has in a sense been substituted for it since the outbreak), is in charge of another native pastor, the Rev. W. Allen. Three stations, Igbein, Owu, and Ilogun were shut up by the outbreak. The registered number of adult Native Christans connected with the Church

Missionary Society is 1,003, of whom 453 are communicants.

Mr. Moore thus speaks of the liberality of the Native Christians generally:—

The spirit of charity is increasing among the Christian converts. All have learnt, in a greater or smaller measure, that it is their duty as Christians to contribute to good objects. Besides their weekly collection at the classes, and contribution towards other good objects, they have, on receiving from Mr. Townsend a copy of the instructions he had brought out from the Society, relating to pecuniary matters, in compliance with the same, made a handsome contribution in the following manner, viz., Ake congregation, 40*l.* 9*s.* 9*d.*; Igbore, 27*l.* 0*s.* 7½*d.*; Ikija, 6*l.* 3*s.* 2½*d.*; Oshielle, 14*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*; Kemta, 14*s.* 3*d.*; and in the first week of August was held a Missionary meeting, when a collection amounting to 43*l.* 18*s.* 3½*d.*, was made. All the Christians in connexion with the Church Missionary Society in Abeokuta were invited to attend. The meeting was held at Ake church, and it was well attended. The collection made at the meeting, with the others made by the different congregations, amount to some 134*l.* 4*s.* 11½*d.* The whole amount was of course made in cowrie shells: a tremendous heap indeed it would be if put together.

Liberality of the Abeokuta Christians.

Ake.

Mr. Moore gives the following brief account of this congregation:—

Of Ake I am happy to record that the congregation continues to be kept up by the native catechist and the Scripture readers. One of the readers is receiving his entire monthly pay from the weekly collection of the converts of the congregation here. I have baptized eleven adults—nine men and two women—and forty-five children. There are 291 communicants in connexion with this station, and 100 candidates for the Lord's Supper, eighty-two candidates for baptism, and 149 school children, that is, eighty-two boys, and sixty-seven girls. The attendance at church in this congregation is always very large, seldom less than 600 souls.

Of Ikija Mr. Moore writes:—

I have thankfully to state that the congregation here continues in good order under the care of the native catechist, an old experienced Scripture reader, and one other Scripture reader of a lower class who receives half of his pay from the collection of the converts of the station. The congregation consists of seventy-nine communicants, eight candidates for the Lord's Supper, sixteen candidates for baptism, and forty-three school children: the whole congregation is 153 souls. The spirit of liberality towards religious objects has been manifested by this congregation during the year to a pleasing degree. Besides their exertions and contributions toward the rebuilding of their church, they have also, during the year, freely undertaken to repair the roof of the Missionary dwelling-house in the station, which was very much out of repair. But for this, their gratuitous effort, the house would have fallen to pieces.

Igbein and Owu.

It has already been remarked that these stations have not yet been re-occupied; but of Igbein Mr. Moore is able to write hopefully.

We hope (D.V.) to be able next year to report something favourable respecting the Igbein ruined station, as the place has been recently given back to us by the heathens who had taken possession of it since the outbreak. The Mohammedans had made an effort to purchase from its occupants permission to build their mosque on the site where our church was built; but the heathens refused to grant it to them, and gave it back to us in preference.

At Owu, on the contrary, it has not yet pleased God to brighten the prospects.

Igbore.

The Rev. W. Allen occupies this station. Attached to his pastorate there are 332 adult Native Christians, 148 of whom are communicants. The Igbore congregation has, without help from the Society, built a church for its own use, which they propose to call St. Andrew's. It was commenced on the 23rd of November, 1868, and opened for Divine worship on the 30th of November, 1869. "The God of Missions," remarks Mr. Allen, "has so wonderfully moved the hearts of our Christian men and women that they came forward with willing hearts and open hands."

The Native Church shows symptoms of vitality in other respects also, which Mr. Allen thus refers to. It must be borne in mind that many of the inhabitants of Abeokuta derive their subsistence from the cultivation of pieces of land situated several miles from the city:—

We have been enabled to form a Committee for the native pastorate for the past six months, and the result from our meeting, 28*l.* 5*s.* was realized, with hopes that we shall be able to double this amount by the new year. Our present position requires us to follow earnestly the Society's directions as to getting proper and fit persons to go and preach as voluntary agents. This has ever been in my mind, and is just the plan that I have adopted in the farm villages where chapels are built. Some trustworthy men among the converts are made preachers and class leaders at Offada's farm, and at Afojupupa, and these are doing remarkably well. A chapel will soon be built here in the town, in the part given to the Ijaye refugees, and in this place also some of our Christians will go and preach and hold class meetings in rotation. Our young men, of good name and character, will not be exempted from being made local or itinerating preachers. Kemta chapel has been completed and opened for divine service. The services are now entirely conducted by Mr. George, the schoolmaster, late of the Igbein station.

Voluntary spiritual labours of Abeokuta Native Christians.

Mr. Allen is not able to record any adult baptisms during the year.

Oshielle.

In this outlying station, the Native Christians, it will be remembered, were never molested. Mr. Moore was there at the time of the outbreak; and it has been his head-quarters ever since. He writes—

Of Oshielle I am thankful to record that things are going on as hopefully as ever. The converts continue to give satisfaction in their attendance at the means of grace. There are seven candidates for baptism. I hope to baptize some of them on Christmas-day. Three persons died in the Christian faith during the year. One of them was the elder daughter of Josiah, my head leader, about nineteen years of age. Her mother died last year on the 1st of December, and she died this year on the 21st of November. This is a great trial to Josiah; but he bears it with becoming Christian submission to the Divine will. The child, too, gave us much reason to believe that she died in the Lord. Some days after she was taken ill she said to her father, "Father, my prayer to God at the beginning of my illness was positively that it might please Him to spare my life; but I am not praying so now. The language of my prayer now is, 'Lord, if it please thee to spare my life, well; if not, please, for Christ's sake, to let my soul be acceptable in Thy sight.'"

IBADAN.

The three native teachers, Daniel Olubi, William Allen, and James Okusende, are still alone at this important station, as the disturbed political state of the countries between

Ibadan and the coast renders it impossible for any European to reach the place. They are comforted, however, by the quarterly visits of the Rev. W. Moore, the senior native clergyman of Abeokuta. None of these three Ibadan brethren are as yet in holy orders. Their faith is sustained, and they have many indications of the Lord's favour. Mr. Allen, in his annual letter for 1870, writes as follows:—

We have much cause to thank our heavenly Father in sparing our lives once more in this part of His vineyard, to labour to His praise and glory. Mr. Hinderer, on his leaving for England spoke many words of encouragement to us, and told us that if he should go our work would prosper. This we would have denied when thinking of our inability to labour alone without a European among this savage people, whose chief trade is war. But the Lord said to the prophet Elijah, "I have left me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed to Baal." He hath also promised, "I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you." And this He has done in many ways. The chief who, we thought, would not regard us, being Africans, has become our best friend. He asked for the Christians to come and visit him: this we did, and carried with us our Prayer-books, hymn-books, and the harmonium. After reading and singing, we showed him a few things besides for his amusement. He was wonderfully pleased, and promised protection to the Christians in case of persecution, which he does not think any one will have to suffer in his day. There has never been any chief so loving and friendly as he, even when Mr. Hinderer was here. There is nothing of discouragement seen or heard amongst the Christians whom it hath pleased the Lord to collect together at this station. They are very earnest in their profession, and attend the means of grace regularly. The number of communicants at this station is fifty-seven: two were removed by death, and two left to stay at Lagos. There are thirteen candidates for the Lord's Supper, and eighteen candidates for baptism, making the number of Christians eighty-eight. There are five new inquirers this year, whose names are in our class list, and more besides who do not come forward to put their names down.

Yoruba Christians upheld and comforted in the absence of the Missionary.

The severe and painful blow of dear Mrs. Hinderer's death reached us on the 16th of July. I cannot describe how we passed the Sabbath of the 17th, when the Church members were informed of it. It teaches us the vanities of this world, and helps to prepare our hearts always for that mansion above, where we shall meet to part no more. My address to them was from 1 Thess. iv. 13. In the afternoon, Phil. iii. 20. May His Holy Spirit direct us, and make us living instruments to win souls to His praise and glory.

Mrs. Hinderer died in England on June 6, 1870. Her labours, as well as those of her excellent husband, who still survives, are well known; and the seed sown by these two faithful servants of the Lord is, as will be seen from the above, bringing forth fruit.

A similar blessing attends Olubi's labours. He writes as follows under date December 7, 1870:—

Now with regard to our work, though we feel lonely, still the great Head of the Church is with us and working with us. We have our teachers' prayer-meeting every Tuesday in the week, in which all of us, as teachers, meet to ask spiritual blessings, &c. Then at the monthly prayer-meeting the Christians in the three stations join; and then we have our quarterly Missionary prayer-meetings. These meetings we have been enabled to carry on regularly, and they have always been well attended. The Christians are looked well after in their homes. Neighbours and chiefs are often visited with the message of salvation: one or two passages are often prepared for these occasions, and the word is always listened to. Every Sunday I have two services, morning and evening. Regular attention is paid also to educational work. David Osi, who was by grace brought to know and embrace Christianity some twelve or thirteen years ago, was chosen as one of the elders of our Church here. Every Sunday morning he goes out with a couple of Christians, taking the joyful news of salvation to the poor heathen in the streets.

Olubi has also furnished a very interesting account of a visit paid by himself and Mr. Allen to the Native Christians of Abeokuta. Intertribal jealousy still subsists between Abeokuta and Ibadan; and the towns were at open war five years ago. But the fellowship of the Spirit overcomes all such severing causes.

Jan. 6—Mr. Allen and myself left for Abeokuta this morning, being earnestly requested by the Rev. W. Moore to come for the sake of true unity, which has been long wished for between the Abeokuta and Ibadan Churches.

Jan. 7—Arrived at Oshielle about 12 A.M., just after the prayers were over at church, being prayer-meeting day in that station, in which the Christians of Abeokuta came to join, as it goes round by turns. We were warmly received by the Rev. W. Moore and the members of his Church, who also were much pleased to see the messengers from the Ibadan Christians, who Mr. Moore kindly recommended to them. They took the messengers to their house, and provided them a comfortable lodging, they were well entertained.

Brotherly love between the Native Churches of Abeokuta and Ibadan.

Jan. 12—Came to Abeokuta. The elders of the Church met together to hear our message from the Ibadan Christians; and the misunderstandings caused by the late Ijaye war were soon removed.

Jan. 24—Held a meeting with our congregation at Ibadan. We gave them information of our proceedings at Abeokuta, and the hearty reception their messengers had met with there. We delivered them the letter from the Abeokuta Christians, and the present of the white sugar. The letter being read, we interpreted the meaning of the sugar, which they also can read as well. They were much pleased, and then a general distribution was made of the sugar to every individual member, great and small. One of the leaders stood up in the name of the members of the Church, and having thanked us for the trouble, said, "We earnestly wish and pray God, that this happy union now to be carried on between us and the Abeokuta Christians may be abundantly blessed with an increase of holy love, and from one generation to another be mercifully kept undisturbed by the enemy of the Cross."

The Rev. James White, an African clergyman, still continues his labours at this place. Otta, though locally in the Yoruba Mission, being not far from Lagos, is under the superintendence of Bishop Crowther. The Native Christians, some of whom are immigrants from other places, number nearly eighty (exclusive of children); about half of that number being communicants. Mr. White has had great trials in his congregation; but they have been overruled for the furtherance of the Gospel.

The present year, which is about to close, has been one of much trial, in consequence of the great opposition I have experienced in the Church at the hands of Abraham Ajaka, the very first convert I was instrumental in making in this town. He attempted to undo me and my work by slander and calumny, and at last by arraigning me before the heathen authorities, and making false allegations against me; which, nevertheless, ended in my acquittal and his being banished from the town. His companion in wickedness, David Oya by name, died only last month, after six months' illness. On his death-bed he sent to me, making confession of his offences, and desired me to forgive him, and to pray that God might pardon him. He left a word of warning to the converts against merely outward religion, and admonished them to submit to me as unto God's minister. He left three children. The heathen relatives, after his death, endeavoured to persuade the children to return to heathenism, urging as a reason, that their parents have not prospered by embracing the Christian religion; and had they not forsaken the religion of their forefathers, both father and mother would not have died what they call a premature death. The two eldest boys, who have been brought up in our school, refused to follow them, and after instancing several individuals among the heathens who have died before attaining to a great age, they declared that it was their determination to live and die Christians.

Increased attention to the preaching of the Gospel is now observed among the chiefs and men of influence.

I have made it not only a point of prayer, but of study also, to discover the best way of bringing home the word of God into the hearts of the people, by kindness, by friendly visits and religious conversation, by identifying ourselves with them as much as possible, and by public preaching, to which portion of our work both the Scripture reader and myself devote ourselves. The great fire which took place here in March last, in which not a few idols were reduced to ashes, and several individuals lost their lives, affords us a suitable topic for discourse with the people in pointing out to them the folly of trusting in the work of their own hands. The cause of the change which has taken place among some of the people may be attributed partly to the fire, and partly to the zeal of some of our converts, who are anxious for the conversion of their countrymen, and who have made it their business to reason with them, and to stir them up to a concern for their never-dying souls. For the past six months several new faces have been seen at church, though they have not yet given up their idols. One of the subordinate chiefs, entitled the "Apena," not only comes regularly to church every Sunday, but brings five children neatly dressed in native style, which is a great thing in this country. He has, moreover, asked me for two Yoruba Primers for his children, as a sign of his acceptance of the Christian religion.

NIGER MISSION.

Onitsha, 1857; Akassa, 1861; Lokoja, 1865; Bonny, 1866; Brass, 1868.

Conducted by Native African Teachers, under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop Crowther.

GENERAL VIEW.

THE agents in this Mission, though of purely African birth, are yet almost all of them Missionaries in the proper sense of the word, having been sent out from Sierra Leone, where they were born or brought up, to preach Christ to the heathen of other countries. They are twenty three in number—Bishop Crowther himself, nine clergymen, and thirteen unordained helpers. Some of them are, by descent, connected with the tribes of the district. This is not the case with Bishop Crowther, who, like a European Missionary, has had to acquire one or more foreign languages for the purpose of carrying on his work.

The past year has not been without its important events; among which may be mentioned the ordination of three African clergymen at Lagos, on March 12. The Rev. F. Smart was ordained for Bonny; the Rev. Joseph Dewring for Akassa, and the Rev. Thomas Johnson for Brass.

The stations on the Niger are Akassa, on the sea coast at the mouth of the Nun, one of the branches of the Niger; Brass, at the mouth of the Brass river, and about twenty miles in a straight line east from Akassa; Onitsha, on the banks of the Niger, about 150 miles from its mouth; Lokoja, 260 miles up the same river; and, lastly, Bonny, which is at the mouth of the river Bonny, and appears by the map to lie about ninety miles to the east of Akassa. Speaking generally, Missionary prospects on the coast are less hopeful than in the interior. The inhabitants have not yet recovered from the slave-trade. "Their morals," says Bishop Crowther, "have become deeply depraved; their delicacy of feeling destroyed; and their higher mental faculties degraded." It is a remarkable fact that most of the candidates for baptism on the sea line, including even Lagos itself, are visitors, or residents belonging to tribes of the interior.

Pernicious effects of the slave trade remaining after its suppression.

Akassa is a dependency of the King of Brass-town, or Nembe. The work here is still unpromising, and the adverse influences strong. The Missionary is the Rev. Joseph Dewring, formerly catechist at the same place, who has received ordination without increase of salary.

BRASS.

The Mission station of this name is situated at Tuwon, on the mouth of the river. The capital, Brass-town, or Nembe, about thirty miles distant from Tuwon, is divided between two kings. One of these, Ockiya, is very friendly to the Mission, and has, indeed, requested that its operations may be extended to his own township. European merchants have traded on the Brass river for sixty years; but cannibalism and other degrading superstitions are still prevalent. The Missionaries of Christ did not settle in the country till the year 1868. A school chapel and a Mission-house are now nearly completed. The Sunday congregation increases, some of the neighbouring chiefs attending. Several earnest inquirers have contributed money and labour in support of the Mission. The Missionary is the Rev. Thomas Johnson, ordained on his former salary as catechist.

ONITSHA.

The Rev. W. Romaine and the Rev. F. Langley are in charge of Onitsha station. The Missionary aspect of affairs has been peaceable, both externally and internally. The removal by death of the pious and devoted schoolmaster, Mr. O. E. Cole, after four years of patient labour, has been deeply felt. The King of Onitsha has manifested much friendliness and has for some time opened his own residence every Lord's day for Christian worship and preaching, himself being one of the congregation. There have been 16 baptisms, and the communicants number over 50. The new church at Onitsha was opened by Bishop Crowther on the 16th of October, when 177 persons were present, including several native chiefs. Notwithstanding these causes for thankfulness, it is painful to add, that, five days after the opening of the church, a little girl, according to a long-standing annual custom, was offered up as an atonement for the sins of the nation. This took place while the Bishop was in the place, though efforts were made to conceal it from him. The Bishop took steps to counteract this barbarous practice. He writes:— A human sacrifice.

There are two classes of influential men in the country—chiefs of the first and second rank. The next morning some of these men came to the Mission house to take leave of me, as I was about to embark for the coast in the evening. I seized the opportunity, and very seriously brought the subject of these horrible practices before them, appealing to their feelings, that it was their duty as leaders of the public to appeal to the king at once for the abolition of these cruel and barbarous practices from their country; that God had given them sufficient light and warning to turn and repent, and put the evil away from among them. One and all agreed with me in the truth of what I had told them, but said that the matter rested entirely with the king, whom they dared not correct; that if I had not been about to embark to-day they would have asked me to summon a meeting of them before the King, and introduce the subject, when they would unanimously support me, and urge the king to abolish these objectionable practices. Though nothing more could be done for the present, yet, as a beginning has been so unanimously made, I left the matter to their mature consideration till my return next year.

LOKOJA.

The Missionaries at this station are the Rev. T. C. John and the Rev. C. Paul. As has often been observed in the Society's publications, there is at Lokoja a confluence of languages as well as of waters. Haussa and Nupe are the most common mediums of communication, and are employed at church and in school; but provision is also made for the heathen in the neighbouring districts, who speak the Igbira dialect. It pleased God, in His inscrutable wisdom, that the faith of His servants at this station should be much tried by the disturbed political state of the country, and by many painful occurrences which arose in consequence. In 1869 Masaba, the Mohammedan King of Nupe, promised his protection; and two or more heathen chiefs in the immediate neighbourhood placed themselves and their people under Christian instruction. But the Mohammedan soldiers whom the Nupe monarch stationed there as guardians of the peace betrayed their trust. They first attacked the surroundiug tribes, and then turned their fury against the newly-gathered Christian converts, selling some into slavery and driving others from the town. About one hundred Native Christians still assembled on the Lord's-day; but there have been no adult baptisms, and Missionary operations in the adjacent country were necessarily suspended. These disturbances took place in the early part of the year 1870. On the 19th of August last Bishop Crowther reached the place in his annual tour of visitation. After much thought and prayer, he determined to visit the king at his capital, Bidda. A joint embassy was formed, Lieutenant Molyneux representing the British Government, Bishop Crowther the Christian Mission, and some African gentlemen the mercantile community. It pleased God to prosper the effort. The Bishop was received with every mark of friendliness and respect. An African Mohammedan, himself a British subject, and regarded by the Bishop as worthy of trust, was appointed sub-manager of Lokoja. He is to act in concert with the merchants, and to receive advice from the Native Missionaries. Lieut. Molyneux conveyed the king's orders to the war chiefs, the fugitives were invited to return, and the hopes of the Missionaries revived. This distant outpost of the Missionary army justly demands the prayers of the Church.

BONNY.

It has already been mentioned that the Bonny Mission station is at the mouth of the river of that name. Civil war still rages. Notwithstanding this, it has pleased God that the courageous tenacity with which He had enabled the native catechists to cling to their work should yield fruit to His glory. One of these catechists, Mr. F. Smart, was ordained deacon last March without increase of salary. Extracts from his journal are subjoined.

All our efforts this year have been devoted to regaining lost ground. We have resumed almost all the branches of our labours. We began the year with making an attempt to rally our school-children, but we have only succeeded to collect about a dozen or so of boys: these, however, are quite their own masters, attending school or keeping away from it just when they please. Their parents or masters are too busily taken up with the war to trouble their heads about seeing them go regularly and punctually to school. But it must not be ignored that the children, when they do attend, discover very sharp abilities in all their lessons. Indeed it has often forcibly struck me, that should a boarding school be established for these children, we would soon have to record astonishing results attending this very important branch of our work. But if the day school is discouraging, the Sunday school is by far otherwise. Large numbers of adults and children flow into our little school-chapel every Sunday afternoon to receive instruction; and often we have been straitened for want not only of space to arrange the classes, but also of teachers to take them. Our schoolchildren are all employed and interested in this great work. Every thing in the school invites to increased effort, and promises an abundant success. Nor is the attendance at divine worship less gratifying. The number of hearers varies from 50 to 200, according to circumstances. But our hearers come from among the masses; indeed it is as true now as it was in our Lord's day, that "to the poor the Gospel is preached." The rich and powerful consider it below them to come to the house of God and hear about Christ crucified. As this was "foolishness" to the Greeks of St. Paul's day, so it is now to our so-called rich folks here. They say "It is a proper thing for children, but not for us; try, therefore, and teach our children those things you see in the book; it no be use you try come to teach us." It is, however, worth mentioning here, that King George Pepple and his two brothers, Charles and Henry, as they warmly and willingly co-operate with us in any important movement we take in this Mission, so they nobly set an example to their people by making it a point to attend the means of grace almost every Lord's-day, and sometimes they even assist us to teach in the Sunday school. Would to God that their chiefs who now, like "Gallio, care for none of these things," may soon imitate the conduct of the royal house!

I am extremely thankful to be able to say that the preached word has not returned void. To many of the people Christ has indeed proved "the power of God and the wisdom of God." A goodly number of our hearers have come under its powerful influence, in consequence of which, inquiry after the way of eternal life has been a very pleasing feature in the Mission. Upwards of fifty-four hopeful inquirers have been enrolled in my list of candidates for baptism, and there is every prospect of others giving in their names before long.

Open-air preaching in town and in the surrounding villages has been occasionally attended to, and religious conversations have been constantly had with the chiefs and others in their houses. The slave boys come to the Mission house for private instruction when they can make time to do so. A few hymns and a little primer have been prepared by me in the Ibo language, and sent by Bishop Crowther to England for the press. These may be of some use in this Mission. On the whole, therefore, notwithstanding the distracted state of the country, we have not failed to avail ourselves of opportunities of usefulness for the salvation of heathen souls, and the extension of Messiah's kingdom.

Viewing the Niger Mission as a whole, there is reason to be encouraged. "The Gospel," says Bishop Crowther, "must now be followed by the plough and the workshop. Industrial schools must be established. The Mohammedan system of begging will thus be corrected, the folly of indolence will be exposed, and the Native Christians, earning their livelihood by honest labour, will also contribute, as Christians ought to do, for the support of their own Church."

MEDITERRANEAN MISSION.

(Commenced at Malta in 1815.)

I. Turkish Mission.—II. Greece.—III. Asia Minor.—IV. Palestine.

I. Turkish Mission.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

First occupied, 1819; relinquished, 1821; re-occupied, 1858.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Sigismund Wilhelm Koelle, Ph. D. (m), to West Africa, 1847; to Palestine, 1856; to Constantinople, 1862.

In this celebrated city there is a little band of Native Christians connected with the Society, converts from Mohammedanism. Five of these are communicants. Dr. Koelle, the able and devoted Missionary of the station, commences his annual letter with these words:—"The past year has been distinguished above many previous ones by the opportunities the Lord has given us for direct spiritual work." Dividing the Mohammedans into three classes, (1) the great multitude who will scarcely listen to the Gospel; (2) a limited number who will occasionally converse on the subject; and (3) the few who apply for regular instruction, to learn more fully the nature of the heavenly message, he proceeds as follows:—

During the last year four Mohammedans placed themselves under a course of instruction with the professed object of becoming Christians.

A Dervish Sheikh convinced of the truth of Christianity.

One of them, a Dervish Sheikh, who has many followers in Asia Minor, belongs to a family that claims lineal descent from Mohammed. He has read many of the Mohammedan mystics, whose writings awakened in him desires for which he found nothing really satisfying within Mohammedanism. While in this state of unsatisfied longing, he had, he told me, a vision at the shrine of Mecca, in which, as it were, a voice from heaven said to him, "What you are seeking you can only find in Christianity." Upon this he quitted Mecca and made his way to Constantinople. His inquiries soon led him to our Mission house, and after the first few interviews with me he declared, "This is what I have been seeking, and what the voice from heaven promised me I should find." He remained three months, during which he regularly came for instruction. I went with him through the whole life of Christ, showing that He is the Saviour every man needs. He often seemed much impressed. When he was about to return to his home in Eastern Anatolia he expressed himself convinced that there is no salvation but in Christ, and promised to return next year with his family in order to follow up his convictions.

Persian converts.

The three other candidates still under instruction are natives of Persia. One of them held a position under government in Ooroomia for fourteen years, and came here with the intention of proceeding still farther, to Paris and London, to have his doubts solved and to learn the root of Christianity. When I saw him first he appeared to be a most independent and noisy disputant; but the Lord soon threw him down by an illness, after which he visited me again, much softened, and applied for instruction in Christianity. We sow upon hope. The two remaining Persians are natives of Ispahan. The younger of them has been for four years Catib to one of the Shah's sons, and the elder is a tradesman who, on account of his learning, was by his countrymen called Molla. The latter had frequent conversations with Christians about religion, with the intent of silencing their objections and converting them to Mohammedanism. But instead of convincing them, he gradually became convinced himself by what they said in defence of Christianity. He then influenced his friend and relative, the Catib, and both were introduced to a French Jesuit of Teheran, through whose mediation they were sent here, recommended to the Armeno-Catholic Patriarch, who was to have expedited them to the College of the Propaganda in Rome. But as he happened to be absent at the late Roman Council, they were to have stayed in a Jesuit convent till his return. There they became scandalized by witnessing only picture-worship, and not receiving any instruction in the truths of the Gospel. They therefore found me out, and, after some intercourse, expressed themselves convinced that the truth of Christianity is with us, and not with the Papists. They have now been under instruction for the greater part of the year.

Two of the Persian inquirers were subsequently arrested by the Persian Embassy, which is allowed by the Sultan to exercise authority over Persian subjects in Turkey. But for the exertions of Dr. Koelle, and the friendly intervention of the British Ambassador, they would apparently have been deported to their own country, where death or recantation would have been the only option allowed them. During the arrest, one of the two, under strong pressure, signed a paper renouncing all connexion with Christians and the Gospel. The other, Molla Ali, stood firm, and, on his release, again applied for baptism. His request was granted. The baptism took place on the 5th of March, and Molla Ali is now Ibrahim (Abraham) Effendi, and one of the Society's catechists in Constantinople. This young convert much needs the prayers of all Christian people. Persecution is often less dangerous spiritually than the temptations which arise when the persecution has passed away. Dr. Koelle adds—

Among the Persians resident in Constantinople we have found this year more disposition for religious inquiry than among the Turks. Several have porcured the Holy Scriptures, and it is only a few days ago I heard of a party of five or six who meet in the evening to read the Bible and our controversial books. It is true they read them only to know what we Christians have to say for ourselves, or even with the intention of refuting us; but we welcome any inquiry into our holy religion, even if at first hostile.

Dr. Koelle's two native catechists go out daily among the people, seeking opportunities for privately addressing Mohammedans on the common salvation, public preaching being still impossible. Controversial publications have some sale, and the Turkish service is usually attended by a few Mohammedans.

II. Greece.

SYRA.

Commenced in 1830, while Greece was a part of the Turkish Empire.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Frederick A. Hildner (m), 1829.

The Rev. F. A. Hildner is still at this station. The work of this aged Missionary consists in the superintendence of a school of 156 children, and in pushing the circulation of the Scriptures and religious books in the Greek language.

III. Asia Minor.

SMYRNA.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. John Theophilus Wolters (m), to Persia, 1832; to Syra, 1837; to Smyrna, 1842.
Rev. Theodore Frederic Wolters, 1860.
Rev. Robert Henry Weakley (m), to Constantinople, 1860; to Smyrna, 1869.

The more hopeful tone which was noticed in last year's Report is continued in the annual letters for 1870. Messrs. Wolters (senior and junior) and Weakley thus write:—

In looking back upon the year which is now drawing to a close, the feeling which demands expression before any other is that of humble, heartfelt gratitude to the Lord, whose is the silver and the gold, for the timely aid which He has granted to the Church Missionary Society during its late financial difficulties. We may be pardoned this reference to a matter which seems to concern the Parent Committee rather than ourselves. But it was a question with us not only of retrenchment, where retrenchment would have been to cripple means already sufficiently restricted, but a matter which seemed to endanger the very existence of the Society's Missions in the Mediterranean, and specially the work which has been carried on in Smyrna for a number of years in the face of so much discouragement. The crisis, however, has passed, and the existence of the Mission has been spared for the present. We desire to make a record of our thankfulness to God for this new token of His favour, and to express our conviction that, to say the least, it would have been a pity to forsake this part of the Mission field at a moment like the present, when there are several indications that Mohammedan prejudice and exclusiveness are slowly but surely giving way before the genial influence of the Gospel of Christ.

By the great mercy of God, access to the Turks seems to be slowly increasing.

A lithograph copy of the Ten Commandments in Turkish, exhibited in the window of our bookshop, became the means of attracting the attention of a number of persons. Some of these read the words of the Law, stepped into the bookshop just to look around them, and then went away, and were lost sight of. Others, however, lingered to make some inquiries, and have since remained on friendly terms with our bookseller. One of them, a young intelligent Persian, is now an inquirer, and has expressed his desire to receive Christian instruction and baptism. Our native agent has met him in the society of other Turks, and has been surprised and pleased with his fearless and intelligent manner while exposing the falsehoods of Mohammedanism and pleading for Christianity. Besides this and other instances of awakened or awakening inquiry, we have acquired a small number of friends who are liberal in their views and anxious to keep up friendly relations with us. We have endeavoured to organize a Bible class for the benefit of these inquirers, but several of them are scarcely advanced far enough as yet.

Similar indications were observed in the interior.

Subsidence of Mohammedan prejudices.

Several journeys were made during the past year to various places around Smyrna, by Mr. Wolters, jun. In this way the island of Mitylene and the towns of Vûrla, Philadelphia, Kûla, Magnesia, Thyatira and Kirk-aghatch were visited. In most of these there was more access than usual to Mohammedans; and the chief impression which intercourse with them leaves upon the mind is, that the prejudices of the Mohammedans are silently but rapidly melting away, and that the ideas of religious liberty and toleration are gaining ground day by day among the people. It was only very recently that a Turk living at Philadelphia, who was known to be rather a bigot than otherwise, said, with reference to a report that a friend of his had embraced Christianity, "Well, he has done rightly; he has done rightly. Who among us now believes in Mohammed?" It may be added that our native agents, Montesanto and Belisario, have been sent out on Missionary tours. The former spent a month in Philadelphia and Kûla very recently, after having accompanied Mr. Wolters, jun., to those places in the spring. His report has not yet been received. The latter has just returned from a tour to Baïndir, Odemish, and Thyra. His account is quite cheering. He found the Mohammedans more ready to listen to his message than the Christians.

An attempt has been made to train and instruct evangelistic agents.

It was the Committee's expressed wish some time ago, that Mr. Wolters, sen., should undertake the preparation of candidates for employment as native agents. One of these proved a failure. Another, our former bookseller, has, on the contrary, given us much satisfaction. Though advanced in years, he has made considerable progress in Turkish under Mr. Weakley, and in Scripture knowledge under Mr. Wolters, sen. Early in the year he was relieved of his principal duties in the book-shop, with a view to his going among the Turks as a catechist. He has been diligent in this work, having thrown his whole heart into it, and has thus been the means of bringing us into contact with most of the Turks mentioned above. The third candidate has now charge of the book-shop. He, too, is giving us satisfaction.

The book-shop has also prospered.

The sale of Scriptures and other books has been quite up to the average, though the pressure of the war is felt here as well as in other places. There were sold, up to the end of this month, about 500 copies of the Bible, or parts of it, and 402 copies of other religious books and tracts in various languages. Dr. Koelle's "Life of Christ" has been found very useful in introducing Christianity to the notice of Mohammedans.

The Missionaries thus review the Missionary aspect of the Turks of Asia Minor generally:—

Decline of Mohammedanism in Asia Minor.

As to the state of the Turks in general, it may be remarked that a distinction must be made between such places as Constantinople and Smyrna, where a tendency to reforms of a certain kind may be seen, and the interior of the country, where mismanagement and oppression continue to be the rule; and yet, in both cases, the Turks are, to all appearance, being prepared for the reception of the Gospel. In the large cities every reform, such as it is, tends to loosen the hold of the Koran upon the people. In the interior, the misery of the people, groaning under oppression, makes them feel that, after all, it is not such a glorious thing to be a Mussulman. Everywhere almost the mosques are no longer crowded as formerly. The fast of the Ramazan is kept outwardly through fear, but often broken in secret: even the prescribed prayer, repeated five times daily—the indispensable token of Mussulman profession—is neglected by hundreds. Mohammedanism is losing its hold upon the people; and the day seems to be dawning when the word of God shall be allowed to be sown broadcast among the people.

IV. Palestine.

Commenced in Jerusalem 1851. Nazareth 1853.

European Mission Establishment;

Rev. F. Augustus Klein, (m), 1851.
Rev. John Zeller (m), 1855.
Dr. Charles Sandreczki (m), first joined the Society at Syra, 1838; to Palestine, 1851.
Mr. James Huber (m), to West Africa, 1850; to Palestine, 1853.

The Rev. F. A. Klein, of Jerusalem, makes the following remarks on the general effect of the Society's labours in Palestine:—

Our Mission was originally founded with the object of evangelizing the Mohammedans, and as this could not be done directly owing to the want of religious liberty in Turkey, it has been our endeavour to reach them through the Christians, by placing before them, in connexion with our Native Protestant congregations, the pure Christianity of the Gospel in distinction from the paganized Christianity of the Oriental Churches, Greek, Latin, Armenian, Coptic, Greek Catholic, &c. Christianity is now considered by many Mohammedans in a very different light. They have learned that it does not consist in the idol-worship and ritualistic exhibitions they witness in the Oriental churches; that it is a spiritual religion, free from idolatry. This conviction has conciliated the minds of many, and gained us the respect of not a few.

Mohammedans learning from Protestant congregations what true Christianity is.

One of the Society's Missionaries in Palestine gives an interesting account of the Christian and Missionary zeal shown by a member of the congregation:—

One native brother, a rich and influential man, labours wherever he can as an evangelist, without being appointed as such or salaried for it, with a perseverance, fearlessness, and fervour I have often admired and been delighted with. I see him now sitting in his favourite corner on the low divan of his reception-room, a little table always before him, with the large octavo Bible, the Prayer-book, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, the Introduction to the Bible, and a number of select tracts upon it. There he sits regularly every morning and evening, collecting his family around him, which consists of his relatives, servants, and guests (Christians and Mohammedans), of whom there are always a few in his house. They all sit around the priest of the house, who opens his beloved Bible and reads to them a chapter of the word of God, expounds it to them, and then closes with a hearty prayer. How often have I found him on an evening in warm discussion with Moslem Effendis, or wild Arab Bedouins, or ignorant brethren of the Greek Church, persuading them by all kinds of argument that Jesus Christ is the only Saviour! These discussions and readings sometimes continue till deep in the night. I have seen him bring on religious discussions before Kadis, and Effendis, and Turkish officials, without the least shyness. I once travelled with him in company with a Moslem Effendi of a high family. We had all three been invited to the wedding of a great Sheikh, living at about five hours' distance from his abode. When tired and exhausted by a long ride on a hot day, we got down from our horses to rest under a shady tree. All at once my good friend drew from his bosom his little Arabic New Testament, and, turning to his Moslem friend, said, "Now listen to the sweet words of our Lord Jesus. Have you any thing like it in the Koran?" Then he began to read some choice passages from the Sermon on the Mount, which became the theme of very profitable conversation.

JERUSALEM.

The Rev. F. A. Klein has been in Europe during nearly the whole of the year under review, and has therefore not been able to report on the details of the work during that period. He has, however, furnished the following valuable remarks respecting the condition and character of the Native Christians:—

As regards our Native Protestant congregations they are small, weak, and in many respects not what we should like them to be. This is to say they are very much in the same condition as many congregations in England and on the Continent. We would desire to see more real spiritual life in our congregations, and continue to pray for a richer outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon them; but in the meanwhile we must not let ourselves be discouraged, since we we see that not even St. Paul succeeded in preserving his Churches free from unworthy members. Of the native congregation at Jerusalem, in particular, though it contains members which give me much sorrow and trouble, I may add that it is in a better moral condition than the Greek or Latin congregations, and that the Gospel and Christian discipline exercise a good influence even on those of the less satisfactory members. Sin is not tolerated and covered, but reproved.

Some years ago our native brethren formed themselves into a Native Missionary Auxiliary, which, by its regular subscriptions, was enabled to keep a school in a village at about five hours distance from Jerusalem, which was occasionally also visited by members of the little Society. Some time before my departure from Jerusalem the school had to be shut up, as the Greeks and Latins, who had also opened schools in the same village, by threats and promises got all the children attending the Protestant school to leave it. Before I left Jerusalem I had a meeting with the members of our Native Auxiliary, when they handed over to me for the "Church Fund" about 14*l.*, promising on my return to reorganize their little Society, and, by regular subscriptions, according to their several means, to help in spreading the Gospel among their brethren.

As regards the efforts of the Missionaries themselves, among the Moslems, Mr. Klein writes as follows :—

Further, we have been able, during the last few years, to make a decided step towards our ultimate object, viz., a more direct and exclusive Mission among the Moslems. My intercourse, and that of my native helpers, with Moslems in the city and villages has been more frequent, and of a more direct Missionary character than formerly. Our workshop at Jerusalem has often been the rendezvous of Mohammedans, where the subject of Christianity was warmly discussed. Tracts for the Moslems have been composed by me, some of them already printed and circulated, and readily received by them. The Holy Scriptures are read and studied by a few.

For the extension of the work Mr. Klein very much desires the establishment of Missionary vernacular schools, and, contemporaneously therewith, the formation of a vernacular Christian literature. The schools will not only make the children acquainted with the Gospel, but will open a way of access to their parents also.

During Mr. Klein's absence, his department of the work at Jerusalem was under the care of Dr. Sandreczki. Dr. Sandreczki's own labours are carried on in the Deaconess's hospital, in the Lepers' Asylum, in the villages near to Jerusalem, and, by means of private conversations with inquirers who come to him in his own house, or whom he encounters among the pilgrims who visit Jesusalem. Of his work in the hospital he speaks as follows :—

The hospital, where the Moslems form the majority (on an average about 500 a year), admits, in many cases at least of an instruction in the saving truths of our faith, which gives more than a mere outline of the plan of salvation. The Old Testament, distortedly known to the Moslems also, is laid down as the foundation. The creation, the fall, the first promise of a Saviour, the deluge, Abraham, Moses and the prophets, are the chief topics I dwell upon, with constant reference to our sinfulness not only, but to the impossibility of redeeming ourselves from its slavery and punishment. After that comes the Gospel. I am often astonished at the facility with which truth enters into the unsophisticated minds of my Moslem hearers, men and women, and even village Khatibs and Dervishes. I cannot speak of a conversion this year; yet I have no doubt that the good seed will not be lost. At all events the Moslems who leave our hospital will henceforth look upon Christianity in a thoroughly different way, and the consciences of many will remain roused up to self-examination and searching.

Similar results manifest themselves in the neighbouring villages :—

Disposition of Palestine Mohammedans towards the Gospel.

I content myself with moving within a narrow circle, where repeated visits are likely to do more good than one flighty visit to distant parts. Of one thing I am sure, viz., that wherever I have hitherto spoken of our faith, and explained it from the Gospel, my hearers, with the exception of a few fanatics, were disposed to conceive of Christianity in a different, and that a better, manner than heretofore. Generally they have more real reverence for Christ than many so-called Christians. They believe in Him as a great and most holy prophet, the Korân testifies that, and thus our task is to show them, that if He were a prophet only, like the others raised from among mankind—if he were unable, like them, to atone for our sins, as Himself without sin, and give us, as the second and spiritual Adam, and Himself almighty, a new nature from His own nature—we should remain in bondage and under the wrath of God the holy and just Creator.

NAZARETH.

The Rev. John Zeller continues his energetic labours at this station, at which there are in connexion with the Society, at Nazareth and its out-stations, 450 Native Christians, 66 communicants, and 260 school children. Under many and varied difficulties the Missionary is able to write in a hopeful and thankful spirit. The prominent event of the year has been the completion of the church.

We thank the Lord, that in a year in which Europe has been shaken to its foundations by a war of unprecedented magnitude and consequence, we have been permitted to complete the building of the Protestant church. We trust the Lord will bless this building for the freer, bolder, and wider proclamation of the truth as it is in Jesus, and thus make Nazareth a centre of light for the north of Palestine, and a fortress of truth from which the power of darkness may be attacked and overcome. The building has been begun and completed under so much opposition and difficulties, and with such weak instruments, that we may well say the completion of this church is a proof of what the Lord will do by the poorest instrumentality. We hope to be able to have service in the church at Easter.

At present the congregation is again much increasing, and our services are so well attended that every one is anxious to remove divine service from the schoolroom to the church.

In order to judge justly of the state of our Protestant congregations, we must not so much compare them with Christians in England, or with those in old Missions, but we must compare their present state to their former one; and the religious condition of our congregations with that of Latins, Greeks, and Moslems, among whom they live, and from whom they have been separated. Look on a Sunday into a Greek church in one of the villages of Galilee, and then into the Protestant schoolroom at Reneh, Monjedel, or Shefamer, where the service is conducted by a native catechist or schoolmaster; examine the Greek priest and the members of his Church, and compare their answers about the leading doctrines of Christianity with the answers you obtain from the Protestant teacher and his flock, and you will have ample cause for thankfulness. Still greater is the contrast if you examine the spiritual state of the people in general with their religious condition fifteen years ago. The change is great indeed, and if you ask the people themselves what has brought about this change, and removed many of the prejudices and superstitions of oriental Christianity, and taken away much of their gross ignorance and brutality, they will tell you that the enlightenment and improvement has to be traced to the exertions of Protestants. I can say that our people have made progress in understanding the word of God. It has always been my object to bring the people under a permanent influence of His holy word, and obtain their regular attendance on Sundays, and for our weekly Bible-classes and prayer-meetings. I may here mention an example of the ability of some of our Protestants to give an account of the hope that is in them. After the death of the Latin Sheikh I had a public discussion with the Maronite priest about justification by faith and not by works, in which I was so ably assisted by some members of the congregation that I could leave the discussion in their hands, for their arguments silenced the priest and produced considerable impression upon the Latin congregation.

Protestants compared with members of lapsed Churches

As regards the Missionary openings and labours among the population generally, Mr. Zeller makes the following remarks :—

A most remarkable year is drawing to its close; a year of extreme drought, such as has not been experienced in Palestine within forty or fifty years. While the usual rainfall amounts to forty inches, we had this year only ten. The consequences are sorely felt; the distress is great, and yet there is no help from Europe on account of recent events of all-absorbing magnitude and interest. Such misery often creates depravity; but I am happy to say there is evidence enough that it has roused a conviction of sin, and deepened the feeling of our entire dependence on the mercy of God among the natives, and awakened a desire to listen to His holy word.

Mr. Zeller adds, "The process of disintegration of Mohammedanism is going on, perhaps not so quickly as we could wish but nevertheless it is proceeding. The Missionaries push it forward." Schools supplied with competent masters, who are themselves truly converted men, and who will act as evangelists not only to the school-children, but also to their parents, seem to be at present the agency specially required. Mr. Zeller is endeavouring to prepare suitable agents.

I am glad that I can report that before the close of the year a beginning with a præparandi class has been made. One of the pupils is a converted young man of the congregation of Nazareth, of a steady character; and the other is a Moslem who was convinced of some of the errors of Islamism, but fell into the hands of the Latins, and was baptized by them without having received much instruction. A third young man from Shefamer, who has given proofs of his sincerity, and endured much hardship for his faith in Jesus, is very anxious to be received in this school.

Mr. Huber, the European catechist, has laboured with diligence at the out-stations of Reneh, Yafa, and Monjedel. At these places there are signs of a spiritual awakening.

The girls' school at Nazareth is promising to become very useful under the able superintendence of the new Principal, Miss Rose, who was sent out by the Society for Promoting Female Education in the East. The boys' school at the out-station of Shefamer is also in a very efficient state, under a native teacher. The scholars number 80. Nothing special is reported of the other schools.

BOMBAY.

At Bombay, which is the Society's natural head-quarters for Western India, the Mission staff is not so strong as might be wished. It has been reinforced this year by the return of the Rev. J. G. Deimler, and the arrival of a new Missionary, the Rev. H. C. Squires, B.A. of Wadham College, Oxford.

The brethren previously in the field, and still there, are the Rev. J. S. S. Robertson (Secretary), and the Rev. T. Carss, together with a native brother, the Rev. Appaji Bapaji. Bombay also witnessed another accession of strength to the Western India Mission, though not immediately affecting the Presidential city itself. On Trinity Sunday the Bishop of Bombay held an ordination in the cathedral, at which three of the Society's catechists, Ruttonji Nowroji, Shankar Balawant and Lucas Maloba were admitted to Deacons' orders. The Rev. R. Nowroji was sent to Aurangabad as pastor of the Native Christians in the villages of that neighbourhood; the Rev. Shankar Balawant was appointed pastor of the converts at Malligâm, and the Rev. L. Maloba pastor of those in Bûldana.

Native Christians in Bombay.

The Marathi congregation is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Appaji Bapuji, whose labours during the past year have received some cheering proofs of the presence and blessing of the Lord. There have been six adult baptisms. Other numerical statistics have not been forwarded. Mr. Appaji writes as follows respecting the native congregation :—

The usual services were regularly carried on for the benefit of my congregation in our Mission church. The morning service is pretty well attended, and the members take interest in it. We have the holy communion on every alternate Sunday. The average of communicants is just the same as last year: the increase of baptisms during the year has made no difference in the number, as some left for other stations. Besides the morning service in the church, and evening prayer-meeting at my house every Sunday, there are two other meetings commenced for studying the Scriptures, both in English and in Marathi. The English Bible-class is on Tuesday evening from eight to nine o'clock, when Mr. Carss of the Robert Money School, presides, and those who understand English attend: the average attendance is fifteen. We are going through the harmony of the Gospels. The second Bible meeting is held also in my house every Friday, from seven to eight P.M. We have tea and social meetings, and from eight to nine the reading and meditation on the Scriptures in Marathi. We have nearly gone through the book of Daniel. The attendance is from twenty to thirty-five persons. The expenses of tea, &c., are borne by the members of the congregation, and I am glad to report that the members are in great earnest about it.

We had a special meeting to consider the state of the Pastors' Fund on the 19th of October. The Treasurer expressed himself ashamed that greater increase had not taken place during the year. It was then proposed that the Sunday offertory be considered the Poor Fund, for the use of the poor and such expenses as are approved of by the pastors; and that a separate fund be started for the pastor at the following rates, viz., that each member whose income is below ten rupees should pay two annas per month, and those above ten to twenty-five rupees should pay four annas per month, and so on for every twenty-five rupees four annas. This proposition was agreed to, and carried almost unanimously. Besides this, the congregation sustains a Burial Fund, and last year eighteen rupees were given by them for two burials. For the present year the congregation has to pay its subscription to the Burial Fund, the Pastors' Fund, the Poor Fund, and the expenses of the weekly meetings for reading the Scriptures.

Of the six adults baptized, two were cases of special interest.

On Easter Sunday I baptized a whole family, a man and his wife and a child. In bygone days we had to be content in baptizing single individuals separated from their friends and relatives; now we begin to receive the families and household into the Christian Church. I am glad to say that both the man and the woman were of good report before their baptism. When he was a Hindu he was a rigid follower of Kubir Panth. When he was an inquirer he brought several Kubir Panthi Gurus to argue with us, that we might have an opportunity of pointing out the truth to them, and also that he might see how we could defend our side. This was done several times, and when I was living at Nagpadu, near my friend Mr. Shahu Daji, of the American Mission, he and I spent several nights in arguing and preaching to these Gurus. At last one day Solomon came to me and said, "I must now throw myself at the feet of Jesus, as I fully know that there is no other Saviour who will be able to save me from the burden of my sin."

A remarkable conversion.

Open-air preaching has not, alas! been carried on to any extent, owing to the paucity of efficient native labourers.

Robert Money School.

The Rev. T. Carss, the Principal of this school, who is very efficiently assisted by the European head-master, Mr. Jackson, reports as follows:—

At present there are about 350 boys in the school. They may be thus classified:—

Protestants	6
Romanists	48
Jews	13
Mohammedans	20
Total	350

We obtained a fair grant-in-aid at the last examination by the Government Inspector, and succeeded in passing two students in the late very difficult matriculation examination. The Bible has been taught daily in all the classes by Christian masters. In every way we have tried to fulfil our mission. We have sought to make the boys acquainted with the fundamental facts of Christianity and the sublime morality of the Gospel. In every lesson we seek to take advantage of every opportunity of directing the attention of the boys to the superiority and claims of our most holy faith. The boys have been encouraged to come to us in private for a solution of their difficulties, or for further information; but very few have availed themselves of the opportunity.

How is the Gospel to be brought to heathen of higher classes.

In many other large towns of North India, boys and young men of respectable and wealthy families attend the Mission school, though the object of its teachers is known to be the conversion of students to the belief of the Gospel. This often takes place, notwithstanding the proximity of ably-conducted and purely secular colleges. Mr. Carss considers that this is not possible in Bombay. As a matter of fact, at any rate, the pupils of the Robert Money School are almost all exceedingly poor, though many of the Hindus among them belong to Brahmin families. As regards the more important question, "Why are there no spiritual results?" Mr. Carss is disposed to adopt some new plans for bringing the Gospel to the higher classes. "Many of the educated young men of Bombay," he writes, "occasionally visit me, and are willing to converse upon Christianity." Mr. Carss anticipates an extension of this part of his work through the co-operation of the newly-arrived brother, Mr. H. C. Squires.

Work among the Women

Mrs. Carss is actively engaged in this department, of which her husband gives the following account:—

The work amongst the females of Bombay has been carried on by Mrs. Carss. Her girls' school is in a most flourishing state. It is most pleasing to mark the avidity with which the little girls listen to Bible stories. There are also many openings for Zenana work. Mrs. Carss visits as many native ladies as she possibly can, by all of whom both she and her message are at least kindly received. She also seeks to do good among our Native Christian women. On two afternoons of the week she has a meeting for prayer and the reading of the Scriptures.

NASIK, OR SHARANPUR.

This station is now again under the charge of the Rev. W. S. Price. Mr. Price returned to it in June, 1870, and was received with many demonstrations of affection from the Native Christians, and of friendliness from the heathen. The Native Christians number 490, of whom ninety are communicants. Six adult baptisms took place during the year, of which no particulars are given. Mr. Price thus speaks of the native congregation:—

The usual Sunday and daily services have been well attended, and the public ordinances are, I believe, valued by not a few of our people. A few months ago I introduced a weekly offertory, which, except on special occasions, is applied to the formation of a Native Pastorate Fund. The collections amount on an average to ten rupees per month, as much as, under the circumstances, could be expected. In addition to this the native congregation has contributed ten rupees to the Bible Society, about four rupees per month to the poor, and sixty rupees towards a new harmonium. More attention has been given to the Sunday school than formerly. It is held in the afternoon, and nearly all are engaged in it, either as teachers or learners. There are several adult classes for men and women. The interest in the monthly Missionary meeting has been well sustained. On these occasions the evangelists give an account of their work among the heathen during the past month. The collection generally amounts to three or four rupees.

Regular instruction and labours of Native Evangelists.

This has been systematically carried on in Nasik and the surrounding district. Ten native evangelists have been engaged. They go forth two and two at the beginning of every month to preach the Gospel in the villages assigned to them. The last week in the month they spend with their families, receiving instruction every day, and preaching in Nasik and the immediate neighbourhood. This regular sowing of the seed of the word by native agents has not been without result. The Gospel method of salvation is becoming more extensively known and better understood. It meets with virulent opposition on the part of a few; but, as a rule, our native preachers are now well known, and kindly received wherever they go. Here and there one and another appears to be impressed, and to be searching after the truth.

Upwards of 300 pupils, of whom sixty-five are girls, attend the various schools. The teachers, with one exception, are Native Christians. Mr. Price describes them as well qualified and faithful. The Committee have given instructions that the Orphanage (mentioned in previous Reports) should be discontinued; that arrangements should be made for placing orphan children in the families of Native Christians resident at Sharanpur; and that for the orphanage should be substituted a boarding-school for the reception of the children of Christian parents, chosen, not because of their destitute circumstances, but from giving promise of becoming useful agents in the Mission or Native Church.

JUNIR.

Junir, which has long been a barren field, has at length, through God's great mercy, begun to yield fruit. There are now twenty-seven Christian adherents, including twelve catechumens. The Rev. C. F. Schwarz, though much regretting to leave his station at such a juncture, has been led, by reasons of a personal nature, to visit Germany for a few months. He writes from Stuttgart, under date March 27, 1871:—

The new converts in the Junir district.

It was early in the year 1870 that I, on my preaching tour, came round from the south, to move again westward towards Junir along the Kúkadi valley. At Alkoti, which is twenty-five miles eastward from Junir, I came to a place in which, and from which, much evangelistic work has repeatedly been done. The intercourse which I with my native brethren had with the people had previously been encouraging; but this time some of them avowed their faith in Christianity, and expressed their wish to be instructed therein. I then camped with them for a whole month, which I profitably spent in preaching the Gospel in the whole neighbourhood, and in giving my chief attention to the inquirers.

Mr. Schwarz stationed a catechist among them to carry on their instruction. The financial difficulties of the Society led to the catechist being removed from the village.

Interesting intelligence was, however, brought to me of a fresh man and his family anxious to receive instruction. I have since observed that this man, who is a man of regular habits, and an industrious cultivator of the land, has outstripped all the other inquirers with regard to Scripture knowledge. He evinces, also, much sincerity of mind, combined with fortitude to profess what his heart believes, in spite of the heathen, by whose petty persecutions and annoyances some of the other inquirers have gone back, though they still come to hear the word of God and like to be spoken to.

Mr. Schwarz has additional regret in leaving the Mission from the fact that the work in the city of Junir itself is more promising than it has been. He is consoled, however, by the confidence he has in his native associates. "I believe," he adds,

My native brethren satisfactorily and sincerely discharge the duties which I have pointed out to them, and of which they will write to me monthly. The growth in grace, and thereby the increased usefulness of several of my native brethren, can be pointed out as one result of the working of the Gospel among us, for which I am most thankful. Our Christian Sunday services, which are held in a most conspicuous locality in the town, draw numbers of hearers together, who listen with respectful attention. We have one candidate for baptism in the town, the wife of a shoemaker, who was to be baptized before the close of the year; but her husband having lately expressed his wish to join her, she wished to wait till he was ready also. These people are much exposed to the bitter hatred of their caste-fellows.

With regard to orphans, Mr. Schwarz has adopted a plan which the Committee thoroughly approve.

One day in March last I was informed of two orphan boys, belonging to the Waddari tribes, whose father had died at Junir as a wandering stranger. I applied for the poor boys to the district magistrate, who then handed them over to me. They are probably the firstlings of the Waddari tribe who have ever come under Gospel influence. No Europeans being resident at Junir, I could not make any collection for the support of these poor orphans; but I consulted my native brethren, and they all were of the same opinion, that these orphans were our own domestics, and that we must do for them whatever we could. The establishment of an orpnanage I rejected, and inquired if there was anybody willing to receive them in his family, I myself promising to provide for their eating and clothes. With great cheerfulness, Pomabai, the wife of reader Magbaji, accepted the charge, and ever since she has been a disinterested and true mother to the boys. At school they have made very good progress, and their behaviour is such as can endear only Christian children. If orphans could more frequently be cared for by Missionaries in this way, it would be highly desirable. Not only a number of acknowledged evils, such as are almost inseparable from orphanages, would be avoided, and considerable expense saved; but great moral advantages gained, not only for the orphans and their immediate guardians, but also to the Church to which they belong.

MALLIGÂM.

At the commencement of the year the Rev. C. C. Mengé was the Missionary at this station. It is now in charge of the Rev. C. S. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs Mengé having returned to Europe on a furlough. The Rev. Shankar Nana, ordained on Trinity Sunday, 1870, is pastor of the Native Christians. They number on the whole ninety, thirty-four of them being communicants. There have been three adult baptisms. Mr. Cooke entered on his duties at Malligâm on the 14th of June, 1870. He thus writes in his annual letter :—

Mr. and Mrs. Mengé left the Mission in a very satisfactory state. The various local funds, through their admirable management, all showed a balance in favour of the Mission. Mr. and Mrs. Mengé are much missed by the Native Christians, who hold them in the highest esteem, and who have to thank them for the never-failing interest taken in their spiritual and temporal welfare. We feel our insufficiency to fill their places, but look to the God of all grace to glorify Himself in us.

Neither Mr. Cooke nor the native brother have forwarded any account of the congregation at Malligâm itself. At the out-stations there seems to be an open door. To quote again from Mr. Cooke's annual letter :—

At Dhulia I have stationed Krisnaji and Gangaboa, who preach the Gospel in the town and in the villages six miles round. Many assemble to hear the truth, and various are the questions and objections put to our agents at Dhulia. A Mussulman lately expressed a desire to become a Christian, and used to come to Krisnaji for instruction. Opposition was raised against him by the Mohammedans, and I regret to say that now, through fear, he keeps away from our catechist. Our agents here succeed in selling many tracts and some Bibles, in both Marathi and English. At Phuldaour, a village in connexion with this branch of our Mission, there are eight Christians. I hope to open a school at Dhulia on the 1st of December. I am getting two competent Christian masters from the Christian Vernacular Education Society's normal school, Ahmednagar, one of whom I purpose stationing at Dhulia. Our second out-station is at Sâkurwaddie, a village twelve miles from Malligâm. Here our evangelist is stationed. His duty is to have services for the ten Christians living here, to teach the Christian children, and to preach the Gospel from his house as centre six miles round. Our third and fourth out-stations are at Pimpelgâm and Sawargâm, distant from Malligâm about thirty-six miles each. Shantwun labours at Pimpelgâm, and ministers to the eight Christians there. At this village there are two inquirers: I hope that they will both be admitted to the visible Church of Christ by baptism in February next. Petras, a Christian schoolmaster, is stationed at Sawargâm. Twelve boys attend his school, two of whom are Christians. Petras also does the work of an evangelist in the surrounding villages.

At Pimpelgâm an interesting incident took place, which the Missionary thus describes:—

On my visiting this station lately a large number of people assembled at the travellers' bungalow, on Sunday, at the time of service. After prayers two young men had an interview with me, and stated that they believed in the Bible, and sought to live in accordance with its teaching. They said that they had given up worshipping idols, but yet could not bring themselves to be baptized, as they believed that if they were baptized their parents would die of grief, and that they themselves would get no employment. They then asked me could they not remain as they were for a time, and that when they saw their way more plainly they would be baptized. I replied that the promise is, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved;" and that Christ saith, "Whosover confesseth me before men, him will I confess before my Father which is in heaven." To enable them, then, to lay hold of God's promise they should believe and be baptized; and that, in order that Christ might confess them before His Father, they should now confess Him before men by being publicly baptized in His name. They then asked, "Was not John the Baptist a good and a saved man? Yet he was not baptized. Cannot we, then, like John the Baptist, remain unbaptized, but live as Christians?" I showed them the fallacy of their objection. They came again to see me before I left Sawargâm, and said that on my next visit they would tell me whether they wished publicly to be baptized or not. I hope to spend January and February in the neighbourhood of their village, and trust and pray that the Spirit of God will give them the needful courage to confess their Lord and Saviour, so that they may be baptized. The result of the inquiries which I have made respecting the moral characters of these men has been satisfactory.

Two Hindus wish to be Christians without being baptized.

Mr. Cooke adds—

Pray that the Holy Ghost may make us alive to the greatness of the work which we are engaged in: may He fill our hearts with love to God our Saviour, so that from the fulness of our hearts we can tell of the unsearchable riches of Christ! Pray that a hearing ear and an understanding heart may be given to the people amongst whom we are labouring. We feel our inability for the great work that we are employed in. We know that we are not sufficient of ourselves to do any thing of ourselves. God grant that we may find sufficiency in Christ.

AURANGABAD.

The Rev. Ruttonjee Nowroji, the newly-ordained native deacon, is in charge of this station and district. It is hoped that he may soon have the assistance of a Native Church Council. Meanwhile, he is aided by the counsels of a senior European Missionary, Mr. Price, of Nasik, and by the co-operation of a less experienced native coadjutor, the Rev. Lucas Maloba, at the out-station of Bûldana.

These native brethren were ordained, together with Shankar Nana, in June, 1870. Ruttonji was originally a Parsee, belonging to a family of wealth and good social position. He first forsook Parseeism to become a deist. Addresses from Dr. Duff, as also from Nehemiah, the well-known Christian Pundit of Benares, shook his belief in Deism, and led him to fly for refuge to the hope set forth in the Gospel. After further instruction from Mr. Mengé and Mr. Price he was baptized on the 26th of June, 1857. Lucas Maloba was brought up in the Sharanpur Orphanage. His labours have been blessed with success in the neighbourhood of Nasik. On these brethren devolves the task of organizing the Native Christian communities of Aurangabad and Bûldana on a system of self-support; i. e., on a system of direct dependence on the Great Head of the Church, combined with active exertion on the part of the converts themselves.

There are 190 baptized Christians in the district, of whom forty are communicants. No adults have been baptized during the year, but there are several candidates on probation. Mr. Ruttonji writes as follows under date 5th of January, 1871:—

I left Sharanpur, where I had laboured for many years, on June 22, after being commended in earnest prayer by Mr. Price and his congregration for the Lord's blessing and guidance in my new and important sphere of labour.

My Christians are scattered over a wide circle in this district; but the principal stations are Saigao, Badnapur, Ambupol, Wailunj, and Mandoey, in all which they amount to nearly 200 souls. I have visited all these places except Bûldana, which is also included in the Aurangabad Mission, and where Mr. Lucas, my fellow-pastor, is stationed. I have stayed in each of the abovenamed stations for some days, holding morning and evening services, and giving instruction to both the old and the young members of my flock. These visits have been greatly appreciated, and were, I humbly trust, made profitable to many.

The majority of the converts are far from being a well-to-do people, and some are still very ignorant, but on the whole they continue steadfast in the faith, and exercise a healthy influence over their heathen neighbours. Although they are still as it were in a state of infancy, Christianity has already wrought a great change in their manner and customs, and even in their exterior appearance. The cleanliness of some, the sober and peaceful looks of others, the absence of abusive and obscene language in all, present a striking contrast to the benighted heathen by whom they are surrounded.

Subsidiary temporal blessings follow on acceptance of the Gospel.

At Saigao I have lately opened a school for Christian children, which is taught by the wife of Bapuji Teli, our worthy evangelist. After I had examined the children, several of the adults and grey-headed members of the congregation came up of their own accord, and begged of me to examine them also in reading and Church Catechism, &c., which I found they had learned with great perseverance, after embracing Christianity. The by standers, some of whom were of the higher caste, hung down their heads in astonishment at the superiority which this despised class possessed over them. With the exception of half-a-dozen who are real objects of charity, all the rest maintain themselves by their own industry, some as cultivators, others as day-labourers. I have impressed on their minds that, although they are poor, they should out of their poverty contribute something towards the Sustentation Fund, which I have established. Some give pice, others give grain or flour, but all are beginning to learn that they must give whatever they can for the Lord's work. This fund, to which my evangelists also contribute, amounts to 14 rupees.

Mr. Ruttonji feels the want of efficient native helpers, but hopes for good results from the blessing of God on the new Training Institution at Sharanpur. Meanwhile the agents at present labouring with him come to him for one week every month, receiving systematic instruction for four or five hours daily.

Mr. Ruttonji thus speaks of his efforts to preach Christ among the heathen:—

While ministering to my Christians in their villages, I have had many opportunities of declaring the word of God to large numbers of the heathen. They have listened to me with much attention, and from their questions and replies I cannot help arriving at the conclusion that Hinduism is losing its hold on their minds, and that enlightened notions of Christian civilization and religion are slowly but surely gaining ground. If the Lord is pleased to pour down His Spirit upon them, we might have the pleasure of counting our converts, not by tens as we do now, but by hundreds. The Hindus are beginning to perceive that the Brahmins have been the cause of their ignorance and degradation, and do not conceal their indignation at them. I avoid all controversy, at the same time I try to answer all their reasonable questions. I have never met with any rudeness, nor have I observed on their part any dislike to hear me. The scriptural notion of the depravity of the human heart, the seat of all uncleanness, the spiritual weapons of warfare, and the sanctifying influences of God's Spirit, are some of the topics which are listened to with much interest and attention. Several of these men sing Christian hymns, instead of their demoralizing heathen songs; and not a few of them pray to God after the manner of Christians.

Hinduism losing ground in the neighbourhood of Aurangabad.

During my stay in the camp I preach almost daily in Hindustani, which is generally spoken here. There are also many Telugu-speaking people, who, I regret, are as yet left untouched. I hope to receive some day a pious Telugu catechist from Madras who will meet the wants of the people. My intercourse with the Sepoys of the regiment is very interesting, and, I trust, profitable.

I have a number of inquirers both of the Mahar and Mang caste throughout the district. Some of these have pressed me again and again to receive them into the Church by holy baptism. But owing to the ignorance of some, and caste prejudices of others, I consider it my conscientious duty to keep them all on a longer trial.

SINDH MISSION.

KURRACHEE.

The Rev. James Sheldon still labours at this station. With him is now associated a younger brother, the Rev. W. A. Roberts.

Mr. Sheldon thus speaks of the pastoral work :—

The Missionaries have charge of two congregations, one European and the other native. (a) The European, consisting of friends of the Mission, Eurasians, and English-speaking natives, has been most encouraging. This congregation, though considered only auxiliary to our primary labours amongst the heathen, is very useful to the Mission, and most cheering to us. To its liberality and active interest our local institutions owe a deep debt of gratitude. (b) The native congregation has been fluctuating. Some of its members, including three of our native agents, have left Kurrachee; but their places have been filled up by the arrival of Christians from other stations. Our numbers, therefore, are about the same as they were last year—fifty baptized Christians, inclusive of twenty communicants. Their conduct has been satisfactory; but the depressed state of Kurrachee has reduced some of them to straitened circumstances. This has told upon our native fund, which, during some months of the year, has been suspended. With brightening prospects now before them, all seem willing again to contribute, and we doubt not that during the coming year we shall regain our former position.

Evangelistic labours among the adult heathen have been continued.

Our direct Missionary work of preaching the Gospel in the bazaars has been somewhat curtailed by the departure of three of our native agents. Tangible results but rarely present themselves in street preaching. Many visits have been paid us after the preachings, and some few seem to be inquiring, but nothing permanent remains to record. One of our catechists, in the spring of the year, made a successful Missionary tour through the southern districts of Cutch and Lower Sindh, and, as is usually the case where the Gospel has been rarely or newly heard, was listened to with attention. From 900 to 1000 religious books have been disposed of to all classes of the community. Some of them, in the Persian language, have found their way to the Gulf stations. The direct preaching of the Gospel and distribution of books have been amongst the most encouraging efforts of the year. Perhaps our most disheartening labours have been in our intercourse with the educated Amils, who at one time were so deeply interested in Christian teaching. The loss to them last year of one of their number greatly embittered them, and no stone was left unturned to annoy and oppose us. The convictions of some of them were too strong to allow them to advocate either Sikhism or Hinduism; but Brahmoism seemed to furnish them with vantage ground, both against Hinduism and Christianity. Puffed up with great ideas of their own importance, seconded in no small measure by the specious reasoning of Chander Sen, as well as by his enthusiastic reception in England, they for some time affected the loftiest indifference to their own creeds, and, as they were pleased to call it, effete Christianity. Yet time or better thoughts have satisfied them that their boasted "inner light" is a very insecure basis of faith, and, during the last few weeks, signs of the old good feeling towards us have appeared. The Brahmos, who, five months ago, boasted of their inceasing numbers, have been reduced to three bonâ fide members, and even they have not wholly broken caste. Inquirers from the orthodox Hindus and the Mohammedans have been numerous. Some have been, to use their own expression, "under great excitement," and others, very near to us, Christians all but the name. Others, our old pupils, and other intelligent thoughtful young men, attend our classes, meetings, and services. They read Paley and other analogous books, are well satisfied that Christianity is far superior to their own systems, yet they hold back, because they are afraid of taking up the cross of Christ. So long have we waited and prayed for these young men, that we might well despair, did we not know how sure are God's promises, and what obstacles, humanly speaking insuperable, are in their way. All we can do is to teach them faithfully and pray for them earnestly.

The Anglo-vernacular school is attended by 130 pupils, of whom 16 are Protestant Christians, two Jews, twenty-four Mohammedans, thirteen Brahmins, and the rest Hindus. Mr. Roberts has assisted in the school while learning the language.

HYDRABAD.

The Rev. G. Shirt labours patiently at this station, preaching twice a week in the bazaars, conducting also an Anglo-vernacular school, attended by 130 boys and young men, and, aided by Mrs. Shirt, a girls' school of forty children. Nothing of special interest has occurred. "It has been a year of striking apathy," writes the Missionary, "among the people to whom we addressed our message. The Committee commend Hydrabad to the prayers of Christian friends."

In the cold season of 1870-71 Mr. Shirt went on a preaching tour in the country south of Hydrabad. An extract from his journals will give an idea of the reception usually met with, though occasionally the opposition of the Mohammedans was more bitter.

Jan. 14—I went to the bazaar in the forenoon, as we were obliged to move on in the afternoon. In conversing with a Hindu shopkeeper I was greatly struck at the spiritual ignorance which he knew himself to be in, and at his contentment to remain in it. He said that their Brahmins and priests taught them falsehood in order to get money from them; still as a Hindu he must receive their teaching, and continue his religious contributions to these men, who traffic in human souls. I read a few verses to him and others standing by, and then preached to a great number of people. After the sermon a Panjâbi Mussulman put a few questions touching the sonship of Christ. A short controversy followed in Hindustani. My opponent kept his temper, and, when exhorted to read the Gospel, he said he might do so if he could get it in Urdu. A Hindu put a few foolish questions and took the answers with a good grace. Six tracts were bought by the bystanders.

Contentment of the heathen with their own spiritual ignorance.

In reference to itinerating work in Sindh generally, Mr. Shirt observes:—

The sparseness of the population will render such work laborious and expensive, while the great heat, which prevails for nearly eight months in the year, must necessarily limit the time which a man of ordinary constitution can devote to it. Another drawback is the backwardness of education. The many alphabets in vogue amongst those who can read, and the obstinate bigotry of the Mohammedan population, greatly limit the usefulness of Christian books. A return to my usual work in the school and town of Hydrabad makes me feel that we want a centre well worked, and that a school for this purpose is not to be despised; yet that we ought constantly to make trips into the country to scatter the seed, and to give zest to our zeal. Such a plan will, I trust, after the arrival of my fellow-helper, be practicable.

General view of the Society's Missions in India.

THE Society's agents in British India have carried on their work with vigour and regularity. Their efforts have been somewhat weakened by the unusually large number of absentees in this country, chiefly arising from temporary failure of health. Actually in the field during the year, there have been 87 European Missionaries and Missionary schoolmasters, 63 Native Pastors and ordained Evangelists, and about 1300 unordained Native Christian teachers. Their labours have been varied and multiform. There is the work among the adult heathen; carried on by house-to-house visitation among the wealthier classes, as in Calcutta; by preaching in the streets or in wayside chapels, as in the large towns and cities of North India generally; and by itinerating in the villages, which is the employment of Missionaries in Northern and Western India during the winter months, and of the Circum Madras and Travancore itinerancies throughout the whole year. There is again the work among the young—a work attempted in every place where the Society's Missionaries are found. Heathen youths are drawn to the Mission Schools, English and Vernacular, by the efficient and wholesome secular teaching which they afford; and in these schools they receive at the same time, without disguise or concealment, affectionate and earnest instruction in the way of salvation through Jesus Christ. Another important branch of Missionary effort is that connected with the Native Church. Its teachers and other officers need assistance and counsel, and sometimes instruction; and the European Missionaries have to encourage and urge forward the native congregations to self-support and self-government. Mention must not be omitted of the solemn and important task of translating God's written word into the vernacular languages; as also of composing vernacular religious books for the use both of Christian and heathen readers. The greater part of the Society's Missionaries distribute their time more or less equally among several of these various branches of labour, while some devote themselves mainly to one or two departments.

Enumeration of the various branches of Missionary work in India.

The fruits which it has pleased God to grant to these various efforts may be classified under the heads, (1) General effect among the population at large; (2) Conversions and adult baptisms from among the heathen; (3) Growth and consolidation of the Native Christian Churches.

I. As regards the population generally, the direct results of Missionary labour have not been, during the year, prominent or extensive. Yet God is evidently working. Great changes are going forward—changes which acute independent observers ascribe, in large measure, to the patient toil of Christian Missionaries. "Every thing in India," says Sir Bartle Frere, "is in a state of revolution. Happily for mankind, it is as yet peaceable, generally silent, and often almost unnoticed; but still it is revolution—more general, more complete and more rapid than that which is going on in Europe." He then speaks of the Mohammedans as having hitherto been less affected by this movement than any other section of the people. "But within the last few years," he adds, "a very curious change has been coming over the feeling of at least the educated portion of the Mohammedans, with regard to Christianity. Converse, and, still more, controversy with Christians, have led the Mohammedans to a more careful and critical examination of those Scriptures which they, as well as we, regard as the sacred utterances of inspired men, but which, till of late, had been generally neglected for the study of later and exclusively Mohammedan authors." Lord Lawrence has also, at a recent public Missionary Meeting, given a similar testimony. Speaking of the Missionaries, he remarked that "they had had arduous and uphill work, often receiving no encouragement, and sometimes a great deal of discouragement, from their own countrymen, and had to bear the taunts and obloquy of those who despised and disliked their preaching; but such had been the effect of their earnest, real, untiring devotion, and of the excellent example which they had, he might say, universally shown to the people, that he had no doubt whatever that, both individually and collectively, in spite of the great masses of the people being intensely opposed to their doctrine, they were remarkably popular in the country. It seemed to him that, year by year and cycle by cycle, the influence of these Missionaries must increase, and that in God's good will the time might be expected to come when large masses of the people, having lost all faith in their own, and feeling the want of a religion which was pure, and true, and holy, would be converted and profess the Christian religion, and, having professed it, live in accordance with its precepts."—These statements are amply confirmed by the reports of the Society's Missionaries. To give one example out of many—"Few things convinced me so much," writes Mr. French, "of the way the Gospel is making as the incidental references dropped by natives in conversation to this and that person, who, on conviction, is either a Christian or about to become one. I was told the other day of a large town not far from Lahore where the preaching is listened to with very much more patience and attention than formerly, and where this improvement is ascribed to the fact, that three native officials in high position there are known to be real Christians at heart, and to be actuated by Gospel morality, though as yet unbaptized."

Testimony of Lord Lawrence to the character of the Missionaries, and the effectiveness of their labours.

Many natives of India known to be Christians secretly.

II. Such being the case, the question naturally arises, Why are not baptisms more frequent and general? It must be remembered there is still much open opposition. A Native Society has lately been formed in Calcutta for the express purpose of upholding Hinduism. Their only arguments are the antiquity of the system and the literary beauty of the sacred books; but the Society is large and influential. It must be borne in mind, also, that the reception of baptism often exposes a man to the severest trials, and, in point of fact, to the loss of all that is dearest on earth. "I remember," writes another Missionary, "an old rich Zemindar, who was for some thirty years in heart a Christian, but only baptized when about sixty years old. He lost, in consequence, all his property; and was also deserted by his wife, with whom he had lived happily about forty years, and with whom for many years he had prayed and read the Bible almost daily. I once asked him, 'After all this, are you happy that you have been baptized?' 'Yes,' he replied, with tears, 'I am happy, but it is hard in old age to be thus treated by the family who honoured me as their head for so many years.'" Conversions, then, in India are, comparatively speaking, few in number. The number of adult baptisms connected with the Society during the year has been about 600. But there have been several noteworthy cases.

Why are not baptisms more frequent in India?

One instance may here be given as illustrative of what is now going on in many other places. "— — was baptized on November 30th, 1870. She had been taught to read by a Pundit, the family priest. Having left C— under medical advice, her husband obtained employment in A—, and their medical attendant then introduced them to a Baptist Missionary. From thence they obtained a Bengali Bible, and their house was visited by a Zenana visitor. At first the intercourse consisted of the visitor explaining the Christian religion, and the Bengali lady explaining her religion and defending it. The leaven, however, began to work, and when, after some time, they moved from A— to this place, both professed to believe in Christianity. The Babu came to the Mission church, and one day, after church, he asked me to send Mrs. — to see his wife. She wished much to be baptized, but was willing to wait for her husband, who urged delay. Some time after they removed to L—. Their friends at L— were much opposed to Christianity, and the Babu (her husband) began to talk about the difficulty of knowing where the true religion was to be found. He spoke to his wife also about Colenso as a Christian Bishop who did not believe in the Bible. Through the wife's influence they returned to this place, and she now told the Babu plainly that she must be baptized. She sent at once for Mrs. —, and told her of her intention." The husband showed much vacillation, at one time promising to be baptized together with his wife, at another showing displeasure with her for desiring baptism. At last he left his wife and younger son at the station where the Missionary who gives the account resides, and went to a distant place. The mother and younger son took up their residence with the Missionary, who thus concludes the narrative: "Two days afterwards I had the pleasure of baptizing the Bengali lady. In a day or two she was cheered by kind letters from the Babu and her son. He has since sent her an order to join him in L—, couched in not such kind language, and she is preparing to obey it. Truly she and her husband both need the prayers of our friends, for there seems great reason to suppose that the latter will try all he can to make his wife conceal her having become a Christian. We have, of course, asked our Missionaries in L— to look after them."

The whole number of Native Christians connected with the Society in India is 66,708, of whom 12,692 are communicants.

Difficulty and progress of the consolidation of Native Churches in India.

III. The organization and consolidation of the Native Church is a work beset with many difficulties. The moral, social, and physical degradation of the people, produced by the heathenism of many generations, has weakened and depraved their mental constitutions. "Without the special grace of God," writes one of the Missionaries, "we should but be carving in rotten wood." But that grace is not withheld. There are many incontestable proofs that the efforts of the Society's Missionaries for the building up of the Native Church have not been unsuccessful. During the year eight natives have been ordained, raising the whole number in India alone to 63 (as before stated). There has been a decided increase of liberality; and in North India especially, where perhaps this improvement was most needed, the introduction of the Native Pastorate has in several places been followed by greater consistency of conduct in the members of the native congregations. In self-reliance, or as it may more properly be termed, reliance directly on the great Head of the Church rather than on European help, the advance has not been so manifest. One of the most promising Native Churches in this respect appears to be that lately formed among the Santals of Bengal. Increased efforts have been made for the education of the children of Christian parents, particularly in Calcutta, in Palamcotta (the Mission centre of Tinnevelly), and among the humble Christian converts in the Telugu country. Above all, mention may here be made of the new Christian College at Lahore, under the care of Messrs. French and Clark. Its object is to give a superior theological education to such natives of India as may desire it, in the humble expectation that they, in their turn, may become teachers of their countrymen. As to the necessity, if God permit, of raising the Native Church to some strength and independence, an experienced Missionary observes, "If we could get an exclusively Native Church free of British control eventually, with all its orders of ministry complete, I think we should see much more rapid growth." The Committee fully recognize the importance of this remark. Whatever superintendence the Society as a lay body has exercised over native congregations, it is desirous of transferring, as quickly as possible, to Native Church Councils. Yet precipitate change must be avoided. The Committee rejoice to know that the English prelates in India are equally desirous of devolving some of the work that has hitherto fallen to themselves upon Native Indian Bishops. But while believing that God usually works by means, and would have His servants devise and use the best means according to their ability, the Committee would remember that all depends upon His blessing, and it is with humble trust in His Spirit that they go forward in the work. Such was the sentiment of the late lamented John William Knott, whose loss has indeed, to use Mr. French's words, "rendered this a memorable and sorrowful year." "His example," remarks the same brother, "while he lived among us, was very forcible and impressive, full of rich and striking teachings never to be forgotten. His prayer was, like his divine Master's, 'with strong crying and tears,' and that both by night and day, a Jacob's wrestling indeed. Such expressions would break from his lips as this, 'Oh! when once my tongue is loosened, my lips opened!" At such times he would seem all on fire to utter his pent and struggling thoughts, meditated appeals and yearnings of heart after India's regeneration and the ingathering of her sons to Christ in the kingdom of God. His removal has seemed a strange and almost unparalleled mystery. It is comforting to rest assured that God is His own interpreter."

Importance of giving independence to the Native Church.

Example of John William Knott.

CALCUTTA.

The Annual Report of the Calcutta Church Missionary Association gives an interesting view of the Society's work in that city, and of the circumstances, favourable and unfavourable, with which it is surrounded. There seems to have been, during the past year, no other change than such as has arisen from the continued operation of causes formerly existing. On this subject the Report states:—

There is no stagnation in India—certainly the very reverse of this in Calcutta. "A living dog is better than a dead lion." The aspirations of the people may be low and their aims grovelling, but they are no longer the dead, sluggish mass which they once were; a stream of electricity has in some way been shot through the slumbering millions: they are at least shaking themselves and looking about them. Manifold are the agencies which have operated to this end. Education has, perhaps, been the most potent of all. Western literature and science have struck a deadly blow at the folly and falseness of the Hindu system; railways, mercantile enterprise, sanitary regulations, Brahmo Shamajes—these and ten thousand minute and nameless influences have been and are, surely though quietly and indirectly, fighting the Lord's battle against the pernicious system which has been the growth of three thousand years. He who remembers that an army of grasshoppers or a cloud of locusts have ere this figured as the accredited messengers of heaven, will not find it hard to believe that God now employs agencies purely secular, or falsely religious, and even seemingly insignificant, to work out His own purposes. The general advance of the people in intelligence, and their thirst for information, are seen in the rapidly increasing literature of the day. Newspapers, periodicals, translations and original works in the vernaculars, are teeming from the press; and it is undeniable that a higher moral and intellectual tone pervades the publications of to-day than marked those of a past decade. Selfishness indeed appears in connexion with all these pleasing tokens. Those who are educated prize their privileges for themselves; but they show no eager concern to make others partakers with them. Now that Government feels its obligation to forward the education of the sons of the soil, it meets with the bitter sneers and opposition of the favoured class which, at a tremendous cost, it has educated in its own tongue. Notwithstanding this, the masses will be educated, and ere long the educated classes will come to see the right and justice of this. All this again will be helpful to the cause we have in hand.

No stagnation in Calcutta.

The Brahmo Samâj has attracted increased attention during the last year in consequence of the visit of their leader to England, and of the warm welcome which he received in many quarters. The Report of the Calcutta Association points out, however, that the protest of the Brahmos against idolatory seems to be less vigorous than it once was.

On the other hand they have initiated efforts of a new kind, which are thus described:—

The return of the Brahmist leader has led to the inauguration of certain most laudable schemes for the secular advantage of the people. One measure has been the issuing of a cheap vernacular paper; the price is only one pice. It touches chiefly on social and political topics, furnishing sensible and wholesome reading to the upper strata of the poorer classes. We believe already it has reached an issue of several thousand copies weekly. Night schools for adults, and industrial schools for the improvement of artisans, also plans for advancing female instruction,—all these things come within the scheme. The instruction imparted is in every case to be purely secular. All this is admirable and helpful; we wish our Brahmist friends God speed in their efforts. All this is within their legitimate sphere: let them by all means do the work of the Gibeonites, but let them not put their hands to the ark before their hearts are prepared to receive the light which God offers them.

New movement of the Brahmo Samâj.

The following remarks are also very important:—

The Brahmos after all are a small unit in the vast mass of educated native society. Not one in a thousand cares a straw for the reforming movement. Tens of thousands have smiled at the credulity of Englishmen in regarding the Brahmist leader as a type and a representative of educated Bengalis. The educated Bengalis are not Hindus, though they call themselves such; they are, in truth, nothing in particular. The great majority are coldly indifferent to the whole subject of religion: a small minority have some thought and care, but not enough to make them earnest in seeking the truth, or bold in confessing it when they see it. A still smaller body feel a real concern in the matter of salvation, and in various ways are striving after peace. Some get to the very verge of the kingdom, but hesitate to cross the boundary.

Apparent irreligiousness of most of the educated Bengalis.

Could the social difficulties in the way of baptism be eliminated, there are probably hundreds who would at once wish to enter the visible Church. These difficulties God will remove if He sees fit. Meanwhile timid inquirers and insincere professors are kept back, and the Christian community, if weaker, is purer than it otherwise would be.

A curious and interesting illustration of this tone of mind is presented by a native gentleman who lives not far from a Mission compound in Calcutta. For nearly two years back he has been holding Bible readings in his house. To these meetings he invites his friends, and evidently enjoys the exercise of studying the word of God in this social way. He makes no secret of his belief in the cardinal doctrines of Christianity, but repudiates the idea of baptism. The grand secret, of course, is a divided heart. It is the whole story over again—"Let me go and bury my father!" A Hindu may believe what he likes; he may tell the whole world he is a Christian in heart; that costs him nothing; the most orthodox of his friends still regard him as within the ancient pale. But let him pass through the waters of baptism; and the die is cast: from that very moment he must take up his cross; he is scouted, shunned, cursed; he is henceforth an unclean thing. It is not, perhaps, very wonderful that many shirk such a trying ordeal. A year and a half ago a Hindu gentleman took us on the roof of his house, and there, with the utmost sincerity, declared his unreserved acceptance of the doctrines of the Gospel. He had long, he said, been feeling his way to the truth. Jesus, he admitted, was truly divine, and the only Saviour of a ruined world. All this cheered us; but we saw the cloud which darkened his features when the decisive step was urged upon him. A mountain of difficulty at once rose up before him: he saw the cross and trembled, yet he promised to take it up. "Wait," said he, "three months." We waited three months and three times three, and then what?—The light which was in him became darkness; he turned aside from the heavenly manna and began to devour the husks which Brahmoism supplied. He is now a member of the Shamaj.

Profession of belief in Christ allowed. Difficulties placed in the way of Baptism.

Native Congregations.

In respect of the native congregations in Calcutta and its immediate neighbourhood, it is disappointing not to observe any traces of advance in their federal organization. No mention is made in the report referred to of any Native Church Council. But the congregations, taken separately, afford indications that God's blessing accompanies the means of grace which they enjoy. The Local Report gives the following account of the congregation of Trinity Church—

It is impossible not to feel thankful for the cheering tokens which have, during the past few years, marked this congregation. That there has been growth and improvement of a certain kind, no one who is familiar with the past history of the Church will doubt. We wish we could speak confidently of a general growth in grace; this is the one thing we long for above all. We have no doubt whatever that individuals in the congregation have steadily advanced in Christian intelligence and devotedness; there is a little flock of living, earnest Christians who strive to walk with God and adorn their profession; we fear, however, the majority of the people lack that life-giving unction which flows from a spiritual union with the Church's living Head. People of this class are not immoral as a rule; there is very little that is irregular in their conduct. They are quiet, steady, and in every way on a par with the great mass of nominal Christians at home: perhaps their standard is somewhat higher upon the whole. This is true even of those in whom we look in vain for the refreshing evidences of inward renewal and vital godliness. We long for these tokens, we strive and pray for them, but more we cannot do: unless the breath of heaven breathe upon dead and sleeping souls, they remain dead and indifferent still. "Awake, O north wind, and come thou south, blow upon this garden that the spices thereof may flow out!"

External improvement of a native congregation: more spiritual life longed for.

Looking to the temporalities of the congregation, and the social status of the people, there is substantial ground for satisfaction. The people have risen immensely in respectability and self-respect. Once on a time they were marked for their utter helplessess and dependence; they thought that the money of the Society was well spent in building them rent-free houses and in ministering to their secular wants; a free education was demanded for their children, and even food and clothing for their support. The idea of an obligation either to give or to do any thing for their own Church had never entered their minds. All that, by God's blessing, is changed—completely changed. There is not a person in the congregation who ever dreams of asking alms, or receiving any secular benefit whatever freely. The men, like honest citizens, work for their own living, and gladly maintain those whom God has given them. They pay for their children's schooling, and provide the books which they read. They have gone much beyond this even: they have not only unlearned the principle of receiving, but they have acquired the spirit of giving. We tell it to their credit. They have contributed out of their hard earnings some thousands of rupees towards the cause of God and the support of the Church. Not a few, we trust, have not only given, but learnt the blessednes of giving. Besides their fixed contributions, many make special offerings of gratitude to God for special mercies to themselves and their families. During the past year, we have received thirty-eight of these oblations of praise and thanksgiving. We cannot but think that these offerings rise as a sweet-smelling savour unto the Lord God of Sabaoth. We know something of the style of giving at home; we therefore testify the things we know when we say that there is not one congregation in a hundred at home which, viewing the relative ability of the donors, gives in an equal proportion to the members of this poor Mission Church.

"The Native Christians of this congregation live in houses which are the property of the Church Missionary Society. The rent which they pay is now sufficient to defray the salary for a qualified native minister. A suitable pastor has not yet been found.

The three stations Kidderpore, Thakerpuker and Akra are under the pastoral charge of the Rev. M. S. Seal, a native clergyman. Like a true pastor of a Church in a heathen land, he unites, with the care of the flock, Missionary labours among those that are without.

The congregation of St. Barnabas' Church, Kidderpore, consists of 101 souls, including the Native Christian residents of its out-stations Akra and Panchla. Of these, 33 are men, 37 women, and 31 children: communicants 34. There are two services on the Sabbath, and one on Wednesday evenings, and the attendance on these occasions is most gratifying. The members, with one solitary exception, gave me no trouble; but, on the contrary, I feel greatly thankful to state that some of them are growing in grace. The contributions of the Church during the year amount to Rs. 192 . 13 . 9 ; viz., to the Church Fund, Rs. 112 . 7 . 0, offertories for the poor, Rs. 60 . 6 . 9, and towards the building of the Thakerpuker Church, Rs. 20.

At Thakerpuker there are 227 Christians, of whom 36 are communicants. With regard to this congregation, there is ground for rejoicing; but there have been, and still are, a great many drawbacks to one's satisfaction, in the cold apathy and indifference of some and the misconduct of others. During the year I was compelled to excommunicate four persons, one of whom, having passed through a prescribed course of discipline, has been, at his earnest request, re-admitted. The practice of visiting two families in succession every evening for religious instruction and prayers has been continued by the catechist, and it has produced a beneficial effect among these rural people. The members of the congregation have become more regular in their attendance at church and prayer-meetings. Weekly offertories, free-will thank-offerings, and a Pastorate Fund, have been fairly set on foot.

The Gospel has been preached daily in the evenings in the bazaar, the streets, and the neighbouring villages; and in the mornings either people have been visited in their own houses, or religious conversations carried on in the shops. We are now well known, and the novelty of our preaching has worn away; consequently, those that flock around us come from a desire to hear the doctrines of the Gospel. Mohammedan bigotry is hardly lessened, and they pass by the preachers with the utmost indifference. One or two circumstances, however, which lately occurred, showed that the confidence of some in Islamism has been shaken. The educated class repudiate idolatry and reject the authority of the Vedas. Some of them are Positivists, and have managed to work themselves into a belief that there is no God, or, that if there is, He is indifferent to the actions of His rational creatures. Others are Brahmists. They admire the character of the Redeemer and the precepts of His Gospel, but stumble at His divinity and vicarious sacrifice. The middle class, and the common people and village peasants, who mostly form the audience in our open-air preaching, groan under the burden of the Brahminical system of error, and cry out against its evils. Hinduism is now rarely defended, and many openly confess that they have ceased to hope for salvation from it.

The two colporteurs who are placed under my supervision have done their utmost to be useful. They have visited 235 villages, preached the Gospel to the villagers, and sold 1,417 books and pamphlets.

There are thirteen vernacular schools under my superintendence, in which both secular and Scriptural knowledge is imparted to the children. Of the 755 boys attending these schools, 528 are Hindus, 222 Mohammedans, and 5 Christians. The schools are in a flourishing condition. The Government Inspector examined some of them in November last, and expressed himself satisfied with the progress made by the boys.

The Garden Reach Anglo-vernacular school reflects great credit to the Head Master, Babu Pyarimohun Rudra. The total number of students enrolled during the year was 310. The average number on the roll of each month was 220, and the average daily attendance 180. During the year one more class was added to the school, and the services of an additional teacher were secured.

Babu Rajkristo Bose, who had long been a catechist connected with Trinity Church, received deacons' orders last June, and is now appointed to the oversight of the two village congregations of Kristopore and Terulia in the district of the Salt Lake. He is labouring to raise up among these simple Christian fishermen a spirit of earnest liberality, and to induce them to aspire after self-support and independent effort. Several of them are already making monthly contributions towards a Church Fund. His own conversion was remarkable.

Power of God's Word in the conversion of one who is now a Christian minister.

He was formerly a conscientious Hindu. A friend of his had heard something of Christianity, and was half inclined to believe the Gospel. He spoke to Rajkristo of Christ and salvation. The latter jeered and ridiculed the idea of seeing any good in Christianity. The friend still persevered, pressing his own convictions, and saying, like Philip of old, "Come and see." The scoffing Hindu, thus importuned by his friend, began to read the Scriptures. "The entrance of the word gave light;" He became interested, then anxious and uneasy. He found his way to Calcutta, and, under the instruction of the late Rev. R. P. Greaves, was fitted for baptism, and ultimately admitted into the fold of Christ. Strange to say, the friend who was the means of bringing him to seek after the truth is still outside the pale—nay, has lapsed into total indifference. "The first shall be last, and the last first."

Labours among the heathen.

There have been, during the year, 36 adult baptisms: of these, seven were men, twenty-nine women. Twelve of these were inmates of the Sealdah Orphan Asylum; the others have been God's gracious reward to the various evangelistic operations that are now to be mentioned:—

Domiciliary Visitation.—As in former years, one of the Missionaries and the native catechists have carried the truth to the doors of the native gentry. We regard this effort as important, not because of any marked result which has attended it, but from the fact of its being virtually the only mode of reaching the upper classes of native society. Street-preaching is of no avail to these; they will never stand to listen to it: nor are special lectures of much service, for these are almost exclusively attended by school-boys and very young men: the elders will rarely take the trouble to go a yard out of their way to hear a discussion on the claims of religion. They read very little, and, without a special interest in the subject, they will not read at all. Christian literature is therefore of little avail. But, as a rule, the educated natives are not averse to a friendly visit: they will sit in their verandahs and converse most freely with the messenger of truth. Now and again we have noticed somewhat of impression and feeling, and repeatedly has a promise been given of a call at our abode for further intercourse; but we have to lament that those promises are seldom kept: as "the early dew and the morning cloud," so do the impressions of most vanish away.

Mode of access to Native gentry in Calcutta.

Street Preaching.—The word has been preached pretty regularly by two of the Missionaries and the catechists in the leading thoroughfares around the Mission station. Thousands have thus heard the glad tidings, who would probably never have listened to it elsewhere. As a rule, all classes behave in a quiet and respectful manner, very different to the ribaldry and noise which characterized this work some ten or twelve years ago. The improved tone is far more marked in the Hindus than the Mussulmans; the cold cynical sneer still lingers on their faces when salvation by the eternal Son is set forth. Doubtless the modicum of truth which their system contains makes them all the more tenacious of the error which it includes. We often feel ashamed that so little special effort is made for the benefit of the Mohammedan population. They require special treatment; the arrows which pierce the Hindu fall innocuous at their feet. Would that an able, godly man could be found who would gladly spend and be spent for the sons of Islam!

In addition to the ordinary street-preaching in the city, the catechists have from time to time made a raid upon the principal towns and villages lying along the converging railways of Sealdah. In this way the seed has been more widely scattered, whilst the native preachers have been revived by a little variety and change of scene in their labours.

Cole Preachers.—Two years ago we obtained two good young men from the Chota Nagpore Mission. These are daily employed in visiting their countrymen in and about Calcutta. There are some thousands of those simple people residing in our neighbourhood. Hardly any of them are Christians; but they are far more honest and truthful than the Bengalis; that is, they were such when they first came to this city; but "evil communications corrupt good manners;" intercourse with the people around them exercises a deteriorating influence both on their morals and religion. The two preachers carry the truth to their brethren, and labour to bring them to the knowledge of Christ. They find the work much rougher here than in their own country. In proportion to the demoralization of the Coles is their opposition to the saving message. Many of them are bitterly hostile. Still the work has gone on. The messengers have gone forth in patience, love and faith, and their work has not been in vain. We trust several have been hopefully impressed. Two have, by baptism, made a good confession of their faith. The conversion of one of these has some very pleasing features. He is a married man with two children. He lived in a little Cole village in the eastern boundary of the city. No sooner did he avow his determination to be baptized, than all his friends and neighbours took up arms against him. Nay, even his wife declared she would never live with him as a Christian. In this resolve she was abetted by their Cole relatives, and matters actually went to the length of a proposal to re-marry her to an orthodox Cole. The poor man, nothing moved by all these trials, insisted upon acting out the dictates of his conscience. Again and again he implored us to administer the holy rite. We thought it right to delay. After a considerable delay, the poor man came, in a state of great anxiety. "Saheb!" he pleaded, "why won't you baptize me? Nothing has come of the delay. My wife will not hear me. How do I know but death may find me still unbaptized?" We durst not forbid water any longer. He was admitted into the Church. He has been ever since most regular in the observance of religious exercises. We are happy to say the consequences, as regards his family, have rebuked our fears. For a month after his baptism his wife refused to live with him, but better feelings prevailed: she rejoined her husband, and she is now under instruction with a view to her own baptism.

Evangelistic efforts in the hospitals are still continued. Two Bible women visit the female wards: one of them has been much blessed in her work. The Lepers' Asylum and Almshouse have also furnished a field for Missionary labour. The following passage in the Calcutta Report will be read with much interest:—

We have had for years a most valuable coadjutor in one of the inmates. Were we asked to indite the "short and simple annals" of the religious poor, as we have known them, we should certainly not omit a record of the labours of good — —. This is a man of some 63 years of age. When a young man he went as a heathen to the West Indies. Whilst there, he was struck blind by lightning. But the eyes of his understanding were opened. He came back to this country a humble and devoted Christian. He has been for more than fifteen years in the Almshouse. A brighter, happier, and more consistent Christian we never met. His love to Christ and his zeal for His glory is a study for Christians of a more favoured position. No sooner does a new comer present himself, then old — — fastens upon him, and spares neither pains nor prayer in his efforts to bring him to Christ. To our knowledge, some twelve or fifteen souls have reason to bless this old disciple as their spiritual father. The way in which he prepares his catechumens for baptism, the amount of Scriptural knowledge with which he, a sightless teacher, imbues them, is as admirable as it is strange.

Three Scripture readers are employed in instructing native servants in European houses; about 600 thus weekly hear the word of life.

Education.

The Rev. S. Dyson is Principal of the Cathedral Mission College, which is intended to bring under the sound of the Gospel native young men that are students at the Calcutta University. Mr. Dyson thus writes in his Annual Letter:—

The discipline of the college has been maintained steadily, and the routine labour systematically carried on. A general good feeling and accord have prevailed between the students and professors; and our endeavours to create and direct a public opinion among the former against breaches of rules and violations of decorum have not been unattended with success. And it has been generally observed, that those who have been longest in the college, and thereby become more intimately acquainted with us, are, as perhaps is natural, actuated most by sentiments of friendliness and confidence.

The efficiency of the secular education was tested at the University examinations.

The results of the last University examinations, as compared with those secured in other similar institutions, were not unsatisfactory. For the intermediate, or First Arts' examination, we had thirty-five candidates, of whom fourteen passed—five in the second grade, and nine in the third. We had fifteen candidates for the B.A. examination: of these, eight were successful—one in the first grade, four in the second, and three in the third. We had also one M.A. candidate, who took up as his subject, History. He passed in the second division. The examinations for the present year are just going on, and all the results will not be known for two months. We have about the same number of candidates—thirty-three for F.A. examination; twelve for the B.A., and one for the M.A., who is also taking up History.

Another of the Missionaries engaged in the college writes as follows:—

One thing I would like to mention is, that the spiritual part of our work is not altogether disregarded by our students, as deprecators of Missionary schools and colleges would make it appear. It is true the majority of our students believe they are hampered by religious instruction in their other work; but there are a few amongst them who love the truth, and evince their veneration and love towards it by coming to me for additional private instruction. It is painful to think that none of them will come forward to avow publicly their belief in the humble Jesus of Nazareth. But this lack of moral courage is owing, not as is commonly believed, solely to a fear of persecution, but to a pernicious belief, propagated to no small extent by the Brahmos, that one may be a very good Christian without baptism, or the observance of the other obligations of a Christian. It may appear astounding, but such is the case, that there are natives in Calcutta who meet together for purposes of reading the Scriptures and religious devotion in a Christian fashion. These meetings are known by the name of "Bible clubs." Most of the members seem to be in real earnest. The most advanced of such and similar gatherings is held at a house not very distant from mine, at which the members baptize one another by laying on of hands, and commemorate the dying of our Lord once a year on Good Friday, by partaking in common of what they term the Lord's Supper. It is difficult to say what will be the upshot of such phenomena. God only knows, and to Him let us recommend these erring brethren in fervent prayer.

Educated Bengalis endeavouring to be Christians without joining the Church.

An English School has been lately founded for the benefit of Native Christian lads. They can here read up to the University entrance course. If successful in passing that examination, there are scholarships and exhibitions by means of which they may continue their studies in the Cathedral Mission College, and thus ultimately become University graduates. "Let our Christians," the Calcutta Report rightly observes, "rise in the social scale, and, the blessing and grace of God attending them, they will become more and more a power in the state and strong efficient witnesses for Christ." This school is also open to Hindus and Mohammedans; and, in fact, of the 150 scholars, 100 are non-Christians.

Efforts to raise Native Christians socially.

There are also schools for Hindu girls, and vernacular schools in connexion with the out-stations. In connexion with educational efforts for the benefit of Hindu women, mention may appropriately be made of the baptism of Gonesh Sandari Debi, which has been referred to in the public prints.

She is a Hindu widow. Her husband died when she was nine years of age. When baptized she was about seventeen years and a half old. She had a mother and an elder sister, both of whom were widows. Four years ago a lady of the American Zenana Mission commenced visiting the family in order to instruct the two sisters. A Native Christian woman, named Martha, accompanied the lady-teacher. From the first, Christian instruction was given: the mother herself was repeatedly present at the time of the Scripture lessons. When the two sisters were able to read they were supplied with the Bengali New Testament. This they read in private. The reading of the Scriptures taught both the sisters the folly and sin of idolatry; but Gonesh alone had courage to act upon her conviction. She became anxious for baptism, and she consulted Martha. Martha spoke to the wife of one of the Missionaries. At the request of the sisters, this lady visited them at their home. Some days after, the elder sister returned the visit. During the conversation which followed, she asked the lady what would be their position in case of their seeking shelter amongst us. The answer was plain and straightforward—"You will have to work for your living either as Zenana or school teachers, and I cannot promise you more than six rupees each, and a little house to live in." Gonesh was resolved to go on and brave the consequences. She came to us in the evening of April 29th. Before midnight the compound was besieged by her excited relatives; and, with scarcely any intermission, for several days she was surrounded.

Persecution of a baptized Indian lady: the doubtful sequel.

No effort was spared to shake her constancy. It was a terrible ordeal. She wept, but never flinched for a moment. All this went on to the fifth day. Poor Gonesh then renewed her entreaties that the holy rite, to obtain which she had surrendered so much and suffered so much, should not any longer be denied her. We yielded to her request. From that day onward, for three months, she remained with us. Her conduct was irreproachable, and her attention to her religious and other duties was satisfactory. At length her mother and brothers began to ply her with assurances that she should have full liberty to enjoy her religious privileges as a Christian in her own home. It so happened, that whilst all this was going on a trivial dispute occurred between Gonesh and the people with whom she was domiciled. However, when the mind is restless, little things become great. She was sorely chafed, and hastily resolved to quit her abode. She went to her mother. Up to the time of her quitting the Mission compound she had never, by word or act, showed the slightest wavering in her allegiance to the Gospel. But she had hardly crossed the threshold of her home when a letter was placed in our hands, purporting to have come from her, which implied an intention to renounce her faith. That letter, as she herself afterwards assured us, was not her composition, nor did it express her sentiments. After being closely shut up in her mother's house for two days, she was transferred to the care of certain Brahmist friends of the family. Up to this time she is living in the family of a Brahmo. At her own request, her New Testament and Prayer-book were sent to her there. As to what is her present state of mind God alone knows. One thing only we know, that quite recently, that is, three months after she left our shelter, the Brahmo in whose house she is living admitted that she certainly had not become a Brahmika; and that, so far as he could see, she was the same in her religious standing as when she joined his family. Such is the history of this notable case up to this period; what new features may yet evolve we know not. We leave her in God's hand.

Agarpâra.

The Rev. F. J. De Rozario continues his labours at this station, but has not given any account of the details of his work. Its most prominent feature is the care of the large English school at Agarpâra. Mr. De Rozario's Annual Letter contains an interesting account of a Mussulman young man, to whose conversion the school was instrumental seven years ago. The narrative has been printed in another of the Society's publications.*

Labours of Rev. J. Long.

Mr. Long has just completed a collection of Oriental proverbs and similes illustrative of Christian truth. The same veteran Missionary has also been engaged, as during past years, in labouring among the native authors and men of leading minds in other parts of India, and in promoting vernacular education. Extracts are subjoined from his journals.

Distribution of Bengali New Testaments to Native Authors.

I went to Dacca, the capital of East Bengal, with the object of giving a copy of the Scriptures to each native author, and I am surprised at the rapid development of vernacular literature among them. I brought away with me more than ninety copies of Bengali works, presented to me by their respective authors, to each of whom I gave a copy of the New Testament in Bengali. They knew little of Christanity; perhaps this way of distributing Scriptures may attract their attention to them. I gave a lecture at Dacca, which was well attended by the educated natives. In the neighbourhood of Dacca is Vikrampur, the head-quarters of the Kulin Brahmins of Bengal. I had a large gathering of them at a Zemindar's house. These men were the upholders of polygamy, and the chief Pandits of the district; and one of the most interesting sights I ever witnessed was one of these men reading an able essay which he had composed, denouncing, in terms worthy of Luther himself, the evils brought on the country by this polygamy system. A European using such language would not have been tolerated a moment. None of the others ventured to reply. Vernacular education is making great progress in this district. I offered some of the Kulin authors of books copies of the New Testament, but they were afraid to receive them; still prejudice is decaying in this remote district. The Zemindars subscribed Rs. 1000, which they forwarded to me to present to Government for the purchase of Sanskrit MSS., as this country is a great seat of Hindu learning. I gladly accepted the offer, as I have always looked on Sanskrit studies as an important auxiliary in the spread of Christianity. I then proceeded to the Nuddee district, where I had some interesting meetings with the natives. The next place I went to, by special invitation, was Behar, where a Society has been some time in operation, conducted chiefly by Mohammedans, for promoting literature and education through the vernacular. The Molwi at the head of it is a man of the Syed Ahmud school. His family came originally from Bokhâra. He gave me a most cordial reception, and posted six horses to forward me on my route. I gave them a lecture, which was afterwards printed.

A Native Pandit denouncing polygamy.

I have thirteen vernacular schools, containing 686 pupils, which have interested me much during the last year, though we have had to contend with two great enemies—epidemic fever and the apathy of educated natives, whether Christian or Hindu, to the enlightenment of the masses. We Missionaries have had a torrent of abuse heaped on us because we proposed to economize some of the funds spent on high education and devote them to the poor and destitute. The same men sided with us when, in the cause of the ryot, we opposed Indigo oppression; but now that our system would reduce the power of the Zemindars, they are against us; but they little know that the example of Christ is our pole star. I have sent in a report of my Thakerpuker school work to the Christian Vernacular Education Society, and will send you a copy of it shortly; but, in connexion with these schools and mass education at large, much time and thought have been given by me last year in connexion with your worthy Secretary and Missionaries of other bodies to the extension of vernacular education through Bengal; a measure absolutely necessary to having intelligent Bible readers and an enlightened, self-sustaining Christianity. But we require sympathy and co-operation from England. We have here an Association of educated Christian natives, but they, though they have existed for three years, do nothing, and evince little sympathy with their less enlightened brethren.

Death of the Rev. R. P. Greaves.

This sad event, and the great loss thereby sustained by the Committee, cannot be better described than in the following Minute, extracted from the proceedings of the Society's Corresponding Committee at Calcutta:—

Jan. 11—On this, the first occasion of meeting since the great loss sustained in the removal of this highly-esteemed Missionary, who died at Calcutta, Nov. 25th, of an epidemic fever contracted at Burdwan, the Committee place on record their testimony to his faithful and self-denying labours during the fourteen years of his course in India. Mr. Greaves possessed intellectual gifts of a high order, and talents which had been diligently improved. He had a thorough mastery of Bengali, and much power in it, both as a preacher and a writer. His habits of assiduous critical study had led him to the important field of Biblical translation and exposition, in which his labours promised substantial results; but, alas! it has been otherwise ordered, and, in the full vigour of his powers, this admirable Missionary has entered into his rest. May his bright example of self-consecration to his Master's service be recognized by many, especially at his own University of Cambridge, as a new call to a like devotedness!

KRISHNAGAR.

Under this heading are comprised two distinct fields; the town of Krishnagar, where the Rev. C. H. Blumhardt is labouring; and Mission work in the district which is under the care of Rev. F. Schurr.

Mr. Blumhardt writes with great thankfulness to God that a surgical operation has been the means of restoring his eyesight, which for some months had been practically lost to him.

It was with the greatest difficulty that I could persuade myself to lay aside and give up preaching, when my eyesight became at last so bad that I could not read or write any more. Up to the end of September last year I conducted my services regularly in English; but from that time I was unable to conduct them any more. Brother Schurr and others of my Missionary brethren kindly helped me in this part of my work till I could resume it again. But the preaching in Bengali to my native flock and others I could not, and did not, give up till the day when I had to go to Calcutta for the operation. It was a great comfort to me to have the assistance of my able and hard-working catechist, Andrew, who, during my absence from home, conducted the services in the church, and kept the whole machinery of the schools, congregation, &c., going with great tact. My little flock of native brethren, meanwhile, conducted their prayer-meetings with him as regularly as before, and offered up unceasingly prayers and intercessions at the throne of grace in behalf of me. Their prayers were answered, and to their great joy I came back to them with restored eyesight. Ever since the middle of May last I have been able to resume all my work again, in English and Bengali, in the church and on the premises. The Bengali congregation continues to give me much encouragement, and I have reason to believe that there is an increase of spiritual life in it, and that fact renders the work a pleasure. The attendance at the means of grace is, on the whole, very satisfactory, and their outward behaviour is exemplary.

Mr. Blumhardt's Annual Letter was written in November, 1870. During the preceding twelve months his physical strength had not been sufficient for open air preaching to the heathen. Yet he was not altogether debarred from labouring among that class, as will be shown by the following—

Heathen Bengalis regular and serious attendants at English service on the Lord's-day.

One English service on the Lord's-day I still continue to give to the European residents here, who would, without it, be either deprived of all the means of grace, or have to conduct Sunday services amongst themselves. But I am happy to say that these services are, in an indirect way, also the means of preaching to many respectable natives, particularly to students of the Government College. Almost every Sunday you would find six or more of these young men sitting at the end of the church, and listening quietly and apparently seriously to the whole service. There is even more than this. I have reason to believe, from intercourse with some of them, that, being convinced of the truth of the Gospel, they quiet their consciences by attending church without publicly renouncing their former heathenish customs. I regret much that these young men have not the moral courage to come forward and face the difficulties they would have to meet in breaking caste.

Mr. Schurr has temporarily the charge of the training school and of the English school at the town of Krishnagar, beside the general superintendence of the rural work in the district. The number of the Native Christians does not increase, being given in the last Calcutta report as 4042. From the same report it would seem that these 4000 belong to no less than forty congregations, who are grouped round seven centres:—Krishnagar (the town or sudder station), Kapasdanga, Chapra, Ratanpur, Ballabpur, Jogindo, and Solo. There have been seven adult baptisms during the year, and the communicants number 309. These statistics include Mr. Blumhardt's congregation in the town of Krishnagar. One of the catechists, Mollam Biswas, has been ordained Native Pastor. It is hoped that he will soon have two or more associates; since as long as he stands alone, it will be difficult to introduce among the Krishnagar Native Christians that federal organization which forms an essential element of the episcopal system. Mr. Schurr has not this year favoured the Committee with an Annual Letter; but in another communication, dated February 27th, 1871, he gives an interesting account of a meeting of Native Christians which he had recently attended at Ballabpur.

There were above one hundred men present. After hymns and prayers, and reading of Scripture, I addressed the meeting, showing (1) how God prepared the way of salvation by His promise, and (2) how He fulfilled them in Christ. (3) How Jesus instituted the ministry. (a) How the Apostle Paul was called by himself. (b) Then at Troas by the Holy Spirit. (c) That no one should presume to put his hands to this holy office without a full assurance of a call from the Lord, and being impelled to it by the Holy Ghost. (4) How the people must meet the preacher by a willingness to be saved—illustrated by the man of Macedonia who implored the help of Paul. (5) The attitude of Lydia shows how we must receive the word, and (6) that the Lord alone can open the heart; and that without His aid we labour in vain. (7) How therefore the Christians ought to receive Jesus with gratitude and love. But that he was knocking at the hearts of many. Here my feelings overwhelmed me, and I fully broke down, bursting into a stream of tears; some even wept with me. (8) I then showed that those who receive Jesus prove it by their example in (i.) receiving the preachers and maintaining them, as Lydia did; (ii.) in keeping the Lord's-day holy; (iii.) in conforming to the doctrine of Christ in all respects; (iv.) in bringing up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord; and (v.) in trying to bring others into the fold of Christ. The people appeared deeply impressed. Such a meeting was never held before, and the Christians appeared greatly pleased with it; the Ballabpur head-men promising to insist on the proper observation of the Lord's-day. And as they had been the greatest offenders, it is a hopeful sign that they begin the movement for improvement.

Importance of early introduction of self-support among Native Christians.

Elsewhere, in the same letter, Mr. Schurr makes the following important remark:—"Dear good Rhenius of Tinnevelly began from the very first to receive contributions from the Christians, which enabled his successors to build upon this foundation. Here a different system was adopted."

BURDWAN.

Mr. Greaves's place at this station has been supplied by the Rev. A. P. Neele. Mr. Greaves was removed to his rest just at the time when he would have written the Annual Letter. The following account is given of the Mission, in the report of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee.

We have already mentioned the serious loss which our Mission here has sustained in the lamented death of Rev. R. P. Greaves from the fever which has been desolating the district. Some of the older members of the congregation have also been carried off by it, and at one time matters looked so threatening that the orphans were all removed to the neighbouring station of Bancoorah. They did not, however, remain there long; and we are glad to be able to add that the fever is somewhat abating. The Mission school has shared the fate of other schools in the district, the attendance having considerably fallen off in consequence of the prevailing epidemic.

The theological class for Bengali catechists, which had previously been in Mr. Welland's charge, had been carried on during the past year by Mr. Greaves. The catechists who have been reading in it seem to have improved considerably, both in knowledge and in spiritual tone. Two of them are about to be located at Raneegunga, the minister of which place has guaranteed part of their salary. The catechists who have been for some years stationed at Bancoorah report that the feeling of the people is becoming more friendly towards them.

BHAGALPUR.

The original nucleus of the Bhagalpur Christian Church was formed between the years 1851 and 1856, through the blessing of God on the labours of the Rev. E. Drœse, who is at present also the Missionary of the station. The first converts were almost entirely from the Pahâris, a hill tribe whom the British Government had conciliated rather than subdued in the latter part of last century. A regiment of soldiers was raised from them, which was known by the name of the hill-rangers; and with this regiment most of the Pahâri Christians were connected. The regiment was disbanded in the year 1863, which led to the dispersion of the Christian soldiers through other districts in search of employment. At the present time the number of Native Christians at Bhagalpur itself, and at the out-stations of Lachmipur and Jamalpur is 175; not including the Bhagalpur orphanage, which contains 154 children. The communicants number 48. There have been no adult baptisms during the year. The Native Christians have contributed 106 rupees towards a Native Church Fund. A Panchayat, or Church Committee, has been called into existence, and the Missionary is looking out for a suitable Native Pastor. Meanwhile some of the pastor's duties are performed by an unpaid Christian leader or head-man. At Lachmipur, a well-educated Bengali acts as volunteer catechist to a little band of seventeen Native Christians.

As regards evangelistic work, the following extract from Mr. Drœse's Annual Letter will be read with interest.

A voluntary Native Evangelist.

At Madihpur the Missionary had the pleasure of meeting a former Native Christian schoolmaster of the Bhagalpur Mission school. He holds at Madihpur the head-mastership of an Anglo-vernacular Government school, attended by some 100 or 115 boys. He makes it a point to visit respectable natives, of whom a good number live at this place. He devotes Saturday afternoon and Sundays to this duty. He tells me that he has sometimes very warm and lively discussions with the people. The Missionary had several large and attentive audiences at this place, and disposed of a good number of books. Most of the preaching on this tour the Missionary and his native assistants had at Singesar, where, during our stay, the annual fair happened to take place, to which thousands of Hindus flock, not so much on account of the sanctity of the place (though that too is of some repute among orthodox Hindus), as for the purpose of trade. Cattle, horses, but especially large numbers of elephants, are brought to this fair. Nepâlese knives and other curiosities are carried about for sale or barter by Nepâlese-like looking people. These people bring also large quantities of laurel leaves, which they dispose of very rapidly. Among these men, evidently a mixed race, half Hindu half Nepâlese, Hindu gurus and fakirs are very busy in making proselytes to their own respective sects. The Missionary and his native assistants tried, on several occasions, to get a hearing with some of these leaders of Hindu sects.

SANTÂL MISSION.

This Mission has sustained a severe blow by the return to England of its leader, the Rev. W. T. Storrs. The Missionaries now engaged in it are the Rev. J. D. F. Hœrnle (removed thither from Allygurh on Mr. Storrs's departure) the Rev. J. Brown, and the Rev. A. Stark. The two last named brethren were ordained during the year; having previously laboured in the same field as lay agents. No Annual Letter has been received from this Mission; but the following notice is given in the last report of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee:—

Voluntary labours of Santâl Christians.

There have not been this year such large accessions to the Christian Church from among the heathen as there had been for some few years previously, but the Christians themselves have gone on steadily, and, on the whole, satisfactorily. Recently one of the most pleasing features of the Mission has been the voluntary assistance in preaching given by some of the Christians, who have, several of them together, accompanied the Missionary in his journeys through the district, receiving no pay and providing their own food.

The number of village schools has increased, especially in the Dumka district; there are now in all between thirty and forty. The people are even beginning to appreciate the advantages of female education. The attendance at the Taljhari girls' school has risen from five to fifteen, while three of the village schools number girls among their pupils. The training school at Taljhari has reached a far higher standard than it ever attained before; the Government Inspector expressed himself as much pleased with its condition on his last visit. An industrial school has been opened for the instruction of the Christian young men. Up to the present time the only branch of labour taught has been carpentry. The two Bengali catechists, who were formerly at Maldah, have been removed to Hirampore, as we have been obliged definitely to abandon the hope of Mr. Lehmann's return from Europe to resume his work at that station.

Two or three preachers have been sent to reside for the present at Godda, on the west of the Santâl pergunnahs. A branch Mission, with a school for boys, and an evening one for adults, has also been opened amongst the Coles who are engaged in quarries a few miles from Taljhari. Our best thanks are due to the Missionaries of the Chota Nagpore Mission for enabling us to open this work by supplying us with two Christian agents from that province.

Some further progress has been made in the preparation of a Santâli literature. A primer for the schools has been printed during the year, also a new edition of a portion of the Prayer Book, embracing the Morning and Evening Prayer, the Litany, and the office for Holy Communion. The Psalms are passing through the press.

II. North-west Provinces.

The North-west Provinces comprise ten principal Districts, viz. Agra (commenced 1813); Meerut (1815); Benares (1817); Gorukpore (1823); Juanpore (1831); Jubbulpore (1854); Lucknow (1858); Allahabad (1859); Azimghur (1861); Fyzabad (1862).

JUBBULPORE.

There are at this station 100 Native Christians, of whom twenty are communicants. At the time of writing the Annual Letter, the Rev. J. Stuart was still single handed. It was stated in the Report of 1869-70 that the native congregation was then scarcely in a satisfactory state. In reference to this point, Mr. Stuart remarks as follows:—

A few of the congregation fell short of what perhaps, under the peculiarity of the position in which I was placed, I had a right to expect from them. Of these the more important part were easily brought back to their allegiance, and have behaved ever since to my entire satisfaction, and one or two, who constituted the remainder, of their own accord left the station in the course of the year. The offenders had been but few when compared with the whole congregation; and of that congregation I have now by me, in MS., for my coming local Report, this sentence: "The congregation consists of about thirty-two adults and sixty-eight children: it has gone on steadily during the year, and given me scarcely any trouble. I cannot this moment remember any thing that may be called a quarrel as having taken place among them, or any thing that called for my interference. On the whole, I think the congregation is a very hopeful nucleus of what one day may be expanded into a flourishing Native Church."

Mr. Stuart hopes that a Native Pastor may soon be obtained for Jubbulpore, remarking "I fully agree with you that the pastoral is in no wise the European Missionary's work."

Very deeply feeling the need of more labourers, Mr. Stuart has resolved to begin at the beginning with boarding-schools for boys and girls. The inmates will doubtless be very carefully selected. This is the secret of success in the boarding-schools of Tinnevelly. Orphans are seldom suitable for this purpose.

Instrumentally, our one great want is more labourers. The fields around and about are truly white unto harvest; but alas that the reapers should be so few! My great hope is, that, in a few years, we shall be able to provide more fully for our own wants at least. Since I last wrote to you we have erected two substantial buildings as training schools at the east and west corners of our compound, for boys and girls respectively. The first-named building consists of a commodious front verandah, fifty feet by twelve feet; one large dormitory, of the same length, sufficiently broad to contain two rows of beds with a three feet passage down the centre. This is the body of the building, and parallel to it at either end is an oblong room, intended on one side, with a partition wall, as teachers' quarters and infirmary; and on the other side as a spacious schoolroom or chapel. In this we shall have daily morning and evening prayers. It will also serve as a chapel for our Sunday services, until we get a church built. The girls' house is on the same plan, but smaller. Both together will contain about thirty inmates, and will have cost (they are not quite finished) about five thousand rupees, for which our best thanks are due to the liberality of the Christian public.

I greatly regret to tell you that I have not done much by way of itinerating during the year. Situated as I was, it was well-nigh impossible. We have just been to a mela, where we spent three days. The schools were closed for a few days, and, as some of the teachers and others volunteered for the work, we went out some seven or eight strong. We went two-and-two, preaching the word, and disposed of a large number of detached portions of Scripture at a low rate. The catechist is at this moment in the district; and I hope to get off myself too during the Christmas vacation.

There has been one adult baptism. Another step in advance is thus described.

Since my last Annual Report, female education has been attempted in Jubbulpore. Mrs. Stuart commenced a girls' school in the city about a year ago. The average cost of the school per month is about twenty-three shillings, irrespective of house-rent, which is free. This expenditure is met through Miss Webb's kindness in her boxes of fancy work. There is a steady attendance of forty. On his late visit I took the Government Director of Public Instruction to see the place. He was quite pleased.

BENARES.

The Missionaries at this station are the Rev. W. Smith, whose health is somewhat impaired, the Rev. C. B. Leupolt, the Rev. H. D. Hubbard, and the Rev. A. T. Rudolf Hœrnle. Of the general work at Benares, Mr. Leupolt writes as follows :—

The Mission work in the Gangetic valley is pre-eminently a work of faith. Whilst the Missionaries labouring in the hills have the privilege of baptizing the people by hundreds, those labouring in the north-west can but speak of few converts. However the day of harvest will also come for North-India; the word of promise is sure.

Mr. Leupolt's notice of the native congregations is brief.

For the first six months in the year I assisted the Native Pastor in taking one service in our church on the Lord's-day, and in giving my advice whenever asked for; but the congregation is entirely in his charge. On my leaving for the hills, Messrs. Hubbard and Hœrnle assisted the Native Pastor in his work. The congregation at Gharwah continues small, and has during the year gone on quietly. The two readers stationed at Gharwah have gone their rounds as usual, and the superintendent of the Gharwah circle of schools reports favourably of his schools. For the last six months Mr. Hœrnle has had charge of the Gharwah station, and of the Benares circle of schools, which is going on as heretofore.

The Native Christians, exclusive of the Chunar congregation, but including the orphanage and Christian village at Sigra, number 472; and there have been during the year two adult baptisms. While these pages were passing through the press, the following interesting communication was received from the Rev. W. Smith, dated Benares, May 2nd:—

Since coming down I have baptized a very promising young Brahmin and his wife and their five children. And last month our head catechist, Samuel, was ordained pastor of our church in the city. As I have observed to others, I could have burst into tears as I shook the dear brother by the hand after his ordination; the day-dream of my life—a church and congregation, with its Native Pastor, in the city of Benares—seeming to be in some measure accomplished. The congregation is but small yet—only about thirty souls. O that in it may be the leaven, leavening the whole lump! Grant it, gracious Lord.

A church and congregation at Benares.

Mr. Leupolt has had his usual Missionary itineration in the cold season, accompanied by native helpers: the reception was varied—violent and vituperative opposition in one place, respectful courtesy and attention in another. This veteran Missionary concludes his notice of the preaching department with the following touching remark:—

Besides paying a few visits in the city, I have had no preaching there during the last year, and as Mr. Smith was absent in the hills owing to failure of health, and I too, there was no

European Missionary of our Society at Benares who proclaimed the Word of Life to the perishing thousands. The field is large, the harvest great, but, alas, few are the labourers! May the Lord of the harvest send labourers into His various fields!

An effort contemplated for one particular class of the population is thus noticed by Mr. Rudolf Hœrnle:—

In my Sanskrit studies I have taken great pains to learn to speak Sanskrit, and have now succeeded so far that I can pretty freely converse and discuss about questions of philosophy and religion. My plan is, to start, if God will, next year, after two or three months, a meeting for Pundits in one of the preaching chapels in which I would give a Sanskrit lecture on some question of religion, to be followed by a general discussion on it. If possible, the meeting should begin or end with prayer.

Proposed special effort for Hindu Pundits.

Education.

In the Training Schools there are seventeen pupils in the male department, and forty in the female. These schools are in good condition, except as regards the numbers of male students. The catechists' præparandi class consisted, at the beginning of the year, of four students. Three of these passed the readers' examination at the Benares conference, and one of the three has entered the new college at Lahore.

The number of scholars under instruction in the Society's schools at Benares (not including Jay Narayan's or the Training Colleges), is 771. Of these 180 belong to the orphanages, and 180 are in Mrs. Smith's City Girls' schools.

Mr. Hubbard reports of Jay Narayan's College as follows:—

During the past twelve months 246 boys have been admitted, and 232 have been struck off, so that the number at present on the register is 560. Of these 222 are in the English department, and 338 in the Oriental. The average attendance has been 447, or about 80 per cent. In December nine students were sent up for the University examinations, eight of whom passed satisfactorily—seven for matriculation and one for the first arts. Three of them have obtained employment, and the remaining five are pursuing their studies. The College department contains only seven students, who are reading for the University examinations in the first arts—two for the present year and five for 1871. It has been a great question as to how far it is desirable to keep up the College department for so small a number of students, and with our limited staff of teachers; but in practice I find it very difficult to turn away any of our old pupils who wish to continue their connexion with us; for I cannot help hoping that we may still influence them for good and at the same time their presence in the College stimulates the junior boys, by keeping before them a higher standard of attainment.

Chunar.

This is now an out-station from Benares. The Society's work here is represented by a Christian congregation, and an Anglo-Vernacular school. But school and congregation appear to have little or no connexion with each other. The congregation consists of East Indian pensioners, their native wives and families, together with the widows and children of deceased pensioners. The proportion of communicants to attendants is large, thirty-four to fifty-one; but there are no indications of their making any efforts for the conversion of the heathen around them. Mr. Rudolf Hœrnle visits them once a month; the Sunday services being usually conducted by the head master of the school, Babu Daniel. The school, which is almost entirely under native management, appears to be ably conducted, and contains 190 boys. No account is given of the spiritual condition of the pupils.

AZIMGURH AND JAUNPUR.

The Rev. W. G. Mallett has charge of these stations, residing at the former. The Native Christians number respectively at the two places thirty-seven and eighteen, the communicants fifteen and eight. Mr. Mallett thus speaks of the congregation:—

The congregations both at Jaunpur and Azimgurh have gone on satisfactorily. In Azimgurh we have had but one case which has called for special reprimand. Twice during the year has punishment been considered necessary, and I hope that we shall see that it has not been in vain. The Native Church Committee has during the year been doing its work silently and well. Its chief work just now is the superintending the building and raising the funds for a Mission church. Five thousand rupees are required, and of this sum 2,250 rupees have been raised and promised. Of this sum the native community has been instrumental in getting together over 500 rupees. We have received the help and counsel of our Bishop, and Sir William Muir gave words of encouragement, and assisted us by a donation of 100 rupees. The building is now rapidly rising; and one of the rooms, to be used ultimately as a vestry, will be ready in a month or two for temporary use as a church. Built at the side of the bazaar, we shall be enabled

(D. V.) to preach daily to the passers by, and to show to them what the Christian mode of worship is.

Last Christmas-day was a fête day with us. On that day we opened for service a preaching chapel in the morning, and in the afternoon we placed in position the foundation-stone of our new church.

The bookshop has been doing, as usual, good work.

No adult baptisms have taken place during the year. There have been three inquirers. Two of these proved unsatisfactory and withdrew. Of the third Mr. Mallett thus writes :—

Inquirer No. 3 is a Mussulman lad of our schools here. Apparently he is sincere; but the lad must be proved and tested first, his motives inquired into, and his feelings learnt, before I should like to say what I think about him. He says that he has been told by two of our Christian boys that he cannot hope for everlasting salvation but through Christ, and this, coupled with the instruction he has received, both in and out of school, has made him anxious. We rejoice with trembling. But at least this evidences a spirit of inquiry, and is a proof that our schools are silently doing their work.

Mr. Mallett gives no report of preaching to adult heathen in the city, though doubtless the preaching chapel mentioned above has been used for that purpose. The efforts in the neighbouring villages are thus described :—

Immediately after the despatch of my last letter we went into the district, and for two or three months, till the end of February, were in camp. At one or two places we met with slight opposition; but, on the whole, our message was received with kindness, and some were desirous of learning further of God's message to sinners, through His Son our Lord. During these journeyings I was accompanied by my catechists and colporteur, and also by voluntary helpers, who, released from their school labours, desired to do work even while enjoying relaxation. Altogether, during the year, I have been absent from home for a period of at least four months. The villages round about Azimgurh, to a distance of nearly twenty miles, have been well visited and preached in, and, in some, branch schools have been established. The feeling noticed is more against education than against the preaching of the Gospel. The preacher is more gladly received than is the educationalist. Considering the state of India not many years ago, one cannot but marvel, and be thankful for the advance already made, and for the spirit of progress evidenced.

Voluntary itinerant preaching by Native Christian School-masters.

The schools have prospered, containing altogether 802 boys, and 133 girls.

Sir William Muir, attended by a numerous and influential suite, with the Director of Public Instruction, has visited the Jaunpur and Azimgurh Mission schools, and has reported well, both of the efficiency of the schools and of their management. In a speech made at Azimgurh, he publicly thanked the Mission for the great work it was doing. This, the testimony of the greatest personage in the North-west, is worth a great deal at this time. For the last year the greatest opposition to our work has been evidenced at Azimgurh—opposition which has sought publicity in a native paper in English, published in the Rohilcund Division. With perhaps one or two exceptions, I am proud of my teachers. They have given me satisfaction and have done their work conscientiously and well; and whenever voluntary aid was required I have always found them willing and useful. In the Azimgurh main school, five out of eight teachers are Christians, and perhaps it is for this reason that the opposition has been so bitter. Boys have been persuaded to keep away from school, and every advantage has been taken of finding fault with us; but the school still continues to flourish; and we would glory in these things, being thankful that we are thought worthy to suffer for the Lord Jesus' sake.

GORUKPUR.

The Rev. H. Stern has still to lament the inability of the Committee to obtain a suitable Native Pastor for the Christians of this place. The Native Christians of Gorukpur and Basharatpur together have increased from 396 to 425; mainly perhaps by excess of births over deaths, as there have been only two adult baptisms. On the other hand the increase in communicants from 104 to 160 seems unquestionably a hopeful symptom.

At Basharatpore, Mr. Stern has been ably assisted by a lay European brother, Mr. W. Baumann.

Mr. Stern thus reports of the state of the Native Christians.

As to the general conduct of the Native Christian community, we have not been without sad and bitter experience concerning some, though on the whole one must be satisfied. One could wish more spiritual personal religion, a deeper and more active feeling of personal responsibility, and more personal zeal for the cause of Christ. In this latter respect it is a sad fact that the more educated of the Native Christians, those who like to call themselves and be treated like Babus, are the least zealous in the cause of Christ. I have made the subject of the Society's last annual letter, in this respect, a special object in stirring up our people to more self-exertion in behalf of their heathen and Mohammedan countrymen; and I hope it may produce some good fruit. I have also endeavoured, as much as possible, to throw the responsibility for the good conduct of a Native Christian community, especially in Basharatpur, upon the natives themselves, by establishing a new Panchayat, or court, the members of which were chosen by the people themselves; and in order to attach more importance to their position, and to make them feel more their own responsibility, I introduced this council into the congregation by a special church service. Each member had to promise solemnly that he would endeavour to discharge the duties faithfully and conscientiously. The whole body was then commended in prayer to Almighty God, the congregation joining. This Panchayat has since done good service.

Efforts to promote zeal for Christ and a Church feeling among Native Christians.

The schools are in a flourishing condition.

Concerning the schools in connexion with the Mission, there is nothing particular to notice. There are now some 657 children under instruction, of whom 85 are girls—all Christian girls—and 88 Christian boys. One of the boys' schools is in the district, some fourteen miles from this, in a bazaar which belongs to a clergyman of the Church of England. Quite lately three native girls' schools, not included in the above, were opened in the city, and promise well; two of these were commenced by teachers of the Anglo-vernacular Mission schools, they themselves teaching the girls. They contain about forty girls. Besides, two other boys' schools will be added to the above, in the town. I have not been as yet successful in obtaining the services of an able Christian head-master for the Anglo-vernacular school. In this school the course of study is regulated by the entrance-course of the Calcutta University. The senior boys, however, read with me, during last year's residence, Archbishop Sumner's Evidences, and portions of the Old and New Testament; whilst religious instruction in the other classes is imparted by Christian teachers. The schools in connexion with this Mission are now so numerous as to require a great deal of time and attention.

The weak-handed state of the Mission staff has interfered with the work of preaching to the heathen, but has not put a stop to it altogether.

Direct Missionary work in connexion with this Mission, such as regular street preaching, though not quite neglected, has not been carried on so regularly as it ought. The fact of the matter is, that the labourers are too few. To do the preaching system effectually a man ought to have nothing else to do; and all eminent preaching Missionaries have been so, because they devoted themselves entirely and solely to this branch of Missionary work. At this moment my fellow-labourer, Mr. Baumann, who is well qualified for an itinerating Missionary, is out in the district on a preaching tour, and he reports very favourably of the success which he meets with everywhere. During the school holidays after Christmas I also intend to go out for the same purpose. Short visits into the district were made also last year, but no journals were kept, either of the journeys or of the many conversations held with natives, here and elsewhere, on the subject of Christianity. In the beginning of the year a Mohammedan preacher visited this town, and remained for several months, trying to influence the people against the Gospel. He was a great babbler, but well acquainted with the contents of the Old and New Testaments, a copy of which he always kept by him, and of the knowledge of which he made a great show, with a view to subvert its simple meaning before the ignorant people. I had several sharp encounters with him, but he was not open to any fair argument. He was also very eloquent in exposing the sins and follies of Europeans. He commanded large audiences for some time; but gradually the people began to suspect his motives, and to believe that he cared more for money than for religion; and it was even rumoured that he was a renegade Native Christian.

The following incident is remarkable, though not without its counterpart elsewhere. Painful in many respects, it will yet doubtless be overruled for good.

In connexion with the Mohammedan controversy, a book lately printed in England, and edited by an English gentleman, a Mr. Davenport, in praise of Mohammed and Islamism, has made some little sensation here among the educated Mohammedans. They congratulated themselves on the flattering encomiums lavished by an Englishman on Islam and its author. Immense harm is done by such literature, worthless in itself, but having immense weight with a Mohammedan. The book has already been translated into the native language, and is freely circulated among Mohammedans, who begin to think that Islam is getting appreciated even by the governing class. The worst is, that with Mohammedans even the best, the most conclusive and logical arguments are of no avail. "God is one and Mohammed is His prophet" is the end of every argument. Yet we know that the days of Islam are numbered, and that Christ must reign from pole to pole.

LUCKNOW.

The Rev. J. Fuchs, and a lay Missionary, Mr. G. H. Weber, are the Society's agents at this station. The Native Christians are 227 in number, 52 of them being communicants. They have nearly all come from other parts of India; and many of them are employed as printers, having been taught this trade when children in Missionary orphanages. Mr. Fuchs, is very desirous of finding a suitable Native Pastor, but has not yet been successful. He cannot, therefore, give as much time as he would wish to evangelistic labours.

The congregation has, as to numbers, remained stationary. The attendance on Sunday at divine service was regular and satisfactory; but I had in the course of the year often been grieved by their quarrels and uncharitableness, and sad instances of faithlessness and dishonesty. Since I have been appointed to this station the monthly offertory has been put aside for the Pastoral Fund; only now and then it was appropriated to some other object. The average annual amount deposited in a bank has been 120 rupees. In the first half of the year a Church Committee was formed, the members of which have taken upon themselves the charge of the chapel as to the expenses for servants, furniture and repairs, and to organize among the members of the congregation a sytem of contribution. The Committee agreed on the plan of taxing every member according to his income.

In open-air preaching to the heathen, Mr. Fuchs is aided by two native assistants. The audiences are large and attentive. Access to influential natives in their own houses has been sought for, but has not been obtained to so great an extent as in Calcutta. One adult Mussulman has been baptized after three years' probation.

FYZABAD.

There is no Missionary at this station, Mr. Reuther being compelled by failure of health to return home, and the Mission staff in North India being too weak to furnish a successor. A single catechist carries on the work to the best of his ability. Mr. Fuchs, who superintends him from Lucknow, describes him as a very good, simple-minded, earnest Christian, who is well-known at his preaching-place in the bazaar, and is doing his work regularly and diligently.

ALLAHABAD.

The Native Christians at this station are, it will be remembered, mainly immigrants from Secundra, and the result of orphanages. Their number fluctuates from year to year, not from apostasies, nor, alas! hitherto from conversions, at least to any appreciable extent, but mainly from immigration and emigration. Last year the numbers given were 430, with 138 communicants. This year the statistics give 401 Christians, with 140 communicants. Two adults have been baptized, respecting whom, however, no particulars have been furnished. The Rev. B. Davis, European Missionary of the station, is at home on furlough. The Native Pastor, Mr. David Mohun, thus speaks of his flock :—

Character of Allahabad Native Christians.

As far as the human eye can discern, I think our Native Christians have improved much in a spiritual point of view. There was once a time when many heathen and foreign vices were to be found among many of them; but now it is gratifying to state that old things are passing away, and, by the grace of God's Holy Spirit, new things are beginning to appear; and we are fully persuaded that He who has begun this good work among them will carry it to perfection for His own honour and praise. I must confess that such is not the case with all our people: there are some who seem to be careless and indifferent with regard to their immortal souls' interest; their walk and inconsistent conversation testifies that they are still far from the kingdom of grace and hope of glory: outwardly they profess to be members of His Church, but inwardly they deny Him. But we do not wonder at it: such has been the case in the visible Church of Christ in all ages, and no doubt will be the state as long as the great enemy of our race is not bound. All our people are independent and self supporting; it is a pleasure to see most of them coming to Church on Sundays, and attending other means of grace, of their own free-will and accord. For the education of the children of our people I have established three schools, through the kind liberality of some of the European residents of this station.

Mr. Mohun regrets that, in Mr. Davis's absence, he has had but little time for preaching to the heathen.

AGRA.

The Annual Letter from this station bears the signatures of Charles Elland Vines, R. B. Bell, and Joseph Jacob, the first of these being an ordained Missionary, the second a Missionary schoolmaster, and the third a Native Pastor.

The pastoral work at Agra and Mattra is reported to be the same as last year. It is to be presumed, therefore, that the weekly prayer meetings are continued; that the annual contributions of Rs. 1200 towards the support of Mr. Jacob is maintained; and that the pastor has still, alas! to mourn over the deadness of many that are outwardly members of the flock. Mattra is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Madho Ram. It will be in accordance with the principles adopted by the Society if a united Church Council is formed for Agra and Mattra, consisting of the two Pastors, three or more lay delegates chosen by the Native Christians, and a European Missionary as chairman. The Native Christians at these two stations number 453, of whom 114 are communicants. Of public preaching to the heathen, the report speaks as follows:—

A goodly company of Native Christian preachers.

In the midst of the hot weather the Rev. Madho Ram, with a small band of Native Christians, made a short preaching tour. He has had special encouragement in one small town near Mattra, which he often visits. The Rev. Joseph Jacob also, when lately visiting another Mission station, had the pleasure of going out to preach in the bazaar with several Native Christians. On one occasion the band of preachers consisted of seventeen, who, standing together in the bazaar, collected a large crowd of some two hundred listeners. We have tried to keep up bazaar preaching in the city of Agra, but were obliged by illness, which came upon all the preachers successively, to desist.

There have been altogether seven adult baptisms. Two are cases of special interest, though the circumstances of one of them are such as perhaps to render publicity undesirable. The other is thus narrated by Mr. Jacob, the Native Pastor:—

Conversion of Chuni Lall, a Brahmin.

The following is the interesting account of Chuni Lall, a Brahmin. Some six years ago he went to Doctor Lacy for some medicine. Doctor Lacy spoke to him about his soul's salvation. Chuni Lall thus gradually became acquainted with some of the leading principles of the Christian religion. The doctor gave him a Hindu Bible, and a few religious books, and explained to him many passages of holy Scripture. Some two years ago Chuni Lall broke his caste by eating and drinking with Doctor Lacy, but still had many difficulties to overcome. He could not make up his mind to confess Christ publicly. I also had several interviews with the man, and found him almost ready, but without sufficient courage and boldness to come forward to embrace the truth openly.

> "God moves in a mysterious way,
> His wonders to perform."

All of a sudden the man was taken ill, and the very same kind medical friend attended him during his illness. The man now made up his mind, and applied for baptism. The Doctor sent for me. I went and questioned him on some of the most important and leading points of the Christian religion. He answered all the questions very sensibly and reasonably in the presence of many Hindus and Mohammedans. He told them all that he had been convinced of the truth of the Christian religion, and had received Christ to be his Saviour. The Rajah himself, in whose house he lived, was present, and listened to all quietly. When I was satified with the man, I baptized him in the presence of many witnesses, both Hindus and Mohammedans, and several Christians. When every thing was over the man appeared very happy and cheerful. After his baptism he was not permitted to live long. On the third day of his baptism he slept in the Lord. Oh, what a happy man he was who received the Lord on his deathbed! His funeral was attended by upwards of one hundred people, among whom there were many Hindus and Mohammedans, including the Rajah himself.

Mr. Bell, who assists Mr. Vines in St. John's College, makes the following remarks on the effect of the work there carried on :—

Unbaptized Students of a Mission College arguing in defence of Christianity.

Our Christian educational work is not in vain. I give an instance. Some six or seven of our students reside in a village about three miles from the college. In the same place students belonging to the Government and Victoria (secular) Colleges, also reside. These young men are constantly conversing or disputing upon the merits or demerits of Christianity and Hinduism. Our students, though not Christian by profession, do not shrink from meeting the attacks of their fellows, but boldly uphold Christianity, and set forth in vivid colours the wickedness and errors of the religion of their fathers. They are met with the scoffs and taunts of their neighbours and opponents, who cry out, "Ah! you go to St. John's College; you are all unbelievers." This does not disconcert them, for they recur continually to the same topic. They reply, "You are prejudiced; you have not studied the Bible, and know nothing of the evidences of Christianity." In their homes, too, discussions on religious subjects often take place. One of our students argues the subject of Christianity, upholding its divine character, with his Hindu father. He has so far removed the prejudices of his parent, that he consents to acknowledge our blessed Lord to be a very good man, but cannot consider Him to be the Saviour of mankind. Many have confessed as much to me, and some hold with the Mohammedans that He was "a Prophet." This we tell them is not sufficient. He is truly divine, the King of kings, and Lord of lords, the Saviour of the world, "very God of very God," or else an impostor. We admit no compromise. Our Christian friends must be earnest in prayer, that the Spirit of truth and love may strengthen many hearts, bestowing upon these silent believers that courage which they lack.

Secandra.

This is a Christian village, in the neighbourhood of Agra, grown out of an orphanage. The orphanage still exists, containing 370 children. Many of those who were once its inmates are now supporting themselves by honest labour in various parts of India. Others still live in the place and form the Christian village just spoken of. The Rev. J. Erhardt, the Missionary of the place, has had to struggle with varied difficulties, and expresses great thankfulness to God for having been carried through them. The conduct of the Native Christians has been satisfactory on the whole. Differences among them are settled by a Panchayat, or permanent court of arbitration. Mr. Erhardt, finds time also for carrying on and superintending evangelistic efforts among the heathen. These labours he thus describes :—

Direct Mission work has been carried on by a catechist, two readers, and two colporteurs. One of the readers is located five miles from Secandra, where we also had a school, but, for want of scholars, it had to be closed. His work is to preach in all the villages around, and when the brethren return from their longer tours we go in force, all round the neighbourhood, and examine the ground where this reader has been working. Last year I had been reading with him, and he has just now passed his examinatians as full reader. I thank God for the native helpers I have got. They are laborious and faithful, and work when I am not at their heels. They keep a report of all the places they visit, and of the portions of Scripture they speak about. It is very useful when I go the round with them to know what they conversed about, and it is grateful to hear how the people often remember themselves what they had heard. Bhurtpore and Gwalior are part of the preaching-ground of the catechist and his staff. My colporteurs are also readers, in so far as they can address the people. As a fruit of this part of our work, I may mention a family—grandfather, father, and mother, and two children—whom I had the pleasure of baptizing during the last year; also a young man who had joined himself to one of the colporteurs. I had great hopes of him, but it pleased God to take him home soon after his baptism. We have some others who are in search after truth, but in how far they are sincere I cannot say as yet.

Zealous Native Agents.

Bareilly.

One of the Society's catechists ministers to the native congregation at this place. He is superintended by the chaplain.

Allygurh.

Mr. E. A. Steller left Allygurh at the close of the cold season in the beginning of 1870. He was succeeded by the Rev. J. D. F. Hœrnle, who was removed in the early part of the year 1871, to the Santâl Mission. The Rev. S. Carter is now the Missionary of the station, having been transferred from Bulandshahar. The Native Christians are few in number; and there is not in or near the town itself much visible ground for encouragement. But at Soron, near the Ganges, on the outskirts of the Mission district, there are several inquirers, some of whom have been baptized during the last two years. During the winter of 1869-70, Mr. Steller preached in various districts. From his narrative of this tour, one passage is subjoined.

We have travelled this winter over more than 300 miles, preached in seven large towns, a number of smaller ones, and in more than 100 villages, and sold a good number of Bibles, New Testaments, Portions, and tracts. On the whole we had good audiences and found a better understanding of the truth. Yet we find also the natural effect of this, viz., the trying to evade the consequences—either denying the truth or trying to establish their own religion. Only God's blessing on faithful and proportionate labour can overcome the falsehood and establish the truth.

Bulandshahar and Secandrabad.

A suitable Native Pastor has not yet been found for the Christian congregations, numbering respectively thirty-six and twenty-seven, at these two places. They were ministered to by catechists under the superintendence of the Rev. S. Carter, the Missionary of the district. Mr. Carter was transferred early in 1871 to Allygurh, from whence he will superintend the work at Bulandshahar. There are eighteen communicants; but here also, alas! not one adult baptism can be recorded. Yet Mr. Carter's account of the Native Christians is not unpromising.

I took charge of Bulandshahar and Secandrabad on the 22nd April last. I have seen a great deal of the Native Christians since I came; and though there are a few black sheep amongst them, yet I think that most of them are Christians, not in name only, but in deed and in truth. They are very regular in their attendance upon the means of grace; and are very hearty in their worship. The two catechists (John Solomon of Bulandshahar, and Egbert of Secandrabad), though not learned, are very faithful and devoted. They both seem to have a real desire to advance Christ's kingdom.

Mr. Carter's efforts for the heathen are of two kinds—intercourse of a more private kind with individuals; and general preaching in the district. To begin with the first, Mr. Carter writes under date, November 30, 1870.

When I first came here a number of young men came to see me, and said they wished to read English with me. I told them that I had but little time to spare, but would help them as much as I could, if they would come to me in the evenings. I thought that by this means I should become generally known amongst the inhabitants, and that I should have an opportunity of speaking for my Master. Six of them came next evening. I did not then introduce the reading of the Bible; because I thought if I pressed the reading of the Holy Scriptures too soon, I might drive them away. One evening, when they had been reading with me for about three months, they commenced looking over the Bibles, Testaments, and other books of the Bible Society, which are always exposed for sale in my room. Four of them (Hindus) purchased a Bible each; and then one of them said, "Sir, will you teach us the Bible?" To which I answered, "I shall be most happy, but if one reads it I should like you all to read it." The answer I got was, "Sir, we all wish to read it." I cannot describe the inward pleasure I felt at the time; for though I would not lay too much stress on a circumstance of this kind, yet when a number of young men come and say, "Sir, will you teach us the Bible?", I think it is evident that superstition and prejudice are gradually disappearing, and that the Gospel, in spite of all obstacles, is winning its way. Until a little more than a month ago, when I went into camp, six Hindus and several Christians came every evening for instruction in the Christian Scriptures, as well as in other subjects.

Heathen Students ask the Missionary to teach them the Bible.

The same letter thus speaks of preaching in the district:—

The catechist, colporteur and myself were out on the 25th October. Since then we have visited and preached the Word of Life in thirty-six villages. The villagers are nearly all cultivators; and are very ignorant and superstitious. In many villages there is not a single person who can read. They literally "sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death." God grant that they may take heed unto the Gospel, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place; and may their feet by it be led into the way of peace! We are well received in almost every village. In many villages, after we have preached to them, they bring us milk, sugar, grass for my horse, &c. The Hindus generally hear the Gospel gladly; but some of the Mohammedans, of the baser sort, now and again try to disturb our congregations. As it was of old, some listen attentively, others mock, and others are inclined to hear us again on the matter. Oftentimes inquirers come to our tent, but, Nicodemus like, they generally come "by night."

Some fruits of the Missionary's labours seem likely soon to be gathered.

Several inquirers have come to visit me pretty regularly for the last three or four months. One or two are very promising; but the motives of the rest, I am afraid, are entirely worldly. On Christmas day next I have promised to baptize one young man, a native of Kashmir, a Mussulman, who has been with me for about five months. He is rather intelligent, can read a little Persian and Arabic, and is very consistent in his walk and conduct. When I promised to baptize him, he got up the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, and the Catechism, in a very short time.

MEERUT.

The Rev. C. T. Hœrnle is now the only Missionary at this station; Mr. John Hœrnle having been removed first to Allygurh and subsequently to the Santâl work. He is assisted, however, by an efficient European schoolmaster, Mr. Zenker, and by two Native Pastors, the Rev. F. Abel and the Rev. D. Jeremy. Mr. Hœrnle speaks highly of the activity of these native brethren; while he prays that the Holy Spirit may cause them to be more and more constrained by the Saviour's love. In other respects Mr. Hœrnle thus speaks of their labours and of the native work to which they minister:—

We have two Native Pastors, both as yet in deacons' orders. One, the Rev. F. Abel, is in sole charge of the cantonment portion of the Meerut congregation, consisting of 250 souls, to which are attached, as small affiliated parishes, our two nearest out-stations of Maliyána and Kanker Khera. The Rev. David Jeremy is in charge of our congregation at Ikla, a village in the district, twenty-eight miles distant. It numbers from eighty-two to eighty-five souls. The men are all cultivators, mostly poor. The pastor officiates in a simple rural chapel, built eighteen months ago, and in which a school is also held during the week. Jeremy is an old servant of the Church Missionary Society. He was Catechist at Agra, in a village near Secandra, from 1846 up to the mutiny in 1857, when he was in imminent danger of being killed by the rioters. But the headmen of the village, being well disposed towards him, concealed and fed him and his family for several months, till order returned and the danger was over. These men were afterwards handsomely rewarded by Government for their good conduct. After the mutiny, which converted the once flourishing Secandra branch of the Agra Mission into a complete heap of ruins, and put a stop to his work there, he was transferred to this Mission, and in the course of time ordained to the pastoral charge of the above-named congregation by the present Bishop of Calcutta.

Our largest and most distant out-station at Annfield, in the Dehra Dhûn (120 miles distant), is now in charge of a catechist, superintended and assisted by occasional visits from Meerut. The congregation numbers 264.

Our Church Committee is now firmly established, and has so far worked well. The resident Missionary and the pastor here are respectively President and Vice-President, ex-officio; and the latter is at the same time executive member, assisted by three collectors of subscriptions. These have lately increased, and have enabled me, with the addition of a small grant-in-aid, from the Bishop Wilson Pastorate Fund and the interest of a local Church Endowment Fund, to render the payment of Pastor Abel's salary and allowance, amounting to seventy rupees per month, independent of the Society's funds.

It is to be hoped that a united Church Council for all the Meerut congregations will ere long be formed, consisting of the two Native Pastors, three or more lay delegates, and the European Missionary as Chairman. There are in the Meerut stations altogether 685 Native Christians, of whom 325 are communicants. The diminution from last year's numbers, 750 and 350, is not explained. Perhaps it arises from removals. There have been four adult baptisms. Respecting evangelistic effort Mr. Hœrnle writes :—

Vigorous preaching to the heathen; and its effects.

The preaching of the Gospel of Christ has been steadily continued by the evangelist members of the Mission in the city and district of Meerut, at melas and in villages. The large fair at Gurmakteswar, where from 500,000 to 600,000 people annually assemble to wash their sins away in the water of holy Ganga, was visited by five of us, when the way of salvation was made known, during four successive days, to large crowds of more or less attentive hearers. Many unhesitatingly acknowledged the truth as it is in Christ; but the Hindus have no idea that it is a man's duty in matters of religion to act up to what he has known and acknowledged to be true. The word of God has also regularly been proclaimed at our evangelistic out-stations, and a circle of villages round about them, by the catechists residing there. The knowledge of the Saviour is spreading over the country, and I have reason to believe that many have a deep impression, may be a conviction, of the truth of our faith; but they are prevented from embracing it, partly on the ground just mentioned, partly from fear of man or love of the world. I am so sorry I could not myself take such a part in these evangelistic labours as it has always been my great pleasure to do. Age is advancing, and strength gradually failing.

There are eleven schools in connexion with the Meerut station, containing 334 boys and 89 girls.

Mr. Hœrnle thus refers to a domestic bereavement which also deprived the Society of a valued and faithful labourer:—

The year now drawing to its end was also in my family one of anxiety, sorrow, and trial. Mrs. Hœrnle had been a sufferer from its beginning, and in May was obliged to seek restoration of health in the climate of the hills. She had not long been there when my eldest daughter, Mrs. Shackell's, illness terminated in her removal to a better world. She went home on the 1st of July, after having been married only fifteen months. The Lord's dispensation in her case was peculiarly mysterious. Much attached to her husband, and to his work among the Santâls, she longed for her portion among the females of that primitive tribe, for which her previous labours in the Meerut Mission had qualified her. But the Lord cannot err in His dealings with His children; and though we all, and especially her bereaved husband, sorrow over the separation, we are glad to know she is with Him whom she fervently loved and faithfully served.

III. The Punjab.

The Punjab Mission comprises seven principal Stations—Kôtghur, 1847; Amritsar, commenced 1852; Kangra, 1854; Peshâwar, 1855; Mûltan, 1856; Derajât, 1861; Kashmir, 1863.

KÔTGURH.

The Rev. W. Rebsch is the Missionary at this station, connected with which there are forty-two Native Christians, of whom twelve are Communicants. This little congregation has commenced a Church-building fund, in which they seem much interested, contributing according to their ability. The larger part of what has been collected, however, is due to the liberality of European visitors. As regards the heathen, Mr. Rebsch gives the following instances of conviction without conversion, where intellectual belief in the truth of Christianity does not lead to open confession of Christ:—

In the village Shawat, where we have had a nice school for some years, the people told our brethren a few days ago that they have heard a great deal of Christianity, and that they believe all they hear and read of it in the Bible, though they are sometimes troubled with doubts, but that they are afraid of being baptized. They also acknowledged that their responsibility is greater now than it was when they knew less of the Bible. In Porulai the people expressed themselves nearly in the same way.

Heathen of the hill tribes convinced, but afraid to be baptized.

When I talked to a young rich hill-man who was in our school till six years ago, and asked him when he would be a Christian, knowing, from former conversations I have have had with him, that he had a deep impression of Christianity, he looked sadly towards the ground, and said he believed, but was afraid of baptism. When I mentioned the words of our Saviour to him, "Whosoever is ashamed of me and my words, I will also be ashamed of him;" and that God will honour him who serves Him in sincerity and without fear, the poor young fellow told me that he felt it deeply, and that he knew he ought to be baptized. He added that his brother, who had also been in our school, and died three or four years ago, believed also in our Saviour, and confessed this before his parents and brothers, but of course died without baptism.

KANGRA.

At this station the Missionary (Rev. J. N. Merk) is mainly employed in evangelistic work. Meanwhile the little Native

Christian community (consisting of some thirty persons) is a source of strength and comfort to him :—

Native Christians a source of refreshment to the Evangelistic Missionary.

The congregation has assembled twice every Sunday for divine service, which I have regularly conducted. The services have been well attended by the congregation; and I hope every member has made some progress in knowledge and piety. I am truly thankful to be able to say that the life and conduct of the Native Christians connected with the Mission has been consistent; and no case of discipline has occurred. We have, I trust, felt God's presence with us as often as we assembled in His name; and every Sunday I have experienced the difference there is in ministering to the congregation, and in preaching in the bazaar.

Public preaching to the heathen has been carried on with vigour :—

Every afternoon or evening, with very few exceptions, bazaar-preaching has been carried on. My native assistants joined me regularly; they seemed to take up the work with new spirit. The audiences we generally had were, for some time especially, good, and the people attentive. I may say they were in fact more so than formerly.

The general effects of Missionary labour on the people may be partly gathered from the kind reception Mr. Merk met with on returning to his station, after several months' absence :—

Kindly feelings of the Heathen towards the Christian Missionary.

Late on the 1st of January, 1870, I reached Kangra, on my return from Europe, and on the next day I began my work with gratitude to God for being permitted to engage a second time as a labourer in His vineyard. On the part of my little congregation I was received with much kindness and affection; and very pleasing was the welcome I had from the natives of all classes in both towns, Kangra and Bhazan; in villages, also, and, indeed, from people coming into town from remote parts of the district too. When, on the fourth day after my arrival, I went to the bazaar to preach, I was saluted by everybody; and nearly every man wished to have a word from me, and to hear that I, as well as my family at home, were well. Many natives came to call on me; and many a time I was stopped on the road to answer kind inquiries on the part of old native acquaintances.

But results of a more visible and cheering kind are not wanting :—

Several young men, teachers in the Mission school, who had themselves been educated in the school, natives of this place, and of respectable parentage, expressed their desire and intention of publicly embracing Christianity. They broke caste; but their desire of joining us experienced afterwards a check, and three of the young men found that they were not quite prepared for the opposition they met with from their relatives and former co-religionists. The fourth young man who broke caste has joined us, and, together with some of his relatives, will, I hope, be baptized ere this report is posted. I hope the other three young men will soon receive grace joyfully to take upon themselves the reproach of Christ, and confess Him publicly. The case of these young men has caused some stir amongst the population of the various towns and villages of the district.

Candidates for baptism among teachers in a Mission school.

The expected baptism took place. Most of the pupils were in consequence removed from the schools; but by the last accounts they were beginning to return.

AMRITSAR.

The number of Native Christians at Amritsar and its out-stations, connected with the Society, is 166, of whom 62 are communicants. There have been nine adult baptisms. The federal union with the Native Christians of Lahore seems to have been abandoned. The Church Council has therefore become merely a Panchayat, or Church Committee. This Committee meets monthly, and serves the not unimportant purpose of presenting at least the idea of self-government before the minds of the Native Christians. A Punjâb Native Church Council has been suggested. Three Missionaries are now labouring in connexion with the station; the Rev. William Keene, the Rev. Townsend Storrs, and the Rev. Rowland Bateman. The Native Agents of the Society, as distinguished from those of the Native Church, are of two kinds:—Evangelistic, engaged in preaching the Gospel to the adult heathen; and Educational, employed in schools. In the former class is included the Rev. Imad-ud-dîn. These, with the exception of one catechist at an out-station, whom Mr. Storrs superintends, are more especially associated with Mr. Keene, while the scholastic agents are for the most part connected with Mr. Storrs.

As Senior Missionary, and as President of the Native Church Committee for Amritsar, it naturally falls to Mr. Keene to report on the state of the Amritsar congregation, and on the work performed by the agents of the Native Church. He writes as follows:—

The congregation consists of 158 Native Christians, of whom 59 are communicants. Of these, 41 are men, 25 women, and 45 are the children of Christian parents; together with 33 orphan girls and 14 orphan boys. Of the 41 men, 2 are agriculturists, 1 contractor, and the fourth a teacher of languages; 8 are either domestic or Mission servants, 6 are students in different institutions, 3 are in the employ of Government, and 20 are agents of religious Societies. Of the 25 women, 1 is a domestic servant, 3 are engaged in Mission work, and the fifth, a well-educated native lady, is engaged in instructing a class of native midwives, for which she receives remuneration from Government. The remaining 20, inclusive of the wives of the native clergy, confine their time and strength to the family circle. That the principles of self-support, self-government, and the native ministry have been introduced into this congregation, are hopeful signs, and such as betoken progress.

In respect to future native labourers, whether for the Society or for the Native Church, Mr. Keene hopes for much benefit from the newly established college at Lahore. Of the labours of the ordained Native Evangelist, Mr. Keene writes as follows:—

Labours of an ordained Native Evangelist.

Moulvi Imad-ud-dîn has continued his literary labours throughout the year, and has brought out a short commentary in Urdu on the Book of Revelation, very much after the views of the Rev. E. B. Elliott. He has also been engaged in writing a popular Life of Mohammed. A sermon which he preached in Bait-al-Masih on the text, "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith," and which he was induced to write out, has been sent to the Committee of the Punjab Tract Society for publication. He is now writing a tract on the day of resurrection.

The Pastor of the Native Christian congregation is the Rev. Daoud Singh. No account of his work has reached the Committee. One of the nine newly-baptized was a native of Amritsar, a young man of some influence, belonging to the shopkeeper class.

Mr. Keene did not allow the winter to pass away without some personal effort for the evangelization of the rural districts:—

In February and March I made a short tour of about six weeks, in the district, with the special object of visiting those places where any Christians were living, or where I had heard there were individuals seeking after the truth. The marked difference in the effects of Sikhism and Mohammedanism on the spirit of the lower orders in the villages struck me very forcibly; and the contrast was very unfavourable to the religion of the false prophet. Observation and experience, however, have taught me that, supposing, for instance, a case of two converts of equal parts and depths of piety—the one formerly a Mohammedan, the other a Hindu or Sikh—the probability is that the former will prove a far more useful member of the Church of Christ than the latter.

Comparison, in a Missionary point of view, between Sikhs and Mohammedans.

Mr. Keene has also under his superintendence the Lady Lawrence Memorial Schools. These are eight in number, with an average attendance of 235 girls; but it has not yet been found possible to supply them with competent Christian teachers. The schools for boys and young men are in number eight—one main school, five branch schools in the city, and two out-station schools at Shandiata and Narawala. It is with great thankfulness to God that the Committee can report that these schools have this year yielded visible spiritual fruit.

Mr. Townsend Storrs writes as follows:—

There are now rather more than 150 boys in the main school; but considering the healthiness of the season, the attendance has been decidedly less this year than it was last. I can account for this in no other way than by attributing it to the baptisms we have had in the school this year. Soon after I arrived, two of the masters were baptized—one an English teacher, a very respectable young man, a native of Amritsar, and formerly a pupil in the school; the other a vernacular teacher, trained in the training school of the Christian Vernacular Education Society. These were followed by the baptism of one of the branch school teachers, a respectable young Sikh, also formerly a pupil in the school. After these baptisms a considerable number of boys left the school, but most of these have now returned. Their effect on the school is rather seen in the diminution of the number of admissions. There are now four Christian teachers, besides myself, in the main school. All of them are, I believe, conscientious men, and exert a good influence on the school. School is always opened with prayer, the boys being encouraged to join with us as far as they can; all, of course, standing up while prayer is going on. Also a certain time is set apart every day for instruction in the holy Scriptures, all other work being stopped at that time. I myself three times a week read the Bible with the first two classes in English; twice a week I give a Scripture lesson in Hindustanî to two of the lower classes; and once a week, on Saturday, I give a lesson to the assembled school. At present I am going through some of the leading evidences of Christianity. The other Christian teachers also give daily Scripture lessons to different divisions of the classes. In secular subjects we educate our boys to the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, and we have adapted our (secular) course in nearly every particular to that in use in the Government schools. The rules at present in force in the Punjab with regard to grants-in-aid almost compel us to do so; but we also think the course good, and are glad to follow it.

In the five Branch schools there are nearly 600 boys. These branch schools were originally what we call in the Punjab "Panda's schools," i.e., schools in which the sons of shopkeepers are taught native accounts. We have made these our own by paying the Panda according to the number of boys in his school, and putting in an Urdu and English teacher, who takes the lead, the Panda acting as a kind of assistant. In each one also religious instruction is given. I attach great importance to these schools, for by them we reach a class of natives which seem hitherto to have been little affected by Christianity. In a large commercial city like Amritsar, English education is not valued to the same degree as it is in a place like Lahore, where there is comparatively little trade, but, on the other hand, many English offices. We are therefore driven to make use of these schools, if we would influence the education of the native boys of the city to any extent. In adapting these schools to our own purposes, we do not forget their original object, which is to train boys to shop accounts; and so we do not insist on any boys learning English—though not a few do so of their own accord—but only make the reading of Urdu compulsory, and, of course, teach the Scriptures or lessons from them in each one. Besides one regular branch school teacher, who is a Christian, two other Christians have been employed in teaching Scripture in these schools, taking the boys in divisions, in such a manner that each division has a lesson three times a week. One of the Christian masters of the main school goes round continually to inspect the schools, and reports to me as he finds things going on. I myself go round about once a quarter, and have periodical examinations of the senior classes conducted before me.

There is much to encourage us and much to disappoint us in our schools. Considering the prevalence of the very worst sins in our city, and the addiction of natives generally to lying and deceit, it is a matter of thankfulness to think that at least some of the boys live, on the whole, moral lives, and have some idea of truth and honour. There are at least a few, I really hope, who do believe Jesus to be the Christ, the Saviour of the world; but they have not courage to confess Him, or, if they confess their belief in Him before us and those who they know share their belief, cannot make up their minds to seal their confession by baptism. There are more than a few, I think, in whom there is some faint struggling after better things. Some of the elder boys have asked Mr. Bateman and myself to give them further Scriptural instruction, and will kneel down with us in prayer. Indeed, only a few days ago my first class, before going in for the Entrance Spiritual position of unbaptized students in the Amritsar school.

Examination of the Calcutta University, after I had been speaking to them on the necessity of avoiding all unfair means in the examination, and keeping from all mischief in Lahore, and also had been giving them a few hints as to the examination itself, asked me, through the head boy of the class, to pray with them before they went. I might give you many instances of the same kind; masters and boys coming in, as it were, to the very threshold of Christ's Church, and there standing, looking in, unable to make up their minds to go away or to come in. There is one remarkable feature in the school, which my brother may have mentioned to you (I think it is remarkable, for I have not heard of any thing of the kind in any other school in the North); it is the disregard of caste which is shown by many of the elder boys. Before my brother left for England, a number of the boys asked him to have a pic-nic with them, at which they all ate together—Christians, Mohammedans, and Hindus. Since I have had charge of the schools about eighteen boys and masters have had tea with me; at the end of the evening all stayed for family prayer, kneeling down without an exception. We have had some anxiety about the two masters who have been baptized, not from any fear of their going back, but from the very doubtful course they have taken, absenting themselves from church, and endeavouring to show their independence of English Christianity by other similar actions. Feeling rather the want of recognition among ourselves of our union in Christ, and the desirableness of together, as fellow teachers, asking God's blessing on our work, I have just commenced a weekly prayer-meeting before school, and hope also to assemble the Christian teachers, for reading and prayer, at my own house once a month.

Disregard of caste in the Amritsar school.

LAHORE.

The Rev. James Kadshu, an esteemed native brother, still labours at this station, to which the Society was invited by the Presbyterian Missionaries of the place. Attached to Mr. Kadshu's congregation are ninety-six Native Christians, of whom twenty are communicants. During the year there were seven adult baptisms. These numbers are an increase on the preceding year. In reference to evangelistic efforts Mr. Kadshu thus writes:—

The work of the Gospel is going on very successfully: there are several inquirers after the truth. Two of them, learned Moulvis, are very near to be baptized. God willing, their households will be baptized at the same time. The Hindus and Mohammedans withstand the circulation of the Gospel, but all in vain. The penetrating power of the Gospel, which pierceth the heart of man, cannot be resisted by any human power and knowledge. The above-mentioned Moulvis were very bigoted Mohammedans: they strove to the utmost to prove that Jesus Christ is not the Son of God and the Saviour of the world: they said He is merely a prophet. But by the grace of God all their doubts have been removed, and now they are convinced that Christ is the Son of God, and the only Saviour of mankind. Formerly they used to come like roaring lions to attack the Christian religion, and now they come like poor lambs to confirm it.

The new Theological College at this city, originally proposed, and now presided over, by the Rev. T. V. French, was opened on the 21st of November, 1870. Four applicants were admitted, one of them being a Scripture-reader of the Amritsar Mission. Seven others have joined subsequently, raising the whole number to eleven. Mr. French, who is now assisted by the Rev. Robert Clark, thus writes of the delay which had taken place at the commencement of this new effort:—

Theological College at Lahore.

It would to all appearance have been more satisfactory had I been able to report, not the commencement alone, but the full establishment and growing success of our proposed school. But it has so pleased God that in this respect we should encounter many thwartings and disappointments, and trials of faith and patience. On the other hand, favourable testimonies to the urgent necessity of such a work as we have in hand, and expressions of sympathy and heartiest desire for its success on the part of Missionaries and other Europeans, and more especially of the leading and more intelligent Native Christians, have accumulated to a remarkable degree. Meantime, I cannot but be truly thankful for the providential leadings and various circumstances which have shaped my course and guided my plans during the last twenty months. I have been brought into much close contact with nearly the whole of our Punjab Missions, with their Missionaries, Native Pastors, and other influential members, both in the way of familiar converse and personal observation, and also of correspondence. I cannot but add that my respect for them, and expectation of future diffusion of the Gospel through them greatly increased. In the view, too, of preparing and training teachers (if God should entrust me with this serious responsibility and privilege), it will have been serviceable to journey through so many districts, peopled with various races, widely diverse in character, and to have become personally acquainted in some measure with their special condition and needs, and gathered such information on the spot as might be helpful in the selection of agents.

The following extracts from Mr. French's journal give a further account of the work in which he had been engaged meanwhile :—

Missionary labours among Affghan Mohammedans.

I have been able to carry out my purpose of gathering up into a small treatise for the Affghans, in their own language, the substance of what I dwelt upon as largely and earnestly as I could in conversing with and preaching to them, i. e., the unchangeableness, oneness, and perpetuity of God's covenant of grace, planned from eternity, sealed to patriarchs, psalmists, prophets, fulfilled in the life and work, the sufferings and sacrificial death of the Lord Jesus, with all their glorious results, until His appearing in His kingdom—a subject of which they have not the smallest conception, antagonistic to all their dogmas, as well as their most cherished feelings and expectations, except in some dimly disguised and almost ridiculously travestied forms. Otherwise, my work among the Affghans this year has been limited to conversations held in certain caravanserais in Mûltan and Lahore, where Povindas from across the Sulimani range, and a few Cabul horse-dealers and other merchants congregate in the cold season. Greater bitterness of religious animosity and threatening of personal violence I have nowhere experienced than among these people. Yet some tribes among them have been notoriously hot-beds of free-thinking and nurseries of sectarian teachers, so that I cannot believe the more thoughtful and intelligent among them have found rest or contentment in Islam; and I hope that neither myself, nor my brethren who are more wholly assigned to that field, will despair of them, but rather believe we have failed to find the true door to their hearts as yet—have not read their needs aright and in the light of the word and of prayer.

MÛLTAN.

Mûltan is another of the North-India Stations which has been deprived of the services of its Missionary during the year; the Rev. G. Yeates being at home on furlough. The work has been zealously carried on by Mr. Briggs, the schoolmaster. Mr. French was also at Mûltan from early in March, 1870, till the end of June in the same year. The Native Christians number only sixteen; but there have been two adult baptisms in the course of the year. Mr. French thus writes :—

I feel persuaded that Mûltan presents a large and fairly promising sphere of Missionary effort. It was nearly twelve years since I had spent three weeks there with dear Fitzpatrick, and accompanied him to the bazaars daily. We had the honour of being stoned out of one of the suburbs there together by some angry Mohammedans. The congregations now to be gathered are larger than then, though the bitterness is no way mitigated, and great indignation was occasionally expressed at the preaching in the bazaars, at the melas, at the city gates, and by the canal banks. They affected to consider it as a great affront and disrespect to the word of God: but we knew how to construe that feeling. To a large proportion of the people of the city, and I must say of the residents also, we seemed as the very "offscouring." But this is a heritage from the Apostles which we must count to be "all joy," hard as it is at all times to do it. The Mollahs, Saiyads, and Makhdûms of Mûltan seem all to labour in the very fire to bar out the light of God from entering; yet it was impossible not to feel that there were some hearts which trembled at it and confessed it, and were even being drawn towards it. I cannot forget one Mollah, a great enemy of the truth, who ended a long conversation, the sequel of several, by saying to me, "Pray for me that I may be led into God's truth; pray for me with your heart and soul. Will you promise me to do this?" A great humiliation this indeed for a proud Mollah to descend to.

God's word encountering and overcoming furious opposition.

The Anglo-vernacular School has 273 pupils. It is thus noticed in the Calcutta Report:—

Mr. Briggs devotes six hours daily to the School, besides his other work, and has been gladdened by the conversion of one of his pupils to Christianity. This was Allah Taway, a young Mohammedan, who had to undergo much domestic persecution in consequence. His baptism caused great excitement in the city (he was the first native of Mûltan baptized in the place), and his return to Mohammedanism was publicly prayed for in nineteen of the mosques. He is now a student in the Vernacular Educational Society's Institution at Amritsar.

Conversion of a Mohammedan at Mûltan.

Respecting Mr. Yeates' efforts to establish Christian schools in the neighbouring districts, Mr. French writes as follows:—

The schools at Shujabad and Bahawalpur have been much appreciated by the people, and are beginning to produce results. A Christian Bengali master at the latter place had a little band of three youths from the school, who met him for prayer almost daily early in the year, and for service on the Sunday. They would not be satisfied, though Hindus of caste, without coming to drink tea with me at Chakarbatti's house. It was a little tea-party I cannot forget. Two of the three, being resolved on baptism, tried to effect their escape across the Sutlej to Mûltan to be received into Christ's Church there; but were seized in the way and brought back and subjected to the strictest oversight.

Persecution of Hindu candidates for baptism at Bahawalpur.

For one, his father bought a shop, and compels him to sit there within eyesight the whole day, and never to go anywhere alone.

During the winter of 1869-70, Mr. French went on a preaching tour in one of the very districts where these schools have been introduced :—

While in charge of the Mûltan Mission I gladly embraced the opportunity of journeying in the Bahawalpur territory—a long narrow strip of country stretching along the left bank of the Sutlej down to its junction with the Indus, and, at its greatest breadth, reaching to the great desert which separates it from Bikanir and the other Rajpût States. I visited several of its chief towns, some of them twice, both holding long conversations and discussions with the Mollahs and chief men, and also carrying on the usual bazaar preaching, often to crowded congregations; the more so, as it was almost untouched ground, as regards Missionary effort, lying at a considerable distance from any Mission. My intercourse with the Mollahs there was very encouraging, and often affecting, I may almost say edifying. The word seemed to come with much freshness and power to some of them, and to awaken much thoughtful inquiry, and deep searching of heart. I am very desirous to find a few days to visit them again, coveting, as I do, and as every Missionary must, the fulfilment to himself of our Lord's precious words. "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal."

Solemn and interesting discussions with Mohammedan Mollahs.

DERAJÂT.

The Rev. D. Brodie, much to his own and the Committee's regret, is still without a European fellow-labourer in this Mission. The native flock consists of thirty persons, eight of whom are communicants. Mr. Brodie gives no account of their general condition, but speaks as follows of one of their number :—

The convert Abdûl Masih, and his family, of whom I wrote you a long account during the past year, still continue to adorn the doctrine of God their Saviour. After the fullest inquiry, I am persuaded he has lost his all by becoming a Christian, and I am greatly rejoiced to witness in him an earnest desire for the welfare of his countrymen, shown in his omitting no opportunity to speak to them of what he himself has experienced, and in entertaining all to the utmost of his power, who come for the purpose of inquiring. I rejoice over him, and long for time to go and preach to the people of Esakheyl, from which place he comes.

There are one or two inquirers, for whom the prayers of those who read this Report are requested :—

The first was a man who had purchased some tracts in Lahore or Mûltan, and read them. I discovered this by noticing his readiness in understanding the subject of our conversation. He was, I consider, a most hopeful searcher after truth, and ought not to be lost sight of. On the same journey another man, whose case is yet more interesting than the former, meeting us as if by accident, likely by design, some days after we had visited his village, where we had met with no encouragement, entered into conversation, and at last asked for a book which he could read. I lent him an Arabic Testament, which, two or three months afterwards, he came all the way to Dera, fifteen miles, to return, and ask for further instruction. I now lent him an Arabic Bible complete, and prayed that God would lead him to the truth. The adhesion of such a man would be to us a tower of strength, and he ought to be watched over. Again, an inquirer from Peshâwar came on a visit to Bannu, called upon the master of the school there, and subsequently, by his boldness in confessing his faith before all, brought together a number of Mohammedans, who discussed with him and the schoolmaster the merits of their respective creeds.

Mohammedan inquirers beyond the Indus.

Upwards of 250 boys are receiving instruction in the schools; but Mr. Brodie is much grieved by his inability to procure a Christian head-master.

The branch medical Mission at Tank, under the care of a Native Christian doctor, enjoys evident proofs of God's blessing. Mr. Brodie thus describes the labours of this faithful native brother :—

From early morning till mid-day, or later if necessary, the native doctor is unceasingly employed prescribing for, and, with the aid of helpers, dispensing medicines to all comers. After his first or mid-day meal he has a constant succession of visitors till late at night. So established has this custom become, that it is commonly said there are two katcherris or courts in Tank, one that of the Nawâb, and another the doctor's. In the summer, under the shade of an enormous peepul tree, and in the cold weather round a fire in the compound, as many as ten to thirty persons congregate at a time, to whom he has constant opportunities of preaching the Gospel, and that in such a way, free from the excitement and ill feeling so often consequent upon bazaar preaching, as to obtain for it a patient hearing. Of course amongst these the indoor patients always form a part, and they are composed chiefly of Povindahs and hillmen who come from great distances.

PESHÂWAR.

The Missionaries engaged at this station are the Rev. T. R. Wade and the Rev. T. P. Hughes, the Rev. W. Ridley having been compelled by sickness to return to England. Among the native helpers there is enumerated Honorary Catechist Babu J. L. It is to be hoped the number of such labourers will be increased. The Native Christian community numbers seventy persons, of whom twenty-eight are communicants. The Local Missionary Report gives no general view of their condition, but contains an interesting account of one remarkable member of the congregation, who died during the year, and who had at one time been an Affghan brigand.

Diláwar Khán enlisted in the Corps of Guides, and soon settled down to the life of a disciplined soldier, and became most attached to English rule. He was present with his regiment at the siege of Delhi. He first heard the Gospel preached in the streets of Peshâwar by the late Colonel Wheler, who also gave Diláwar a copy of Dr. Pfander's Mizán-ul-Haqq. He soon decided to embrace Christianity and was baptized by the Rev. T. H. Fitzpatrick, at Peshâwar, May 23rd, 1858. The same independence of character was manifested by him when a Christian as when a brigand on the Attock road. It was not surprising that such an one should have been misunderstood. There were many, both amongst Europeans and natives, who thought him more "a free-thinker" than a Christian. But old Diláwar was a firm believer in the truth of Christianity. For some years he had not been a communicant; but about two years before his death he wished to be admitted, and ever afterwards attended when in Peshâwar. There was not a more devout worshipper in the congregation than Diláwar Khán. And whenever his opinion was sought on matters affecting our small native community, it was as full of the Spirit of Christ as it was of good sense and sound judgment. Those who watched his Christian character closely, could observe in him a gradual growth in grace.

A remarkable Native Christian.

The evangelistic efforts of the Mission become every year more and more aggressive. In addition to the usual bazaar preaching, regular itinerations have been made amongst the villages. With very few exceptions, the Missionary has been well received, and his message attentively listened to. During the year there have been four decided inquirers after the truth, who give more or less hope of their deciding for Christ. One illustrative extract may be given from Mr. Hughes's journal. The incident described took place during an itineration:—

One day I was invited to spend the evening at the guest-house, where the Khán had provided a most sumptuous dinner and invited a number of guests to meet me. Some of them were guests from a distance who were passing through the village. We dined quite in the Afghán fashion, all seated on the floor, and not a single knife and fork to be had. I did my best to make myself agreeable, and related my share of tales. With the exception of a few allusions, I carefully avoided the subject of religion, for the Khán had promised me that he would invite me to meet the same people in the morning for the purpose of religious discussion. I left this evening party at rather a late hour, having really enjoyed myself much. In the morning the Khán, true to his promise, sent for me, and when I arrived I found a large number collected and seated on charpoys. They all rose very respectfully when I arrived, and the Khán very kindly offered me a chair; but this I refused and said that I preferred sitting on a charpoy. The two Mollâhs who had been selected to discuss with me were Sufis (mystics). I read and expounded the 3rd chapter of St. John, and they both professed to agree with every word of it. They were delighted when they heard my views on the doctrine of the new birth, and said they did not wish to differ from the views I had expressed, as they so nearly resembled their own. At this the general audience were rather surprised and were disposed to interfere, but the Khán insisted upon their keeping quiet. I then pointed out to my Sufí friends that there was a connection between this new birth and faith in Christ's atonement, as was evident from the 14th and 15th verses of the chapter (as Moses lifted up, &c.). In this they also agreed, and replied that every prophet had become a sacrifice, even Mohammed. There had been a sacrifice of self. This I denied, and, of course, did not find it difficult to prove that in no way did Mohammed sacrifice self, but that his life was one of self. I concluded by showing that Christ was the Lamb sacrificed and spoken of by the prophets from Adam to Malachi, and that it was this sacrifice which the Koran ignored.

A religious discussion with Sufí mystics.

Under the head of Schools the Missionaries report as follows:—

The cholera and fever epidemics at the close of last year seriously affected the numbers on the rolls; but during the present year there has been an increase, and there is now the usual attendance. Up to the time of his death, the Rev. J. W. Knott took an active part in the school tuition and his name will long be remembered with affection by those who were thus brought under his influence.

The Girls' School has suffered a very great loss in Mrs. Ridley's removal. Since Mrs. Ridley's departure Mrs. Hughes has taken the superintendence, and has been assisted by our head catechist's wife.

For the furtherance of Female Christian Education, and the establishment of a Female Normal School, the Mission received the liberal donation of 500*l.* from the late Miss Harriet Usborne of Southampton. The Report proceeds:—

In the Boys' main School two students are preparing for the entrance Examinations of the Calcutta University. In December last one of our students passed in the 2nd Class of the University Examination, and has since been engaged as an English master. In April last Major General Norman, one of the earliest friends of the Mission, visited and examined the Boys' School, and kindly wrote the following remarks in the school journal:—"It has been most gratifying to me to visit this school conducted by Christian Missionaries in the heart of the bigoted Mohammedan city of Peshâwar. Twenty-one years ago when I first came to Peshâwar, on its occupation, it would have seemed idle to dream of the possibility of such a thing; but in less than five years from that time a Mission to the Afghans was started, and the school is one of the satisfactory results of the efforts then begun and of the subsequent labours of devoted men." His Excellency the Viceroy also visited the school, and expressed his satisfaction "at the good order in which he found the Institution, and which showed the care and earnestness with which it had been carried on."

GENERAL VIEW.

In the statistical tables for the South India Mission for the year 1869 there were some inaccuracies, and it is therefore difficult to compare that year either with the year that followed it or with its predecessor. Comparing, however, the years 1868 and 1870, it appears that during the two years the communicants increased from 9,530 to 10,124, and the adherents generally (baptized and catechumens) from 53,805 to 54,585. Of this increase, about 120 of the communicants, and 500 of the adherents, are attributable to the adoption by the Society of a previously existing native congregation at Ootacamund, and to the transfer to the Madras itinerancy of four small congregations previously connected with the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. These two years, therefore, have not been a period of any large accessions from among the heathen. The increase in the number of communicants is larger in proportion, and indicates (it is hoped) the advancing intelligence of the Native Christians and their growing appreciation of the means of grace. It will, however, be an alarming symptom if the absence of extension should continue. May God avert it!

The Native Church.

The Native Church in Madras consists of four congregations connected with the Native Church Council, and one (Royapuram) still under the charge of one of the Society's Missionaries.

Of the four congregations connected with the Native Pastorate a very interesting Report has been drawn up by the Church Council itself. From December, 1868, to September, 1870, the number of baptized Christians had increased from 561 to 596, and the communicants from 259 to 277. Between January 1st, 1870, and September 30th of the same year, there were twelve adult baptisms. The Report above referred to gives the following account of the first beginning of the plan now in operation :—

History of a Native Church Council.

I. The Madras Native Church Council held its first meeting at the Church Mission House on January 25, 1868. Its members were three English Missionaries, three Native Pastors, and three Native Laymen, these last having been elected some months previously by the Native Congregations. There was a re-election of members in the following year, when a fourth lay-member was added, in order that each of the four congregations might have a representative in the Council. One of the English Missionaries was appointed by the Church Missionary Society to be Chairman, and one of the Native Laymen by the Council to be Secretary; and the Church Fund having been placed in Messrs. Arbuthnot's bank, it was resolved that the bankers be requested to honour only such cheques as had the joint signatures of the Chairman and Secretary. The Meetings of the Council are held in the vestry of the Church Mission Chapel, and were at first monthly, but since July 1869 they have been held once in every two months. Five members are necessary to form a quorum, of whom one must be an English Minister, one a Native Minister, and one a Layman.

The pecuniary resources of the Pastorate are thus described :—

II. The Church Fund at the disposal of the Council is supplied from three sources, the contributions made in the previous year from each of the Congregational Funds, the Interest of the sums invested in former years as an Endowment Fund, and the Monthly Grant from the Church Missionary Society. Of these sources of supply, the annual contributions from the congregations have been as follows :—

				Rs.
Contributed in	1866	expended in	1868	330
Do.	1867			520
Do.	1868	do.	1869	961
Do.	1869	do.	1870	764
Do.	1870	to be expended in	1871	739

The Interest of the Endowment Fund amounts to about Rs. 220 per annum. The Council, at the request of the congregations in the Southern Pastorate, are about to invest an additional Rs. 100, taken from the annual contribution of that Pastorate. They will be happy to receive special donations for this purpose, on the understanding that the contributions to the Church Fund are not diminished.

The actual amount received in each year from the Church Missionary Society has been as under:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
In 1868	3,600	0	0
In 1870 (estimated)	2,400	0	0

The same Report thus refers to the annual reduction of cost to the Society:—

Missionary expenditure diminished by the employment of a voluntary catechist.

The annual diminution of the grant from the Church Missionary Society to the Church Fund has been in each case at the suggestion of the Council itself. Although the contributions from the Native Church have rather diminished than increased, we have been able to ask for less aid from the Church Missionary Society by a diminution of the agency employed. This has been effected in the following way. In 1868, one of the assistant catechists returned in ill health to Tinnevelly. Instead of seeking another paid agent in his place, Mr. Sattianâdan, in whose pastorate he was employed, succeeded in securing, with Mr. Macdonald's permission, the aid of one of his school inspectors, who on Sundays acts as catechist to the congregation, thus enabling Mr. Sattianâdan, with the help of a reader, to arrange for two services in each of his two congregations. During the year 1870, a still greater reduction of agency has been effected; not however before the subject had received a thorough discussion in the meetings of the Council. Mr. Theophilus, one of the pastors, in February resigned his connexion with the Church Missionary Society, and thus ceased to be a Pastor of the Native Church. It was resolved to unite his congregation with that hitherto under Mr. Sandosham, in the same way as two congregations are united under Mr. Sattianâdan, and thus to form one Black Town (Northern) pastorate.

It will be gathered from the preceding paragraph that the three original Native Pastors in the Council were Mr. Sattianâdan, Mr. Theophilus, and Mr. Sandosham. Besides the resignation of Mr. Theophilus, a further change took place during the year 1870, thus described in the Report:—

One of the chief matters that have come before the Council has been the supply of the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Sandosham. He was compelled by failure of health to return to Tinnevelly, at first on sick leave for three months, and than for a permanence. The Council were truly sorry to lose his valuable services. We are thankful, however, to say that his place has for the present been filled by a man of long mission experience. The Church Missionary Society Committee having given the Council the opportunity of recommending their own candidate, we chose the Rev. V. Simeon, of Palamcotta, who, with the Rev. E. Sargent's kind consent, agreed to accept the post for a limited time, and was accordingly presented to the Bishop for this charge by the Committee.

The following extracts from the Report will also be read with interest :—

We are thankful to learn that it is no unusual thing for members of the congregations both to accompany native preachers when preaching to the heathen in the public thoroughfares, and, more than this, to take part themselves in actual preaching.

Madras congregations have not as a rule of late years increased, at least by accessions from heathenism. We are thankful to be able to report in our four congregations as many as twelve adult baptisms during the last nine months. One of these presented some features of special interest, which we extract from a statement published in September last by the (Native) minister who baptized him.

"The case of a young man baptized last Sunday is somewhat interesting. He is head servant in a gentleman's house, and about 21 years of age. When a little boy, he received his education in a vernacular school belonging to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, from which he obtained a considerable amount of knowledge of Scripture. He came to me two years ago, expressing a desire for baptism. I asked him to wait, in order that I might have time to test his knowledge and character. About a fortnight ago, he again came to me earnestly requesting baptism. I examined him. He answered almost all the questions put to him on the leading facts and truths of the Bible. I proposed therefore to baptize him at once. His mother came to me one evening, and threatened me with the consequences if I ventured to baptize him. Another individual sent me an anonymous letter to the effect that I should be prosecuted if I attempted to baptize him. The young man was received into the Church by baptism last Sunday, in the presence of a large and attentive congregation."

Three other interesting adult baptisms which took place in connexion with the Native Pastorate are thus described by the Rev. P. S. Royston :—

We had yesterday, November 20, a service of more than usual interest, at Trinity Chapel, John Pereira's, under the charge of our Native Pastor, Mr. Sattianâdan. It was the occasion of the baptism of three adult persons—a Mûdeliar of Sadras with two children of eight and ten years ; a respectable young man of this town ; and a very interesting caste widow and her daughter from Sadras. The Mûdeliar, a man of very respectable connexions, was led some ten years ago to study the Scriptures through what he had read in a child's vernacular school-book. One of the converts of our Palamcotta school, now a native surgeon, when at Sadras two or three years ago, had some earnest religious conversation with him, and he subsequently became acquainted with Mr. Sattianâdan and his family when visiting Sadras for a change of air. But till a few days ago he did not see his way clear to confess Christ openly, though inwardly convinced of the truth of the Gospel. His widowed aunt, the owner, it is said, of some 200,000 rupees, offered to make him her heir at once, having previously intended to have adopted his son, the only male child in the whole family. But the grace of God has prevailed, and he has given up all—house, home, aunt, wife, brothers, and property, and now, with his two very intelligent children, has publicly "put on Christ."

Remarkable conversions brought about by Native agency.

Singularly enough, it was his (now alienated) wife who brought the widow I have mentioned to Mrs. Sattianâdan when at Sadras. This widow was, after her religion, a woman of extraordinary devoutness, and a real seeker after God. She was found by Him, and, under the kind and wise teaching of Mrs. Sattianâdan, has been led, amid much trial and opposition and loss of property, to cast in her lot with His people. I hope she will in due time become a valuable zenana teacher, being not only very intelligent and desirous of doing good, but very winning and judicious in her ways.

The third is the brother-in-law of a woman of respectable position in society, who was brought to the knowledge of the truth in her own house under Mrs. Sattianâdan's teaching.

It has already been noticed that the native congregation at Royapuram is still in direct connexion with the Society. The Rev. R. C. Macdonald has charge of it. But to quote Mr. Macdonald's own words:—

The Royapuram congregation has been really worked by our senior catechist, Mr. Nallatamby. He preaches in the church, holds prayer meetings, visits the sick, attends the hospital, preaches in the streets, keeps the accounts, and attends to the details of Mission work. I attend to church offices, try and preach once on Sunday, and act as treasurer of the congregational funds. The hand of death has been very busy with this little congregation this year.

Vernacular Schools.

The Vernacular schools in or near Madras were for the most part under the charge of the Rev. R. C. Macdonald until the close of the year, when Mr. Macdonald returned to England, being relieved of his Missionary duties by the Rev. W. P. Schaffter. These schools are thirteen in number, containing 545 scholars, of whom 471 are boys. Mr. Macdonald also superintends ten similar schools supported by the Christian Vernacular Education Society and other friends, containing upwards of 500 children. Mr. Macdonald thus writes on the subject :—

Vernacular education, when carried on in a Presidency town, labours under peculiar disadvantages. The thirst for English education is so great, that none but the boys of the poorest classes will attend the schools; and the nature of the education that is imparted is so little valued, that few, even of those who might possibly be able to pay a little towards it, are willing to pay for it. Anglo-vernacular education would not, however, I believe, afford such good openings for strictly speaking evangelistic work. Though my attention has been given to the endeavour to make our schools thorough educational establishments, I have endeavoured always to keep up the Missionary character of the schools. The amount of help drawn from Government shows progress in the former respect; but as a large share of marks are always assigned by me to Bible subjects, there has been a corresponding amount of progress in this latter respect also. For the lowest classes I have prepared a Catechism, which forms a useful appendix to the Government subjects. That for the second grade, in which the children are only learning the simple rules of arithmetic, contains more than 1,000 questions on the Old Testament history and the early life of Christ. I have adopted the plan of giving questions but supplying no answers, so that the masters may be led to study for themselves, and the children may not reply in one set form. Besides my Catechism, embracing sixty pages of Bible questions, the children also learn six Psalms, and study the second Catechism of the Christian Vernacular Education Society.

Missionary vernacular schools in Madras.

Mr. Macdonald adds that, in order to render primary vernacular education effective in an evangelistic point of view—

A Missionary should be set apart for this one single work, and have this one single duty. With a few good school inspectors, all of whom should have been trained as catechists and laboured as such, his work would assume a thoroughly evangelistic nature. His schoolrooms afford him convenient centres for meeting inquirers, open-air preaching can be carried on most effectively from the very doors, and the teachers employed would form a noble band of preachers.

How to make vernacular schools evangelistic.

Schools carried on under the circumstances thus described, would meet with the Committee's warmest sympathy. But Mr. Macdonald's efforts have already yielded some spiritual fruit.

I mentioned in a former letter the baptism of one of my elder boys, whom I baptized some time ago. Another boy has also been baptized, and is now a teacher in the Church Missionary Society's employ.

Harris School.

This school was founded for the purpose of reaching the Mohammedans. Its Principal, the Rev. E. Sell, thus describes its present condition:—

As far as the school is concerned there has been progress. The numbers have increased, and the standard is being gradually raised, though in this respect we have not yet regained the position we lost in 1868. More attention has been paid to the study of the vernaculars, and more secular and religious instruction conveyed through that medium than in former years. The study of Arabic has been introduced, and with, I believe, a good effect. No boy who has entered that class has left the school during the past year.

Mr. Sell urges that greater efforts should be made for the evangelization of the Mohammedans in Madras:—

Qualifications for work among the Mohammedans.

We need a man who should devote his whole time to social intercourse with the Mohammedans, who would become acquainted with their literature, their traditions, their thoughts. He should know Arabic and Persian, if he wishes to be received as a learned man by them: his prestige will depend more upon that than upon his knowledge of western science and art.

Itinerancy.

The Madras Itinerancy has now some Christian congregations attached to it. These have been transferred to the Church Missionary Society from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The Rev. David Fenn, who is now alone in the Itinerancy, thus reports of them:—

The congregations handed over to us we have found, as we were warned we should find them, a somewhat discouraging charge. An account by the late Rev. P. P. Schaffter, in the Church Missionary Record of 1831, describes his first visit in the previous year to Mêvalur and its neighbourhood, when above 300 Roman Catholic Pariahs, of four different villages, placed themselves under instruction. Two of these villages would seem to have soon afterwards fallen away. For several years past the number has stood at about 200, who are, with scarcely an exception, now gathered together in Mêvalur. Out of fifty houses in their hamlet, only five or six belong to heathen. I am not aware that ever since they first joined there have been any accessions from the heathen. There have been a few from the Roman Catholics, but these are for the most part owing to intermarriages. I am trying to stimulate them to do something for self-support, and to train them for a native pastor. They are not badly off, though of low caste [when heathens]: they have cattle, and cultivate land on their own account. The place is twenty miles from Madras, near the direct road. The other congregations at Palaveram and Pûnamalli (each twelve miles from Madras), and that at Tripasore (which is outside our itinerancy, but easily reached by rail), are composed of persons who hardly seem part of the indigenous population, some of them being servants, some pensioned sepoys, or the widows of such, with their respective families. Many of them are utterly careless, lead immoral lives, and never attend church; so that out of above eighty on the list at Pûnamalli, I feel I cannot return much above fifty, the rest being quasi heathen. Some have also been struck off the list at Mêvalur on the same account.

The whole number of Native Christians in connexion with these congregations is 305, of whom 84 are communicants.

During the year 1869 the Rev. G. M. Gordon had been associated with Mr. Fenn. Mr. Fenn thus speaks of Mr. Gordon's removal:—

Feeling that our field hardly offered scope enough for two English Missionaries, Mr. Gordon was anxious, if his health permitted, to join Mr. French in the North-west Provinces, and thus help to fill the gap caused by Mr. Knott's death. The Calcutta medical men were, however, more peremptory than even those at Madras, in ordering him out of India. May his self-denying devotion of himself, and in many ways of his substance also, to Mission work, and the testimony which he has borne in many an English pulpit in South India, as well as in many a heathen village, bring forth much fruit to God's glory!

The Committee are happy to add that Mr. Gordon having visited England, has regained his health, and is now (June 1871) on his way to North India.

Mr. Fenn is of opinion that the field of itinerancy might be enlarged locally and thus furnish employment for two Missionaries; though he admits that, in the dearth of men, this does not seem expedient at present.

The preaching to the heathen has been carried on as in former years, but has been supplemented by some additional efforts of other kinds, thus described by Mr. Fenn:—

I have no conversions from heathenism to record. We are making special efforts among the villages nearest to the Christian congregations, in the earnest hope that Christianity may spread from them as from centres. Among other plans we are trying, according to a system adopted with much success near Calcutta, to employ heathen village schools as instruments for making known Christianity. An anna per head is promised the master for every child in his school whom he will allow to be taught some lesson in Scripture. After several futile attempts, we found the masters of two schools in villages near Pûnamalli willing to try the system. There are about twenty children in each. Printed questions in Tamil on the early history both of the Old Testament and New Testament, prepared by Mr. Macdonald for his Madras cycle of schools, were given to the master. One of the readers visits the schools weekly, both to help in giving the lesson and to see that the children reported are bonâ fide scholars. It is encouraging to see the interest taken thus far (we have been working there for about three months) by the fathers and mothers of the pupils when I go to examine them. It seems quite to open a door for preaching the Gospel.

Besides the usual preaching and conversation in the streets of the village, morning and evening, I have been urging the readers to try to get into conversation with individuals, as they walk along the roads, inviting their companion, whoever he may be, freely to utter all his mind on the subject of religion. The young men will thus more clearly perceive what is the state of feeling on the subject among the people they have to preach to, and what arguments and illustrations are most telling. Some of these conversations have been committed by them to paper, and read at our monthly meetings, and have proved interesting and instructive. They have conversed in this way with Roman Catholics and Mohammedans, as well as with heathen.

Mr. Fenn makes the following interesting remarks on the connexion of the itinerancy with past and future Missionary labours in and near Madras:—

Prospects of the Madras Itineracy.

I wish to say a word or two in conclusion about the position which the itinerancy occupies. It seems to me an important position. It maintains a witness for Christ over a considerable tract of country round Madras, which, but for it, would be almost entirely neglected by the Christian Church. In former years efforts were made in various ways by different Societies to branch out from Madras, but they have been all but abandoned; and we are now taking up the torch which has been dropped by our predecessors, and striving to light up the gloom and darkness of heathenism, and to re-kindle, if it may be, impressions which had been made, but would die out if not revived. It deserves, too, to be borne in mind, that in thus making a special effort to reach the village community round Madras, we are aiming at what would appear to be the most vulnerable part of Hindu society; at all events it is the part which has yielded the largest accessions to the Christian Church. We may reasonably hope that if success is granted us in these villages, as has been granted in late years in those of Arcot, the Kistna district, and other places, it could hardly fail to react upon Madras itself, kindling the Native Christian community there with fresh Missionary zeal, and forcing home upon the consciences of the heathen masses the appeals which are made to them by European and by native preachers in the schools and in the streets of the city.

Ootacamund.

This Mission has been recently established for the good of the Tamil population of the place, consisting largely of servants of European families. It receives considerable pecuniary help from the European residents. The native minister, the Rev. Anthony James, gives the following account of his work:—

The number of the congregation is somewhat fluctuating. The number on the rolls is 202, of whom communicants are 85. These are scattered in different parts, there being in Ootacamund only 189. Those at out-stations are obliged to come to Ootacamund for christening their children, and for marriages. In case of any death happening, they themselves read the burial service, and bury their dead. I am thankful to say that the members of the congregation are improving in attending divine services, as well as in their moral conduct. I hold three services during the week, two on Sundays and one on Thursdays, for school-children. The number of attendants on Sunday mornings varies from 64 to 180, and in the evenings from 34 to 60, and the number of communicants from 25 to 64. The Bishop of Calcutta held a confirmation on Sunday, the 23rd October, in our chapel, which became quite crowded with the congregation as well as spectators of other creeds. Thirteen candidates were confirmed. After the confirmation service his lordship gave an interesting lecture on Ephesians iv. 30, "Grieve not the Holy Spirit of God whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption," and the same was interpreted in Tamil by the Rev. Dr. Pope. The congregation liberally subscribe towards their own expenses, averaging fifteen rupees monthly, of which ten rupees go towards the salary of the native minister, and the rest towards other miscellaneous expenses of the church. Three special meetings for prayer are held by me, besides those with single families on my pastoral visits, one on Saturdays at seven P.M. in the church, only for men, another on Thursday evenings, and the third on Friday evenings. The attendants here are about twenty souls, men, women and children.

Mr. James laments the prevalence of drunkenness among the Native Christians. This appears to be a common vice in Ootacamund among the native servants of European families.

Preaching to the heathen is carried on chiefly in the private houses of the European residents to their native servants. It has pleased God to bring in a few from the heathen into his visible Church. One case is specially interesting:—

A family consisting of four souls, and a lad, have been converted, of whom two (husband and wife) were baptized on Easter Sunday, since which they very regularly attend divine service. The lad is a young man who [when a heathen] belonged to the Mûdelly caste, aged twenty-two years. He used to attend one of the prayer-meetings very regularly. On these occasions I tried to impress on him the importance of the Gospel plan of salvation through Jesus Christ, and the folly of heathenism. After a few months, being convinced of his need of a Saviour, he began to attend divine services. On Sunday, the 16th of October, 1870, I preached on the words of the Lord, "Seek ye first the kingdom and its righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matthew vi. 33). While I was in my house after service this young man came up, and asked me to admit him into the Church through baptism at once, "Because," he said, "I should first seek the kingdom of God and its righteousness, as was preached by you." I then pointed out to him the troubles he would have to undergo by his friends and relatives if he were to be baptized. He said he was ready to undergo all that was preached on a previous Sunday, on the words of St. Luke ix. 23, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." He was baptized by me on Wednesday, the 18th of October, and was named Abel in the presence of the congregation and of some heathens and Roman Catholic spectators. His mother disapproving of his being baptized, did not admit him into the house, but made him stay in the verandah, where she gave him meals. On Sunday, as I was in the vestry, the mother came to me crying, and stated that she had lost her son, as if through death, and I was the cause of it. Upon addressing her and pointing out similar instances, she said that the time might come for her also to be a Christian; but she is still enticing her son to fall back from the truth. It is only He that opened his heart, as He did to Lydia of Thyatira, that can make him stand steadfast in the faith that he has confessed, and to this effect we should all send our united supplications to the throne of grace.

Mr. James, not being an agent of the Native Church, but being paid directly from the funds of the Society, is under the control of one of the Society's European Missionaries at Madras.

II. Tinnevelly.

The Mission is divided into 14 districts, viz. 1, 2. Palamcotta and Alvarnêri; 3, 4, 5, 6. Mengnânapuram, Asirvâdapuram, Sattankulam. Pragâsapuram; 7. Kadâchapuram; 8. Suvisêshapuram; 9. Dohnavur; 10. Paneivilei; 11. Pannikulam; 12. Nallur; 13. Surandei; 14. Sivagâsi.

General.

In the Tinnevelly branch of the South India Mission the statistics for the year 1870, as compared with 1869, stand as follows:—For 1869, communicants 5,986; baptized Christians, 26,668; baptized and candidates together, 38,565. For 1870 the corresponding numbers are 6,186, 27,042, and 38,696. The increase has therefore been small, and under the last of the three heads certainly not more than might be accounted for by the natural increase of the population.

There have been 210 adult baptisms; the remainder of the increase in the number of the baptized (174) must therefore be mainly due to the excess of infant baptisms over deaths. Some difference may have been caused by emigrations and immigrations, which, however, do not appear to have taken place on any large scale. On the whole it seems evident that the year has not been marked by any large accessions of inquirers. It is disappointing to have to make such a statement just after a constitution has been given to the Native Church. Another painful fact to which the notice of the Committee has been directed during the last few months, is the lamentable persistence in the Tamil Christian community of caste distinctions and caste prejudices. This is a point to which the parent Committee must affectionately call the attention not only of the senior Missionaries, but also of such native brethren as Sattianâdan, Gnânamuttu, Cornelius, and Dêvanâyagam. One of the Missionaries makes the following remarks on this subject:—

Caste feeling among Tinnevelly Native Christians.

I think there is only too much reason to fear that caste feeling among our people is growing in intensity. We see it in operation everywhere, and it seems not unlikely that, as the Native Church gets more independent, it will have the effect of splitting it up into caste sections. I am gradually coming to the belief that the speciality, the characteristic feature, in the future Native Church will be its maintenance of caste divisions. I might largely illustrate the uncharitable working of these caste feelings from the Nallur district. I quote one example: Sivalâsamuttiram is the station of a native clergyman. The people, who have been Christians for many years, were, when heathens, Shanars. These refused to allow a good and pious catechist to draw water from their well because [as they alleged] he was not of so high a caste as themselves, and the man must have left the village unsupplied, but that the native clergyman heard of it, and allowed him to make use of his well.

Another instance is more disappointing, in which a native clergyman of long standing was obliged to disappoint bidden clerical guests, because other guests of higher caste refused to join them at the marriage feast. The disappointed pastors were entertained on a subsequent occasion.

God forbid that these fears should be fulfilled! Such a speciality as the maintenance of caste is altogether inappropriate to a community styling itself a Christian Church. A native brother writes on the same topic:—

It appears to me, from all that I have observed, that this distinction is maintained among the Native Christians almost in the same way as among the heathen. Christians are not singular in such points, as their meeting together in one place for worship, their partaking of the Lord's Supper, and the students in the various Christian Institutions publicly eating, without distinction. The heathen also meet together in their festivals, eat ceremonial food without distinction, and even eat with different castes, at least privately, when necessity compels them. All these seeming improvements are not sufficient to destroy caste distinctions and unite the Tamil Christians.

PALAMCOTTA.

Educational Institutions.

The Præparandi, or institution for training catechists, has now been amalgamated with that for training schoolmasters; the new institution thus formed being placed under the charge of the Rev. E. Sargent, who formerly had the Præparandi alone. The past history of the Præparandi is thus reviewed by Mr. Sargent:—

The Præparandi Institution was opened in July, 1851. I remember the prayerful interest which our late dear brother Ragland took in this work, as we again and again discussed the plan in private conference. Since then we have had many joys and successes, but at the same time much to exercise our patience and faith.

God's blessing on the Palamcotta Præparandi Institution.

The Institution opened with 58 students, and to the date of its closing there were 385 in all admitted. Of these, 158 have been employed as spiritual agents; 89 have been employed as schoolmasters; 40 have left of their own accord; 10 have failed from ill health; 15 have been sent home as incapable of learning; 32 have been dismissed for blameable conduct; 17 have died while in connexion with the Institution; 24 have remained to form the new establishment. Of the native helpers in this Institution, three have been ordained to the ministry, and of those who studied as students, 12 have been ordained. These are now acting as pastors in the Native Church in this province. I verily believe that all the men engaged in spiritual work know the truth and preach "the truth as it is in Jesus." So far we may be said to have succeeded, by God's blessing, in our undertaking; and we may look back on the labour, time, and the money expended in this cause as expended well.

The Rev. T. Spratt, who has hitherto presided over the Schoolmasters' Training Institution, writes as follows:—

The changes in our educational institutions, that have been so long pending, have been carried into effect in Palamcotta. Mr. Sargent is now Principal of a Vernacular Institution, in which all the students are to receive a training in the theory and practice of education. It has been decided that all the young men shall, in the first instance, after having completed their course, serve an apprenticeship as schoolmasters. This I consider a very important and beneficial change. Hitherto the young men sent out from the Præparandi Institution were scarcely mature enough for the charge of congregations. A few years' practice at school-keeping will give them time to gain experience, and, at the same time, give the Missionary opportunity for judging of his fitness for the more directly spiritual work of catechist.

The Committee will be glad to hear that the last year of the Training Institution was its most successful year in the Government Examination for Schoolmasters' Certificates.

The formerly existing Anglo-Vernacular School is now somewhat modified. Its standard is raised; a boarding-house for sixty Christian students is attached to it; and Mr. Spratt is its Principal; Mr. W. Cruickshank, the former head-master, having retired. Mr. Spratt thus describes his present duties:—

My own educational work is now conducted in English. I am thankful that the training element has not been eliminated. We propose to make the higher classes go through a course of training as teachers, and hope the Government will continue to help to support twenty such students. This will enable us to meet the increasing demand for English schoolmasters; and our students with a knowledge of English will have open to them a wider sphere of usefulness than they could have with an acquaintance only with the vernacular. We find that some of our masters who have gone over to Ceylon have failed to keep their schools together because of their want of a knowledge of English.

Another feature that is new in my work, and which heightens my interest in it, is the admixture of non-Christian Hindus with our Christians. We have now on our rolls 206 names. Of these about sixty are Christians. You will see from this that the institution has a decidedly Missionary character. Is it not well that the higher-caste heathen should be brought into contact with our Christians, that they may have an opportunity of seeing what the Gospel has done for them? There are many scattered throughout this district, filling important positions as landholders or officials, who were educated by Mr. Cruickshank. Then they had not the opportunity of mixing with our Christians, and knowing what they were. If they had, possibly they would have shown our people more consideration than now they do. Our plan in regard to the mixed classes is for each teacher to open and close his work with a short prayer, the whole class standing during the time. With regard to religious instruction, we endeavour to conduct it as naturally as if there were no heathen present. We hope thus to let them see what Christianity is, and what it requires of Christians. With my own class I am reading Dr. Mitchell's "Letters to Indian Youths on the Evidences of Christianity." The Christian youths under instruction bear a fair share of the expense of their board and tuition. They also have their regular morning and evening prayers.

Mr. W. Cruickshank, who had for nearly twenty-seven years been the head-master of the Anglo-vernacular school, and who had been the instrument of several conversions, has at length reached that age when he thought it desirable to ask relief from duties of so arduous a nature. He retires with an allowance which it is hoped will prove sufficient for his maintenance, on the understanding, according to his own wish, that he will remain in the Mission field, doing such work as he feels that his strength will permit. He is now at Madras, and, writing from that city, has given the following interesting specimens—in some respects painfully interesting—of the feelings entertained by his former pupils towards himself and towards the Gospel which he taught them:—

A visit was paid me before my departure from Palamcotta by two respectable Hindus, former pupils of mine, a Vakeel and a Sheristadar. Their object was to express their regret at my approaching departure. After a little more talk, they rose to go, when I took that opportunity of saying how happy I was to find them conducting themselves as became virtuous members of society; adding, however, that as they still were not Christians there was an imperfection in their character, which they should try to remedy. "Oh, yes," said they, "even that must come about in God's own time." Again, when urged to acknowledge their obligations to Christ, and to love the Saviour, they said, "This, too, is what need not be despaired of." If these amiable persons should, after all, never come to Christ, their case would only furnish another verification of the awful saying enunciated by the inspired Apostle of the Gentiles, that God often passes by the great, and chooses the poor, rich in faith, and heirs to eternal life. Who shall say unto Him, "What doest Thou?"

Gratitude of heathens who were formerly pupils at a Mission School.

I left Palamcotta in October. In travelling to Madras I met at one of the bungalows a former pupil of mine, filling an office of importance. He was the sub-magistrate of the place, and, when he heard of my arrival, waited on me with his respects. He is an intelligent young man, and very sensible of the value of the education he received in the Palamcotta school, lately under my charge, and to which he acknowledged himself indebted for his advancement in life. But when spoken to on the subject of religion, he only acquiesced in what was said on the excellence of Christianity, but showed no disposition to submit himself to its divine Founder. Again, on the same road I was visited by another of my former pupils, the head Gumastah (collector or accountant) of the district, who, observing that the bungalow I occupied was a wretched place, removed me, with my whole party, to a Zemindar's palace, where he furnished us with provisions. Not only this, but as he had invited us to remain another day, he paid my bandy-men, palanquin-bearers and domestic servants the batta expected by them under such circumstances, to compensate them for the loss of their time and any additional expense arising to them out of such detention. This person seemed better disposed towards the Gospel, but has never yet gone beyond approving of it heartily, and longing to be able to profess it. At the close of this portion of my journey I met two more of my former pupils, holding posts of responsibility under Government, like the two already mentioned. One of these was a sub-magistrate and the other a Tahsildar, both of whom waited on me at Trichinopoly, expressing their gratitude for the solid advantages they had derived from the same school.

Gratitude of a Native Christian to his former tutor.

Shortly after my arrival at Madras my dear wife was seized one night with a sudden and severe attack of illness. It was midnight, and Mr. D———, M.B. and C.M., a former pupil of mine, and a convert to Christianity from my late school, but now practising as a private physician, was called in. He not only came immediately, but remained in the house till daybreak; and when, on coming again to see his patient, he was offered the fee he had so well earned, he generously declined it, saying he could not think of accepting any remuneration from his dear old tutor, adding that he was amply repaid for any service he had rendered by the opportunity he had enjoyed of hastening to my assistance.

The Sarah Tucker Institution, which has for its object the training of female Native Agents for the Missionary and the Native Church, continues to be under the care of the Rev. A. H. and Mrs. Lash. Extracts are subjoined from Mr. Lash's Annual Letter :—

Our numbers during last half-year were 62; at present we have 58 in the institution: 28 have left during the year, and 24 have been admitted. In July last we sent up thirty girls for the Government Certificate Examination: the result is not yet published. During the past year we have had some pleasing testimonies to the character and conduct of some of our girls. One Missionary told me that the heathen cooly man, who had been sent from his district to conduct the Institution students safely home for the holidays, remarked that he never saw native women like these: the native women are remarkable for their foolish talking and jesting, but these girls, he said, talked sensibly and about good things, and behaved soberly and properly on the way. It is a subject for congratulation that nearly all our girls who have married, have married trained agents of the Society, and are thus placed in positions of influence, and under circumstances which are favourable to their retaining what they have learnt, and increasing their knowledge, while the desire among young agents to obtain girls trained by us as wives appears to be increasing. We have lost one of our number by cholera; she died during the last holidays in her father's house. She was a girl of sweet and amiable disposition, one of our brightest and most hopeful pupils, having made great progress in her studies during her two years' residence with us. Her essays on Bible subjects were generally good, and on several occasions were considered the best, and entered as such in one of the books kept by me for this purpose, after having been read out before the assembled students. The following is a translation from a notice of her death, sent to me by her father: "She went to church on Sunday, 28th August, 1870, twice, and in the evening was engaged until nine o'clock in reading and explaining a tract, called 'The Three Sisters,' to her mother, and singing hymns she had learned at the Sarah Tucker Institution. After this she went to sleep in her usual health, and in a very happy frame of mind; but at three o'clock she was attacked with cholera and awoke in great pain, and continued in agony until ten o'clock, when she died. When she was suffering most acutely, she turned to her father, and said: 'Sir, in our Bible God says that He will not suffer us to be tried above what we are able; now my strength is failing, pray to Him.' I did so, and then at her request we read to her Exodus xxiii. 20; John xiv. 6; Psalm xxv. 2; Isaiah xxxv. 8, 9. As we read and prayed by her side; suddenly she smiled, and with that smile on her face she passed into the arms of Jesus."

Heathen testimony to character of Native Christian women.

Death of a Christian girl.

A new scheme has been recently introduced, which more closely unites the Sarah Tucker Institution with the Tinnevelly Mission and Native Church generally. A circle of schools has been established in connexion with it throughout Tinnevelly, which Mr. Lash superintends. The expense has been to a large extent borne by the interest of a munificent donation of 1000*l.* from the late Miss Harriet Usborne.

During the few months that have elapsed since I received the Committee's sanction to the "Scheme," I have established three new schools, and three have been connected with the circle of schools under favourable circumstances. The movement is still quite in its infancy, and therefore I think it will be better to wait until next year before I say any thing about the results. These schools are situated—in Palamcotta, one; Alvarnêri, one; Nallur District, one; Paneivilei District, two; Surandei District, one. By means of these schools, and the Institution itself, we have been enabled to find employment for eight girls who have finished their course of study with us. I have to record with much gratitude to God the very kind and cordial support I have received in carrying out my plans from my Missionary brethren, especially Messrs. Sargent, Spratt, and Simmons.

Mr. Lash also hopes to establish girls' schools in several large heathen towns, and especially in the town of Tinnevelly.

The District.

The district, in which there are 4,160 Native Christians, of whom 700 are communicants, is (with the exception of the town of Palamcotta) under the superintendence of a Church Council, of which the Rev. E. Sargent is the Chairman. There have been during the year forty-eight adult baptisms.

Respecting the Church Council, Mr. Sargent writes as follows:—

A vigorous Native Church Council.

The Church Council system has continued to work well. We have had seven meetings during the year, and out of fourteen members of the Council the average attendance has been eleven. The lay members of our Church Council are mostly men in respectable conditions of life, and in Government employ, residing in and near Palamcotta. We generally have tea together before entering on our work, and I trust our intercourse on all such occasions has been profitable. The members from the villages are at present only four, but their number will be increased with the new year. I have been anxious to secure the election of those men only who are honest good Christians, and are likely to interest themselves in the cause of our common Saviour. One of our members from the villages has for several years past been acting the part of catechist to a neighbouring village; and if we could only secure all our members to act in the same way, our progress would be more marked and satisfactory. In the annual letter received from the Home Secretary it was recommended that Church Councils should endeavour to extend their efforts to the evangelizing of the heathen, and not confine their work to Christian congregations. I laid this subject before the Council by circulating the paragraph from the Home Secretary's letter, with my own observations; and the vote has been unanimous that an agent be supported for this specific object; and a man has been engaged who has had large experience in such work.

Of the lay members of this Council—all of them, of course, Native Christians—one is deputy-jailor, another is a renter of municipal tolls, three are Government writers, and one is a cultivator.

Mr. Sargent expresses his opinion that the members of the congregations generally are improving year by year, "especially," he adds, "those on whom a Christian course of education has been brought to bear."

Mr. Sargent thus reports of the schools in the district:—

I regret to say that we do not make so great progress among our people in the education of their children as we could wish, or even that we could expect. Getting the children to attend school is always up-hill work. The desire of making a profit by their labour operates very powerfully on parents who otherwise acknowledge most readily that it is a very important thing to get the young educated; where, therefore, the attendance of the children in school is good, we can almost always conclude that the people of the congregation are in advance of others in intelligence and religious profession.

The school in the town of Tinnevelly is attended by 263 children, chiefly heathen. We have built an additional school-room for 600 rupees, 500 of which were contributed by the people themselves, and yet we have not enough room for the large attendance which regularly assembles. The English department of this school having been separated and made into a new school, under Mr. Huffton as head master, this town is now more efficiently supplied with English tuition than it ever was before. I am glad to be able to state that the present number of pupils is above 170, their rate of fees being, according to the class, 1r., 12ans., 6ans., and 4ans. The word of God is daily read in this school, and forms one of the class subjects.

Our Boys' Boarding School holds a very important place in the work here, allowing as it does for the free exercise of the influence which a religious training is capable of exercising on the young. It is a pleasing fact, in reference to this matter, that while we stand indebted to the Christian sympathy of friends in England for help in other matters, in this kind friends in Melbourne are our only supporters, and these chiefly the children in Sunday schools. The Rev. H. B. Macartney, of Melbourne, has created among the young around him such an interest in Missionary work that above 20 boys are supported by them in my boarding-school, besides two girls in other schools. May this kind caring for others have a reflex action on their own hearts, and thus may the Lord restore their bounty into their bosoms, a hundred fold.

Mrs. Sargent's Girls' Boarding School is also in a prosperous condition.

The visit of the Bishop of Calcutta was one of the events of the year.

This year the Metropolitan of India visited our Mission, and manifested very decided interest in our work. He happened, however, to come at a time when the students of our several institutions were having their holidays, and he therefore saw nothing of our educational work. He admitted three of our native agents to the diaconate with a view to their being engaged as pastors over a limited circle of Christians.

Mr. Sargent's Report concludes with the following weighty testimony:—

A Missionary's view of Missionary work.

In conclusion, I would state generally, with regard to our work, that in itself it is the noblest that could ever employ mortal men. As regards its progress, we see it advancing with sure and steady tread; and as regards our duty in relation to it, the command of God, and the mercies of God, all conspire to urge upon us the necessity of preaching among the heathen the unsearchable riches of Christ. Yea, woe unto us if we preach not the gospel of Christ!

TINNEVELLY TOWN.

The Rev. Jêsudâsen John (son of the well-known Rev. John Dêvasagayam, who died in 1864) is now stationed as pastor in the town of Tinnevelly. Mr. John is assisted by four readers. His pastorate includes a small congregation (chiefly of weavers) in Tinnevelly itself, and four congregations in neighbouring hamlets or villages. The Native Christians attached to it number altogether 477, of whom 102 are communicants. There have been during the year nineteen adult baptisms.

Mr. John thus speaks of the congregation in the town:—

In this large heathen town there are only 73 Christians, viz., 21 men, 21 women, and 31 children. Most of them are weavers. In reference to their conduct I may say they value their Christian privileges, and appear progressing in Scriptural knowledge and in the fear of God. In times of cholera, and in their family afflictions, their heathen friends tried their utmost to draw them back to idolatry, but they stood firm, resisting their most earnest solicitations to apostatize. These Christians are in very trying circumstances, on account of their trade being much reduced to lower rates. Several of them are of a lovely simple Christian character, exhibiting marks of love to their Redeemer, and of desire for the prosperity of the Church of God in this land.

Mrs. John has a Bible class of grown up women, in which she meets with encouragement. The work among the heathen has been continued. Mr. John writes:—

This important part of my work in the town of Tinnevelly and its hamlets, as well as in the out-stations, has been carried on as regularly as possible. The Gospel has been preached in the midst of contempt and mockery in the town. I cannot at present estimate the effect of my preaching. One thing I may say, that the people begin to understand what the Gospel is, that Jesus Christ is the only Saviour of sinners, and that God grants repentance unto life to those that believe on Him, because there is no other name given among men, whereby poor sinners can be saved, except "the name Jesus."

These and other evangelistic efforts have not been without fruit.

Two heathens of respectable connexions in Tinnevelly and Tatchanallur came to me and expressed their desire to be instructed in the Christian religion about a year ago. Michod, our pious Christian doctor, has very often spoken to them of the one thing needful. I mentioned this to Mr. Sargent, who had also conversed with them, and desired me to instruct them and test their sincerity. After well examining their sincerity, the Rev. E. Sargent, I am thankful to say, admitted them into the Church by Christian baptism in October.

Of the other seventeen adults baptized during the year no particulars are furnished. It may be observed that among the 477 Christian adherents, 200 are still unbaptized. Some of the unbaptized are unsatisfactory in almost every respect, very ignorant and very inconsistent, and showing no desire to improve. But they still passively accept Christian instruction, and abstain, so far as is known, from idolatrous practices.

MENGNÂNAPURAM.

The Rev. J. D. Thomas has succeeded his father in this large and important district, which contains no less than 12,614 Native Christians. The communicants number 2,148; and there have been during the year sixty-two adult baptisms. Mr. Thomas has forwarded a most interesting annual letter, from which copious extracts are subjoined:—

I feel deeply thankful to Almighty God for the long and beneficial course of preparation and experience which I have had the privilege to enjoy, in having been associated with my dear father in this Mission for twelve years, which has, in some measure, prepared me for my present responsible position.

It is a very great comfort, and a matter of thankfulness, that I have so large a number of coadjutors in the fifteen native clergymen of this district. At the same time, having a numerous band of ordained men, entails deep responsibility and some anxiety on the Missionary. It is his duty to encourage and advise them in many matters. Last year the Bishop of Madras appointed our senior native clergyman, the Rev. D. Viravagu, to assist my father in superintending the work of the pastors. I am happy to say he still continues to assist me in the same way, and sends a half-yearly report of his inspection direct to his Lordship. The Bishop has also issued a paper, with a series of questions bearing on the sacred offices, &c., performed by each clergyman, which he fills up and returns. Thus the native clergy are brought under the Bishop's immediate ecclesiastical supervision, and he sees whether they have been fulfilling their duties diligently as pastors among their own flocks, and as evangelists among the heathen around. They are thus very perceptibly raised above their former position as catechists under the Missionary; and, at the same time, they are not allowed to suppose that ordination implies less work, but rather as much, and that of a higher character. With the exception of one of them, whose health has suffered greatly for many months, they have, by God's goodness, been able to fulfil their ministry, and that, I trust, to the good of souls. They assemble here regularly once a quarter for united prayer and consultation; breakfasting with us at our family table. During the day, the meeting of the Native Church Council is held for the transaction of business. The Council is composed of the Missionary as ex officio President, of the fifteen native clergymen, and of double their number of lay members, not Mission agents. These councilmen must, however, be communicants, and are chosen by vote of the people of each pastorate as their representatives. They regard their election as quite an enviable honour. It confers a new status upon them, and they feel that they have a voice in the deliberations, that their presence is not a mere empty show, that things are thoroughly discussed and carried by vote of the majority. Minutes of the proceedings of these meetings are kept by the Secretary or one of the pastors, in English and in Tamil, and a copy forwarded to the Madras Committee, with a statement of the accounts of the Native Church Fund. This fund is formed by the annual subscriptions of our people, which this year amounted to 2,606 . 5 rupees. The Church Missionary Society subsidizes this by a monthly grant in aid. The interest on the "Jubilee Endowment Funds" of these united districts is also added. Then these funds are administered by the Council in the following way:—Salaries of fifteen native clergymen, eight catechists, twenty-three schoolmasters, travelling allowances of the superintending pastor, building of suitable houses for the clergy, and the repairs of churches and schools. Amicable discussion on these subjects has begun to take place. Thus, with God's blessing, we may hope that the natives may eventually become competent to manage their own affairs with discretion and judgment.

Of the 44 catechists, 66 schoolmasters and 29 mistresses, I have the pleasure to record, that they have, for the most part, given satisfaction in the performance of their work. In so large a district as this, one special part of the English Missionary's office is to incite in the various agents a higher tone of Christian life, to stimulate them to greater earnestness and zeal, to point out wherein they are lacking, and to set them "an example in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity, in exhortation, and in doctrine." How much grace and wisdom from on high are necessary for these things! May He, who has called me and put me into this ministry, grant me "exceeding abundant grace, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus!"

In consequence of the depressed state of the Society's funds, I have been obliged to decline employing four well qualified young men, formerly boys in the Boarding School, who had successfully completed their course at the Palamcotta Institution. This is a disappointment to ourselves, as well as to the young men; however, I am happy to say that they have now been employed by other brethren in this Mission. In consequence of the retrenchments rendered necessary, and the supply of men having exceeded the demand, I have reluctantly reduced the number of our boys. With reference to this establishment, I need only add, that we try to train them spiritually, mentally, and physically in the same way that has, with God's blessing, proved so successful under my dear father's guidance.

Of the Girls' Boarding School, I am happy to be able to give a very encouraging report. I feel thankful that my dear mother, who commenced this school, and has managed it for thirty years with great success and ability, as the 246 pupils who have passed under her care can testify, still continues her superintendence of this highly important branch of our work. My sister is associated with her, and daily takes her part in the education of this school. There are now seventy-two girls, which is a larger number than we have had for several years. The course of study is such as has been often described in previous Reports.

The congregations do not require any very special notice in this Report. Many of them have suffered much from cholera and fever. There have been several deaths. The unusual flood of last year has no doubt caused much of this sickness, and has entailed great pecuniary losses on our people, in swamping their houses and fields. Many of our churches and schools were seriously damaged and destroyed. The people have cheerfully helped to rebuild them. This, in a measure, accounts for their not paying up the whole of their annual subscriptions by the usual time; but I do not hesitate to say that we shall soon receive the balances, so as to allow of no diminution. Of their spiritual state it is difficult to give any decided opinion. Taking the whole body of Christians, and comparing them with the same number of people in any rural part of England, I think we should find an equal amount of piety and godly fear. Their faults are different, owing to their natural habits and temperaments, and to their having been sunk for many generations in heathenism. I sincerely trust that many are growing in grace. Private devotion, family prayers, Bible classes, and prayer-meetings at each other's houses, are undoubtedly more frequent. I could name several members of our congregation who take their New Testaments with them when on their trading tours, and read them together and pray. On one of such occasions, when some of our people were at one of the public rest-houses, cholera was prevalent, two heathen men died, and one of the Christians was taken very ill: the other Christians, instead of leaving him to his fate, as is often the case, stayed with him and prayed. Some heathen who saw them were surprised, and said, "Let us see if he gets well: they kneel, and pray, and read." Through God's mercy the young man recovered, and was able to return home.

During the half-year we have had an accession of 116 souls to Christianity. In one village, where we had none before, 42 persons have joined us; in Satthankulam, 25; and again in another place 21; and in four other villages 28 people have come under instruction.

Evangelistic work has been prosecuted with vigour. The native clergy and catechists spend two days in the week in preaching to the heathen. In February last, Mr. Harcourt, of the neighbouring district of Suvisêshapuram, and I, together with a goodly band of five native pastors and several able catechists, visited the large heathen town of Trichendur at the time of the annual Hindu festival, and preached the Gospel to many hundreds of people, and distributed tracts and handbills. We also sold a few books. We had several well-behaved audiences. We sow broadcast, hoping that some of the seed may, by God's grace, sink deeply into some hearts here and there, and bring forth fruit unto life eternal.

SUVISÊSHAPURAM.

In this district there are 4,526 Christians, of whom 769 are communicants. During the nine months ending September 30th, 1870, there were only five adult baptisms. The Rev. V. W. Harcourt, who is the Missionary of the station, has not sent home an annual letter. The following passages are extracted from his Report for the half-year ending July, 1870. It should be premised that Mr. Harcourt took charge of the district in succession to Mr. Schaffter September 30th, 1869; that he is assisted by a native clergyman, the Rev. M. Savarirayan; and that at the close of the year, it was still purely a Mission district, no Native Church Council having been formed. Mr. Harcourt thus speaks of the station itself:—

State and appearance of a Mission village in Tinnevelly.

Suvisêshapuram itself is a village with seventy-seven houses and 325 inhabitants, almost entirely Christian. Like most Mission villages, it is clean and orderly, and, what is of more consequence, the people are kindly disposed towards the Missionary, if the saláms and greetings that salute one passing through the village may be taken as an indication of their feelings towards us. The inhabitants subscribed very handsomely towards the Native Fund this year. I do thank God that there is a cordial understanding between us, a feeling early implanted by wise and loving superintendents of the work before me, and cherished by the uniform kindness of my predecessor, Mr. Schaffter, towards the people.

The Missionary then gives a plain unvarnished account of the district generally:—

General character of Suvisêshapuram Native Christians.

We have, as a tangible proof of our efforts (blessed be God!) not less than four and a half thousand Christians, to whom the Gospel is preached without let or hindrance. We have schools in every village, containing an aggregate number of 728 children, receiving a good Christian education in the strict sense of the word. We have this body of Christians cheerfully subscribing to the amount of between 1,200 and 1,300 rupees for the support of their teachers. We have a native minister administering both sacraments to a goodly proportion of adherents and their children. If it be asked, What fruits of the Gospel have you? Do these four or five thousand Christians influence the heathen around them? Is theirs an expansive Christianity? Do they read the Bible—those who can read? Have they family prayer? Do they attend church cheerfully? To many of these questions, alas! I must conscientiously say of the great majority, No. I write only with a limited experience of nine or ten months, and only of my own district; but as far as I can see, the congregations are not alive to their duties towards the heathen. We have still a very large number in the district, chiefly Shanars, but with some Pariah and high caste villages. I cannot satisfactorily account for the Pariahs remaining heathen. I am also surprised that with such a large body of Christians gathered in so little impression should be made upon the caste villages. I cannot call our people church-goers, even on Sundays. This is partly owing to the necessity for climbing their palmyra trees every day in the week; but in cases where this necessity has ceased to exist, the evil habit of working on the Lord's-day has still continued in force. The schools are maintained with some difficulty amongst the purely Christian villages, and Oh! how it would refresh one's heart to hear of a few reliable instances of individuals studying God's word, or offering up united prayer in private or social worship!

Yet, even while I write, light breaks in upon the darker tints which overshadow my picture of Suvisêshapuram Christianity. Surely it is a great work to have brought these thousands in any way under the influence of the Gospel, and it cannot be denied that an influence is exerted. So many rupees is a large sum to gather from these poor people, and it is certainly some test of their appreciation of Christian teaching. And what may we not hope for in the rising generation from our schools, where scriptural instruction is persistently and clearly imparted? But my great hope for the future is in the Bible, faithfully and clearly taught, in season and out of season, to Christians and heathen, but especially to Christians. This I regard as our universal corrective, our great panacea.

The following passage from Mr. Harcourt's Report may be suggestive to younger brethren in other Missions:—

I cannot conclude my Report without acknowledging gratefully the valuable assistance I have received from the Rev. E. Sargent since I have been in the district. Many have been the knotty and important questions I have had to refer to him for solution in this my noviciate in district work, and never have I failed to see my way clear in the kind responses I have always had to my application.

DOHNAVUR.

The Rev. A. Dibb, who had for some years been in charge of this district, being in England on furlough, the superintendence of it was transferred to the Rev. E. Sargent. The Native Christians of the district number 3,155, of whom 306 are communicants. There have been, during the year, nineteen adult baptisms. Extracts are subjoined from Mr. Sargent's Reports:—

There is generally throughout the district a growing readiness to support the Native Church Fund, in most cases quite up to their means. I sometimes wonder at the prompt manner in which they meet the call for their subscriptions, every year showing a gradual increase in their contributions. Out of the twenty-nine congregations, into which the district is divided, I think there are only four or five who give less than they have the ability to give. In view of this I am glad that the district will now pass under the Native Church Organization system, and that by their representatives so many congregations will have a voice in the disposal of the fund which they supply.

Liberality of Tamil Christians.

The prospects of extension are at present of a chequered character. In the large towns the work is slow, as elsewhere throughout India.

Comparing the returns now closed with those of the previous year, there is some advance in the numbers both of congregations and schoolchildren. The total of Christians under instruction was then 2,948, now it is 3,155; but as yet we do not seem to touch the higher classes in the large and flourishing towns, along the banks of the river, in the north-west part of the district. I have, within the last few months, engaged an itinerant catechist for that part of the country; but beyond the admission, in most cases, of the superiority of Christianity to heathenism, there is no embracing and practical acknowledgment of the truth.

As regards the villages, Mr. Sargent well describes a typical instance of one of the ways in which the providence of God opens a door for the preaching of the Gospel:—

In the early part of the year I was waited upon by a party who asked me to come to their village and receive them under Christian instruction. Accordingly I went there, and was received by some 300 or 400 people, who, having no suitable building in which to meet for Christian worship, accommodated me with a seat in the open space in the midst of their village, and there, by torch light, I preached to them the glad tidings of salvation. These people had hitherto refused to listen to our native preachers, and had also neglected the education of their children so completely that only one man in the whole community can read. I never saw so impoverished and uncivilized a village of Shanars before. After a great deal of trouble and persecution, by which the heathen attempted to draw them back from their profession, I am glad to say that they have remained firm, and on my last visit there three weeks ago, the "Church Register" gave the names of 463 men, women, and children as being under Christian instruction. A catechist and schoolmaster have been located in this place. I know that the motive which actuated this people was not simply a desire for the knowledge of Christ and his salvation; for with this as yet they are very imperfectly acquainted. They had a misunderstanding with an influential man, whose claim in the property in the village clashes with theirs. Without education, they are weak and incapable of understanding and defending their rights. They have Christian relatives in the neighbourhood, whom they know to have advanced in the world by improvement in mind and character under the influence of Christianity. These relatives press upon them the desirableness of being like themselves, and this tangible argument they can appreciate. Hence their first advance towards Christianity is not towards its spiritual results, but towards the civilizing benefits which necessarily follow in its train. I understood the matter from the first, and as I asked myself the question, Will it be right to preach to these people, and take them under Christian instruction, when their chief motive apparently is so wide of the great and solemn inquiry, "What shall I do to be saved?" The only answer I could give was, Preach to all, preach even to the man who wishes you would leave him alone; much more to people who say; Here we are: we have hitherto lived in ignorance, we know not what is right, we are willing to be told all you have to say and to do what you wish us to do; and here are our children, teach them to read, let them learn the Bible, which all say is so good a book; we have done with idolatry, we have broken our idols, we want to be Christians. And so my reply to them was, I have nothing to do with your disputes about your village property, this is your own affair; but if you really wish to become Christians, here are teachers, here is the Bible, and now only prepare a place daily to meet in, and in due time you will be able to understand the inestimable blessing which has this day been brought to your doors.

PANEIVILEI.

The Rev. J. D. Simmons continues to labour in this district. A Native Church Council has been formed; but it is at present in its infancy, and scarcely relieves the European Missionary (who is its Chairman) of any of his responsibility. The Christian adherents number about 2,150, of whom 430 are communicants. The communicants have increased in number during the last year by thirty-six, and there have been eight adult baptisms. There are three native pastors, one of whom is the Mr. David mentioned below.

Of the Christians in the district generally, Mr. Simmons thus reports:—

The liberality of the people has not diminished; a goodly number give as far as they are able, and a few even beyond that. At the annual meeting in Mr. David's congregation, a widow offered eight rupees for herself and two sons. Mr. David said he thought we ought not to take so much: two rupees were therefore deducted and six only accepted. The poor widow consented to the reduction with as bad grace as some manifest when giving two rupees. The Church Council has met three times. We ought to have assembled at least once more. I hope, in the coming year, to meet more frequently; but, considering the position of most of our members, I think too few better than too many times: we need to excite interest; too frequent meetings and little business will not do that. Some of the body show a fair amount of zeal. This year we commenced a monthly Missionary meeting, for the purpose of exciting and strengthening a Missionary spirit amongst our people and the agents. Information is sought from catechists and schoolmasters who have gone from this district to Ceylon, or to the Madras itinerancy. Members of the congregations are invited to relate any interesting facts from their intercourse with the heathen. A prepared address on the subject is given. We have a select few whose zeal for the conversion of the heathen acts upon ourselves as steel upon steel.

But there are some painful features.

In some congregations a considerable number are unbaptized. They have been under instruction for eight or ten years, yet they are now nearly as ignorant, and perhaps more indifferent, than when they first joined us. In some of these congregations, and in others also, many of the baptized show no signs of growth; they have no desire to come to the Lord's Supper; there is too little difference between them and the former. Again, there are not the manifestations of life and spirituality in the communicants generally to produce the certain conviction of real progress.

The second thing is the re-appearing and strengthening of caste in the Christians. Those who (when heathen) had belonged to the higher castes, had, a few years ago, given up caste in almost every respect but intermarriage. They have now as a body returned to the observance of most of their exclusive rules. The chief reason given is the disrespect shown them by Christians of lower rank when they intermingled more freely. On the other hand, the pride of those who (when heathen) were Shanars has been severely wounded by that caste being represented as a very low one; and they are determined to raise that caste, as a caste, into honourable distinction. It will be easy for you to see the difficulties and dangers which such feelings must produce in the newly-rising Native Church.

Caste feelings among Tinnevelly Christians.

PANNIKULAM AND SURANDEI.

These districts are for the present united under the charge of the Rev. J. C. Mill. Pannikulam was previously under the care of the Rev. J. Whitchurch. This devoted and spiritually-minded Missionary died on the 7th of January, 1871, in England, whither he had returned by medical advice. He had laboured in Tinnevelly for upwards of fifteen years. Mr. Honiss of Surandei is at home on furlough, and hopes ere long to return to his station. Mr. Mill is himself a convert to scriptural Christianity, not indeed from heathenism, but from the idolatrous errors of Popery, having been a member of the Romish Mission in Jaffna, where he was well known as Father Mola. Mr. Mill's annual letter is exceedingly interesting; but he does not give much account of the congregations generally. Extracts are subjoined:—

Pannikulam cannot yet muster the number of native clergymen required by the constitution of the Native Church to form a Native Church Council. This development has yet to be desired. In pecuniary self-support, however, this district is not behind others. Each congregation has a church parva sed satis, only a little better than the cottages in which the Christians live, in harmony with their mode of life, just enough like their homes to attach idea of home to the house of prayer, and yet neater and comelier, to inspire sentiments of joy. It is everywhere the people themselves that have bought or given the ground, and built upon it, without foreign help, their churches, schoolrooms, the catechists' and schoolmasters' houses. With all this, they contribute freely out of their poverty to all funds for the general welfare of the Mission.

Self-support at Pannikulam

Mr. Mill very properly gives much time to the instruction of his catechists, who in the Pannikulam district are fifteen in number.

Each catechist has from three to eight Christian villages to to minister to, besides from fifteen to twenty-five heathen villages to evangelize. I meet my catechists once a week for united prayer and study, and every month all my Mission agents for three or four very busy days. Much work is gone through during these monthly meetings. The reading of the Reports affords full scope for mutual comfort, advice, and sometimes also for reproof.

The character of these native agents is thus described:—

The more I become acquainted with my agents the more

I love them. I never spare their faults, always correcting them most freely in love. They give me every proof of a return of affection. These dear men, with all their faults, which we are but too prone to exaggerate, give a good testimony to the converting power of the grace of Christ in all sincere hearers of the word; and the Lord blesses their administrations. One of them has had controversies with a Jesuit priest, in which he has certainly secured both the appearance and the reality of success in upholding the truth. Always courteous and respectful towards his European opponent, and ready in giving him all credit for much larger stores of knowledge, he has maintained that his knowledge of "the one Book" is all spirit and life, whilst his opponent's mountains of lore of many books, save "the one Book," were no better than husks, which might fill, but could neither give nor maintain life.

Character of Tinnevelly Native agents.

Mr. Mill recognizes the importance of education.

The schools have been the object of my particular attention. The schoolmasters have been kept under instruction the whole year preparing for the Government Certificate examination. They have all been examined, but the results have not yet been made known. All schools have much improved, though much yet remains to be done. The number of pupils and the proportion of daily attendants have increased, though school fees of one anna per month had to be paid. The boys of the boarding school pay eight annas per month each, with which additional boys are supported.

The general character of the district and of the heathen population is described as follows:—

Pannikulam district covers an irregular area of about thirty by thirty miles, variously populated according to diversity of soil; now opening in extensive plains of barren land, then closing in upon clusters of busy villages, thickly peopled, and thriftily cultivated all around, looking not unpicturesque through their entrenchments of tall and neatly set hay-stacks. The Zemindars and Naikkers are the great land proprietors. Some of them have the good policy, or the good nature, or the good sense to keep on good terms with the Christians and the Missionary. Our relations with them are very pleasant. Others are troublesome neighbours, and give us a great deal of annoyance by bribing all the avenues of justice. None of them has been able as yet to summon up enough of manliness to surrender the voluptuousness and torpor of their heathen state for the spiritual reality and activities of the Christian profession. The bulk of our heathen hearers in the streets, and of our brethren in the congregation are the poor, as it is written that to such the Gospel shall be preached. The grace of God is here striving amidst a most unimpressible and rebellious nation. Thirty centuries of declension, with no Gospel of Christ to stay or retard the facilis descendus averni, have debased man's sinful race so beyond all conception, and have raised walls so high and mighty against the approaches of truth, that it is, humanly speaking, impossible to reach them. And yet, oh the goodness and patience of God! even in the midst of this immense spiritual Sahara, many a verdant oasis has been caused to spring up, watered by four rivers, the Holy Spirit delighting to dwell in them. Nor are the blessings of the Gospel exclusively confined to the congregation of believers. "The nations of them that are saved walk in the light of it," and far and wide, through the whole land, the heathen also has been blessed, if not, like Jacob, because he will have it not, yet amply like Esau, in every respect, material, moral, social, and political. Man could do no such thing. But the Lord has done it through the instrumentality of man. "Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain." They are a mild race, with many amiable but negative traits of character, meekly resigned to fate, which they raise to the dignity of the godhead. With scarcely any thought of the responsibilities of life, they can express nearly all their ideas by "tanvinei" verbs, which are not what we call intransitive verbs, but simply inactive and unimpassive verbs, which might properly be termed "fatic," or fatalistic verbs. It seems humanly impossible to rouse them into activity, and every act of the preacher is one of faith in the divine power of the word. They listen with respect, seldom oppose the word or object to it, and are rather addicted to intermit expletives of approbation and wonderment, such as "very good," "very true." The generality end in not believing "for joy." Too good to be true. An unobtrusive listener, however, here and there, whom nobody has noticed, listens to believe, and the kingdom of God cometh, not with observation, but cometh. It is thus that ninety-five congregations have been formed in this district, each having a church where prayers are offered to God and His word is read and taught.

Mr. Mill thus touches on another subject :—

Throughout the whole length and breadth of this Mission I have not a single church in brick and mortar, in European style, whose white walls gleaming through groves of cocoa nuts and palmyras may remind one of a higher state of civilization; not a single tower as a suggestive of higher thoughts, as an emblem of higher hopes, and as a sign-post to the wayfarer pointing out the way to the heavenly home. Pannikulam village, which is the head-quarters of this Mission, ought to have a substantial and neat little church in the English style, also as a lasting testimony of the love of the mother Church of England. Six hundred pounds would do, but I have them not, and, being a foreigner, have no friends in England to whose Christian charity I may apply. With the little I have in hand, I resolve to lay the foundations next year, in the sure hope that the Lord will give me the means of completing it.

At Surandei, two catechists were ordained last September, and a Native Church Council has been established.

The statistics of the two districts are as as follows :—At Pannikulam 43 Native Christian Agents, 494 communicants, 1,478 Native Christians, and 8 adult baptisms. At Surandei 47 Native Agents, 461 communicants, 1766 Native Christians, and 2 adult baptisms. The number of communicants is gratifying. Might not that of paid agents be diminished?

NALLUR.

The Nallur district is now divided into two Pastorates, Koviluttu, where Mr. Gnânamuttu labours, and Sivalâsamuttiram, the sphere of Mr. A. Samuel's duties. The communicants number 448; and the whole number of Native Christians is 3,040. During the year there were twenty-eight adults baptized. The united district is under a Church Council, of which the Rev. T. Spratt is the Chairman. Whether as Chairman, or by special request of the Council, Mr. Spratt exercises a practical oversight over the whole district. He gives the following interesting report of some of the results of labour of the catechists :—

In the Nallur district I have continued to exercise the same kind and degree of superintendence that I did last year. In the visits I have periodically paid to the village I made it a special object to ascertain whether, in consequence of diminished European supervision, the catechists had grown lax in their attention to the instruction of the people. I was pleased to find that in most instances they had diligently attended to this very important part of their duties. The method I pursued was to require the catechists to examine the congregation before me, taking care that the questions were fairly distributed among the people. The answers given showed that the people had a clear general knowledge of the great Christian scheme. We did not confine our examination to the New Testament, but went rapidly through the history of the fall, the lives of the patriarchs, and the leading events in Exodus. I was so gratified by this part of the examination that I ventured a little into the Book of Kings, and found that they were not altogether unfamiliar with the more prominent persons and incidents in these books. I think I discovered the secret by which the people get this extensive knowledge of their Bibles. I was spending a Sunday at the village of Kaleyanipuram, and after the morning service the men assembled for the usual Bible class. The catechist came up to me, and, by way of introduction, told me that his practice used to be to read five chapters every Sunday out of the historical books, but that, finding it too much, he had now reduced it to three. It is easy to see how, by such a system as this, the people would become familiar with their Bibles.

While not shrinking from personal labours, Mr. Spratt is resolved to make the Church Council a reality.

I think our Church Council is beginning to understand its duties better, and to have some sense of their importance. I was very glad to find that one of our members was sufficiently interested and sufficiently bold to call upon us for an explanation of our accounts, and to make suggestions for the better use of our funds. We publish, at the close of each year, an account of the sums received for self-support, and of the manner in which they have been expended. The native member alluded to was prevented from attending the meeting of the Council after the publication of our balance sheet, and therefore wrote to our Secretary. He objected to any part of the general fund being appropriated to "the poor," as he considered that that burden should be borne by each congregation for its own poor. He also objected to school repairs being charged to it, and did not see that we were called upon to subscribe to the Bible Society, as each person might buy for himself any Bibles he might want; and, lastly, he requested to know what was meant by the item "Sundries, thirty rupees." I took care that his letter should have special attention paid to it, as I hoped by so doing to encourage others to watch over our proceedings with the same interest. We had a full discussion on the various points urged. Some of his suggestions were adopted, and others we dismissed.

Independence of mind in a Native Church Councillor.

Mr. Gnânamuttu deeply laments the prevalence of caste among the Christians to whom he ministers.

A Christian family, who, while heathen, belonged to the Chunam-burning caste at Tenkasy, is in the greatest difficulty for the marriage of the children, there being no other Christian family that came out from that caste. At another village, two young women, whose father was once a Mission agent, and belonged, when a heathen, to a caste from which no other Christian family have come, have been, after long waiting in vain for Christian husbands, married to heathens, and have since become heathen by the influence of their husbands. I fear that many heathens, who think seriously about their salvation, become cold; and that many others are prevented even from making inquiries into the truths of the Gospel, observing the difficulty which such converts have had with regard to their children's marriages. Thus caste is a great hindrance to the conversion of the heathen.

It would appear that the presence of a large number of European Missionaries has hitherto kept under the caste feeling among the Native Christians without destroying it. A Native Bishop and a complete Native Pastorate would bring the evil to light. The speedy introduction of such a system therefore seems desirable; though Mr. Gnânamuttu himself draws the opposite inference. Mr. Gnânamuttu urges that in Missionary Institutions Native Christians should not be named as belonging to castes. He regrets also that the Madras Government have resolved to register Native Christians according to castes.

SIVAGÂSI.

The Rev. R. R. Meadows was the European Missionary in this district during the former part of the year 1870. Failure of health compelled him to leave India in August. Before doing so he drew up an interesting review of the work done in that district during the preceding ten years. He thus describes the district and its population:—

The district is 1,400 square miles in area, and contains a population of 270,000 people. The district is peopled by persons for the most part illiterate, wedded to ancient religions and forms of superstition, conservative in the extreme, from the unvarying method of tying on a garment, to the manner of performing the highest ceremonies connected with the worship of God. Attention to their bodily ailments has opened my eyes most painfully to the immorality of their lives.

Comparing 1860 with 1870, the growth of the work, so far as shown by statistics, has been as follows:—The number of those who have renounced heathenism and have put themselves under Christian instruction has risen from nearly 1,600 to over 3,000, the baptized from 780 to 1,550, the communicants from 173 to 413, the children in the schools from 315 to 1,055, the contributions for Church purposes from 50 to over 1,600 rupees. Mr. Meadows adds— Progress during ten years in Sivagâsi.

I need hardly say that a mere increase in numbers does not satisfy us. But it is a cause for joy to see that the baptized and communicants have so largely increased; for no adult is baptized of whose sincerity and intelligent reception of the Gospel we have not hope; and none are received to the Lord's Supper who do not evidence a still higher type of Christian faith and life.

What have been the plans adopted? To begin with the efforts for the Native Christians:—

A well instructed and godly body of teachers is the surest means of having a well instructed and godly body of Christians. Acting on this principle we have had all the catechists in at the station once a fortnight and for special instruction once in two months. Besides hearing their journals read, I have taught them in different theological subjects, generally going through a book of the Old or New Testament, translating commentaries for them, giving them the substance of Christian Evidences, Church History, &c. They have been required to prepare model sermons for me to hear and criticize; and I notice a marked improvement since I first began.

Our day village schools formerly scarcely deserved the name. They were a source of great anxiety and discouragement. The largest number in attendance in a school was about ten, and the total of school children throughout the district was but 315. To encourage the masters I offered to increase their salaries according to the number of children. If there were twenty children in the school the master would get his salary only. If there were thirty he would get five annas more, if forty, ten annas more, or fifteen annas above his salary. The effect of this was that all the schools went up, and one master in the large town of Strivilliputtur collected ninety children. I now pay him the salary of two masters, besides giving his wife a trifle for helping him, and the usual salary to an assistant master. The present total of all the schools is 1,055.

When we built our bungalow at Sâchiapuram ("Witnessthorpe") in 1861, the Committee enabled us to build schoolrooms for the boarding schools, of mud and thatch. Through the liberality of friends we have now substantial tiled buildings. The children, on an average sixty in number, besides their usual studies, are taught household work, and every thing to make them useful in after life. In the ten years many boys and girls have left. Some have turned out badly. But we thankfully observe here and there in the district a goodly number of consistent Christian mothers and fathers who were educated in, and married from, the boarding schools.

The English School at Strivilliputtur, our largest town, has been at work for the last fourteen or fifteen years for the high-caste natives. There has been no case of actual conversion. It has seventy-seven boys on the rolls.

It is well known how earnestly the Committee desire that the Native Christians corporately, as well as individually, may depend more directly on the Divine Head of the Church, and less and less on the European Missionary. On this subject Mr. Meadows makes the following generous remarks:—

It has always been my custom to make use of the natives as much as possible for consulting and deciding about various questions and disputes which from time to time arise in the district. But the more particular use of their aid for self-government was not thought of, till the Committee urged upon us (much against my inclination, I confess) the plan of a Church Council. Since the Church Council has come into actual working order, I am thankful that the Committee pushed us forward. True, some of the members are mere echoes of ourselves, or unable to comprehend the bearings of a question. But some of them have been such as to afford most valuable assistance. Not to mention the three native clergymen, the native magistrate and the sub-registrar of deeds are men of great ability and experience, and proved, while they were with us, invaluable and able helps. They have both left the district, to our great loss.

Working of the Native Church Council in Sivagâsi.

Lately we have added an hospital as a most hopeful means of softening down prejudice. To mention one instance only of its effects. When we were itinerators the Brahmins generally treated us with great rudeness. I remember particularly one village, where our very presence provoked the most gratuitous insults. "Get away, thou slave; thou shalt not come here," were words which Brahmin young men were not afraid to apply to us. But for the last few years I have been in the habit of giving medicine to all comers, and as many as fifty a day would sometimes be in attendance. When pitched near this very village, the Brahmins brought me plantains and other fruit, and wanted to have a fowl cooked for me! Some time afterwards a rich old man from the same village was seized with a dangerous complaint, which might have proved fatal. I was surprised one afternoon as I sat in my study to see a party of Brahmins come in with garlands, which they respectfully put about my neck, and with limes which they presented me with. They had brought a bandy and would take no denial. I must come and see the old man. I went, and, through God's mercy, the man got relief. I slept in their village, drank the milk they provided, and was driven home the next morning, a distance of ten miles, in their cart. Now the Brahmins generally in all the villages treat me with respect. The hospital is under the care of a regularly educated Native Christian practitioner. He at first was in our boarding-school, afterwards he studied in the Præparandi Institution in Palamcotta, and then went to Madras to be under Dr. Paterson for three years. He has treated 1,990 separate cases since December 1st of last year.

Mr. Meadows' Report thus concludes :—

In reviewing the state of the Christian body, there can be no doubt that they have improved in knowledge, in liberality, and in the number of persons able to read the Scriptures. The results which subscribers to the Church Missionary Society look for are spiritual results, cases of true conversion of heart and life from sin to God. Of such we have a goodly number, only we feel a delicacy in speaking of the living. As a general remark I may say, that, taking the baptized Christians as a whole, they would compare favourably with the same number of baptized Christians anywhere; and many of them, for truth speaking, for purity, for simplicity of faith, for liberality, would not fall far behind the advanced Christians of our long enlightened fatherland. Of the dead we may write more freely. I have myself buried several in this little village in sure and certain hope of their resurrection to eternal life. I remember an old woman's firm clench of her hands, as if she were grasping something she would not let go, when I asked her on her dying bed, Have you laid hold of Christ? An old man who died about a year ago had been a cruel persecutor of his wife. He would not let her go to church, if he could help it. Once he dragged her by the hair to prevent it. She would steal out in the early morning to the catechist's house for instruction, and still remains a bright Christian. His spirit too relented, and I had more than once the joy of seeing them both in the house of God and at the Lord's table. I think that on the whole the above facts will leave the impression that the Lord has been faithful to His promise, "Lo! I am with you," and that He has "confirmed the word with signs following." But while I rejoice in the success vouchsafed, I wish to say that I regard it much more as the success of the native clergy, the catechists, and the schoolmasters under me than my own. In looking over the field I can count but few conversions of which I have been the instrument. I can happily point to many, of which the sowing, the watering, the cultivating have been theirs and theirs only.

Character of Sivagâsi Native Christians.

This sub-district is under the charge of a Native Pastor and Evangelist, the Rev. J. Cornelius, and connected with the Sivagâsi Church Council. Mr. Cornelius speaks in the most affectionate language of the Rev. R. R. Meadows, who was his superintending Missionary previously to his becoming an independent agent of the Native Church. The Native Christians number 1,332, of whom 197 are communicants. There have been only five adult baptisms. It would be easy to increase the number by more freely baptizing those under Christian instruction. But the motives by which the heathen are induced to become catechumens are often of so mixed a character, and their conduct and knowledge of the Christian doctrine so unsatisfactory, that delay, and even sometimes prolonged delay, is unavoidable. Of the state of the congregations generally, brother Cornelius thus writes:—

I feel greatly encouraged at the thought that there are some of God's children, true believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, in my district. There are some who mourn over their unconverted brethren: there are husbands who complain of the worldly-mindedness of their wives; children who mourn over their parents who live ungodly lives; and wives who often ask me to pray for their impenitent husbands.

There has been some persecution.

In one or two of the villages belonging to the Ettiapuram Zemindar, to the south of my district, the heathen continue to give us trouble. Some of my congregation in Kanampatti are tried very much by petty annoyances. The influential heathen who seem to have sole authority in the village have prohibited the washerman from washing their clothes. This to a Hindu is a great inconvenience. They have hitherto stood steadfast, and I take this opportunity of craving the prayers of Christian friends for them.

The educational work is thus reported of—

My schools are getting on, as usual, and I think some good is being done by means of the night schools. Mr. Meadows promised to give a pair of cloths to every young man and woman that learned to read, and nearly thirty persons in my district were thought fit to receive this present. It is my wish to try and do all I can to increase the number of readers, those who are able to read the word of God for themselves. If these presents of cloths can be continued, the number of adult readers will, I doubt not, be greatly increased.

It should not be concealed that Mr. Cornelius speaks with much pain of the unsatisfactory spiritual character of some of his catechists. May they be renewed by divine grace! And may the Native Pastor be endued with discernment of spirit, not quenching the smoking flax, and at the same time not retaining any agents in employment for which they are spiritually incompetent!

Vageikulam.

From being an assistant Missionary, the Rev. V. Dêvanâyagam is now promoted to the more honourable and responsible post of native pastor and evangelist, superintended by a Native Church Council. The Native Christians entrusted to his care by the Church Council number 1,110, of whom 115 are communicants. These are scattered over 30 villages within a space of nearly 200 square miles. Mr. Dêvanâyagam has under him nineteen subordinate agents. There have been during the year eleven adult baptisms. Among several particulars which brother Dêvanâyagam notices respecting his Christian congregations, the following is selected:—

Blessing vouchsafed to the voluntary labours of a Native Christian.

Some of the enlightened Christians, living as they do in different parts of the district, act like planets, enlightening their neighbouring satellites with their borrowed light, and drawing them together with themselves to their chief centre of light—the Sun of righteousness. I will here mention one instance. At Venjakavandanpatti, where a congregation had been established from the time of the late Mr. Schaffter, and conducted by so many catechists in succession up to 1865, all the members, like sapless trees, died away one after another, and the church and the catechists' house were pulled down. But God, whose word shall not return unto Him void, chose, in 1868, from the place, apart from the backsliders, a sincere, intelligent, and well-to-do cultivator, who placed himself under Christian instruction, growing daily in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. His great desire is, that his neighbours and kinsmen should, like himself, take possession of the heavenly treasure hid in the Gospel; and with that view he goes about and preaches Christ to them. Nor has his labour of love been fruitless. His own household, consisting of twelve persons, and seven other families from different castes, have placed themselves under instruction. One of these new comers is the headman of the village. I have now placed there a schoolmaster, under whom there are thirty-five children.

Mr. Dêvanâyagam's evangelistic efforts are thus briefly touched upon:—

heathen, to a good many different castes, the most prominent having been either Naiks or Retties. Seven adults and two children, belonging to the former class, have been baptized. One of these, a rich old man of a large family, like Simeon of old, remains continually in the prayer-house, built almost entirely at his own cost, reading his Bible and praying with such as are drawn up to Christ by his influence, which is so telling. Several in his village have followed his example. One of them especially outshines the rest in earnestness and fervency of spirit. A little movement has begun among the Retties. Two years ago we had but one individual from this class of people brought into the fold of Christ through the means of the itinerant Missionaries, one of whom Mr. Ragland had been permitted to see. (Vide Mr. Ragland's Memoir, page 308.) Since 1868 I have had the privilege of receiving twenty more souls under instruction: of these, three belonging to one family—a father, mother, and son—have been baptized this year; and it was the last, who, like the patriarch Abraham, first knew Christ, and then brought his family to Him. The Gospel has been preached to the heathen both by myself and my agents, not only in the neighbouring villages, but also at Kalugumalei and Sangaranárkoil, two of the most important towns in my district, where they assemble by thousands for festivals. Tracts and Scripture portions have been sold and handbills freely distributed.

Effects of the example of an aged Christian.

The schools are in a more hopeful state than before.

I have to praise God this year for his great goodness, in answering my poor prayers on behalf of my schools, which had hitherto been in a very meagre and fluctuating condition. The number of children in each school, with the exception of two, has increased to twenty, thirty and sixty: and so the total number of pupils in my district is 332, whereas last year I had scarcely 160. These 332 include the thirty children of our Anglo-vernacular school at Sangaranárkoil, conducted by an excellent and able master.

From out of the nine districts enumerated above, have now been formed the Travancore Pastorates, which are twelve in number, and are connected with the Travancore Native Church Council. The first meeting of the Council was held on September 22nd, 1869. No detailed account of any subsequent meeting has been forwarded to the Parent Committee. The Rev. R. H. Maddox, however, who is its European Secretary (Mr. Baker, the senior Missionary being the Chairman), writes in his last Annual Letter:

I feel that a good measure of success has attended our efforts at organizing and consolidating our Christian congregations, and I believe that our Church Council, under the Rev. Mr. Baker, as its chairman, is doing a really good and useful work. But I also feel very strongly the importance of keeping the actual wants of the vast Mission field steadily in view, in the midst of all our plans and schemes for the good of the Native Christian Church.

One of the Native Pastors, the Rev. Jacob Chandy, was called to his heavenly rest during the year, on the 2nd of August, 1870. The senior Missionary of Travancore, the Rev. H. Baker, describes Mr. Chandy as "blameless in life, and faithful in death." "What particularly struck me," Mr. Baker adds, "was the clear view Chandy had of his past ministerial life, of his unworthiness as a servant; but yet a humble vigorous idea of his own work past and the gracious free welcome Christ had promised and would give him."

COTTAYAM.

The College.

This College, of which the Rev. J. H. Bishop is Principal, has suffered from the want of a sufficient educational staff. The Parent Committee have designated to assist Mr. Bishop one of the students now at Islington, who was ordained on Trinity Sunday of the present year, while these pages were passing through the press.

The work and duties in the College have been very much the same as last year. We still have, with one exception, the same staff of teachers, who have worked with diligence and zeal. The British Government inspection, which took place on September 22nd, is a new phase in the history of the College. The report has been forwarded to the Madras Committee, and has occasioned some correspondence and discussion, as it was not a favourable one. By this time probably you, too, have received the report and the remarks of the Director of Public Instruction on the same. The Madras Committee are assisting me to improve our educational staff. As it is desirable to employ Native Christian teachers, the difficulty of procuring suitable ones is by no means a slight one. To meet the additional expense of higher salaries, it is proposed to raise the fees of the foundationers from a quarter rupee to one rupee, and of the pay boarders from two and a half rupees to three rupees per month. At present we receive no grant-in-aid from Government. We are looking forward hopefully to the future. In the meanwhile we may be sure that honest work done in Christ's strength will not be unproductive of some good.

On October 10th the Right Rev. Dr. Milman, Metropolitan, visited the College, and examined the first class in Scripture and English poetry, and expressed himself pleased with the answers given, and the quiet, gentlemanly bearing of the Syrian lads, as also with the general routine of the Institution. His Lordship strongly insisted on the great advantages of an English education for the Syrian clergy, that they might in no way be inferior to the laity.

These three departments of the Travancore Mission are under the charge of the Rev. H. Baker, who has not forwarded to the Committee any Report or Annual Letter.

MAVELICARA AND TIRUWELLA.

The Rev. R. H. Maddox is the Missionary residing in these districts. The Native Christians belonging to the districts are now collected under six pastorates containing fifteen congregations. Theoretically, therefore, that "secular" superintendence over the pastors, which was formerly exercised by the Committee through the Missionary (vide Appendix to the Society's 39th Report), now devolves upon the Native Church Council. This theory will doubtless be gradually realized in practice. For the present at least the Church Council naturally look upon Mr. Maddox as their organ for the purpose. The Missionary's time is therefore still much taken up with the affairs of the Native Church. It is not the less true on this account that the Native Church is by the new system preparing for self-government. Mr. Maddox writes:—

One pastorate, Ellankur, is now without a pastor. The Rev. Koshi Koshi was removed several months since, to supply the vacancy at Thalawaddy, caused by the death of the Rev. George Matthan. The remaining pastorates are served by five pastors, two of whom are in deacons' orders . I can hardly feel that my work is less with regard to these pastorates than when the same congregations were included in my Mission district. I have been busy repairing some of the churches, building a large church at Kodawalanyi, now nearly completed, and making a house for the native pastor at Pathapally.

The congregations I formed last year from the slaves are progressing favourably. These Christians give me much satisfaction. They are orderly in their behaviour, liberal considering their means, and really exemplary in their character. Last month above sixty recently baptized converts were confirmed by the Bishop of Calcutta.

Increasing willingness to hear the Gospel among the heathen and Syrian Christians in Travancore.

A constant aggressive Mission work has been carried on during the year by my two itinerating readers, sometimes alone, sometimes accompanied by myself. The whole of the Mavelicara district, together with the Allepie district (till lately under my charge), has been visited in every part. Circuits lying near this place have been visited two or three times. There is a remarkable readiness on the part of all classes to hear the word preached. I do not remember any thing like opposition from any class, nor do I read in the reports of the readers of such a thing. My experience is entirely the other way. Our visits are looked for with evident pleasure, both by the heathen as well as Syrians in the country. When I ask myself what have been the visible signs of encouragement in this work, I feel that we may instance the readiness to hear, and, no less, the willingness to purchase, the word of God. During the past year we have sold a good many copies of the Scriptures to heathens. Only the other day, at a public festival, a rich man came forward, and, in the presence of the crowd, purchased a large quarto Bible for three and a half rupees. This man is a rich landlord, and possesses a great deal of influence in his neighbourhood. Several persons, both Syrians and heathen, whom I have first met when engaged in itinerating work, are now among my regular friends, and whenever they come to Mavelicara, for duty or pleasure, I am sure to receive a visit from them. I have had opportunities in this way of learning the value which is set upon our teaching, and of carrying on instruction among those who have shown an interest and desire to learn. We have thus sown the good seed broadcast: may God give the increase. I have not been able to form new congregations during the past year, partly from want of good, trustworthy men, and partly, though not chiefly, for lack of funds to carry on the work.

A scheme has been lately originated in Madras which has one of its branches in the Mavelicara district. It is thus referred to by Mr. Maddox:—

Another Missionary effort in my district is the opening, in Maramena, a place fifteen miles to the east of this, of a Mission Dispensary. The medical evangelist in charge is a pupil of Dr. Paterson, of Madras. He is skilful in his profession, and has, I believe, a real interest in his work, and a desire to do good. The dispensary has been established only seven months; so of course we can hardly look for great results as yet. However, the attendance from the 3rd of May to the 30th of September was no less than 582. Of these, 346 were Syrians, 12 Roman Catholics, 3 Brahmins, 110 Sudras, 75 Chogans, the rest lower castes. The word of God has been read and preached to those who attended the dispensary. Several tracts and books also were distributed. This is an interesting work, and, I trust, will do much good. I hope the Committee will support the movement in every way, by keeping the dispensary supplied with medicines and other necessaries, until such time as the work shall have secured a firm footing for itself, when I trust it will, if not entirely, to a great extent become self-supporting.

A Native medical Evangelist in Travancore.

Mr. Maddox states also another not unimportant event, which, though referring rather to the general providence of God than to His spiritual kingdom, has an indirect bearing on Missionary operations in Travancore.

The Native Tranvancore Government have just passed a law by which the high roads throughout the country are declared open to all classes, to the Pallam (slave) as to the Brahmin; and it has been further declared that the common practice of a higher caste inducing a lower caste to move out of the public roads is illegal, and can be punished as a misdemeanour. The slave caste is also to be allowed free access to the courts of law. Whenever such courts are situated near a temple, as is commonly the case in Travancore, another site, accessible to all castes, is to be selected and the courts removed forthwith. A barbarous custom has prevailed in this country from time immemorial of compelling the lowest classes to employ servile and degrading language with reference to themselves or their belongings, in communication with the higher classes, or in their written petitions to Sircar officers. The Sircar (Native Government) has lately issued a humane and humanizing order, to the effect that no such language shall in future be required by any official in taking depositions from such classes in any Sircar matter whatever. So that the long down-trodden slave may truly now say that he is free; since he is delivered from those shackles which have long enslaved his mind, as well as the cruel iron fetters which for so long a time "entered into his soul." He may now walk along the high roads, and not, as I have often witnessed, have to dodge in and out of hedges, ditches and walls, in a manner more resembling a hunted jackal than a reasonable human being. And what has been the principal cause by which so great and desirable a change has been brought about? The Hindus and Syrians in the country will tell you, if asked, that this is (under God, we say) the Missionaries' doing. Certainly they are right. It was the Missionaries who first sought out these neglected people, these "lost sheep." It was the Missionaries who first went among them and taught them. The first word of the law of love and kindness that fell upon their ear was from the Missionary's lips.

The statistics of this district are as follows:—Five Native Pastors, sixty-two Native Christian teachers, 3,506 Native Christians, 1,045 communicants, 54 adult baptisms during the year; school children, 1,014 boys and 200 girls. The noticeable points are; on the favourable side, the large number of communicants; on the less favourable, the large number of paid teachers, and the small number of girls receiving instruction.

ALLEPPIE.

This station is occupied at present by the Rev. W. Johnson, whose father and maternal grandfather were also Travancore Missionaries. His labours are not confined to the town, but extend through a strip of land along the coast thirty miles long, and five broad. In Alleppie itself, there is a congregration of about 200 persons. Their social standing is for the most part low, and several of them are in exceedingly destitute circumstances. Some members of the congregation are willing to undertake congregational duties. No particulars have been given by Mr. Johnson of the state of the congregations in the villages. There have been twenty adult baptisms, but no details whatever have been mentioned respecting them. The whole number of Native Christians is 430, of whom nearly 100 are communicants. Both these numbers are lower than in some former years.

This Mission has suffered from frequent changes of plans and superintendents. What seems to be required is a thoroughly good Native Pastor to minister to the Alleppie congregation; while a European Missionary resident in the town assists the Pastor by his advice and friendship, but is chiefly engaged in work amongst the heathen and Mohammedans. A local Native Church Committee might also be formed for urging forward such church work as properly belongs to the laity. The appointment of a European as Pastor over Native Christians has never met with permanent success. At the same time Alleppie is not a place where a Native Pastor should stand alone. Above all, let there be diligence in preaching the word, and earnest prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

TRICHUR.

This station was for some time without a European Missionary. The Rev. W. Smith was placed there last September. His arrival being so recent, and his knowledge of the language at present imperfect, his account is necessarily meagre. The Christian adherents number 416, of whom 14 are communicants. There have been two adult baptisms. The excommunication of some unsatisfactory members has had a salutary effect on the congregations. The heathen have not been neglected. Mr. Smith writes :—

The readers have made many tours, preaching to the heathen, and in some instances with success. Of the six heathen now under instruction, four have been brought to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus by the spiritual earnestness of two readers. May the Lord give them grace and faith to be the means of converting many sinners from the error of their ways!

KUNNANKULLAM.

This district is in charge of the Rev. W. Hope. The native congregation attached to it had for some years been in an unsatisfactory state, owing to the misconduct of some of their members. These were formally excommunicated in the year 1869. Advantage was taken for that purpose of the presence of the Bishop of Madras, who was then on a visit at the station. Mr. Hope, in his annual letter, is able to speak of "a decided improvement in the character of the Mission converts." This he attributes to the act of discipline just referred to. The subjoined extract from Mr. Hope's letter describes the present condition of the congregation :—

Salutary effect of Christian discipline.

The number of the congregation is now 213; this is less than last year. The decrease in numbers is owing partly to deaths, partly to removals to other Missions, and partly to excommunications. The attendance of the people at the house of God and at their monthly prayer-meetings has been much better than in former years. They also willingly contribute of their substance to the Lord's service. A collection is made every Sunday, and although the amount given is small, yet it serves to establish the apostolic rule—"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him." (1 Cor. xvi. 2.)

Of the 213 Native Christians, eighty-two are communicants; and there have been during the year three adult baptisms. One of these was a slave convert. On this branch of the work Mr. Hope writes as follows:—

The work among the slaves here is of a very difficult character, on account of the opposition of either their Syrian or heathen masters. The poor people are willing to come under instruction, but are prevented joining us by their masters. Those who have joined us are examples of industry and good behaviour to those of our people who have come from higher castes.

Mr. Hope speaks of his work among the heathen generally as "not very encouraging;" still he is persuaded there is an awakening amongst them, especially in the Chogan caste.

Another effort is thus described by Mr. Hope, writing under date November 24, 1870:—

The establishment of a Mission Dispensary here has been a source of great good to the Mission. We have been greatly encouraged by the numbers of heathens who have applied for medicine. The dispensary was opened in April last. From that time to the present the total number of patients admitted is 980 persons. Of these, 99 are Protestants, 191 Syrians, 9 Brahmins, 152 Sudras, 423 Chogans, 4 Numbaddies, 1 Menon, 38 Mohammedans, and 55 slaves. Many of these have come from distant places. They are required to give a small fee for their medicines, which is always cheerfully given. I look forward with much interest to this work, as I feel sure it will create much kindly feeling among the heathen, and thus may prepare the way for their reception of the heavenly medicine of God's blessed word.

THE COCHIN ITINERANCY.

The Rev. F. Bower has been appointed to this department. In March, 1870, it pleased our Heavenly Father to remove Mr. Bower's beloved partner to her rest above. Mr. Bower has been graciously sustained to carry on the important work now entrusted to him. He thus describes the locality of the field, and the nature and character of the population:—

The district in which I am now labouring is large, and apparently has hardly been touched by any European Missionary. It extends eastwards to the mountains, westward as far as Cochin, northward to Cranganore, and southward to Vaikam. The population consists of heathen, Mohammedans, Syrians, Syro-Romanists and a few "black" Jews, as they are called. The great majority are heathen and Mohammedans, "living without God, and without hope." The Syrians and Syro-Romanists, I am sorry to say, are also very ignorant and superstitious. The latter are more so than the former, and, from what I have already seen, are more addicted to drunkenness than the heathen. I fear, from what the heathen sometimes say, they are a great hindrance in these parts to the spread of Christianity. Amongst the Syrians there seems to be a desire for more knowledge; and I am happy to say that already we have seven schools amongst them in which the great truths of the Gospel are taught. One half of the schoolmaster's salary is paid by themselves, and the remainder by the Church Missionary Society. These schools will, I humbly trust, be beneficial, not only to the Syrians, but also, by God's blessing, tend to dispel the darkness of heathenism and superstition with which they are still surrounded. Earnest applications are also being made for more schools. I may also mention that two or three Catanars (Syrian Presbyters), with whom I am acquainted, seem to be conscious of their people's errors, and are, I trust, anxious for their removal. This interesting church has probably existed in Travancore ever since the fourth or fifth century; and may God abundantly bless every effort made for its reformation!

It is too early, humanly speaking, to expect fruit. But the reception met with is not discouraging.

Amongst the upper classes that I have come in contact with, there seems to be a feeling that in Hinduism there is something wanting. It does not satisfy the wants of their immortal souls. All classes, for the most part, appear to be willing to hear the Gospel. Many of them are very much struck with its morality. On two or three occasions I have met several Brahmins who have not only listened to the message of salvation but some of them have also even received tracts. But this seldom occurs except when they are alone, as they seem afraid of influencing others by their example. I have also observed, that when heathenism has been assailed but few comparatively have tried to defend it with any degree of earnestness. Generally speaking, I have found it a pleasure to preach to a group of Hindus, even when opposition has been raised. This does not apply to the Mohammedans. The upper classes, who know something of the Koran, are generally much opposed to the Gospel. A Socinian might please them; but when Christ is declared to be the Son of God, they become angry and go away, or begin to argue about the Koran in such a manner that it is difficult to speak to them. Mussulmans of the lower classes are not quite so bigoted, and will sometimes listen to the story of the Cross with much attention.

MASULIPATAM.

Anglo Vernacular School.

This important branch of the work is under the charge of the Rev. C. Tanner, assisted by the Rev. John Cain and a numerous staff of native teachers, most of whom, alas! as was the case in the days of Mr. Noble, are still heathen. No report or annual letter has been received either from Mr. Tanner or from Mr. Cain. From the Madras statistical tables of September 30, 1870, it appears that at that time there were 272 scholars, of whom five were Protestant Christians.

Vernacular Training Institution.

Mr. Thornton gives the following account of his work:—

The normal school, which is divided into three classes, consists of thirty students. Those comprising the first class, seven in number, have all passed the lowest grade of the Schoolmasters' Certificate Examinations; and if the exigencies of the work do not previously demand their services, I intend, in the course of a year or two, to send them up for the next higher grade, a test which none of our Christian teachers have hitherto succeeded in passing. They have made good progress in their studies generally, but more especially in English, the desire for which is irrepressible amongst Hindu lads of all classes.

The Committee do not object to English being taught in Vernacular Training Institutions; provided that too much time is not given to it, and that the native language is still made the medium of instruction. Mr. Thornton continues:—

The practising school, under its Native Christian master, and with 120 pupils, has made satisfactory progress: thirty-three of the pupils are Christians; the remaining portion, with the exception of a few Mohammedans, are heathens. The boarding school, which contains forty youths, of ages varying from ten to twenty-two, is also going on well, though for the last few months we have had a more than ordinary long sick list. I am thankful, however, that I have to report only one fatal case, and that the first that has occurred for nearly five years. This was a very promising young man sent to me from Dumagudiem by Colonel Haig. He had nearly finished his course of study, and it was intended, I believe, that from the commencement of next year he should take up work in Dumagudiem, where the need of Christian agents is deeply felt; but it pleased God that our plans regarding him should not be carried out. He was in church on the Sunday morning, and remained to the Lord's Supper. In the afternoon he came to me with the request that I would excuse his attending the Bible class, as he did not feel well. On the Tuesday evening following he was in his grave. Till a few minutes before he died he was not thought to be in danger. When, at last, he realized that death was near, he told his companions who were watching over him that there was now no longer any need for their care concerning him: they might go, he said, for Jesus bore him company and was taking him home. And this testimony at the last was well witnessed to by his previous conduct as a student. We all lament his loss greatly, though not for his sake, for we doubt not that the change to him is gain.

Death of a promising Student in the Masulipatam Training Institution.

May this solemn and yet in one respect joyful event remind all connected with the Training Institution of the spiritual character of the work in which they are engaged! Mr. Thornton thus concludes his interesting annual letter:—

I must, in conclusion, refer to the projected change in my work, or rather an extension of it, proposed by myself, and recommended by the Conference. The Corresponding Committee's sanction to the measure has just arrived. The village schools are not doing their duty as feeders to my Institution. The consequence is, that while the students attending here are rapidly being drafted off into the villages, there are no new ones coming in to supply their places. I therefore proposed that my sphere of labour should be extended, by my taking temporary charge of the district schools, with a view to their more thorough organization and working. The Committee having concurred with me, I shall at once adopt measures for carrying the proposal into effect. When the Missionaries who are at present unassigned shall have passed in the language and taken charge of districts, I shall no longer be needed: but by that time I trust I shall have secured for my work here in Masulipatam sufficient material to absorb all my time and energies.

District.

The district, in which there are eighty-six communicants and 422 Native Christians, is under the charge of the Rev. W. Ellington. There have been during the year twenty-eight adult baptisms, and Mr. Ellington, as will be seen, feels able to give a hopeful report:—

I believe that there has been, since I sent my last letter, steady progress and improvement on the whole, both as regards those who have lately come under instruction, and those also who have been baptized, confirmed, or admitted to holy communion.

Were I to find myself giving way at any time to despondency, I know of no better antidote than to set off at once upon a tour through the villages. These tours are always encouraging; and I think I may say that the latest is usually more so than any of the preceding ones. Somehow the impression does gain upon one, that by this or that feature of encouragement the Master is saying to us, "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields, for they are white already to harvest."

Encouragement in the Masulipatam district.

A few weeks ago I was compelled by the monsoon to take refuge for four days in a schoolroom at a village to which I had hitherto been able to do little more myself than pay short visits. I saw during those four days what a really good work had been going on since the school was established. The people had learned to take pleasure in hearing the word and in singing hymns. As I read, and briefly explained John x., they were quick at seeing a reference to the practices of the heathen priests, whom at one time they at least feared, but from whose extortions they now gladly regard themselves as free. On a former occasion I had told them that they must begin to contribute to a church fund; and I was pleased to see that, though all did not give according to their ability, yet that each one brought something, and, I trust, did so cheerfully.

ELLORE.

This district has also been under the charge of Mr.

Ellington. The Christian adherents number nearly 400, the communicants 49; and there have been twelve adult baptisms. Mr. Ellington writes as follows:—

The Ellore district work has the advantage of having been under one head from its commencement. Consequently there is about it a unity of plan which tends to make the duties of a superintending Missionary lighter than they might otherwise have been. My duties have been confined to examining and receiving candidates for baptism, administering the holy communion, meeting the agents for examination and instruction, exhorting adults, examining schools, and supervising the accounts. I take a special interest in this work, from what I remember of Ellore when I first visited it in 1861. The congregation then consisted chiefly of the Missionary's domestics, heathen and Christian, who were daily instructed in the fundamental doctrines of Christianity. I am permitted now to see that this has grown into a work which is rooting itself in at least ten villages, which has three churches, eight schools, and nearly 400 under instruction, of whom 171 are baptized Christians, and forty-nine are communicants. The work continues to expand: only a few days ago I baptized six adults, the first-fruits of a new village.

Advance at Ellore since 1861.

The Anglo-Vernacular School at Ellore is conducted by the Rev. Albert H. Arden. No account of it has been received from Mr. Arden. But from the Report of the Government Inspector, it appears that the average attendance of the year ending February 28th, 1871, had been 130; and that the instruction had been carried on with ability and success. From March till November 1870, Mr. Arden was absent on sick leave. It is hoped that his health is now to some extent restored.

BÊZWÂRA.

In the last Annual Report it was stated that the Rev. A. Bhushanam, the native clergyman, had joined the Rev. T. Y. Darling, to labour with him in that encouraging Mission field, of which Bêzwâra is the head station. On Mr. Darling's return to England, Mr. Bhushanam was left alone at Bêzwâra. But as it was not found possible to organize a Native Church Council for the district, Mr. Bhushanam was placed under the superintendence of the Rev. W. Ellington. There are in the district about 600 Native Christians, of whom 100 are communicants. The native brother writes as follows:—

You will be glad to hear that all our dear people are well, and are going on very satisfactorily in their Christian profession. I visit them every month and spend with them nearly a fortnight. I feel very happy when I am in the midst of them, and they, too, on their part, seem to feel the same. The readers and schoolmasters do their work efficiently. They are all labouring diligently and perseveringly, and it is a very great comfort to me to work with such agents. I have now 138 candidates for baptism, and I have to travel 225 miles in order to visit all our thirty-five Christian villages.

In a letter of still more recent date, Mr. Bhushanam writes:—

Steady progress at Bêzwâra.

I am exceedingly happy to tell you that our work in the district is steadily progressing. Several new villages have lately been added to our number. Our reader assists me very much in my work. He takes great delight in visiting often the villages round the place where he is located. Several people taught by him are anxiously waiting for me to examine them and to baptize them. The young Christians at Posanapilly, Gowrarum, and Konakanchi are going on very satisfactorily. I admitted some of these dear people to the Lord's Table on the last occasion that I was with them.

KOI MISSION.

There has been some disappointment in the work among the Kois. Mr. Darling, who received the first converts into the visible Church, has been compelled by domestic causes to leave India for a time; and the Committee have not been able to send any European Missionaries to Dumagadiem to supply his place. Invaluable help was received from Col. Haig, the superintendent of the engineering works in the Godavery, until his removal to a higher (secular) position in Bengal. Razu, the Native Catechist, continues to be a faithful labourer. The Koi Christians are very feeble, and some of them are a source of much grief to those who have watched for their souls.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced 1817.)

Division of Mission.—I. Colombo and Cotta. II. Baddegama. III. Kandy. IV. Jaffna.

GENERAL VIEW.

STEADY advance now seems to characterize the Ceylon Mission. The progress, though not as yet on any large scale, is of a kind that affords hope for the future. Nowhere have the Missionaries and the converts more readily accepted and more effectively carried out the Society's plans for the self-support and self-government of the Native Church. On hearing of last year's deficit, the Church Councils spontaneously reduced the grant received from the Society by upwards of one hundred pounds. The communicants have increased in number, and more than one hundred and twenty adults have been added to the Church by baptism.

Increased life and spirituality among Ceylon Native Christians.

To this may be added the following extracts from a Report drawn up by the Sub-Committee of the South Ceylon Conference :—

Love for the study of God's word, and prayer, seem to be on the increase among the Native Christians. Also, in many cases they show more anxiety for the spiritual benefit of their neighbours and friends, and use more diligent efforts for their conversion.

The progress of the Mission schools during the past year has been satisfactory. The system of examination by Government inspectors for grants-in-aid, has come into operation for the first time, and has proved very successful. All the schools presented for examination have passed with success and secured grants. The grants obtained have been a great help in increasing the emoluments of the teachers, and so furnishing an additional motive for diligence. The grants have also placed in the hands of the different Missionaries the means of improving their school buildings and school furniture. The girls' boarding-schools at Kandy Station and Borella Road, Colombo, have proved most successful; not only in the number of the pupils, but also in the good effect which they have exercised upon the minds of the pupils. Indeed, the experience already gained has clearly proved that boarding-schools are a most effectual means of good, both moral and spiritual, to all brought under their influence; and the sub-Committee strongly recommend that the number of boarding-schools should be increased whenever opportunity for doing so may occur.

It is painful, however, to add, that in the Government schools the teaching of holy Scripture has been discontinued.

COLOMBO.

It has been thought desirable that in each of those large cities which form centres of Missionary operations there should be connected with the Society an English congregation. Attention is thus called to the Society's work; opportunities are afforded for English residents to show their sympathy; and proof is given to the native population that English Christians living amongst them countenance the labours of the Missionary. The Rev. E. T. Higgens ministers to such a congregation in Colombo.

Singhalese Mission.

The Singhalese Christian congregation during the year was under the pastoral charge of the Rev. H. Gunasêkara; it numbers about seventy adherents, of whom ten only are communicants. The attendance at the Singhalese service in the Mission Church is regular; and the contributions for religious purposes are increasing.

Mr. Higgens is also engaged in evangelistic labour among the Singhalese heathen. Street-preaching is carried on with regularity. Mr. Higgens thus writes:—

The work of street-preaching has been regularly carried on without interruption, as means and opportunities have allowed;

but there has been hitherto no Singhalese catechist attached to this station; and I should have been quite alone in the work but for the constant and efficient help of the Native Pastor of the Singhalese congregation, the Rev. H. Gunasêkara, who has constantly taken part with me in this work. I hope, however, to have one or two catechists to help in this department before long. Our preaching places have generally been—in Colpetty, on the main road leading out of Colombo to Point de Galle; in Slave Island, a thickly inhabited suburb near the Mission Church; at the Police-Court of Walfendhal; and in the centre of the Pettah (the native town). At the last named place we often have congregations of from 100 to 200 people, many of whom frequently listen with the greatest attention, for an hour or more. This quiet attention on the part of the people seems peculiar to Colombo, and I have never met with it to the same extent in any other part of the island. Street-preaching has one great advantage, viz., it enables us to set the Gospel before people who could never be reached in any other way. The Mohammedans, for instance, will never attend a place of Christian worship, and will very seldom hear a word spoken to them privately on the subject of religion; but we scarcely ever preach in the streets without having a number of them about us, and they are generally among the most attentive of our listeners.

Attentive audiences in the streets of Colombo.

Mr. Dowbiggin, who comes in frequently from Cotta to assist in this work, gives the following interesting particulars:—

The weekly preaching in the Pettah, near Kayman's gate, was very well attended. When we commenced singing a hymn, perhaps no one was near; but as the singing proceeded the people assembled, and soon we had a crowd of 150 or 200 around us. Among these people I observed often the same faces, week after week, listening to our message of pardon and peace through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. It was interesting to watch the people assemble, and to observe the hesitating, lingering, and finally stopping to listen, of some of those who at first felt inclined to pass us by. A man would turn a little out of his course to hear a few words, and then move a step or two away; again he would wait and hear a few more sentences; perhaps he would again move further off, and at last come back and wait until the end of our preaching. It was curious to see Tambies (Mohammedan hawkers) and their burthen-bearing coolies draw near to listen, intending, I suppose, only to stay a moment, and then standing half-an-hour, the poor coolie still keeping on his head his large bundle or box of merchandize. These crowds were composed of Singhalese chiefly; but there were always a considerable number of Tamils, Moormen, and Burghers (Eurasians).

One evening the crowd seemed a greater mixture of creeds and races than I had observed before. I saw that some were Roman Catholics by the crosses which were hanging round their necks; (as a rule only the Roman Catholics among the natives wear the cross); and I also noticed an old Christian man of our Talangama congregation present. I began my preaching by an appeal to each religionist in succession, beginning with Buddhism, and ending with the Romanist, to this effect: Was there one among them who by the belief and practice of his faith could say that he had obtained forgiveness of his sins, and had a sure hope of everlasting life? Buddhists, Mohammedans, and Romanists were all alike silent; though I waited for each of them in turn to answer. Turning to the old Protestant Churchman I asked from him the same question. The very light which beamed in his eye was answer enough; but, without hesitation and loud enough for all to hear, he declared that he had found both pardon and peace, and had also a good hope of eternal life. I then asked him to explain how he found pardon and peace; and the old man preached unto them "Jesus and His righteousness." The effect of his declaration was most marked, and the people seemed to gaze with a kind of wonder at the possessor of a pardon and a hope which none of them could claim.

Tamil Mission.

The blessing of God continues evidently to attend the Society's labours among the Tamil population of Colombo.

The Rev. W. E. Rowlands thus writes in his Annual Letter:—

There has been a considerable increase in the number of our adherents during the last twelve months. On the 30th September, 1869, the total number of professing Christians connected with our congregation was 300, and the number of communicants 53. The numbers now are 478 and 84 respectively. Again, during the year 1868-69, the average attendance at our annual Sunday services was only about 130, whereas for the past year it is 183. This increase has resulted from a variety of causes. First, at the urgent request of the Singhalese Modliar superintending them, we have again taken up a congregation of some forty road coolies living in a suburb of Colombo. Secondly, the Slave Island congregation has grown; partly as a result of our boarding school; partly in consequence of several Jaffna men having been led to attach themselves to the congregation, from the circumstance of its being in the charge of a Jaffna catechist, Henderson; and partly in consequence of the district which it comprehends having been more thoroughly worked than in any previous year. Thirdly, additions have been made to the congregation at Mutwal, through the stationing of a catechist there. And, fourthly, thirty-one persons, adults and children, have been admitted to the Church by baptism. Could a larger proportion of the increase be traced to direct conversions from heathenism, we should doubtless have still more cause to rejoice; but it is a matter of thankfulness to God that a number of Christians, before scattered here and there, and, for the most part, attending no place of worship, have been brought under a regular system of instruction, and made to feel that there are those about them who really care for their souls. What I long to see and daily pray for, is such a real turning to God, and such a growth of vital religion amongst our people, as shall give us good ground for believing that they will be "our crown of rejoicing in the day of the appearing of Jesus Christ."

The last twelvemonth has, I am glad to say, done a good deal towards establishing our Native Church Fund, and it has met with a much more general, as well as more liberal, support from the members of the different congregations than formerly. During the year 1868-69 the amount subscribed in various ways was 22*l.* 12*s.* 7¼*d.* (besides a special contribution of 11*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.* to the Jubilee Fund). This year the sum contributed to the Native Pastorate Fund has been 42*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.*, and 4*s.* 2*d.* paid for collecting chatties and boxes, making 42*l.* 9*s.* 7*d.*, or nearly double the amount of the previous year, and more than double the amount of the year before that. It is an interesting fact, too, that of this sum no less than 4*l.* 19*s.* 1¼*d.* was raised within nine months, January to September, by means of the handfuls of rice set aside by some of the women of the congregation when cooking, and brought in on the first Sunday afternoon of each month. About nine months ago, we formed a Church Committee and appointed a Secretary, Treasurer, and Collectors. Since then, as occasion has required, we have held Committee meetings; and all incidental expenses connected with Sunday and week-day services have been met from the Native Church Fund.

Mrs. Rowlands has a boarding school of seventy girls, who pay each a monthly fee of 15*s.* A spiritual change seems perceptible in some of them.

There have been eleven adult baptisms during the year. The Gospel has also been preached to the Coolies in the Cocoanut estates north of Colombo. Some success has been graciously vouchsafed:—

On two estates near Negombo (on the coast, about sixteen miles north of Colombo) a number of men now profess to have renounced heathenism altogether, and to be desirous of embracing Christianity. On the catechist's last visit these people met together on the Sunday for the very purpose of holding a Christian service. A few Bibles had been obtained for them from Colombo by their master, and those who were able to do so read aloud verse by verse the passage which the catechist afterwards explained. They wish very much that a catechist or schoolmaster should come to reside on the spot and carry on their instruction, and I need not say that I am equally anxious to give them one. At present, however, it is not in my power to do so, as I have no means of providing a man's salary; but I intend, as soon as possible, to lay the matter before the planters of the district, and to beg them to do what they can towards making up the required sum. Meanwhile the Mutwal catechist will continue to visit the estates as heretofore.

A Tamil catechist has also regularly visited the jail, where there has been a baptism of one who, as far as man can judge, seems to be a true penitent as well as a convert from heathenism.

COTTA.

During the year under review, Mr. Jones was Chairman of the Cotta Church Council; and there were four Native Pastors connected with the Council—Mr. Gunasêkara at Colombo, Mr. Kannangar at Talangama, Mr. Pîris at Cotta proper, and Mr. M. De Silva at Nugagoda. At the close of the year Mr. Gunasêkara went to Kandy, exchanging places with the veteran native labourer, Mr. Cornelius Jayasingha; Mr. Kannangar was removed to Cotta; Mr. Pîris to Gatamba, near Kandy; while Mr. Daniel Jayasingha was transferred from Gatamba to Talangama. At the same time, the Colombo Singhalese congregation was detached from the Cotta Church Council, and replaced (at least for a time) in its former isolated condition. Mr. C. Jayasingha is thus disconnected from the Native Pastorate, and comes again on the Society's list. It is believed that, on the whole, these changes will prove beneficial. The Christians connected with the Cotta district numbered (by the last returns) 442 of whom 144 were communicants. Mr. Jones reports as follows :—

At Cotta, there is, I think, some improvement. The collections of the whole district come in with regularity, and show an increase, so that in view of the Society's financial difficulties the Council has felt justified in reducing the amount of the Church Missionary Society's grant for the year 1870-71 by 16*l.* The Church Council has assembled regularly. In conducting its proceedings, I have had much kind help from Mr. Dowbiggin, who has on several occasions presided when I have been unable to be present. I cannot say that I consider the constitution of the Council in all respects satisfactory. Its members are chiefly paid agents of the Society; and it therefore evokes but little of independent action. It is a sad, though very significant, proof of the low standard of the Christianity of the district, that so few persons are considered suitable to act on the Council, or are willing to undertake the trouble connected with it. Several of its present members, however, I am happy to say, do exert themselves and show real interest in the welfare of the Native Church.

The Rev. Hendrick de Silva, mentioned above as the Pastor of the Nugêgoda sub-district, writes as follows :—

I am thankful to say that all our members seem to have given up heathenism entirely. The attendance of most of them on the means of grace has been satisfactory. They have contributed for religious and charitable purposes not less than seventeen pounds during the year. The amount of subscriptions contributed by them last year was fourteen pounds. There is another cause for thankfulness, and that is, the increase of labourers. Last year I had received assistance only from four of our members in carrying on the work. This year I have the privilege to record that our number of workers has increased by the addition of five more. Of these nine, four are connected with the Mission as schoolmasters; but the other five are independent helpers. They go about twice a week with me, for the purpose of preaching the Gospel, chiefly to the heathen. They also go at other times by themselves, as they have opportunity, visiting families both of Christians and heathen, conversing with them on the subject of religion, and distributing tracts among them. Besides the meetings conducted by myself, they hold three prayer-meetings a week for the benefit of our own people, and also for that of heathens. These meetings have been attended by a number of adults, about half of whom are Buddhists, varying from twenty to thirty.

Voluntary spiritual labours of Cotta Native Christians.

It should be observed that all these helpers are rendering unpaid service; as even the schoolmasters receive salary only for their work in school, and gain no additional remuneration for these extra labours.

The schools of the Cotta district were under the care of the Rev. R. T. Dowbiggin, who also assisted the Native Pastors by his presence and counsels, and aided some of them in their studies preparatory for receiving priests' orders. At the close of the year, Mr. Dowbiggin was appointed Chairman of the Native Church Council in the place of Mr. Jones, who will thus be able to give more undivided attention to the work in the central provinces.

Mr. Dowbiggin has also commenced Missionary itineration in the districts adjacent to those already occupied near Cotta. He thus speaks of the field still open for efforts of this description :—

There is hardly a limit to the work of itineration which might be carried on in the Western Province. Within comparatively easy distance of Cotta some 20,000 people may be met with in the different villages. If the Missionary has the time and opportunity, he may find a still wider sphere of usefulness. Keeping a distance of eight or ten miles from the sea coast to avoid the stations of the Wesleyans; allowing the same distance from Hangwela to keep clear of the Baptists; until you meet Mr. Jones, of the Kandy Itineration on the east at Ruwanwela, and Mr. Allcock on the south, at the Haycock, the whole of that portion of the Western Province is open to the servant of Jesus, and to be possessed in the name of the Lord; an area of at least 2000 square miles. That portion of the Western Province lying south and south-east of Adam's Peak and Ratnapura I do not suppose has ever been evangelized, if, indeed, a Missionary has ever visited it. "The work is indeed great and large, and the workmen are separated upon the wall, one far from another; but "The God of heaven, He will prosper us; therefore we his servants will arise and build."

Field still open in Ceylon.

BADDÊGAMA.

Baddêgama is (properly speaking) only the head-quarters of the Mission district called by this name, being the village where the Missionary resides. There are nine out-stations. At Baddêgama itself, the population is small; but some of the out-stations are larger and more populous places, especially Balapity and Bentotte, two towns on the coast.

The accounts from this district are very cheering. There has been, it is humbly hoped, a manifest outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Mr. Allcock writes—

God wonderfully blessed our work of special services held at Baddêgama. Once a year all the agents and church members have been in the habit of meeting at Baddêgama for prayer and edification, and expounding the Scriptures. This year they met in September, and a most remarkable revival of religion took place. By the providence of God, a good Amercan brother, Mr.

Taylor, was led to Ceylon and Baddêgama, and he wrought with us most cordially and successfully. Many of our Christian people received light and comfort; and many careless, fruitless Christians and Buddhists were truly converted. I never witnessed such a gracious work of the Holy Spirit before. A large number of children seemed to be pricked to the heart, and to embrace Christ; and some little ones have been the means of leading their aged parents to Jesus. One old man and woman, who had been resisting the truth for years, were overcome by the tears and entreaties of their little daughter, thus fulfilling the ancient prophecy, "And a little child shall lead them." In some parts of Europe this year the battles and the victories have been with confused noise and garments rolled in blood; but in Baddêgama district, the battles of the mighty God have been with peace and joy in the Holy Ghost.

Revival at Baddêgama.

Of the more ordinary pastoral work of the district, Mr. Allcock gives the following account:—

This work has been carried on as usual by three pastoral catechists, under the secular superintendence of the Native Church Council, which pays their salaries. The spiritual condition of the congregations under their charge is satisfactory, and in some instances most encouraging. The spiritual life and earnestness of individual members have improved much. The corporate life and zeal of the Church also have decidedly increased. There are about fifty candidates for confirmation. The number of adult attendants at church has been doubled in some places during the year. Subscriptions to the Native Church Fund have doubled. Last year 40*l.* was subscribed, but this year the subscriptions are more than 80*l.* The Native Church Council, having been informed of the deficit in the funds raised in England, determined to reduce the Church Missionary Society grant 4*l.* for the quarter ending December 31, 1870. Upwards of 35*l.* have been promised for the entire reparation of Baddêgama Church. As in the Churches of Corinth and Galatia, there have been some instances of immorality and apostasy; but on the whole the Native Church is in a very prosperous state, both in spiritual and secular things.

Evangelistic work at several of the out-stations has also been graciously prospered.

At Kimbiya the word of God has been preached with success. Seven Buddhists, some of them headmen, declared themselves on the Lord's side, confessing their sins and belief on His name. All except one continue consistent and firm.

At Getwala a new convert has built a school at his own expense, worth five pounds. In this village the Society's agents were working for a number of years without fruit, and it was abandoned a few years ago. This year a number of remarkable conversions have taken place; and one man, remarkable for drunkenness, uncleanness, and almost every known sin, has been recovered. So far he has proved the genuineness of his conversion by a new and consistent life.

At Ganêgama a number of Buddhists and drunkards have been reclaimed. Here also there are some remarkable instances of notoriously wicked men taking alarm at the wrath to come, and fleeing to Jesus, their only city of refuge.

Dodanduwa still remains a place of interest, and also of opposition. Here the Buddhists are strong and bigoted; but the preaching of the word has been followed by encouragement and success. Four adult Buddhists, fifteen children, and one Roman Catholic profess to have received Christ, and appear to hold fast their confidence. Some backsliding, careless Christians also appear to be recovered.

Balapity and Bentotte still continue comparatively barren.

The spiritual movement in the Mission schools has been already noticed. These schools, amounting to eleven in number, contain about 450 children, and have received favourable reports as regards secular instruction from the Government inspector.

KANDY.

Native Church.

The congregation that worships in the Singhalese Mission Church at Kandy was during the year under the pastoral care of the Rev. C. Jayasingha. The Native Christians connected with it number about 260, of whom 40 are communicants. Some of these are well off in worldly matters, and the congregation on the whole is liberal. It is, however, a cause for deep sorrow that they have not been instrumental during the year in bringing any of their heathen countrymen to a profession of faith in Christ. Another very painful circumstance is that one of its oldest members was tempted to the adoption of heathen ceremonies. It is hoped that he has since been brought to sincere repentance. The Rev. J. I. Jones is chairman of the Kandy Church Council, with which are connected the congregations (just noticed) of the town of Kandy itself, and of the suburbs Gatamba and Katukelê. Mr. Jones also conducts the itinerating Mission, and superintends the work at the more distant out-stations; among which may be numbered the important towns of Gampola and Kurunêgala. The Native Christians, not including the Kandy congregation, number 213, of whom 46 are communicants; and there have been thirteen adult baptisms. The readers of this Report will learn with deep sorrow that the young notary, whose apparent conversion was recorded last year, has it is feared fallen away. Yet on the whole Mr. Jones's annual letter is encouraging. He writes:—

The Kandy Church Council holds its meetings regularly, but there is not very much important business transacted in it; the members, as a rule, contenting themselves with assenting to any proposition which may be brought before them. More life and energy are much needed. Subscriptions at Kandy have kept up fairly, which at both Katukelê and Gatamba have considerably fallen off. On the whole, however, the want of liberality on the part of some of our younger converts has been more than counterbalanced by the willingness to help displayed by some of the more confirmed Christians. Both at Kurunêgala and Gampola the people have commenced to subscribe a considerable sum towards the support of the catechists stationed among them; and I am not without hope that in a short time the entire sum needed for the salaries of these agents may be raised in this manner.

Mr. Jones gives the following additional particulars respecting the Gampola congregation:—

At Gampola, thirteen miles distant from Kandy, a catechist has been resident, preaching in the streets and the neighbouring villages, and visiting alternatively Nâwalapitiya and Pusilâwa, each about eleven miles from Gampola. He has had some encouragement, for the congregation has increased very considerably. Many who, though calling themselves Christians, had been living in disregard of religion, now attend the services regularly, and take an apparent interest in the progress of the work. Two adults have been admitted to the Church by baptism. Lately, in view of the reductions made in the Parent Society's grant, the congregation have organized a plan for the purpose of meeting the expenses of their catechist, and have appointed a Church Committee, in order systematically to carry out their project. I have been present on one occasion only during the proceedings of this Committee, but I was then very much pleased with the energy and earnestness shown.

Two of the out-stations are thus referred to:

At Talampitiya and Hêwâdiwala the sum originally granted as a nucleus to a Church Fund having been nearly exhausted, in consequence of the smallness of the contributions of the people, I took advantage of the opportunity to bring before them the need of self-support, and, as necessary to it, of increased liberality, and told them I could not for the future give them pecuniary help towards the maintenance of their teacher. This caused a little unpleasantness and dissatisfaction for a time; but I think a reaction has to some extent set in, and the people have not only commenced to subscribe more willingly, but seem to be acting with more energy and determination to uphold and advance their Church. The remark of a Buddhist priest in the neighbourhood, that "after two or three of the active ones had died off the whole thing would fall to the ground," has reached them, and, I think, led them to realize that they must exert themselves lest the prophecy of evil should be fulfilled.

Work among the Heathen.

Street preaching in the town of Kandy is carried forward with regularity; a Singhalese catechist being set apart for that work. As regards Missionary itineration and other efforts among the heathen, Mr. Jones writes as follows:—

My chief work during the past year has been that of superintending and carrying on the Kandian itineration; but much less time has been occupied in actual travelling than I either desired or intended. The weather has been unusually wet, and this has prevented my going much through the paddy-fields, around and in the midst of which my work chiefly lies. I have been enabled to visit the catechists at their various stations, directing them, and endeavouring, both by word and example, to encourage them. My only journey into a new district was undertaken in March and April, when I went 100 miles north of Kandy, and spent five weeks in the district of Nuwara kalâwa (of which Anurâdapura is the capital), having there admirable opportunities of preaching the Gospel to many who had never before heard of it. I have since sent two catechists, one of whom is a man of some experience, and considerable power as a preacher, to remain there for a time, and to endeavour, both by preaching and teaching, to build up a spiritual Church of Christ, where Buddhism once flourished, and where its monuments are still the objects of intense veneration.

The evangelistic catechists have as a rule afforded me satisfaction, and some display, I think, increasing energy. The preaching at the police courts at the various places where they are stationed has been vigorously sustained throughout the year.

Anurâdapura, mentioned above, is the ancient decayed half-deserted capital of Ceylon. It is still, however, a town of considerable size, and is crowded with ruins of magnificent Buddhist temples.

Schools.

About 250 children are receiving instruction in the Mission schools, on which Mr. Jones reports as follows:—

The schools have been well attended, and the stimulus afforded by the system of grants in aid lately adopted by Government, will, I have no doubt, act beneficially in stirring up the teachers to fresh exertion. All the schools have just been examined, and there is reason to be satisfied with the result, though the exact amount of grant awarded to them has not yet been communicated to me.

The Girls' Boarding School on the Mission premises, the opening of which was mentioned in the last Report, has been more successful, as regards numbers, than we could have ventured to hope. We have as many girls as we can find room for—in all fifteen boarders—and could largely increase our numbers if our accommodation admitted of it.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

Two European Missionaries, the Rev. W. Clark, and the Rev. E. M. Griffith, are now at work in this field. They are assisted by sixteen Tamil catechists, all of whom are supported by the coffee planters, the Society paying the salaries and allowances of the superintending Missionaries. There are 868 Native Christians, of whom 179 are communicants; and there have been during the year, thirty-two adult baptisms. Mr. Clark thus reports of the Native Christians:—

As the converts are a good deal scattered, only little can be done to teach them; but what can be done is done, and they continue to make some progress in Scripture and other lessons. Services are regularly held in certain places appointed for that purpose, and occasionally in some other places, wherever a few Christians can be gathered together. This year we have had a most gratifying series of confirmations. Fifty came forward and renewed and ratified their baptismal vows. The Bishop was much pleased both at the number who presented themselves, and at their devout behaviour and earnestness. May the ordinance prove a blessing to each one of the candidates! Our converts have disadvantages to contend with, and many difficulties to overcome. All their surroundings are opposed to their growth in spirituality; and the Lord's-day wears but little of the appearance of a sacred day. With the sole exception that no work is required on it—though even that is not always the case, for "in crop" the coolies are too commonly called out to work—it is not distinguished from any other day. Yet many maintain a consistent course, and, by rising above these difficulties, demonstrate the power of divine grace. We cannot say this of all.

Divine grace in Tamil Christians triumphing over spiritual disadvantages.

I am happy to report that there has been an increase of liberality during the year, though not wholly on the part of the converts. They have increased their subscriptions, and they have also collected something from the heathen. There has been an increase of about 36*l.* in the Local Fund on the income of last year. Last year the amount was 79*l.*: this year it is 115*l.* Deducting 6*l.* 9*s.*, which was paid as rent for a grass field, the total increase in the way of subscriptions is 29*l.* This is gratifying, and shows that we have no need to doubt their ability to support a native pastor.

A church for Tamil Christians is to be erected at Kandy. The whole cost is estimated at 1,000*l.*, towards which the converts are subscribing liberally. Mr. Clark gives the following view of the evangelistic work and its results:—

My opinion of this part of our work is that there is quite enough to encourage us to go on cheerfully and hopefully. We have converts. We have had thirty-two adult baptisms during the year. This represents the direct effect of our labours. Some of the cases were of an interesting kind. But these conversions are not the full measure of the fruits of the Mission. Many heathen are being taught the way of life, and the way is being prepared for future more abundant fruits. Generally the people listen willingly and kindly, and often with great earnestness and approbation. Still there is yet much uphill work.

Mr. Clark's native helpers are almost all of them the result of God's blessing on the boarding-schools and training colleges of Tinnevelly. He thus speaks of them:—

The work of the Mission has been carried on in the same regular way as formerly. The same sixteen catechists have been employed, and, for the most part, have given satisfaction. Their work is hard: they are almost always on foot; they are much exposed to viscissitudes of weather; they are, I think, more hardly worked than ever. Their work is more systematized, and they have a larger number of estates to visit. Those who are somewhat advanced in years feel this so much that they begin to show signs of failing, and one, on this account, has asked permission to retire; yet they do their work willingly and faithfully, and, with slight exceptions, deservedly win the approbation and esteem of both Mr. Griffith and myself.

Laboriousness of Tamil Catechists.

The Rev. E. M. Griffith thus speaks of the general effect of the Mission on the Tamil population of the estates:—

An experienced planter, who has been in the island more than thirty years, told me the other day that he thought the Tamil character, as exhibited on the estate, had very materially altered for the better during the time the Mission had been in existence. There is certainly a greater desire for education or schools among them than formerly, though we have to confess that even yet their interest in such things is at a low ebb.

IV. Jaffna District.

Nellore, commenced 1818; Chundicully, 1842; Copay, 1847.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Thomas Good (m), 1866.
Rev. David Wood (m), 1867.

The Native Christians.

The native congregations whom it has pleased God to raise up in connexion with the Society's Mission in Jaffna are now connected with a Native Church Council, of which the European Missionaries, the Rev. Thomas Good (as chairman), and the Rev. David Wood, are members. Mr. Good resides at Nellore, and Mr. Wood at Copay. The Native Christians number 579, of whom 241 are communicants. There have been during the year ten adult baptisms, and three converts from Romanism.

Mr. Good thus writes :—

The four pastors and three catechists paid by the Native Church Fund have given themselves heartily and cheerfully to their work. The men have felt more their responsibility, and this has done good in their congregations. The people look to them more as spiritual instructors. My three fellow-labourers, who had charge of the Chundicully, Nellore, and Cockoville congregations, "having used the office of deacons well," thereby "purchasing to themselves a good degree, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus," were admitted to priests' orders in September. I believe this is progress. I would hope that the trust committed to them will be rightly improved. During the year our Council has met twelve times for a variety of business; and that we have been able to relieve the funds of the Society by 76*l.* is indicative of progress. The total amount contributed to the various funds connected with our Churches for the year under review is 123*l.* 11*s.*, that is at the rate of about 6*s.* 8¼*d.* to each adult member of our congregations. When I say that the ordinary hire of an artisan is 9*d.* or 1*s.*, and of a coolie, or labourer, 4½*d.* a day, it will be acknowledged that this is a creditable amount. And in order to form a correct estimate of the value set upon the blessings of Christianity and civilization by the people, it must also be borne in mind that they have paid more than 100*l.* as fees for the education of their children during the year.

Mr. Wood gives the following instance of discipline maintained by a Native Pastor :—

Strict discipline maintained by Native Pastors.

A man who was baptized at Nellore several years ago came to reside in one of the villages of this district, and became an apostate. Some months ago he came to me and begged to be received back into the Church. As my custom is in matters connected with the Church, I referred him after a little conversation to the Native Pastor. Though in other respects the man appeared sincere, I was glad to find the pastor firm in his refusal to receive him as long as he habitually dishonoured the Lord's-day. It is frequently the case that several persons have shares in a well, and each one has a fixed day for making use of it. It so happened that this man's turn fell on a Sunday. He was desirous of having the use of the well on another day, but no one would exchange with him. He at last succeeded in making an arrangement, and after confessing his fault and expressing his sorrow for it in the presence of the congregation, he was received as a church member. He appears to go on well, and is anxious for the conversion of his wife, who is still nominally a heathen. The observance of the Lord's-day has to be jealously guarded here, there are so many temptations to secularize it.

Our Bishop visited our Mission and work in September last, and though he only spent a week with us, yet he saw and did much. In my part of the field his lordship, at two confirmation services, confirmed fifty-six candidates. He admitted to priests' orders our three native pastors, and laid the foundation-stone of our new church at Cockoville. His lordship also attended some of our moonlight village meetings, and addressed hundreds of the heathen who were assembled at them. He visited our institutions and schools, and expressed himself much pleased with the state and progress of the work.

Evangelistic Work.

Work among the heathen has been carried on vigorously, under many difficulties, but with evident tokens of the Divine Presence. Mr. Good writes as follows:—

In March last I commenced a new work in Mullativoe, a village on the north-east coast of Ceylon, and about seventy-four miles from Jaffna. I have stationed a catechist and two teachers there: the latter have charge of two little schools in two of the villages. The place during one season of the year is unhealthy, and in many respects trying to the faith and courage of those who work there. Nevertheless we believe that God has a people there. He has already given us indications of His goodwill towards them. The parents and children value the efforts of the teachers; and the catechist reports that a very ready and cheerful reception is given to himself and his message. Amongst the villagers there are some inquirers for Zion with their faces thitherward.

The summary of work done by the catechists under my superintendence during the year shows that 6881 houses have been visited, 584 village meetings held, 5,500 tracts and handbills distributed, and 31,401 persons personally directed to Him who is the only Saviour of sinners.

Mr. Wood writes:—

Our work among the heathen is on the whole encouraging.

Varied effects of the Word of God among the heathen.

Our meetings are well attended, and domiciliary visits are well received. There is no doubt a great change taking place on every hand. Men lose confidence in heathenism; they ridicule its follies and superstitions; and yet they join in them. Others openly declare their unbelief in their system, and their conviction that Christianity is true, and refuse to go to heathen temples: but still they stand aloof from us. They need an outpouring of the Spirit on their hearts and consciences to awaken them before we hear the cry, "What must I do to be saved?" On one occasion I had addressed a number of men at Kaithady on the subject of sin and the one atonement for sin. Afterwards four of them followed me into a neighbouring compound, where I again spoke to them. At first they listened in silence, but at last they said, "We believe what you say. We believe that Jesus, of whom you speak, is the true Saviour; but our minds are not affected, and we do not feel these things." I then told them of their need of renewal by the Holy Ghost, and that God would give them His Holy Spirit if they earnestly sought Him. This just describes the condition of many. Intellectually they believe what we teach, but the heart is not touched. Oh for a melting of hearts! Sometimes God's providences rouse the slumbering conscience. One man, who had lost his child, said, "I feel that God calls me to Him by this act, and I feel there is no alternative but to submit to God's will. When my child died I was unable to find comfort until I heard the history of the death of David's child by Bathsheba. Your Bible is indeed the only word of God, and I am resolved to live according to its precepts. I was often persuaded to be a Christian, but I am sorry to say I was drawn away by the world." When his friends urged him to make vows to their gods, he replied, "I am not so foolish as to trust in those dumb idols. They cannot help themselves, and how can they help others."

Schools.

Schools form a very effective part of Missionary operations in Jaffna. Mr. Good thus writes :—

Without any additional cost to the Society I have been enabled to open six new schools during the year, two for girls, and four for boys. One of the latter is an English school, and is altogether supported by fees raised in the school. The total number of children on my school list is, of boys 1,018, and of girls 384, making a total of 1,402, which is an increase on the previous year of 574 children. All our schools, with the exception of those recently opened, have been examined for a Government grant-in-aid.

There has been similar progress in Mr. Wood's district.

Four new schools have been opened and one closed. The total number of vernacular schools in this district is thirteen, viz., nine for boys, and four for girls. Of these, nine were examined in July last for a Government grant-in-aid. The number of children taught in these schools has considerably increased. On the 30th September there were on the rolls 516 boys and 123 girls; total 639. The English school at the station has twenty-eight pupils, and is self-supporting. This school also was examined in the four standards for a Government grant-in-aid, and did very well.

The Training Institution is under Mr. Wood's care. Two promising students completed their course during the year and are now employed as schoolmasters in the Mission. Sixteen are at present under training.

MAURITIUS, MADAGASCAR, AND EAST-AFRICA MISSIONS.

Mauritius Mission.

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies; 2. Bengali or Hindustani-speaking Coolies.

European Mission Establishment:

Ven. Archdeacon Stephen Hobbs (m), to South India, 1839; to Mauritius, 1856.
Rev. Paul Ansorgé (m), to Bengal, 1845; to Mauritius, 1857.
Rev. Henry Dison Buswell (m), to Ceylon, 1862; to Mauritius, 1866.

MAURITIUS is a little island about the size of the county of Hertfordshire. The population in 1865 was 400,000, of whom 200,000 were coolies or labourers who had emigrated from British India to work in the sugar plantations. The greater number of these return after a few years, to their own country; but some permanently settle in the island. About two-thirds of them come from North India, and are known in the island as Calcutta coolies. The remaining one-third, from South India, are termed Madras coolies. There are three European Missionaries at work, and one Bengal Native Minister. All these are stationed in or near Port Louis, the capital. Here also are to be found the greater number of the Native Christians, who number about 500 from Calcutta and nearly 200 from Madras.

Of the three European Missionaries in the island, Mr. Hobbs and Mr. Buswell work among the Madras coolies, Mr. Ansorgé among the Calcutta population. The labours of these three faithful brethren will now be reviewed in succession.

MAURITIUS.

Work of the Ven. Archdeacon Hobbs.

Mr. Hobbs has been as usual much interrupted by diversion to English duties, apparently rendered necessary by the absence of one or more of the colonial chaplains. The almost annual recurrence of this interruption is deeply regretted by Mr. Hobbs—as Missionary activity is thus not inconsiderably withdrawn from the sole object for which the Society's occupation of Mauritius was originally undertaken.

Mr. Hobbs thus speaks of the Tamil congregation at Port Louis:—

My little congregation at Creve Cœur Station is reduced by the removal of some of its members from the neighbourhood. My visits to the cottages about the mountain sides, and those of the catechists, do not succeed in bringing new converts to fill their vacant places. We are obliged to content ourselves with the ready hearing they continue to give to the instructions we offer them in their homes.

The hopeful symptoms among the heathen population at the capital mentioned in last year's Report do not seem to have had any visible result. Attachment to idolatry, however, is evidently declining among the Indians generally. On this subject Mr. Hobbs thus writes:—

Decline of heathenism in Mauritius.

Idolatrous practices seem to be falling more and more into disuse and oblivion; except on the occasion of marriages, when the tom-tom may always be heard. In other parts of the island, also, the numerous little shrines formerly to be seen on the roadsides are disappearing, and heathen rites appear to be confined to a few spots where temples, more or less substantial, have been built. I know only four or five of such throughout the colony.

Work of the Rev. P. Ansorgé.

Mr. Ansorgé reached the Mauritius on June 13th, 1870, after an absence of one year, and was welcomed by the Native Christians with much delight. He rejoices in being set free from the care of the Powder Mills Asylum, and in being permitted to give his whole time to direct Missionary work. In his annual letter he writes as follows:—

The number of Christians belonging to my congregation was at the end of last year 431: this number has been increased; as 135 people, by the Lord's blessing, have been admitted by baptism during the year into Christ's Church. Among these are twenty children of Christian parents; the rest are converts from among the heathen adults with families. Twenty-six of them left for India, twenty-four died; the total number remaining is 506. This number includes all Bengali and Hindustani or Hindi-speaking Christians, who live in town and in the districts of Plaines Wilhems, Moka, Pailles, Grand River, Pamplemousses, Black River, and Flacq. The greater number reside in town. There are eighty-three communicants.

Sunday services are conducted in Hindi and Bengali at various places by Mr. Ansorgé, Mr. Kushalli, the Native Deacon, and the catechists. During Mr. Ansorgé's absence his work was under the superintendence of Mr. Buswell, who bears the following testimony:—

The Calcutta Christians here, as a body, are attached to their church, their pastor, and their Missionary. They are fond of meeting together for mutual edification, and are liberal, in some instances even beyond their means. The efforts they have put forth to assist in the completion of their church sufficiently testify to their appreciation of their privileges and to their willingness to deny themselves in order to perpetuate those privileges to their children. When a newly converted people deliberately agree that their religion shall cost them something, we may fairly anticipate the future. I venture to think that the Calcutta section of our community here will, ere long, contribute many of its members to the ranks of the Church of Christ.

Zeal of Calcutta Christians in Mauritius.

Mr. Ansorgé gives a very interesting account of services held at Christmas and on New Year's Day.

I have been permitted to pass a most blessed and happy

Christmas and New Year's Day among my Indian Christians. I held, as my people begged me, a midnight service on Christmas Eve, at eleven P.M. My church was full; 240 were seated, and about fifty or eighty standing, the greatest number Indians, some Creoles, French, and a few English. The church had been nicely decorated with palm leaves and evergreens. As I knew Creoles would come, I prepared for a French sermon. After the French service, I preached in Bengali; and as I had practised some hymns for the occasion, the singing went on as well as in any English church. We had some Bengali, Hindu, and English hymns, and my former pupils of the Asylum sang the "Oh, come all ye faithful," as heartily as you will have heard that hymn in any of your churches at home. The nice harmonium which I got through Miss Elliott's efforts, whilst I was in England, was for the first time used for public worship, and was played by one of my former pupils of the Asylum.

Christmas services among Native Christians in Mauritius.

On Christmas Day my church was again filled, but these all Indians. Many of my Christians who live far away got leave for some days during this time, and had come to attend. I began service at 10.30 A. M. Had fourteen baptisms after the second lesson—some adults and some children. After the sermon I had communion, when sixty people of my congregation partook of the Lord's Supper. This has been the largest number I have had since I have been back in Mauritius. The Bengali service was over at 2 P. M., and a few minutes after this I began the Hindui service again—many present. I had again a few baptisms of adults, and left them the Rev. Charles Kushalli to preach, and had to start to get the train to take me to Plaines Wilhems for the service at St. Thomas's church. Brother Buswell had some baptisms of adults. I had some Calcutta people, seven in number, and he some Madras people. After this we gave the Lord's Supper, for which I had seven, and he about twenty communicants. Our service here was also well attended; it was a blessed day. I had also a night watch service on the 31st December, 11 P.M., and this as well as the New Year's Day service was very well attended.

Evangelistic work is continued, but the fewness of the labourers is deeply felt. On this subject the native brother, Mr. Kushalli, writes as follows:—

I hope by God's grace some of the heathen will by-and-by be converted to Christianity. I am glad to be able to say that the catechists (four in number, two residing in town, one at Pailles in Moka district, one at Beau Bassin in Plaines Wilhems district) are working zealously and conscientiously. I am very sorry to say, that the present number of catechists is a very small one. Very much could be done if we had more catechists, say two in each district; for "the harvest truly is great but the labourers are few." And the subscriptions are also very difficult to be had now in this island; otherwise we could keep more catechists. The work in town is so great, that we have almost no time left to us to go and preach in the country, where they are always very glad to hear the Gospel of Christ. If the Society could manage to give us more catechists for some time, these poor dying souls could hear more of the great merciful Saviour. Last year the Rev. John Baptist (the Native Deacon of the Society for Propagation of Gospel Mission) and I, went on a Missionary visit at the Bible Society's direction. We went as far as Savanne; we found there an estate, where the Indians had never before heard the Gospel; they all ran to hear the glad tidings, the message of love come from the loving and saving Lord. They had never before heard that poor sinners, such as they are, had a Saviour, a way to escape from the wrath to come. Great was their surprise to hear such tidings; and great was our surprise, too, to see them so attentively listening to the Gospel's news.

Earnest pleading of a Native Minister for an increase in the number of preachers.

Work of the Rev. H. D. Buswell.

Mr. Buswell, by an arrangement between the Society and the Bishop of the Diocese, gives part of his time to the care of an English congregation, and part to Missionary work among the Madras coolies. His station is at Plaines Wilhems about eight miles south of Port Louis, the capital. He reports as follows:—

With reference to my own work amongst the Tamils, I am thankful that I can report progress; indeed I may add that the advances made have exceeded my expectations, and are such as to make it very evident that the increase has been of God. Did my other duties only admit of my studying the Tamil as when in Jaffna, and of working uninterruptedly amongst the Tamil people, I feel sure that a large increase to the number of our inquirers would be the result. As it is I can only express my gratitude to the God of all grace for what He has done amongst us.

Between fifty and sixty of the Tamil Christians have left Plaines Wilhems to return to India. There does not seem to have been any corresponding immigration. There have been 45 adult baptisms, of the circumstances of which Mr. Buswell has given no account. The whole number of Tamil-speaking Native Christians connected with the Plaine Wilhems district is 93, of whom 32 are communicants.

Præparandi Class

This also is under the charge of Mr. Buswell. It is much to be desired that the number of Preparandi may be increased. Mr. Buswell writes :—

The four boys I have been teaching and training for Missionary work have been continuing their studies. We are now stationing one in a school in Port Louis, where, being near to the indefatigable Native Pastor Kushalli, he will be gradually initiated into Missionary work. Another, who gives promise of usefulness, has been made a scripture reader, and is working satisfactorily with me.

Madagascar Mission.

Vohimâro, commenced 1863 ; Andovoranto, commenced 1866.

Rev. Thomas Campbell, 1863.
Rev. Herbert Maundrell (m), 1863.
Rev. Walter Dening (m), 1870.

ANDOVORANTO.

This station is on the eastern coast of Madagascar ; on the same latitude as the capital Antananarivo, and about 70 miles south of Tamatave, the principal seaport of the island. The road from Tamatave to the capital runs along the coast until it reaches Andovoranto, and then turns westward into the interior. The Rev. H. Maundrell and the Rev. W. Dening were the Missionaries of the station.

Mr. Maundrell has beenin Mauritius during several months of the year, being compelled by repeated and protracted attacks of fever to leave Madagascar. He has lately been instructed by the Committee, at the suggestion and invitation of the Bishop of Mauritius, to take up work amongst the Malagassies resident in Mauritius ; locating there his class of præparandi. Meanwhile Mr. Dening takes his place at Andovoranto.

Mr. Maundrell's account of the work and the opportunities in Andovoranto and its neighbourhood is very interesting.

Perhaps the most encouraging mark of progress in the Mission is the fact that initiative steps have been taken during the past year towards securing eventually the independent standing of the Native Church. A Church Council has been formed, to which we have committed the paying of the native agents and other matters connected with the general principle of self-support. Though the Native Christians on the coast are not yet sufficiently intelligent or numerous to dispense with much of European supervision and pecuniary aid, yet they have readily perceived the duty and privilege of making their Church self-supporting, and of sending the glad tidings of salvation to their heathen neighbours.

Independent standing of the Native Church in Madagascar.

No one can review the Madagascar Church without gratefully acknowledging that the Lord has done great things for her, whereof we are glad. Nowhere in Madagascar can the natives now accuse their rulers of not permitting them to accept the Christian religion; on the contrary, not "to pray" is beginning to be as odious and dangerous as it was formerly to do so. This is especially the case in Imerina (the central province), and very largely so on the coast also. Our congregations accordingly have had large accessions in numbers, and there is every facility for Missionary enterprise, both evangelistic and educational. To advance the former, the catechists stationed at Vohiboahazo, Tanimandry, and Vavony, have visited, as frequently as possible, the villages in their respective neighbourhoods. They are unable to do much in this way, as each of them is in charge of a school and congregation.

The educational department of the Mission received an impetus at the beginning of the year through the Prime Minister's kind favour. He gave orders that in each of the villages of Andovoranto, Tanimandry, and Vohiboahazo, thirty children should regularly attend school. He also promoted the præparandi class to be his own aide-de-camps, allotting to them the duty of first learning and then teaching. This was not done to compel them to a Missionary life, but to prevent their being appointed by Hova officers on the coast to secular pursuits after they had been trained up for Missionary work at the expense of the Society. The class is composed entirely of the first-fruits of our Andovoranto and Vohiboahazo schools.

Assistance given to the Mission by the Madagascar Prime Minister.

Mr. Dening gives the following account of the reception given to himself and Mrs. Dening on first reaching Andovoranto.

At Andovoranto we had a wonderful reception. Shortly before we reached the village, a crowd of people of all ages, and of both sexes, met us, reminding us of what we read in Acts xxviii. 15. They seemed at a loss to know how to express their joy at our arrival. When we reached our new home others were waiting to greet us, amongst whom was the Governor of Tanimandry, accompanied by several officers, who all take a great interest in our work. The Governor always takes a Bible class, which Mr. Maundrell has been in the habit of holding at Tanimandry, and which I had the pleasure of commencing again a few weeks before we left. Mr. Maundrell having sailed for Mauritius, we were deprived of having the people's good wishes on our behalf interpreted to us. For several days people came to visit us, and as my knowledge of the language increased, I became more and more assured of the fact that the people were overjoyed at our settling amongst them.

Joyful reception of a Missionary by Malagasy Christians

Mr. Dening adds :—

I found at Andovoranto a most interesting and promising præparandi class formed by Mr. Maundrell. These lads came to me daily for instruction. This was very useful in helping me to attain the language. After a short time, I attempted to explain the Bible to them, which highly delighted them. This soon led to my giving short addresses in the Sunday services. The people are always willing to listen to the Gospel, so that a wide field of usefulness is open and our work capable of being expanded in all directions. Out-door preaching might be carried on with great ease, as the common respect which the Malagassies possess for all foreigners would always secure a hearing.

VOHIMÂRO.

This station is also on the eastern coast of Madagascar. It lies about ninety miles south of the extreme northern point of the island and more than four hundred miles north of Andovoranto. It was the scene of the first labours of the Society's Missionaries in Madagascar, in the year 1863. It was abandoned by the Missionaries in 1866, as being an unpromising field from the sparseness of the population. But the seed sown sprang up and brought forth fruit after the European labourers were withdrawn. The Native Christians held together and were enabled by God's grace to gather converts from among their countrymen. On hearing of this, and receiving a request from these Native brethren that one of their fathers in Christ would revisit them, Mr. Campbell proceeded to Vohimâro in 1869. On the early part of December 6, 1870, he writes as follows :—

Seed springing up and bringing forth fruit after the Missionaries had withdrawn.

It is with thankfulness to the God of Missions that I have to record the progress of His work; to Him therefore, let us render all the praise! I look upon my arrival here as a most providential occurrence; and am constrained to confess that the Lord directed my steps hither, and has held me here, contrary to my first intention. A deep-laid plot seemed to have been made by the late Governor, and several other wicked men, to root up our work here. "They said in their hearts, let us destroy them together:" but "the Lord blew upon them," and their wicked devices were scattered to nought. "If it had not been the Lord who was on our side when men rose up against us; then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us;" but, "Blessed be the Lord who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth. Our soul is escaped as a bird out of the snare of the fowler; the snare is broken and we have escaped. Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth."

My present sojourn has lasted for more than a year and a half. On my arrival in May, 1869, there were two churches in these parts; one at Soavinandriana, conducted by Paul Rabe, who was baptized by me at Andovoranto, two or three years ago; and the other at Vohimâro, under John Ratsiza and Simeon Ratsitera. At the present time there are four churches, that at Soavinandriana having been enlarged and re-opened. I have, since my arrival, baptized forty-seven persons—twenty-three men, fifteen women, and nine children. I have also solemnized thirteen marriages. This latter, considering the character of the Malagasy, I look upon as a most important circumstance. The number of communicants is about thirty, more or less; and the average attendance on the Lord's-day about 200. I believe this to be rather an under estimate, but I prefer being under the mark to being over it. A great number of lesson-books have been disposed of, and many have learned to read; some having been taught by their friends and relatives; and others by several zealous members of our congregations. All my helpers, eight in number, are "volunteers." Three are soldiers, three slaves, and two are Sakalava freemen.

East Africa Mission.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. John Rebmann, 1846.
Rev. Thomas Henry Sparshott (m), 1867.

It is not in the Committee's power to furnish encouraging accounts of this Mission in reference either to extension or to the spiritual life of the native converts. Yet both Mr. Rebmann and Mr. Sparshott urge that it should not be abandoned. The former speaks of the people as being still unprepared for instruction; and regards East Africa as not yet a field which justifies the expectation of great results in numbers of converts. "We are, as yet," he adds "within the time of preliminary labours." Mr. Rebmann has spent a considerable portion of the year at Mombas, partly from ill health, and partly from the disturbed state of the country; there being some appearance of an effort on the part of the native tribes to rise in insurrection against the Arab dynasty which is represented by the Sultan of Zanzibar. The present Sultan succeeded his brother on the 10th of October, 1870. No decisive steps have yet been taken to terminate the hideous atrocities of the slave traffic which desolates this part of Africa, and of which Zanzibar is the head-quarters.

The Committee have instructed Mr. Rebmann to visit Europe for the purpose of recruiting his health, and also of conferring with them on the best mode of preserving and utilizing the fruits of his literary labours in the native languages. Mr. Sparshott had been instructed by the Committee to visit Seychelles; as well for the sake of his own and Mrs. Sparshott's health—both of them having suffered severely for many months, from continuous attacks of fever—as with a view also of ascertaining what openings might exist in Seychelles for the settlement and instruction of liberated slaves. Mr. Sparshott remained in Seychelles from January 1870 to March 1871. He then proceeded to the Mauritius, where he received priests' orders on April 1st, and is now, it is believed, at Mombas; which the Committee have recommended should be for the present the head-quarters of the East Africa Mission.

THERE is no Mission in which the Committee feel more deeply interested than in that which has been commenced in the Chinese empire. Earnestly do they wish that the liberality of the Church at home would enable them to extend operations among this vast division of the human race to a degree more commensurate with the magnitude of the field. China was scarcely open for Protestant Missionary effort until the year 1844. At that time the Society's Missions in other countries absorbed and required nearly the whole of its resources. Unless, therefore, the older Missions were crippled—which none would advocate—it was only by an increase of the Society's aggregate receipts that it could attempt Missionary work in China. Through the mercy of God, such increase has not been withheld, though the Committee still ask for more.

HONG KONG.

The Rev. John Piper has not only been single-handed at this station, but has been to a large extent diverted from Missionary work by a call, which under the peculiar circumstances of the case seemed absolutely imperative, to perform chaplain's duties to the English community. This necessity Mr. Piper much regretted. He was relieved from the burden in March of the present year. No report has been received from Mr. Piper, or from the native brother, the Rev. Lo Sam Yuen. The former, however, states that during the year there have been no baptisms, but that the preaching has gone on as usual.

FUH-CHAU.

The Rev. A. W. Cribb and the Rev. J. Mahood have been the European Missionaries at this station during the last year; the Rev. John Wolfe having been compelled for health's sake to visit England. They have a native fellow-labourer, the Rev. Wong Kiu Taik. Though there have been 59 adult baptisms during the year, the number of professed and registered Native Christians has diminished from 435 to 340. This will cause regret, but no surprise, considering the molestation to which Native Christians have been subjected in various parts of China. The number of communicants has not diminished, being still about 150. There are other cheering proofs that the word of God has been effectually working among them that believe.

Mr. Cribb writes as follows:—

Beginning of "self-support" at Fuh-Chau.

One feature of encouragement is the fact that we have made a commencement towards placing the Church on a self-supporting basis. A Committee of six members was elected at a general meeting, held in June last, to promote this object; and it has been resolved to pay the salary of the Native Deacon, the Rev. Wong Kiu Taik, from the Native Church Fund, commencing from October 1st last. I would not advise the Committee to be too sanguine on this subject. I hope we may not have to place him again on the list of the agents paid by the Society; but at present the action we have taken must be considered only as experimental.

Evangelistic labours by the Society's agents in the city of Fuh-Chau are thus described by Mr. Cribb:—

In Fuh-Chau itself, both at the North Street and South Street chapels, we have had services three days weekly. The former chapel is still under my own charge, and I am thankful to say that since its re-erection (which took place early in the year, through the kind assistance of friends in Fuh-Chau), the audience has been considerably larger than formerly. The South Street chapel has been under the direction of our worthy native clergyman, the Rev. Wong Kiu Taik, who has devoted himself zealously to the work. The student catechists attend these services, and take part in the proceedings. The Sunday services at the church in Back Street, which have been shared by the Revs. J. E. Mahood, Wong Kiu Taik, and myself, have been attended by many heathens, curious to see our mode of worship. A marked improvement over previous years has been evident, not only in the number, but also in the attention and demeanour of these visitors. I am happy to add that one man, who for some time past has attended these services, has now professed himself an inquirer, and gives some promise.

Mr. Mahood gives further particulars.

This year upwards of two thousand copies of portions of the word of God will have been sold in the city and suburbs. Whenever I could spare the time, I accompanied one of the colporteurs of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and I have been exceedingly pleased with the result. The plan we have now adopted, both in the city and country districts, is, never to give away a portion of the Scriptures without payment, and we find so far that the plan has answered well. The careless passer-by does not wish to give his money away for a book he does not want, and which he may not even be able to read. The plan we adopt in selling them, is to stand near some thoroughfare where strangers are constantly passing and repassing from all parts of the country. The strangers are generally attracted by seeing a foreigner sell books, and in a short time a crowd assembles, and we are generally able soon to dispose of a good number of books.

Sale of Scriptures at Fuh-Chau.

It has pleased God to give much encouragement in some of the out-lying districts. Mr. Mahood thus writes:—

The work in the out station in the Ku Cheng district is becoming exceedingly encouraging. The Lord seems to have blessed the seed which has been sown there in faith and prayer by my dear brother Missionary, Mr. Cribb. In Sang Jong, one of our most distant stations, many have heard the word of life proclaimed, and nine persons have reported themselves as inquirers. Some time ago Mr. Cribb and I were taking a Missionary tour round all our stations, and to our great satisfaction we met with portions of the Scriptures in a village twenty miles from Sang Jong, and on making further inquiries we found the people had heard the Gospel preached there, and were favourably disposed towards Christianity.

Deeply interesting is the account given by the same Missionary of what is going on in Ang Jong, a village sixteen miles from Ku Cheng. The instruments which the Lord has used are two Native Christian artisans, who support themselves by their own labour, receiving no pay from the Society.

At Ang Jong, through the unceasing efforts and pious example of a carpenter and a tailor, who were converted some years since to Christianity, the work of God seems to make rapid progress. The carpenter, before he was baptized, was so desirous of obtaining a knowledge of the Christian religion, that every Saturday he walked a distance of about thirty miles to join the people of God in worship at Ku Cheng on Sunday, returning on Monday to his usual employment. By his conversation and consistent example he influenced the tailor to embrace Christianity and to forsake sin. The latter, ever since his baptism, has devoted every spare moment in endeavouring to bring others to the light in which he himself rejoices. The consequence is, that not only has he spread the Gospel in the village where he lives, but in all the villages around, varying from ten to twenty miles in distance, there are whole families who profess the Christian faith, and are being instructed in the doctrines of the Bible.

Two unpaid Chinese evangelists.

Near Ku Cheng there is another man, who, by the influence of these two Christian tradesmen, has been led to a knowledge of Christ, and who is now almost as zealous as his teachers in spreading forth the Gospel. He lived with one of them several months, that he might be instructed in the Christian faith, and he is now going forth telling others of that Saviour whom he has found precious to himself. The great secret of the success of the carpenter and tailor is, that in the first instance their hearts were truly changed by the Spirit of God. By faith in the crucified Redeemer they obtained that peace which passeth understanding, and their delight is to make others happy too. The catechist, when he saw the work that was going on, said to me, "This is something real. One man like the tailor is worth a hundred ordinary believers, who merely profess Christ without showing any love for Him by their lives." The chief theme of his conversation from morning till night is the love of God as manifested in sending Christ to save sinners. When those around him begin to talk about worldly things he has a happy way of always turning them back to the conversation about their souls' salvation. No precious time is lost by him in foolish gossip. The only thing he knows amongst men is Christ and Him crucified.

I had the extreme pleasure at Ang Jong of admitting into the visible Church of Christ by baptism five adults, who for the past three years, regardless of the threats and frowns of the heathen around them, have observed the Sabbath, meeting in worship both morning and evening. When asked what they would do, supposing the Emperor would hereafter persecute them because they had forsaken the faith of their forefathers, the answer was, "The Emperor can only kill the body, but God can kill both soul and body; therefore we ought to fear God rather than the Emperor." There are also fourteen other adult inquirers and twenty children in the same village who have for the past twelve months made a profession of their faith in Christ; but their baptism I postponed until they receive further instruction in the word of God. They are now raising funds among themselves to contribute towards the general welfare of the Mission in other places, and the old carpenter has first shown the example by contributing about one-tenth of his annual earnings.

I must confess I myself received a great deal of benefit by spending a day with the Christians of Ang Jong. We had a general prayer-meeting with the converts in the evening, after the five adults were baptized, and a more solemn, earnest prayer-meeting I never attended. Some wept with joy, whilst others poured forth their petitions to God for the outpouring of His Spirit upon the people around. I believe in that whole district Satan's stronghold is shaking to the foundations.

With the view of raising up well-instructed preachers, Mr. Cribb has a Præparandi class of eleven students, and a preparatory boarding school for the sons of Native Christians with sixteen inmates.

NINGPO, SHAOU-HYING AND HANG-CHAU.

General View.

Connected with the three stations of Ningpo, Hang-chau and Shaou-hying, there are altogether 450 Native Christians, of whom 300 are communicants. The numbers last year were 418 and 282 respectively. The agencies employed were thus summed up by the Rev. W. A. Russell in December, 1870:—

The machinery in this work is as follows:—Eight European Missionaries and one European lady—five labouring at Ningpo, two at Shaou-hying, and two at Hangchow; seventeen native catechists—twelve in charge of out-stations, who act as pastors to the native flocks as well as carry on more directly evangelistic work, and five whose time is principally occupied in preaching to the heathen in our chapels and elsewhere. Again, we have two boarding schools, one for the sons and the other for the daughters of our converts; the former taught by a Native Christian teacher, and the latter by Miss Laurence, with the help of a Native Christian woman; also two day-schools for girls taught by Native Christian women. And in addition we have three Bible women, who render us very valuable service amongst their own sex.

Since then the Mission has been strengthened by the return of the Rev. J. D. Valentine. Mr. Russell thus speaks of the native converts:—

The past year has not presented any features of a very marked kind amongst our Native Christians. All that we can say is, that we trust that they are steadily growing in knowledge and Christian stability. The shock of the Tien-tsin massacre, and the consequent danger in which they were placed, they seemed to bear with much Christian fortitude, and to manifest even more anxiety on ours than on their own account. Besides, their regular attendance on the means of grace, their evident appreciation of our beautiful liturgical services (shown by their hearty responses), the reasonable amount of their contributions (according to their limited means), to our Church and Poor Funds, seem to warrant the hope that we have not laboured in vain, nor spent our strength for naught amongst them.

Character of Ningpo Native Christians.

As regards the general attitude of the population, there was considerable excitement at the time of the Tien-tsin massacre. But through God's mercy this has passed away; the demeanour of the people has assumed its wonted friendly character; and "we are permitted," adds the Missionary, "without let or hindrance to go in and out amongst them, and to make known to them the message of our Redeemer's love." Under date Jan. 16th Mr. Russell adds:—

To-day there has appeared for the first time in this city an Imperial edict, informing the people of the final settlement of the Tien-tsin difficulty, and expressing the hope that now the most friendly relations will be re-established between natives and foreigners. And this, I am persuaded, will have a beneficial tendency.

NINGPO.

The City of Ningpo.

The work at Ningpo itself is thus described by Mr. Russell:—

On Sundays we have a Chinese morning service, commencing at 10 A.M., at our principal church, which is generally conducted by a European Missionary, and pretty much as our morning services at home, including hymns and the chanting of the canticles. This, as a rule, is the best attended of all our services. The last few Sundays, especially, the attendance has been, from some cause, unusually large, both of Christians, inquirers, &c. At 3 P.M. we have an English service for the European residents. At 4 P.M. we have three more Chinese services at different places, of a less formal kind than the forenoon one, conducted sometimes by ourselves, and sometimes by the native catechists: and, at the same hour, one especially intended for the outside heathen. During the week we have services every day but Saturday in two of our chapels, altogether intended for, and adapted to, the heathen.

The Rev. F. F. Gough has been again employed in instructing and training catechists. He appears at present to have no Præparandi Institution, his pupils being all of them in charge of out-stations. He thus writes:—

I have interesting, and, I hope, profitable meetings with the catechists when they come up, as they do monthly, to Ningpo. We have gone through the first nine chapters of Acts, occasionally taking up some portion out of the course. Once, for instance, we read the defeat of the Midianites and the deliverance of Israel by Gideon, applying the history to the spiritual work in which they are employed.

Mrs. Gough has charge of two girls' schools in Ningpo; of which the following account is given by her husband:—

Mrs. Gough's two schools in the city, one near her own house, the other near the south gate, have been attended with much blessing this year: several girls and women have been baptized this year, the fruit of this work.

Sœnpoh.

This out-station, or rather cluster of out-stations, has been under the care of Mr. Gough. He writes—

The principal station at Sœnpoh, Kwun-hæ-we, has been passing through a very trying season, partly arising from without, and partly from within, illustrating Acts xx. verses 29 and 30, especially the latter verse. I long to see a competent Native Pastor in charge of that interesting but trying station.

Itinerant preaching.

In this department the Rev. James Bates has met with much encouragement; so far, at least, as regards willingness to listen to the message.

I was astonished when I went out to itinerate among the country villages to see how different was the state of things to what I had anticipated. As soon after the summer as the weather and my time permitted, I commenced, as usual, my visits to the Eastern Lakes and Tsông-ts'eng. I found the people all well-disposed, and apparently undisturbed by what had taken place. I travelled through many scores of villages, and far beyond Ningpo, in company with the catechists and never met with the least abuse or ill-treatment. It was rarely that any reference was made, at least in my presence, to Tien-tsin affairs or foreigners. In many places I was received with the greatest friendliness and hospitality. At a village called Nga-meng-dzeh-full forty li beyond Tsông-ts'eng, I stayed over-night in the house of one of the villagers, and received from him every mark of kindness and attention. In the morning my host voluntarily offered his help to myself and the catechist as a guide during our tour among the hills. He proposed to accompany us for a trip extending over two or three days; but this proposal, owing to our limited time, we were obliged most reluctantly to refuse. He, however, conducted us for a good long day over steep and precipitous hills, introducing us among his friends, and giving us many favourable opportunities for communicating the glad tidings of salvation. At another village, and in a different direction, we had long and interesting conversations with a family, who, after having set before us a good mid-day meal, entreated us to remain with them until the next day. Other instances of this kind might be mentioned, all of which go to show that, after all, so far as Ningpo is concerned, the opponents of Christianity have not done very much towards strengthening the prejudices of the people against us.

Friendliness of Chinese villagers towards the Protestant Missionaries.

SHAOU-HYING.

Mr. Russell thus speaks of the Missionary occupation of this city:—

The arrival of our new men, Messrs. Elwin and Palmer, in the spring, and the consequent increase of our forces, led us to feel that the time for the enlargement of our borders, and the occupation of fresh ground in this province, had already come. Accordingly, after much deliberation and prayer, we determined to open, if possible, another central station in the departmental city of Shaou-hying. This, happily, we were soon able to effect, through a providential concurrence of circumstances, and now we have located there Messrs. Valentine and Gretton, who nobly volunteered for this service. Considering the position of Shaou-hying, lying on the route between Ningpo and Hang-chau the provincial capital—the large population of the city itself, not less than 600,000—and the numerous towns and villages lying round about it in all directions, having in them probably 2,000,000 of souls, and all easily accessible by canals, it must be regarded as a sphere of Missionary enterprise inferior to none in the Chinese Empire.

The China Mission enlarging its borders.

Shaou-hying is an old station re-occupied. There is not, however, at present any Native Christian community attached to the Society at the place. Mr. Gretton writes:—

Shaou-hying, although on the great water-way from Ningpo to Hang-chau (being distant from the former about one hundred miles, and from the latter only about thirty), has little in common with either. The dialect is peculiar to itself, so that both Mr. Valentine, who speaks Ningpo, and myself, who speak Hang-chau, find it necessary to learn Shaou-hying before we can do much among the native inhabitants of the city. Although this is the first permanent occupation of Shaou-hying by our Mission, it is not by any means the first attempt to obtain a footing here. The Rev. J. S. Burdon, now of Peking, resided here for some time before the Tai-ping rebels devastated this district. The Rev. T. Fleming also lived here for a short time. Our present assistant is one of the fruits of Mr. Burdon's labours. To the lover of antiquity Shaou-hying is invested with special interest. It is the burial place of the "great Yü," the chief founder of the Chinese Empire. His tomb stands in a lovely spot at the foot of some hills, a short distance from the city, in a south-easterly direction. Several monarchs, too, of the southern Sung dynasty were buried in the Shaou-hying plain. The present condition, however, of these memorials of ancient greatness is a striking proof of the apathetic indifference with which the Chinese of the present day look upon all such things. The last time I visited the tomb of the great Yü I found the temple which contains his image tenanted by a colony of bats, some of which were of enormous size. How forcibly did such a scene remind me of that well-known passage in Isaiah, "In that day a man shall cast his idols . . . . to the moles and to the bats!" May we not hope that the time is not far distant when the people shall not only, as now, through indifference allow unclean animals to take possession of their idol temples, but shall also take those idols and cast them as unclean things into the haunts of such animals as their only fit receptacle?

The work has commenced.

The people willingly receive our books, and hear our doctrine, and we are gradually getting a few of the neighbours to attend our stated services. We have just completed a little chapel for our daily prayers and Sunday services. It is not a new building, but only a large Chinese hall fitted up as a place of worship, and which, when fully seated, will hold nearly two hundred people. At present, however, we have only seats for thirty or forty.

HANG-CHAU.

The Rev. G. E. Moule on returning to China in 1870, resumed his post at this city, which he reached at the end of March in that year. With him is associated the Rev. Arthur Elwin. Neither of these brethren have favoured the Committee with a Report or Annual Letter. The following interesting extract is taken from a letter by the Rev. G. E. Moule, dated Hang-chau, July 12, 1870:—

On the whole the number of names of persons baptized in Hang-chau had increased from eleven to twenty. One (P'un) had died. Two were suspended, or self-excluded (I fear finally); and one, self-excluded through pride or passion, was showing a wish to return. One also had left Hang-chau for his own district many miles off. I have at present three applicants for baptism, a promise of fruit produced in my absence. A fourth I also account as such, who, from his occupation, that of a travelling cooper, can seldom visit me for instruction. He is the friend of a Christian cooper, James Dzang, brother of the catechist John, from whom he has received much of his knowledge, and who brought him up a month ago for further training. They both work in the regions beyond Hang-chau.

SHANGHAE.

Shanghae was first occupied by the Society in 1845. As several other Missionary Societies, including that of the American Episcopal Church, were labouring there, and as the openings at Ningpo appeared far more favourable, the Society's European labourers were withdrawn from Shanghae in 1863. The Rev. Dzaw Tsang Lae, a faithful and excellent Native Missionary, was left in care of the few Native Christians that were connected with the Society. On his death, in October, 1867, these were transferred to the charge of the American Episcopal Mission. It has been thought desirable during the past year to resume this station, which is now occupied by the Rev. T. M'Clatchie, who thus returns to the scene of his former labours. Mr. M'Clatchie first joined the China Mission in the year 1844; and it was at Shanghae, in June 1845, that he first fairly commenced the work. Compelled by failure of health to return to England in 1853, Mr. M'Clatchie afterwards laboured at Peking. Subsequently to this he transferred himself, with the consent of the Committee, to labour among the English residents in China. He has now once more rejoined the Mission. On returning to Shanghae, Mr. M'Clatchie found the (material) church in a dilapidated condition, and the thirty Native Christians dwindled down to sixteen. But he is hopeful as regards the future.

I have had the church restored to its former state, to the great gratification of our converts, who used to attend it formerly, and the services now go on as in the first years of the Mission. The neighbourhood around is a quiet one, but thickly inhabited, the houses surrounding the church on all sides: so that with patience and perseverance, and an active and zealous catechist to visit each family, a steady congregation may be gathered, instead of the large and fluctuating assemblies to be gathered in populous thoroughfares. Our services at present are—morning service at half-past ten o'clock; reading the Scriptures, and conversation for all who wish to attend, from twelve till two o'clock; and afternoon service at half-past two o'clock on Sundays. During the week I have service on Wednesdays and Fridays at three o'clock P.M. To meet the spiritual wants of the present mixed population around the church, I intend shortly to hold service in the Mandarin dialect on Sunday mornings, and in the local dialect in the afternoons. Of my former blind class, which numbered sixteen members, only one is alive at present. From several months' residence and free intercourse with the people in the city, I have come to the conclusion that a Mission vigorously and uninterruptedly carried on here would flourish (cœteris paribus) as much as any Mission in China. We have here a very mixed population now. There are resident merchants from Peking, Su Chau, Nanking, Ningpo, Canton, Shen-se; in fact there are some from each of the eighteen provinces of China.

The Chinese population in all the foreign settlements here amounts to some hundreds of thousands. The number of those in the English settlement I find, on minute inquiry, amounts to between 5,000 and 6,000 families. I am now trying to hire a room or godown for the purpose of holding services in Mandarin, which all the respectable merchants understand, from whatever province they may come.

PEKING.

At this station, where the Society's work is in an altogether incipient condition, and where a Native Church connected with it can scarcely be said to exist, the Rev. J. S. Burdon has, during the last year, laboured alone; the Rev. W. H. Collins having been on a visit to England. It is hoped, however, that Mr. and Mrs. Collins will return very shortly, and that the Mission will be further strengthened by the addition the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson. Mr. Burdon has been employed mainly in translation; but he looks forward during the coming year to engage in more direct evangelistic work. The following extracts from Mr. Burdon's Annual Letter will show the general aspect of things as it appears from Peking:—

Missionary difficulties at Peking.

The year through which we have passed has been a most trying one. I have no doubt that in the long run the events of this year will turn to the good of China, but in the meantime they have tended to hinder our work. For months during the summer nothing, or next to nothing, could be done, and a painful uncertainty hung over our immediate future. In Peking at one time we seemed to be just on the eve of a rising similar to that which took place at Tien-tsin. The people, who have been hitherto so friendly to us, changed all at once, and appeared fully to credit the horrid stories current about us. Since the settlement of the Tien-tsin matter, however, things have got apparently into their old groove again. We are now shut in with the people here for the winter, and it is hoped that all will continue quiet until the spring. There are two parties at present in this country which are struggling for the upper hand. One is represented by Prince Kung and the officials of the Foreign Office, who are more or less anxious that friendly relations with foreigners should continue, and are willing that foreign improvements should be, to a limited extent and very gradually, introduced into China. But those who think this way are a very small minority in the empire, and even they are only partially enlightened as to what is meant by improvement. Hence, as a party, they are weak, and liable to be put out of the Government any day. The other party is strongly anti-foreign and anti-progress, and this has on its side almost every believer in Confucius in the empire. The reading class, as a class, is opposed to foreign intrusion in any shape, and would consider almost any means justifiable which would rid the country of the hateful foreigner, be he Missionary, merchant, or official.

JAPAN.

At the Annual Meeting in 1867, the Committee had the pleasure of announcing that they had received from an anonymous donor the sum of 4070*l.*, for the purpose of commencing a Mission in Japan. On June 30th, 1868, the Rev. George Ensor, B.A. of Queens' College, Cambridge, received from the Committee his formal designation to this work, and was solemnly commended by them in prayer to the blessing and protection of Almighty God. Mr. Ensor reached Nagasâki, one of the principal seaports in Japan, on the 23rd of January, 1869; where he has been quietly, but energetically, carrying on the Society's work from that time to this, having acquired some knowledge of the Japanese language while in England. In 1870 he was joined by the Rev. H. Burnside. The laws which forbid the profession of Christianity by native Japanese have not yet been repealed.

NEW ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810; proceeded to New Zealand, 1814; Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

I. Northern District, comprising the Diocese of New Zealand.

II. Eastern District, comprising the Diocese of Waiapu.

III. Western District, comprising the Diocese of Wellington.

GENERAL VIEW.

VIEWING this Mission in its present state, and remembering the aspect it presented thirty years ago, the comparison is painful in some respects. Yet, on the whole, there seems to have been decided restoration and progress during the last two or three years. The European Missionary force is the same this year as it was in the year preceding, with the exception of the increasing experience, and, in some cases, the lessening physical strength of the labourers engaged. Two natives have been admitted to the ministry; and during the last two years two have been removed by death. The number of Maori clergy connected with the Society is now thirteen.

As regards the state and feelings of the natives in those parts where war and disaffection have prevailed, the Rev. T. S. Grace, who has travelled amongst them to the utmost of his power, makes the following remarks :—

Increased willingness of Hauhaus to listen to the Gospel.

I have observed during the year a considerable change for the better in the religious aspect of many of the natives. At the same time the Hauhaus always declare that they have not given up their religion, but "that our faith and theirs are all one." I had rather a remarkable specimen of this two Sundays ago at a village between Tauranga and the Thames. The people were all Hauhaus, and throughout the greater part of the day they kept up a constant "fire" upon the Bishops and Missionaries, and laughed me to scorn for trying to vindicate them. Yet strange to say, notwithstanding their scorn and ridicule, about twenty out of some fifty assembled three times (twice at their own request) for prayers and to hear the word of God. And though the whole tone of things made it anything but an agreeable Sabbath, still I could not help feeling, at the end of the day, that it had been a day usefully spent. I feel that the time has fully come when we should be constantly with the Natives, and, whenever practicable, living amongst them. It seems highly desirable that we should let them have an opportunity of making all their complaints and pouring out all the vials of their wrath upon our heads. It is remarkable how a native cools down when he has eased his mind and let off all his fury in angry words. It is as though the unclean spirit went out along with the words. This would be a much better course than to leave them brooding over our supposed betrayal of them till such a time as they may change their minds.

KAITAIA.

This is the most northern of the Society's stations, and the furthest removed from those parts where the late war raged. The Rev. Joseph Matthews and Mr. William G. Puckey, are the Missionaries of the place. Associated with them are two Native Pastors, the Rev. Renata Tangata, and the Rev. Piripi Patiki. Extracts are subjoined from the joint Annual Letter of Messrs. Matthews and Puckey.

We have still much cause to express our gratitude and praise for the continuance of peace amongst all the Northern tribes. Our native deacons and teachers have greatly assisted in the work of the Lord. We thankfully acknowledge the cheerful, useful, and gratuitous labours of our teachers and monitors throughout the district. Our teachers' meetings have been held during the year with their usual interest. A new wooden chapel has been erected at the Awanui. The Ahipara natives have commenced sawing for one, but have not finished We hear that the natives on the coast beyond Mangonui are also about to build a wooden chapel.

We have been favoured with three solemn and interesting occasions of adult baptisms during the year, resulting in the admission of thirteen candidates into Christ's visible Church. Two or three were elderly chiefs of the north, and most of the rest were either descendants of chiefs or respectably connected; we could not help feeling that the Lord was still with us in our work.

The native schools at Parapara and Kohumaru are still kept on, but the attendance at each place has decreased. Two reasons may be assigned for this, first the poverty of the parents to maintain their children away from their own village: and secondly the lack of due parental authority.

WAIMATE AND BAY OF ISLANDS.

The Ven. Archdeacon E. B. Clarke is the Society's Missionary. His report for these districts is encouraging.

I am thankful to be able to report favourably of the district in my charge. There are many proofs that God has not forsaken us, and though I cannot speak of much spiritual life, of many conversions, and of men turning from darkness to light, still, on taking a review of the past year, I see every reason to thank God and take courage. I have been able to carry on the work at the numerous out-stations with considerable regularity, visiting most of them once a quarter. During nine months in the year I have scarcely been at home more than one Sunday in six, for native duty. I am convinced that there is an increasing desire on the part of those of the natives who have gone astray to return to the "old paths," but, alas! for want of suitable men to work amongst them, the desire is too often evanescent. There is still a painful amount of intemperance and gambling, but these vices are not practised in the shameless public manner as formerly. The congregations are everywhere on the increase, and the observance of the Sabbath is more strict than for years past.

Signs of improvement at Waimate.

HAURAKI.

The Rev. G. Maunsell, who is the Missionary at this station, has not sent home any report or annual letter.

WAIKATO AND TAUPIRI.

These two places are situated, one at the mouth of the Waikato river, and the other some forty or fifty miles higher up the stream. Both of them were at one time stations where European Missionaries resided. They are now under the care of the Rev. B. Y. Ashwell and his native fellow-labourer, the Rev. Seth Tarawhiti. Mr. Ashwell, however, resides in Auckland. Much help has been given by a pious chief, William Pomare, whom Mr. Ashwell is preparing for ordination. With the exception of Pomare's own tribe, who are going on satisfactorily, the natives in Mr. Ashwell's district are in a very unsettled state.

TAUPO.

The Rev. T. S. Grace is the Missionary for this station, from which he was driven in October, 1863, which he has not yet been able to re-occupy.

II. Eastern District.

Seven stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Maketu, 1835; 3. Rotorua, 1835; 4. Turanga, 1840; 5. East Cape, 1842; 6. Wairoa, 1844; 7. Heretaunga, 1844.

European Mission Establishment:

The Bishop of Waiapu, D.C.L. (m), 1825.
Ven. Archdeacon Alfred Nesbit Brown (m), 1829.
Rev. Seymour Mills Spencer (m), 1841.
Rev. Samuel Williams (m), 1846.
Ven. Archdeacon William Leonard Williams, B.A. (m), 1853.

The Bishop of Waiapu thus remarks on the state of affairs in his diocese:—

Bishop Williams' hopeful review of his diocese.

Upon a review of what is going on in the Archdeaconry of Waiapu and in the province of Hawke's Bay, the regular attendance upon Christian worship, though in many cases it be less numerous than it used to be, the return of many to Christian worship who had forsaken it, the number of regular communicants, who amount to upwards of 600 in the whole diocese, the desire for books, and the application in several instances for native clergymen, we have indeed great reason for thankfulness. The clouds are breaking, and there is a prospect that the Sun of Righteousness will arise upon us with healing in his wings.

Archdeacon Williams's letter is more than usually interesting. It is subjoined nearly in extenso.

My last Annual Letter was necessarily meagre, in consequence of the disturbance of the previous twelve months. The past year, however, has been much quieter, and when you read this I think you will agree with me that there is a great deal to encourage us in our work, and to excite the liveliest feelings of gratitude.

In religious matters the two most important events of the past year are the ordination, which took place at Turanganui on October 30, and the meeting of the Native Church Board, which followed on October 31 and the two succeeding days. Two of our old Waerengahika pupils were ordained deacons, viz., Wiremu Katene Paraire and Hone Pohutu, the former for Te Kawakawa, and the latter for Nukutaurua. Two also of our deacons, the Revs. Hare Tawhaa and Mohi Turei were ordained priests. This forms a great addition to our working staff, and with God's blessing on their labours these men may render good service in furthering the interests of Christ's kingdom in the spheres which are allotted to them.

I have already told you of the arrangements made by our last general Synod in 1868 for the organization in certain districts of Native Church Boards. Under another name, and with such modifications only as the circumstances of the Native Churches in New Zealand rendered necessary, our Native Church Board is the same as the Church Council of the paper on the Organization of Native Churches which was issued by the Parent Committee in 1866. Our Board was presided over by the Bishop, and there were present five out of six clergy, and eight out of ten representatives of the laity. The principal subjects discussed were—parochial organisation; the best means of raising funds for the support of clergy and schoolmasters, and for other parochial purposes; the establishment of village schools and the importance of systematic contributions toward Missions to the heathen. An appeal was also drawn up and sent to all the chiefs throughout the district to urge them to use their best endeavours for the suppression of drunkenness among the people. We cannot say that much has been done as yet; but it is something to have been permitted to make a beginning, and for this we cannot be too thankful. The next meeting of the Turanga Board is to be held (D. V.) in April, 1871. There will probably be a meeting of the Heretaunga or Hawke's Bay Native Church Board in February next.

Among the most serious hindrances to our work is the too prevalent drunkenness which has been alluded to above. The people, however, seem to be opening their eyes to the alarming character of the evil, so that there is some reason to hope that an improvement may take place before long. Some help in this direction may be afforded by an act which was passed during the last session of the General Assembly, which confers great powers upon natives who may be desirous of restraining or preventing the sale of intoxicating liquors in their own district.

The Bishop has taken steps for reviving his Native Theological College, and has received for this purpose a grant from the Society of 500*l*.

Those stations or sub-districts of which nothing further is said, may be regarded as to some extent provided for by the Native Church organization described above.

TAURANGA.

Archdeacon Brown's Report from this district seems to show that light is again breaking in on the darkness, though extremely slowly.

The friendly natives continue, from the effects of the war, in a restless and demoralized state; but small as have been the numbers attending divine worship during the current year, there is yet an improvement on the past one, and we do not despair of the return of our scattered flocks when we find occasionally a few coming back to Him from whom they had so long revolted. It was only two weeks since that I was permitted to hold service with a party of more than twenty Hauhaus who had not joined in public worship since the breaking out of the war, and I lately administered the holy communion to some aged natives who have for a long period been kept back by their tribe from surrounding the table of the Lord, although they had been regular communicants for a long series of years before the war broke out. The two native deacons also report that during their journeys among the tribes of the Lakes and the East Coast (which have occupied several months of the past year) an increasing interest has been manifested at the preaching of the Gospel; and the native deacons have been urged to pay more frequent visits to the inland tribes. I have no desire to conceal the vices of the natives. I have, indeed, often reported them, yet I cannot but feel that those vices are the natural and bitter fruits engendered by the war; and though for a season we are surrounded by a darkness which may be felt, the beams of the Sun of Righteousness have not lost their power to irradiate and fructify. Unbelief may ask the question, Can these dry bones live? but faith answers Yes, they can; and the same power which brought these natives from the depths of heathenism and cannibalism to adorn for a season the Gospel of peace and love can yet restore them to the fold from which they have so fearfully wandered.

Sad, but not hopeless state of the Tauranga district.

ROTORUA.

This district, now under the charge of the Rev. S. M. Spencer, is named from an old Maori settlement near a lake in the interior, somewhat more than one hundred miles south-west of Auckland. As a Missionary district it now includes the surrounding country and the coast in the Bay of Plenty, from the friendly tribes at Maketu to the scene of Mr. Volkner's death at Opotiki. Mr. Spencer's report, which is very brief, is not otherwise than encouraging.

A return to quietness and religious exercises is gradually becoming manifest, and those tribes which have been most hostile give promise of a greater degree of cordiality in the adoption of civilized and Christian practices than before the outbreak of the rebellion. There is much, however, which requires to be undone; as the opening up and settlement of the country, combined with the presence of military force, have produced an abnormal condition of affairs. I can truly say that wherever I meet with those who have hitherto received instruction in the love of it, my visits are most joyfully reciprocated, and my prayer is that divine unction may so accompany my humble endeavours that there may be more than a realization of first works.

Improvement at Rotorua.

Mr. Spencer remarks that the difficulty of reaching remote districts has been in some degree obviated by many of the better-disposed natives coming out and placing themselves under the protection of Government. They thus become easily accessible to the Missionary. Pastoral work among the professingly Christian Maories being thus facilitated, systematic evangelistic effort will be more than ever necessary for those who have more or less apostatized from the Gospel, and who still live at a distance from European settlements.

HERETAUNGA.

The Missionary of this station is the Rev. Samuel Williams. No Report or Annual Letter has come from him to the Committee.

III. Western District.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises two stations: 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842.

European Mission Establishment:

The Bishop of Wellington (m), 1838.
Rev. Richard Taylor, M.A. (m), 1836: at home.
Rev. Basil Kirke Taylor, M.A. (m), 1860.

The most prominent event of the year in connexion with this district—the elevation of the Society's much esteemed Missionary, Archdeacon Hadfield, to the episcopate—is thus referred to by the Bishop of Waiapu:—

On September 30, 1870, I went to Wellington, where, on the 9th of October, Archdeacon Hadfield was consecrated bishop of the diocese of Wellington. This change, I doubt not, will meet with the approbation of the Society, in these days of threatening danger, when we need so much sterling wisdom and sound piety in those who shall occupy high places in the church. In respect, too, of the Native Church, the usefulness of the new bishop will be increased.

Bishop Hadfield has expressed his intention still to travel among the Maories, preaching the word, and labouring otherwise for their spiritual good. All expenses so incurred the Society will, of course, cheerfully defray.

WANGANUI.

The Native Christians of this station will, it is hoped, have the pleasure of seeing their old Missionary, the Rev. R. Taylor, once more amongst them, before the close of the present year. In Mr. Taylor's absence, his son, the Rev. B. K. Taylor, has carried on the work (doubtless with faithfulness and assiduity), but has not supplied the Committee with any report of his labours during the year under review.

NORTH-WEST AMERICA MISSION.

The Mission is divided into seven districts, namely: 1. Red-River district, 1823; 2. Fairford or Manitoba district, 1842; 3. Cumberland district, 1840; 4. English-River district, 1850 (first at Lac la Ronge); 5. James'-Bay district, 1851; 6. York-Factory district, 1854; 7. Mackenzie River district, 1858.

Rev. William Day Reeve (m), 1869.

It was on the 15th October, 1820, that the Rev. John West, the Society's first Missionary to Rupert's Land, reached Red River, the scene of his future labours. This Mission, therefore, is now in its Jubilee Year. It is a fitting season to ask the question, What hath God wrought? The Indians of Rupert's Land at that time were, to quote the words of an eye-witness, "sunk to almost the lowest state of degradation to which human beings can be brought." Their language had not been reduced to writing; and not one of them, so far as it is known, had received any Christian instruction. At the present time, the number of those that have connected themselves with the Society is about 4000. Among these, upwards of 1200 are communicants. There are also five Native Indian clergymen of our Church, besides two or three of mixed descent who may also be regarded as the offspring of Missionary effort. The knowledge of God's word is spreading among the pagan Indians; while those already evangelized contribute to the support of their own Church, and are beginning to enjoy those blessings of civilization and temporal comfort which follow in the wake of the Gospel.

Retrospect of fifty years in the North-West America Mission.

I.—Red River District.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The work here is parochial, and not directly Missionary. The congregation is composed entirely of Europeans or European descendants. The hope is that these may become increasingly a source of light to the heathen in their neighbourhood. Their contributions for religious purposes have been interfered with by the scarcity arising from the devastations of the grasshoppers, and subsequently by the rebellion. "In spiritual things," writes the Missionary, the Rev. J. P. Gardiner, "there is much to humble us, and to call for earnest prayer. The people attend the services well, and are attentive, but there is a sad lack of that tone of spirituality which one so longs to see."

ST. CLEMENT'S, MAPLETON.

Archdeacon Cowley, the Society's Secretary for the Rupert's Land Mission, resides at this station. The members of the congregation are almost all of them persons of mixed descent. The services are conducted in the English language, and the whole work is of a pastoral kind. Mapleton and the Indian Settlement are in immediate proximity to each other.

INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

The Rev. H. Cochrane (a Native Minister) labours among the Indians at this station. The insurrection of 1869-70 gave quite a new aspect to the work. The heathen Indians scattered through the settlement, as well as those of the surrounding district, collected themselves together for self-defence, and encamped near the settlement. They declared themselves on the side of the British Government, but made no aggressive movements against the insurgents. Thus, through the overruling providence of God, bringing good out of evil, an opportunity was afforded, which was promptly seized both by the Missionaries and by the Native Pastors. Mr. Cochrane writes:—

The Indians erected in their encampment a large long tent for council purposes, and they kindly allowed us to preach to them in it the glad tidings of salvation. Here then was our church, the Rev. J. Settee, my brother Missionary, officiating every Sunday morning, while I took duty in the church. In the afternoon we made an exchange, I preaching to the heathen Indians in the long tent, and Mr. Settee taking my Sunday school and afternoon service. In this same long, tent the Ven. Archdeacon Cowley also proclaimed the everlasting Gospel of our Saviour Christ to the poor heathen. Never, I venture to say, since the formation of this settlement, had this tribe listened to the preaching of the Gospel in such numbers as during the past summer. Oh, may the eyes and hearts of these poor people soon be opened, that they may see and feel their lost condition, and then flee to the true and living God, and His Son Jesus Christ whom He has sent!

Mr. Settee gives another account of the same work:—

My former annual letters stated the difficulty which the Missionaries have in access into the Indian wigwam on account of their scattered state, and the unsettled condition of the Indians. The French rebellion has proved advantageous both to the heathen and to the Missionary. The heathen, who lived outside the limit of the settlement, and who never cared to see Red River and the Missionaries lest they should be contaminated with their doctrines—for the heathen idolaters are quite afraid to mix with the Christians in worship—were drawn by the late rebellion to Red River, to provide for the security of their friends who were in danger. They planted their camp at Henry Prince's premises. A long wigwam was made alongside of the chief's flag-staff, and employed as a council wigwam. During the week-days the principal men held consultations in it about the safety of their friends, for they declared publicly that they intended to defend the loyalists. On Sundays the long wigwam was opened for Divine services. The tent would at times be crowded. I remember counting my congregation one Sunday morning: there were more than 160 souls, not including our members from St. Peter's parish. At those moments it was a great pleasure to declare God's free offer of mercy through faith in our ever adorable Redeemer. The heathen, who came from distant spots, and who had few opportunities to learn the way, the truth, and the life, attended to the things taught to them with a manifest desire to learn more of the truth and its saving health. My venerable friend and benefactor, Archdeacon Cowley, preached at the long wigwam too, administering to the poor starving souls the true bread which came down from heaven.

As soon as affairs assumed a more settled form, Mr. Cochrane's ordinary ministerial duties were carried on as before.

Sunday services, usually kept up, were regularly attended since I wrote last. Our people are unquestionably good church-going people: nothing but sickness will keep those who otherwise could come from being present. The greatest attention is paid to the Gospel preached. I have also steadily followed the usual routine duties of the station. A few adult Indians have been admitted into the visible Church of Christ; and also a few have been called hence, and, I hope most of them, admitted into the Church triumphant above.

Archdeacon Cowley bears the following testimony to Mr. Cochrane's work:—

The lower part of the Indian Settlement, under the pastoral charge of my excellent friend, Mr. Cochrane, has gone on nicely during the past year in every respect, and the whole of our Indians have been proved to be loyal and thoroughly firm on the side of law and order. Hardly too much can be spoken in praise of the conduct of our people throughout the very trying times from which, by God's mercy, we have so happily escaped, as I trust for ever.

ST. MARY'S, LA PRAIRIE.

No Annual Letter or Report has been received from the Rev. H. George, the Missionary at this station.

Scanterbury.

This station, where there are but forty Native Christians and four communicants, has been for the last year under the charge of a native brother, the Rev. J. Settee. Mr. Settee took part, as already mentioned, in the preaching at the Indian encampment, but has given little or no account of the work at his own station.

FORT ALEXANDER AND LANSDOWNE.

At this station the Rev. R. Phair has been much cheered by the wonderful change resulting from the prohibition of the sale of ardent spirits among the Indians. He writes:—

The effect of the prohibition of the sale of ardent spirits may be better imagined than described: suffice it to state, that where hitherto poverty and vice predominated, there is now not only a desire to come to church and attend the meetings for prayer, together with an attempt, outwardly at least, to walk consistently with their profession; but there is the means, the food, to enable them to remain within access of Christian instruction. During the past year I perceive that a spirit of prayer is manifesting itself here and there among my people; and this, in connexion with the additions from time to time from among the heathen, gives us reason to believe that our labour is not in vain in the Lord. On my arrival here some seven years ago there were not ten houses in connexion with the Mission: now there are more than forty, and the past year has witnessed the erection of more than one-fourth of that number. The fur-hunt has been almost a total failure lately, and the consequence is, that the Indians have turned their attention to farming and other pursuits more favourable to our work among them. On Sundays the church is well filled, and on other days the meetings regularly attended. No Indian appears to loiter about idle, as has been the case heretofore: all are busy, some clearing land, others cutting and hauling logs preparatory to building their houses; and a spirit of new life appears to have entered my people.

Improved state of things at Fort Alexander.

Of the out-station of White Dog, Mr. Phair reports:—

I visited the Society's station at White Dog a few months ago, and found the work going on well under the superintendence of Thomas Spence, a Native Christian. He has a day school and a Sunday school, and both are tolerably well attended; so are also the meetings for prayer. On the occasion of my visit I baptized a number of adults, together with some children. I was much pleased with many of the answers I received from the grown up people at the examination before their baptism. The discontinuance of liquor at this place also has had a telling effect upon the place and people. The Indians are all well off as far as food is concerned, and, besides, they present a neat and tidy appearance.

As regards the futher extension of the work, Mr. Phair writes :—

The Indians about Rat Portage and Lac Seul are anxiously looking out for some one to reside among them to teach them the good news of the Gospel. To impart instruction through visiting is not only expensive, but is a slow process. To visit all my district would, in actual travelling, take little less than a month, so widely are the peeple scattered in this land; but now that there is a feeling among them to look to the ground for their support one may hope that they will collect in farming localities, and the absence of liquor and the failure of fur and other things too, will be seen to turn out for the furtherance of the Gospel.

The whole number of Native Christians in the Lansdowne Mission district is 144. Among these there are twenty communicants. Fourteen adults have been baptized during the year. The children are almost all under instruction, those at Lansdowne itself being taught by Mr. Phair's sister. The cessation from spirit-selling is a great mercy from God. The Enemy will doubtless seek some other mode of attack. But may grace be given to Mr. Phair and his fellow-labourers to make use of this breathing-time!

The new Governor of Red River has shown much friendliness towards the Missionaries and Native Christians. He has also conferred a great boon on the native population generally, by forbidding the use of intoxicating drink as an article of barter.

II.—Manitoba District.

The Rev. George Bruce, a native clergyman, has at present the charge of this station. Mr. Bruce was formerly one of the Society's catechists, and was prepared for the ministry by Archdeacon McLean, at St. John's College, Red River. He was ordained in 1867, and was introduced to the post he now holds by Archdeacon Cowley, who kindly accompanied him to the place, in June 1870. Mr. Bruce has not written any annual letter; but the Archdeacon in a letter dated January 9th, 1871, thus speaks of his work:—

At Fairford there was some political difficulty with the Indians; but, I trust, all is now calm and peaceful. Indeed, I have lately heard very favourable accounts from Mr. Bruce as to the state of things there. The people listen better to the word preached, attend better to their homes, &c., and the school is more prosperous.

III.—Cumberland District.

The political troubles at Red River did not affect this station, where a faithful, long-tried, and well-known native minister, the Rev. Henry Budd, continues to feed the flock. There are scarcely any heathen in the district. Mr. Budd thus writes:—

All our people at the different congregations have gone on very well, and, I trust, are growing in the divine life. The preaching of the word is well received all over the Cumberland district, both by the Natives and others. Everywhere we meet with people crowding to hear the word of God. The Sunday is observed; and Divine service is held at all the different posts of the Hudson's Bay Company, belonging to Cumberland, either by the Indians themselves, or by other laymen, belonging to each post.

The usual journeys and Missionary tours have been made in the course of the year around the district, and the Gospel preached to those of our people who otherwise would not have had the opportunity of hearing the same.

At Devon the work now is almost exclusively pastoral. It is sowing the good seed of the word of God, and watching it springing up and bringing forth fruit to the glory of the Redeemer's great name. Though there remain still some of the old notions and superstitious belief in some of the old, which have been inbred in them from their youth, yet this is dying away with every thing else that is heathenish. Among the young we never meet with anything of the kind. All the services are conducted in the native language, both at church and in the school-room. Every member joins in them heartily, and seems to feel more the weight and sacredness of the Divine service. Many of the old and the whole of the young can read the translations of the Temporal and spiritual advance of Indian Christians at Devon.

Scriptures, and the Book of Common Prayer, so that now they are able to repeat all the responses of our valuable Liturgy. Our church is well filled every Lord's-day, and the congregation is increasing; attendance at the day-school is good, and at the Sunday-school still better. In temporal things also there has been advancement and improvement for the last three years. The people now see clearly, better than they ever did before, the necessity of cultivating their lands and having a stock of domestic animals. Some of them have collected a few cows and pigs, which are invaluable to them. They have been building houses and enlarging their farms every year since I have come among them. So that it may be hoped that in a few years these people will be much better off in temporal things.

The nomad habits of many of the Indians, especially those connected with CUMBERLAND HOUSE station, present many hindrances to their receiving regular Christian instruction. But these hindrances are to some extent overcome. Mr. Budd continues:—

There have been four visits made to Cumberland House during the year, and at each visit the Lord's Supper has been administered to the communicants, as follows:—in Sept., 1869, 22 communicants, Dec., 37, March, 1870, 41, and in May, 35. The Indians in this neighbourhood live by hunting furs, &c., for the Company and the traders. All the winter months they stay out in their hunting-grounds, coming into Cumberland House whenever the Missionary visits the place. During the summer months they live near about the Fort. But they have no settled place where they might make their houses and farm. These Indians embraced the Christian religion as soon as the Gospel was preached to them. Yet there they are to this day without a settled place, and without any one to teach even their children. Notwithstanding this, nearly all of them can read their Bibles and the Prayer Book in the Cree syllabic character. They keep up the Sunday services for themselves; they bury their dead, and read the Burial Service over them; and then when I go up to see them, I baptize their children, and solemnize marriages.

IV.—ENGLISH RIVER DISTRICT.

trict, where a faithful native brother is labouring, the Rev. John A. Mackay. The Archdeacon writes under date, January 9th, 1871:—

I have just heard from Mr. Mackay, of STANLEY. All the property sent hence for him last year, including a small grist mill from the States, had reached the station safely. Mr. Mackay seemed delighted with the mill, and hoped to be henceforth independent of Red River in the article of flour. Every thing seems to be going on well at the station, and among the Indians at large. Independently of spiritual blessings, what amazing advantage the introduction of Christianity has conferred upon both Cumberland and English River districts! But for the introduction of Christianity both would have been a mere waste howling wilderness: now both rejoice and blossom as the rose.

Mr. Mackay himself had written previously, August 8th, 1870, to the following effect:—

Since my last report, in December, 1869, the main features of my work have continued the same. In my quiet and isolated sphere of labour nothing has occurred to cause more than ordinary encouragement or discouragement. My people still follow their primitive mode of life, and only visit the station occasionally—at Christmas, Easter, and in the spring and autumn. The gathering at Christmas is not generally very numerous, as the cold weather and the short days at that season make the travelling very difficult for women and children. At the other three seasons mentioned there are seldom many members of my congregation absent. Their stay at such times is from a few days to two or three weeks, very seldom extending their stay to a month. When the Indians have left I have no congregation except the people of the Company's trading post, and generally a family or two of Indians, who may be detained by some cause or other at the station. The attendance at church, when the Indians are away from the station, is commonly from twenty to thirty. Under these circumstances, we cannot expect to make rapid progress, and there is, as must be expected, a good deal of ignorance among my people in consequence; their old superstitions have still a considerable hold on the minds of many. On the other hand, as every state of life has its advantages as well as its disadvantages, they are in their wanderings removed from many vices which are inseparable from the state of society. If I could choose between forming a settlement, and allowing my people to live as they do now, I am not sure that I should choose the former. I have often visited my people in their tents in the wilds, and I have seen that they are happy and contented with their lot. They have their Bibles, which very few are unable to read, and morning and evening the voice of prayer and praise ascends from their humble dwellings. They would be more enlightened if they were able constantly to attend the means of grace; but I am not sure that their lives would be more consistent with their Christian profession. At the same time it is desirable that they should remain somewhat longer at the station than they do at present; but this will never be the case at our present location, on account of the difficulty of obtaining the means of subsistence. When our Indians visit the station they bring a supply of food with them, and when that is exhausted they must leave again.

There are 300 Native Christians in this district: 89 of this number are communicants.

V.—James' Bay District.

The Rev. John Horden has charge of this district. He is stationed himself at Moose, while a native brother, the Rev. T. Vincent, is at Albany. The Protestant Indians of the district aggregate 1,310. Of these 194 are communicants.

MOOSE FORT.

Through the great mercy of God the sickness that raged here a few months previously, had, at the date of the last communication from Mr. Horden, passed away. The year had been unusually healthy. In other respects Mr. Horden has nothing new to report of the Christians at Moose. He acts as their pastor while with them, a native minister not having yet been raised up. But he is able to make due arrangements for the performance of divine service during his absence. Moreover, there seems some prospect of the deficiency being supplied, a young Native Christian being under Mr. Horden's instruction and training with this view.

The account which Mr. Horden gives of his visits to the out-stations, is exceedingly interesting.

Indians evangelized by Christian fellow-tribesmen.

At Brunswick I felt much encouraged; indeed never more so anywhere; not that all received the message I took, for a few would have nothing to do with it; but by far the majority showed their deep interest in eternal things by the depth of their attention to the Word of Life. What is so deeply interesting about those Indians is the fact, that before they had seen a minister they had held meetings for religious worship, having received some knowledge of Christian practice from Indians who had received a little instruction. The principal convert is a very fine old man, named "Ojibbeway:" he is very fervent, and has a very high character for honesty and blamelessness of life generally from the gentlemen in charge of his trading post.

From Brunswick Mr. Horden proceeded to Flying Post by a difficult route in very inclement weather. The Indians attached to this station were mostly absent. The few whom Mr. Horden met with were more inclined to listen than on former occasions, though still backward as compared with those of Brunswick. Mr. Horden thus describes his visit to Matawakumme:—

I had the satisfaction of seeing almost every Indian belonging to the post, and our services were conducted almost as at an old-established Mission. I long to see a Native Minister established here, but must wait till I have one thoroughly prepared for the work: in the meantime Mr. Richards, the Company's officer, does all that lies in his power for the Indians' benefit; indeed, but for his assistance, I could not have done any thing like as much work as I did; for he was ready at all times to help me in translation labour or in any other way in which I might require him. Many Indians approached for the first time the sacramental table, and it was with very deep thankfulness I administered to those, literally sheep in the wilderness, the emblems of the Saviour's love. Our church here, too, is progressing favourably, and will, in all probability, be finished in the winter. I obtained here the largest comparative collection I have ever made, 8*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*: this the people contributed, out of their poverty, for bell and communion plate for their new church. Altogether my visit was a very cheering one. A Romish priest had threatened a visit, but did not put in an appearance.

Mr. Horden was enabled to see another out-lying Christian tribe of Indians by their coming to him.

On my return to Moose I was at once fully occupied; at first, principally with the tribe known as the Kesakumme Indians, whom I do not see every year, as they arrive late and depart early, while I am off on a Missionary tour: they are advancing in the truth, and several of them, indeed nearly all the adults, received the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper before taking their departure for their winter quarters.

ALBANY.

It has already been mentioned that the Rev. T. Vincent, a native brother, labours at this station. The work at Albany itself he thus describes:—

My own duties during the past year have been, I trust, faithfully performed. When the majority of my people were away on their hunting excursions, and our number at the establishment small, I still continued to conduct three services daily, and Sunday school every Lord's-day. Since their return we have also had daily services regularly, and day school as well for the children. Our services have been well attended, and our church usually full; and our young men have had prayer-meetings also, which I believe have been for good. I have had, however, to reprove in one or two cases for irregularities during the past twelvemonth.

Very much of my time has also been occupied in collecting timber and sawing boards for building purposes. We have indeed very much work to do in this way before our establishment is as comfortable as we could wish it to be.

But Mr. Vincent has been privileged to labour as an evangelist also, and success has been graciously vouchsafed to his labours.

Eager desire of heathen Indians for Christian Instruction.

My proposed Missionary journey to Osnaburgh, an out-post in the Albany River district, has been performed, and the trip has given me entire satisfaction. There I met with a large number of heathen Indians, the majority of whom gladly received my message, and as many as believed and were taught the principles of our pure religion, I baptized "in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Some others, however, offered themselves, but I could not receive them at present, but promised to do so at some future time. I remained ten days with this interesting people. Seldom did they give me any rest. From morning until night I was with them, teaching, explaining, and exhorting with all earnestness in the name of the Lord Jesus. I had fifty-four baptisms on the voyage; and, apart from these, I had twelve at Albany, making a number of sixty-six. Nearly all were adults—Indians from Marten's Falls and Osnaburgh, the first-fruits of our labours at the above posts. I trust that ere long many more will be gathered and brought with rejoicing into the Redeemer's fold.

I may just mention that a large number of books have been distributed among this people; and as many can read the syllabic character with perfect ease, I trust that the good seed of God's word will very soon be scattered far and wide throughout this district, and from this to other districts as well.

VI.—York Factory District.

The Rev. W. W. Kirkby is now labouring in this Mission. No annual letter has been received from him. To supply this deficiency the Rev. W. Mason, late Missionary of the district, has favoured the Committee with the subjoined interesting remarks. It may be premised that there are 230 Native Christians connected with York Factory Mission, 60 of that number being communicants; and that there are now no heathen Indians in the neighbourhood of the station.

Should brother Kirkby have started on his journey to Churchhill, and be able to carry out his expressed intentions of visiting Severn and Trout Lake, we must be content with the information we already possess of the state and progress of the work in this part of the Mission field. It is no little triumph of the Gospel in the York Factory district that its second Missionary finds himself at liberty to devote the greatest part, if not entirely the whole year, to purely Missionary efforts amongst tribes thirsting for the Water of Life, many of whom have not yet seen the face of a Missionary. He can now leave the station at York itself in the hands of three native converts—David Kechekesie, John Kechekesie, and Richard Mamenokochin—being assured that the services of the Sabbath will be conducted efficiently during his long absence.

The York station is prepared to receive an ordained native who would be empowered to administer the holy sacraments, and preach with authority, and thus relieve the mind of the European Missionary from every anxiety while called away so far from the centre of labour. We must look to Archdeacon McLean's College at Red River to supply this necessary agent, capable of preaching acceptably to a small congregation of intelligent white people, as well as in his own native tongue.

The school, during the summer months, is always regularly attended, and many of the children read for themselves the Holy Bible in the syllabic characters, which has been a blessing to thousands of the red men of Rupert's Land.

Mr. Mason adds—

I wish we had a Missionary among the Esquimaux. A field of usefulness lies open before us, and the last race found on these northern regions are heard calling, "Come over, and help us." While others penetrate still farther north for the purposes of science, shall there be wanting a self-denying spirit in the Church of Christ to carry the blessed Gospel to those perishing for lack of knowledge?

VII.—Mackenzie River District.

The Missionaries of this district are the Rev. W. C. Bompas, the Rev. Robert McDonald, and the Rev. W. D. Reeve. The Native Christians are 600 in number. Mr. Bompas has been actively engaged during the year; itinerating along the Mackenzie River from Great Slave Lake to the shores of the Arctic; visiting also Fort Vermilion (on the Peace River), south of the Great Slave Lake, and reaching Fort Youcon in the extreme north-west. Mr. Bompas has studied four languages,—the Cree, the Slave (a dialect of Chipewyan spoken on the Mackenzie River), the Luchu spoken in the Youcon country, and the Esquimaux. With the help of the wife of the chief officer at Peel's River Fort, Mr. Bompas has been able to translate two Gospels and other elementary religious books into the Luchu. In May, 1871, he was at the mouth of the Mackenzie, on the Arctic coast, living with the Esquimaux in their snow houses, and teaching them the rudiments of the Gospel. At the conclusion of Mr. Bompas's annual letter, he gives the following general view of the whole district:—

The wide Mission field I have been describing exhibits on the whole an encouraging aspect, and no longer bears in my view the impress of a heathen land. The influence of native converts from Red River, who are gradually spreading over the country, is good, and the various tribes of Indians in the woods seem to become more sensible of their duty to the God who made them. I have found but few heathen. Nearly all the natives profess to be either Roman Catholics or Protestants. Through all the country the influence of the Romish priests is injurious; but the Indians have more than once told me that they attend only to what they are taught about God and not what they are taught about the Virgin and Saints. So long as the Indians have no means of verifying either statement by reference to the Word of God in their own tongue, they must necessarily be puzzled between the contradictory statements of priest and minister; but I think it must result in the end in their rejection of that on which we differ, and their reception only of the truths on which both Churches are agreed, that is to say, the great verities summed up in the Apostles' Creed; and this is as it should be.

The three posts which I desire to see permanently occupied by your Missionaries for the future are, Fort Chipewyan, Fort Simpson, and Peel's River Fort—the first for the Athabasca district, the second for Mackenzie River, and the third for the Luchu and Esquimaux. I have no fear but in the end they will all meet with abundant success. It needs but patience and perseverance in carrying out the great work in which we are engaged and the fruits of it will surely be reaped in due time. Mr. M'Donald among the Luchu has met with the earliest success. Mr. Reeve, at Fort Simpson, has at present the hardest task, but I expect soon to hear of progress there.

FORT YOUCON.

The Rev. Robert M'Donald was engaged during the last summer in extensive tours among the Indian encampments in the Youcon territory. He was well received, the Indians everywhere expressing their willingness to put themselves under regular Christian instruction.

VIII.—West Canada District.

SARNIA.

The Rev. E. F. Wilson gives the following account of the work at the station itself:—

In reviewing the labours of the past year, which, under God's providence, I have been permitted to undertake, I may, I think, report a certain progress in the gradual development and carrying out of plans for the organization and advancement of your work, though I must, I fear, deplore a small advance only among the people in that spiritual life and Christian earnestness which I am sure you must feel, with me, is the one of all others to be desired as the fruit of Missionary work. Intoxicating drink is, without doubt, the great curse of the Indian race; and this vice, notwithstanding several very solemn warnings received during this past year (one of which involved the murder of a man of our congregation by his own son), is still fearfully indulged in. We have endeavoured to put a check to it by forming a Temperance Society, connected with which was a reading-room, with illustrated papers and games for the young men, as an inducement to them to turn their attention to better things; but in this attempt, as in many others, we have been disappointed. So very few are able to read with intelligence, that the reading-room, though popular at first, soon lost its attraction. We have now somewhat altered the plan of the Temperance Society, and are endeavouring to lead a few of our most earnest people to band together secretly and prayerfully in an attempt to check the prevalence of this great sin. Our native Committee has, I regret to say, also suffered: of the ten men composing it, more than one have we been obliged to dismiss during the past year, owing to a too free indulgence in the fire-water. Our Sunday congregations continue to average the same as last year, and Sunday schools, Bible class, and weekly meetings are kept up as usual. When all the Indians are at home we usually have a good attendance, but they are frequently away travelling at a distance, in the winter hunting, in the spring sugar-making, in the early autumn berry-picking: at such times as these our numbers are small.

One of the most important steps which, by your direction, has been taken during the past year, has been the appointment of the Rev. John Jacob to the pastoral charge of the Sarnia Mission. The people seem very well pleased with the arrangement, and

Mr. Jacob has set vigorously to work, visiting from house to house, and holding weekly meetings in the Indians' huts.

The out-station, Kettle Point, has not been without proofs of Divine blessing.

Kettle Point is now supplied by a catechist, Joshua Greenbird, from Walpole Island, one among the few who, I trust, have been brought under the influence of Divine grace, and are bent upon doing good among their people. We have a nice little frame school-church and teacher's dwelling-house at this place: the Indians themselves supplied all the material for these two buildings. The schoolchildren (ten or twelve in number) are progressing most satisfactorily: they began with the alphabet when we first opened school, and are now nearly all able to read the Testament quite nicely and write good hands. One of the most interesting events of the year was the conversion to Christianity, and baptism, of the pagan chief of this settlement, Ahbettuhwahnuhquot (Centre of a cloud). He had refused a long time; but sickness, by Divine grace, softened his heart, and he became all at once very anxious to be received into the Christian flock.

Mr. Wilson is thus forming the basis for more extended evangelistic labours. But he feels the need of well-trained native agents.

I am delighted to find, from the letter just received, that the Committee agree to my proposal for boarding and educating two or three young men as catechists; and fully from my heart do I concur in the stipulation, that those only whose hearts appear to have been touched by Divine grace be selected. There may be delay in finding such; indeed, I know of only one at present who is an attendant at communion, and whom I would feel satisfied to accept; still I believe God, in His own good time, will, in answer to prayer, provide labourers for the work. It seems desirable now that some plan should be devised for my future work, and I would suggest the following:—For these young men to attend school, morning and evening, four days in the week; on the fifth day to receive instruction in carpentering, window and door making, house building, &c. A Scripture class twice a-week.

NORTH-PACIFIC MISSION.

European Mission Establishment :

Mr. William Duncan, 1856.
Rev. Robert Tomlinson, B.A. (m), 1867.

British Columbia:

METLAHKATLAH.

Mr. Duncan, who visited England in the year 1870, left it again in September of the same year. He reached Victoria in Vancouver's Island on the 11th of November, where he was detained for three months by important business relative to the prosperity of Metlahkatlah. In a letter dated Feb. 8, 1871, he writes as follows :—

I wrote by the "Otter" to Metlahkatlah, and after about three weeks received quite a batch of very interesting letters, also a quantity of furs to sell, and a list of supplies needed for the village. One of the letters from Metlahkatlah to me was from (and signed by) the Council, expressing their joy at the prospect of soon seeing me. Another was from the notorious chief Leeguneesh, who has given me so much trouble of late years, and was expected to make use of my absence to injure the Christians all he could. In his letter (signed by his own hand) he says he owes it to God's mercy that he has the hope of seeing me again. He thanks God for bearing with him, showing him his sins, and making him to hate the ways he once so much loved. He says, too, he has resolved to join God's people at Metlahkatlah, and remain faithful till death, looking up to heaven as his home.

Conversion of one who was a bitter opponent to the Gospel.

The Governor has given permission for allotments of land to be made to individual Indians of the settlement, for occupation and cultivation by themselves and their families.

CONCLUSION.

At the commencement of the year just concluded there were two points on which the Committee and the members of the Society generally had to humble themselves before God, and to offer an affectionate and earnest appeal to that portion of the Christian Church from which they had a right to expect support and co-operation. They had to deplore a deficiency in Funds and a deficiency in Candidates. They had to speak of fields ready for the sower if not for the reaper; of heathen in almost every part of the world, scarcely indeed thirsting for the Gospel, yet willing to hear it, and giving a friendly welcome to the Christian preacher; and they had at the same time to lament crippled resources, native evangelists kept back from the work because the means were not at hand for sending them forth, and a scanty supply of fresh recruits, whether to occupy the enlarging fields or even to take the place of those veteran labourers whom God was removing from the work. In reference to both these difficulties the Committee can now call upon the members of the Society to thank God for His gracious interposition and succour. In all humility, the Committee cannot but connect this result with the history of the past year, and with the Society's continued adherence to the principles on which it was founded. The Committee have stood firm to the principle of selecting for the Mission field, so far as human judgment enables them, none of whose Missionary spirit they do not feel fully assured, none whom they do not believe to have personally experienced that salvation which they are to make known to others, none that have not clear and decided views of the Divine authority of Holy Scripture, of propitiation through faith in Christ's blood, and of the new birth and the new life as formed and maintained by the power of the Holy Ghost using the Word as His instrument. Not for a moment would they claim absolute freedom from error in selection; but if error must be made, they would rather occasionally lose the services of an efficient workman, than send forth an agent of whose spiritual qualifications they feel a doubt. The recent offers of five Cambridge men, made independently one of another, seem to show that the Society's conduct in this respect commends itself to the judgment of friends at that University, and afford encouragement to continue in the same course. Another great principle to which the Committee would refer is that of friendly co-operation with other Protestant Societies, and of non-intrusion into fields which such bodies have pre-occupied. It is the desire of the Church Missionary Society that its own feeble and unworthy efforts may be graciously used as instruments whereby the Redeemer may "see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied." The Society's great and primary and ultimate object is therefore not the extension of any particular Church, however desirable that may be, but the glory of God in the propagation of the Gospel and the salvation of souls. To this principle, interpreted indeed by their own fallible judgment, but with earnest prayer for Divine guidance, the Committee have steadfastly adhered, notwithstanding strong opposition and pressure. And when at this juncture He whose are the silver and the gold, and who has all hearts at His disposal, has poured out on His people the spirit of liberality, and has in His loving goodness raised the Society's funds to a height never before attained, the Committee would humbly trust they may regard this as betokening His gracious approval of the principles on which this Society has always acted. The Committee conclude with requesting the earnest and persevering prayers of all who support the Society that a mightier working of the Holy Spirit may accompany the labours of the Missionaries during the year now commencing; and that such revivals as have lately been witnessed at some stations may become general; so that from tribes long sunk in barbarism, from nations enchained by ancient superstitions, from vast heathen cities, where God is altogether unknown, and where worldly toil and worldly pleasures shut out from view all that is spiritual and eternal, many may be gathered out who shall acknowledge Jesus as their Saviour, shall be made partakers of the glorious liberty of the children of God, and shall be in their turn instrumental in bringing neighbours and countrymen into the same Divine fellowship of life and light and joy. May all engaged in this great work be animated by the bright hope that God's Word sets before them, looking forward to that day when our Lord "shall come to be glorified in His saints, and to be admired in them that believe," and His ransomed ones from every land "shall be presented faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy!"

PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. 1.—Form of a Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within . . . calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto † shall be paid out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund ‡ and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my Personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund: and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my Residuary Personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the Residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to one fourth or one half, (according to the intention) of my whole Residuary Personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my Personal Estate will extend to pay"]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general Residuary Personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c.§

* If so intended.

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on Real Estate, then add, "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

The Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Asssociations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for wider adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order that the Lists may be inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations to the Annual Report is a general acknowledgement to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B.—Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations will find them in the List of "Benefactors of former Years."
